HE IS CLOSE TO CENT'RY MARK

Richard Banker Duyckink Reaches the 97th Milestone Today.

MIND CLEAR AS EVER

Physical Infirmities Keep Him Confined to His Room But He Retains Interest in Affairs of the World—Keen Memory.

Having reached the ninety-seventh milestone in life's journey, Richard Banker Duyckinck is today receiving congratulations of friends and relatives at his home on Madison avenue.

Although not so well as he was a year ago, Mr. Duyckinck's mind is just as clear as ever, though through physical infirmities he is now unable to leave his room. He continues to take a lively interest in current events. In years gone by he was an ardent fisherman and has enjoyed the sport in all the waters about New York and Long Island, and as late as ten years ago spent the winter in Florida tarpon fishing.

Mr. Duyckinck has few relatives, Whitehead C. Duyckinck is the only surviving son of a family of three children. Then there are four grandchildren and two great grandchildren. He has been a widower thirty years. He was born in New Brunswick, November 1, 1815, and remained there until eighteen years old and then went to New York, where he found employment with Davison, Van Pelt & Co., wholesale dry goods dealers in Exchange place.

The nonegenarian was in the employ of the firm during the cholera scare in New York and left it to take a position with Decker & Howell in the same line of business. Remaining with this firm a number of years, or until going into busines for himself by organizing the Atlantic Steam Engine Works, in Brooklyn. The firm prospered in the manufacture of various kinds of machinery and had a big trade in Cuba with the sugar refineries. With a number of other Brooklyn men he organized the Brooklyn State Bank and was its president for a time. Forty years ago he purchased 150 acres of land in Washington Valley, adjoining the Fullerton farm which was sold to the county for the site for Bonnie Burn Sanitorium, and had the place fixed up as a summer home. Until seven years ago he resided there after retiring from business when he came to reside in this city. He is not a member of any fraternal society.

Until a few months ago every clear day Mr. Duyckinck took short walks in the vicinity of his home, being a familiar figure to other residents in the neighborhood. He is fond of solitare and plays a good game of whist or euchre. His daily consumption of cigars will average six and he occasionally takes a little whiskey. In speaking to his son about the advances made in conducting business and in transportation he recalled that the daily trip the son now makes to New York and back required two days' time in his early life. The only means of transportation from New York to Plainfield when he first knew of this place was by steamer to Elizabethport and thence by single track, flat rail to Plainfield. Pasengers going further had to complete the journey by stages.

Mr. Duyckinck still enjoys reading in the daily newspapers the events of the day in the business, political and social world. His splendid memory and pleasant mannerisms added to easy, interesting conversational qualities, makes him a delightful companion whose remarks are both entertaining and instructive.

REAL COMEDIANS TO BE AT CLAN'S MASQUERADE

Clan MacKenzie will hold a masquerade dance in Sebring's Auditorium tonight. Arrangements have been made to have three Scotch comedians on hand to entertain the guests.

Prizes will be awarded for the most comical and the best costumes.

MOURNING REPUBLICANS CANCEL MASS MEETING

The Republican mass meeting scheduled to be held in Saengerbund Hall last night was cancelled in respect to the memory of the late Vice President James S. Sherman. Those who had assembled to hear the speakers, filed from the rooms to the strains of "Nearer, My God, to Thee," played by Suhr's Band.

The late vice president's portrait, draped in mourning, was on the platform.

MERRIEST NIGHT OF ALL THE YEAR

Many Social Events Mark the Observance of Hallowe'en.

'FOLIES FANTASTIQUES'

Title of Biggest Affair of Them all, Held at Park Club, Stands for the Spirit of the Evening—Other Entertainment in Saints' Honor.

Gaiety, with a dash of juvenile mischief, held sway over Plainfield, last night. Hallowe'en was fittingly and merrily observed. There were the usual number of boyish pranks, but nothing serious enough to draw police action, except in one instance, marred the general innocence of the observance. In that one case a North Plainfield boy was knocked unconscious by a missile thrown by young hoodlums.

Parties big and little, public and private affairs of all degrees of elaborateness, were numerous.

"Follies Fantastique."

Amid surroundings in keeping with the spirit of Hallowe'en, the members of Silver Cross Circle, of The King's Daughters, last night, provided a unique entertainment for a large number of their friends at the Park Park. "Folies Fantastique" proved to be an unusual form of vaudeville, interspersed with opportunities for those present to enjoy light refreshments and a chat with their friends and neighbors at the surrounding tables.

The assembly room of the club was transformed by the aid of autumn leaves and foliage and numerous jack-'o-lanterns, attached to their costumes. All wore grotesque caps, of different shapes, upon which they had placed the proverbial black cats, witches, bats and other insignia of the night. On the floor and in the

HALLOWE'EN VICTIM KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS

Young Borough Holligans Hurl Missile With Serious Effect.

Dewey Dobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dobson, of 10 Grove street, was injured last night on Watchung avenue by a missile thrown by one of a group of young hooligans bent on mischief under cover of the Hallowe'en observance. The boy was hit over the left eye with what one of the "celebrators" said was a pear. Whatever the missile was it knocked Dobson unconscious.

Several other lads who were in company with him succeeded in getting one of the residents in the neighborhood to answer their rings at the door and assist in helping the injured boy. Dobson was restored to consciousness in the house, and after resting awhile was able to start home.

On the trip to his house in company with three boys he fainted several times. When he arrived at home his father called in Dr. C. B. Lufburrow.

The boy was restless all night and needed constant attention. At noon today he was reported as resting more comfortably.

BOROUGH MAYOR NAMES TAX PROTEST COMMITTEE

Mayor Robert Clark called a special meeting of a number of taxpayers of North Plainfield last night in the Council Chambers to confer on the recent developments of the tax situation in Somerset county so far as North Plainfield is concerned. After the session he gave out the following statement for publication:

"To the Citizens of North Plainfield:

"I beg to notify you that the citizens committee to act with the Common Council of North Plainfield in making an appeal to the County Board of Equalization of Taxes for a reduction of the assessment placed on the borough property by the County Tax Board, will be composed of the following citizens, pursuant of a resolution adopted at the last meeting of the Council, authorizing me to select such a committee:

"Timothy F. Harrington, W. L. Saunders, Louis K. Hyde, John P. Emmons, Samuel S. St. John McCutchen, R. H. Barnard and John Becker.

"ROBERT J. CLARK, Mayor."

BALLOT PUZZLING.

The large sample blanket ballot is being distributed throughout the Borough for the information of the voters. The new style ballot seems to puzzle some of the old timers.

MAYORALTY NOMINEES AND DAILY PRESS QUERIES

This Paper Presents to the Voters the Views of Codington, Repvblican, Moy, Progressive, and Stewart, Democrat, on Municipality's Big Problems.

Here are the questions:

First—Do you favor a joint sewage disposal system as a general principle?

Second—Do you favor the joint sewage disposal plans as so far proceeded with by the joint committee?

Third—Do you favor the so-called "direct," or the "indirect" route?

Fourth—Do you favor making a new and more favorable contract with the water company?

Fifth—Do you favor municipal ownership of the water supply?

Sixth—Do you approve of the plans already taken by the city authorities looking to municipal control of the water supply?

Seventh—Do you believe that water would be cheaper with municipal control?

Eifihth—Do you favor increasing the number of wholesale and retail liquor licenses, or either class?

Ninth—Do you favor maintaining the retail fee at $1,200, or lowering or raising it?

Tenth—Do you favor what is known as the Tyler saloon zone ordinance?

Eleventh—Do you favor a municipal system for the collection and disposal of garbage and ashes, or either garbage or ashes?

Twelfth—Do you favor a commission form of government for Plainfield?

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I beg to submit the following answers to the printed "queries" which I received from you on the 22nd instant:

First. I do favor a joint sewage disposal system as being economical.

Second. I do not favor the present plans for the reason that the route is indirect, and will cost approximately $90,000 more than the direct route, but inasmuch as the Councils of Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen have all approved them under the advice of the engineers, I submit although I do not approve.

Third. I favor the direct route.

Fourth. No.

Fifth. Yes.

Sixth. I think the better way would be to build our own plant, and if necessary lay our own pipes.

Seventh. I believe water would be cheaper under municipal control. I am informed on good authority that Bayonne made $120,000 on her water last year, and had to buy the supply, at that. I am also informed that the rates are lower there than here.

Eighth. I do not favor increasing the number of licenses for the sale of liquor.

Ninth. $1,200 seems a fair fee; I would increase it rather than decrease it.

Tenth. Yes. I would not like to see saloons scattered all over the city.

Eleventh. Yes, if it can be demonstrated that we will be any better off than we are now and without too much of an increase in the tax rate.

Twelfth. Yes, I favor commission government, and for more reasons than the allotted space will permit me to give in full.

GEORGE W. V. MOY.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Replying to your "queries for candidates," it occurs to me that the matters referred to, are almost exclusively within the jurisdiction of the Common Council, and that the Mayor would have no vote upon any ordinance or proceeding affecting the same; however, so far as is consistent, I cheerfully give you my personal views.

Sewage. As to the sewage question, Plainfield, North Plainfield and Dunellen, lying in so close proximity, it would occur to me that these municipalities should join in a joint sewage disposal plan. Whether or not it should be a "direct' or "indirest" route, the route selected should be determined by considering the comparative expense and efficiency of the two routes, and, if the efficiency of the two routes are equal, then, in considering the expense, not only the first expense of installing the plant should be considered, but also the expense of maintenance, running over a period of years; and these questions can, and should be, arrived at by careful examination and investigation. I am of the opinion that to carry to tide-water, would be too burdensome to the taxpayers of the city at this time, possibly in twenty years from now that could be done; too much bonded indebtedness would retard our city's growth, and depreciate the value of our property.

Water. As to the water supply for our city, while it is a question of vital importance, it would, at this time, be highly improper for me to express my views on that subject, for the reason that recently the Supreme Court appointed ex-Chancellor Magie, William Howard and myself, as commissioners to take up and consider

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I inclose my answers to your letter of recent date. I make it a condition of publication that this letter shall be published verbatim on the date upon which it is received and simultaneously with the replies of the other candidates. I have been ill for several days and was unable to take this matter up until Saturday afternoon, October 26. It must be understood that the views hereinafter expressed are but my present views and, in no sense, pledges or guarantees which will not be modified in the light of further information. In an event, before committing the city to any course of action, I should expect to give the matter a most profound study and attention, assisted by the best advice obtainable.

"First." Theoretically, a joint sewerage disposal system is not to be commended. It is, theoretically, much wiser for the community to own and operate its own system but, under the local conditions, a joint system seems the most advantageous.

"Second." I have favored the joint sewerage disposal plans, and shall continue to favor them, unless my attitude in that regard shall be changed by the question concerning the comparative cost of the right of way, which has just been brought to my attention and which I have not had an opportunity as yet to investigate, owing to lack of time and illness.

"Third." I have favored the "indirect" or gravity system and shall continue to favor it, unless my attitude in that regard shall be changed by the new factor above referred to, which, as above stated, I have not been able to fully investigate, owing to lack of time and illness.

"Fourth." It would seem indis-

WOMEN PROGRESSIVES ON A TOUR FOR VOTES

Will Campaign Through Two Counties as Their English Sisters Do.

Taking a leaf from the book of their sisters in England, who for years have figured prominently in the canvass for votes during British election campaigns, the Women' Committee of the Progressive party will make a personal appeal for ballots among the rural dwellers of two nearby counties tomorrow. Starting from Bound Brook in automobiles the women campaigners will tour through Somerset and Hunterdon counties. They will stop in all farmhouses it is posible to reach in the time at their command, handing out explanatory and exhortatory Moose literature, and adding a winsome and winning appeal by word of mouth wherever a Wilson or a Taft agriculturist seems sufficiently overcome to preclude flight. Somersetshire and Hunterdonshire are in for a time, by Jove!

Stops will be made at the larger towns like Flemington and Whitehouse, where speeches will be made from the automobiles.

"HARVEST HOME SOCIAL."

Under the auspices of the Bible School of the First Baptist church, a "harvest home social," will be held at the church tonight. AUTO DISPLAY ROOM.

MOOSETTES IN FORCE AT LUNCH

Women Supporters of Roosevelt Glorify the Cause at Park Club.

BIG ORATORICAL ARRAY

Mrs. Everett Colby, Mrs. Florence Howe Hall and Mrs. Douglas Robinson Among the Distinguished Feminine Speakers.

Feminine enthusiasm in the twin municipalities over Theodore Roosevelt and the doctrines of the Progressive party found striking expression today at the Park Club, where a "moosette" luncheon was held under the auspices of the local Women's Committee of the Progressives.

Fully 125 ardent feminine supporters of Progresiveism gathered about the tables to wait the golden minute when a battery of women orators opened the floodgates of argument and exhortation. The array of speakers was impressive. It included Mrs. Everett Colby, wife of the pioneer leader of the insurgent Republican movement in New Jersey; Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, writer, lecturer, clubwoman and equal suffrage worker; Mrs. Douglas Robinson, whose husband is Roosevelt's cousin; Mrs. Frederick Nathan, national president of the Consumers' League; Mrs. Frank A. Pattison, ex-president of the New Jersey Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Charles Israel, chairman of the committee for improving the conditions of the dance halls and recreation piers of New York City, and Charles Weller, of the National Playground and Recreation Association, of which Theodore Roosevelt and Charles W. Elliott among others are honorary vice presidents.

The club auditorium where the luncheon was held was bright with decorations. Bandana banners decked the speakers' table, and the vivid red of the Progressive war flags was relieved by greens, flowers and autumn foliage. Wild flowers and cosmos graced the smaller tables, and all about were evergreens, crepe paper and autumn foliage, with a pumpkin here and there to enhance the autumnal effect. A big American flag hung across the platform.

The buzz of earnest conversation about the tables was silenced for a space at the beginning of the luncheon as the Rev. Dr. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, said grace. Animated and sparkling interchange of Progressive and suffrage views spiced the round of luncheon dishes until Dr. Herring rose again to introduce Mrs. Colby as the first speaker.

WILLIAM N. RUNYON GETS FLORAL HORSESHOE AT RALLY

Elizabeth, Nov. 1 (Special).—William N. Runyon, of Plainfield, candidate for Congress on the Republican ticket, was one of the speakers at a mass meeting held in Proctor's Broad street theatre, last night, and he was given a great surprise, when a number of his political friends presented him with a large floral horseshoe. The reception given to the popular Plainfielder was flattering, and at the conclusion of his speech he was given three rousing cheers.

Later Mr. Runyon was one of the speakers at the annual banquet of the Board of Trade at Rahway. Congressman W. E. Tuttle also spoke at Rahway.

LAST BIG MEETING OF PLAINFIELD DEMOCRATS

Local Democrats will hold their final big mass meeting tomorrow night at the Plainfield theatre, under the auspices of the Wilson and Marshall Club. At that time the party's strength in this city will be centered on the important issues of the campaign and the principles of Democracy will be expounded by able speakers.

The chief speaker will be Congressman H. D. Clayton, chairman of the House Judiciary Committee. The county and local candidates will also have something to say. Albert H. Atterbury will preside at the meeting and a large number of Democrats have been invited to act as vice presidents.

WANT TO QUIZ MOY.

The Republican City Committee has invited Mayor Moy to appear at its headquarters tonight to be catechised. A few nights ago, the Mayor offered at a Bull Moose mass meeting to answer any questions regarding his administration. E. R. Ackerman, D. W. Taylor and R. I. Tolles will speak at the meeting tonight.

POURS HOT SHOT INTO HIS RIVAL

Edgar Gives the Lie to Crane Who Made Fierce Attack on His Candidacy.

ADDS SOME SARCASM

Progressive Choice Challenges Republican Councilmanic Nominee to Name the Man to Whom He is Alleged to Have Made a Promise.

Vigorous reply is made today by A. D. Edgar, Progressive candidate for Council in the First ward, to the charge and insinuation made by Uzal B. Crane, his Republican opponent, in a printed signed circular. Mr. Crane charged that Mr. Edgar promised to vote in favor of reviving two revoked liquor licenses and insinuated that the Progresive candidate's attitude toward the extension of Johnston avenue under elevated tracks might be affected by his connection with the Central Railroad of New Jersey.

Mr. Edgar's reply follows:

"Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

"In last night's issued of your paper, I noticed a published statement by Uzal B. Crane a candidate for Council in the First ward, in which Mr. Crane says that he was asked to make certain pledges respecting the granting of saloon licenses, and that he refused to do so; and that in consequence of this I became a candidate in opposition to him; and that I have pledged myself to vote in favor of these licenses, in the event of my election. Inasmuch as this story for which Mr. Crane is responsible has no foundation in fact, I must ask you, as a matter of fairness to me, to publish the following:

"The character of the campaign Mr. Crane is waging is so absolutely devoid of fairness and honesty that I cannot believe he is responsible for the things appearing in his name. I was told sometime ago that Mr. Crane was a prominent church man, and if this is true and he is responsible for the literature that is being circulated concerning me, he certainly is not displaying those characteristic of honesty that we look for in a christian gentleman.

"I have never been asked to promise anything to any man in or out of the saloon business by either the Republican or Progressive Committees, or by anyone else.

"There is a sharp line of difference between my candidacy and the candidacy of Mr. Crane. I was besought by a great number of citizens of the First ward to stand for the office of Councilman, and in accordance with their wishes, I consented to stand. Mr. Crane is seeking this office.

"If the people elect me, I shall endeavor to serve them as they wish to be served, but why is Mr. Crane so anxious to get into the Council? Can it be that he has a motive and that he is measuring other men by his own standard?

"Mr. Crane has placards posted throughout East End asking who I am and who the Democratic nominee is; also stating that everyone knows who Mr. Crane is. The latter statement is quite correct. Mr. Crane is widely known. As to my prominence in this community, most business men know who I am.

"I would like Mr. Crane to name the man to whom I have made any pledge respecting saloon licenses or any other matters likely to come before the Council.

"I desire further to state that my connection with the railroad will in nowise effect my vote on the extension of Jackson or Johnston avenues, and it is absolutely unfair for Mr. Crane to state otherwise in bolstering up an argument to mislead the people.

"Personally I see no reason why either of these streets should not be extended, if the residents of the East End desire such an improvement.

"Nov. 1, 1912.

"Yours truly,

"A. D. EDGAR."

Harry Goodwin has returned to his position in the Engineering Department of the Central Railroad, after a two weeks' vacation.

If you lost your gate last night remember you were a boy yourself and as Hallowe'en only comes once a year you no doubt picked up things that were loose on the night of October 31. The pranks played last night were no worse than in the past, no one got in trouble and the throwing of confetti and flour and the ringing of door bells were all taken good naturally by the residents.

Mrs. J. W. Whetstone, of Farler avenue, has been visiting friends in Newark.

Mrs. Jane Balsyer, of the borough, has returned from a visit of several days with friends in Brooklyn.

Mrs. George Harper, of Front street, has returned from a visit with relatives in New York.

A number of local hunters left town yesterday for the country where they will try for rabbits today. The number of men of first day hunters is greater than any year in the past.

Miss Elizabeth Henry, of Lebanon, has returned home after a visit with her sister, Mrs. Grover C. Apgar, of Front street.

A number of the younger boys as well as the older ones were out last night, all masked, and played the usual Hallowe'en tricks. Many a residents awoke this morning to find that his gate and other movable things were missing. The damage done this year was very slight as the boys seemed to go about it in the spirit of fun instead of the destructive mode as they have done heretofore.

Among those that held and were given Hallowe'en parties last night were Miss Mildred Barto, of Front street; E. B. Latham, of Grove street; Edward Gray, of First street, and a large one was held at Smith's farm on Greenbrook road.

Mrs. Frank Vail and Miss Florence Smalley, of the borough, will hold a Hallowe'en party and dance in the Junior Hall tonight.

Clifford A. Braider, of Plainfield, will conduct his musical and "evening of song" at the First Presbyterian church tonight. The affair is being given under the auspices of the Baraca class.

John Hinchliffe, of Second street, a brakeman on the railroad, was painfully though not seriously injured at Bound Brook yesterday afternoon when he was pinched by two cars coming together while he was connecting the air brakes. A physician attended him, after which he went to his home where he will stay for a couple of days by the doctor's orders.

H. K. Tetsuka, of this city, will give a talk on "Japan.," at Warren chapel, tonight, under the auspices of the Men's Association of the chapel.

MERRIEST NIGHT OF THE PEAR

balconies were set tables, each lighted by candles, shaded with yellow and black. The success of the affair cannot be better demonstrated than by the fact that every ticket printed for it was sold, and many were disappointed in not being able to get tables.

The vaudeville show opened with a pleasing dance by "Mademoiselle" Curtis, and she was followed by Brown and "Bud" Rolston, who appeared as a certain pair of black twins who have made a washing compound popular. They kept the audience in laughter for fifteen minutes or more with their songs and burlesque minstrelsy, and then gave way to A. E. Rice, whose droll character stories put all in good humor for several minutes. Miss Elsie Goddard, in Pierrette costume, sang a dainty song in French, and in response to a liberal encore which attested to her popularity sang an attractive little song in England. Miss Curtis again danced, and then Brown Rolston and John Myers put on an act which would make many of the headliners in vaudeville envious. When the curtain rose Mr. Myers as a scarecrow was disclosed on the stage, and Mr. Rolston, dressed as a witch, came sailing gracefully down on a broom stick. The witch undertook to teach the scare-crow how to dance, and that he succeeded was attested by the hearty applause with which the act was greeted.

After the vaudeville performance was finished the floor was cleared of the tables and many of those present danced until early this morning.

The officers of the Circle are: President, Mrs. F. E. DuBois; vice president, Mrs. A. M. Abbott; treasurer, Miss DuBois; secretary, Mrs. Alexander Milne. The committee in charge of last night's affair comprised Mrs. Harry C. White, Mrs. H. L. McGee, Mrs. Alexander Milne, Mrs. A. B. Laing, Mrs. A. M. Morrell, Mrs. Eckford Rhoades, Mrs. L. D. Albin, Mrs. A. M. Abbott.

Hallowe'en Tea.

Mrs. A. C. Aitken, of Webster place, gave a Hallowe'en afternoon tea, yesterday. The prevailing colors were red and white. Covers were laid for seven. A feature was vocal and instrumental music by Mrs. Willard H. Cook and Mrs. B. Davis. Mrs. Charles Mehlenbeck was the ghost. Those present were Mrs. A. C. Aitken, Mrs. Charles Mehlenbeck, Mrs. B. Davis, Mrs. Willard H. Cook, Mrs. William Doig, Mrs. Alfred Johnson and Master John Mehlenbeck.

Church Members Masquerade.

A masquerade social was held by the young people of the Seventh-Day Baptist church. Mrs. Charles Neagle was general chairman and was assisted by Mrs. Frank Kellogg.

Those that served on the refreshment committee were the Misses Mildred Green, chairman; Laura Stillman, Helen Rogers, Evalois St. John, Mrs. Frank Langworthy and Leland Shaw.

Straw Ride to 'Plains.

Charles Debele, Miss Ethel Campbell and the Misses Elsie and Katherine Debele, attired in costumes appropriate to Hallowe'en, and accompanied by a number of other friends, enjoyed a straw ride last night to Scotch Plains and return.

Youngsters Out In Borough.

Many were the tricks played by the youngsters in North Plainfield, last night. The negligent property owner forgetting to store his gate in the cellar or place it beside his bed at night, in many cases found his swinging "friend" gone upon arising this morning. Passing cars had their trouble in making progress, the more daring boys yanking the trolley pole from the wires and plunging the vehicle in darkness. Many parties were held and pretty maidens slept happily through the night, satisfied with the result of various "fate" games they had taken part in, and which promised them a handsome man.

Edward Gaub awoke this morning and noticing the laughs of passer-bys, cast his eyes toward his roof and found the top of an old wagon perched thereon. And Walter Chandler, the grocer, found a similar vehicle on the sidewalk in front of his store, and his front door was blockaded high with barrels and boxes, by the joking youngsters. There were no arrests and no complaints were made to the police.

Miss VanArsdale's Party.

At the home of Miss Ida VanArsdale on Elmwood place, a number of young people gathered and enjoyed games appropriate to the occasion, such as ducking for apples and finding the ring in a pan of flour, etc. After the games came refreshments.

Linen Shower For Miss Harding.

About twenty-five friends of Miss Catherine Harding gave her a linen surprise party last night at the residence of Mrs. Margaret Hand on Jackson avenue, Netherwood. The evening was passed in playing games and at midnight a collation was served in the attic, which was attractively decorated with autumn leaves, American flags and jack-'o-lanterns. Those present were as follows: Miss Elizabeth and Miss Eleanor Casey, Miss Marie Carty, Mrs. Ed. Fiering, Miss Kathryn Flynn, Miss May Day, Miss Lulu Acken, Mrs. B. La Rock, Mrs. Miles Wilson, Mrs. William Wilson, Miss Mattie Viebrock, Miss Marie Viebrock, Mrs. T. Nolan, Mrs. J. Deady, Miss Margaret Meaney, Miss Helen Meaney, Miss Margaret Meade, Mrs. T. A. Moore, Miss May Ella Hand, Mrs. John Cartright, Miss Teresa McGinley and Mrs. Margaret Hand. Miss Harding will be married in November to M. J. McGinley, of New York city, and will make her home in New York.

Fun at Mrs. Stevens'.

Mrs. George O. Stevens, of West Sixth street, gave a Hallowe'en party, and during the time that the young people were masked there was no end of fun. The house was darkened, the only light being furnished by a bone-fire on the rear lawn, where part of the festivities were enjoyed. During the evening refreshments were served.

Those in the party included Dorothea and Edith Peacock, Helen and Frank Newell, Richard Smith, Katheryn, Minnie and John Endress, Margaret Rice, Marjorie and Dorothy Sears, Marion, Ruth and Dorothy Lynn, Florence Marshall, Mabel Harrie, Donald Hylan, LeRoy Stringham, Carlton Dunham, Arthur Dealaman, Evan Stevens, Catherine Stevens and George O. Stevens, Jr.

Old Fashioned Party at Warren.

An old-fashioned Hallowe'en party was given at Warren chapel, last night, under the auspices of the flower and social committees. There were about fifty people present. The chapel was elaborately decorated. During an intermission a collection was taken for the flower fund, and refreshments were served.

The members of the committees follow: Flower, Miss Ida Wheeler, chairman; Miss Adelaide Stiglitz, Miss Ethel Hall, Miss Beatrice Ackerman, Edwin Windham. Social, Alfred Everitt, chairman; Miss Louise Demarest, Miss Emma Windham, Miss Bertha Hoagland, assisted by Miss Doliy Bolsterle, Andrew Stiglitz and Theodore Martin.

Nurses Celebrate.

Among the most enjoyable Hallowe'en parties was the one given at the Nurses' Home, of Muhlenberg Hospital, which was arranged by the pupil nurses. There were about sixty guests, including nearly all of the physicians of the city. The women first appeared in a costume consisting of sheets and pillow-cases. During the evening games and dancing were the features, after which refreshments were served.

An amusing feature was the ducking for apples by the physicians, and this afforded lots of fun. Mr. and Mrs. George P. Mellick contributed largely in many ways to the success of the affair. The Home was appropriately decorated for the affair by the young women.

At the Y. W. C. A. Building.

The Y. W. C. A. gave a masquerade Hallowe'en party last night, at which 100 girls and women were present. The rooms were decorated with autumn leaves, jack-o'-lanterns, witches, bats and black cats. The guests were conducted through a chamber of horrors, which, they were told, if they passed through safely, would make them immune from the evil spirits of the evening. All unmasked late in the evening and many surprises were sprung. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Celebration at Truell Court.

The Enreka "500" Club of Truell Court held a mask party and dance in the sun parlor of the Court last evening. The decorations were said to be the most striking of any seen at any of the functions held at the Court. Prizes were awarded to the winners of the games and to the most unique and most comically dressed persons. Miss Margaret Vanderveer took the prize for the most unique costume, while Charles Dutcher took the one offered for the most comic apparel.

STEWART'S ANSWERS

putable that we should obtain the most advantageous terms possible, while the present company supplies us with water, both as to price, quantity and quality, and, if these elements could be secured by the new, rather than our present contract, the new contract would be preferrable.

"Fifth." Yes. As a general proposition, I favor the ownership by a city of its own water supply. In our own case, a large number of elements must be taken into account, namely, the relative cost, increased bonded debt and taxation. An important factor affecting the question is the pendency of the suit in the Supreme Court, which should preclude further discussion at this time.

"Sixth." Not in all respects. It might not be desirable to limit the city to the consideration of the present plant.

"Seventh." The experience of cities in this respect is by no means uniform, and would seem to call for expert, rather than lay advice.

"Eighth." No.

"Ninth." I should say that a retail license fee of about twelve hundred dollars is reasonable. I should prefer to profit by the experience of other cities similarly situated.

"Tenth." The Tyler saloon zone ordinance, I understand, was passed about ten years ago and was an endeavor to confine the saloons to the business section of the city. I do not favor extending the zone, unless it shall appear that such extension would be conducive to a higher degree of sobriety, morality and good order in the city.

"Eleventh." A municipal system for the collection and disposal of garbage and ashes would seem to be desirable. A careful study should be given, however, to the relative cost, practical working and hygienic results of any proposed system and to the question whether or not all classes of citizens would be equally benefitted.

"Twelfth." The commission form of government has pronounced advantages, such as, clearly defined responsibility, and an efficient and speedy method for the removal of unfaithful or incompetent officials. As our city has been fortunate in attracting to the administration of its affairs, able and public-spirited men, I believe we can safely await the result of the operation of this system in cities which have adopted it. If it prove productive of more efficient and economical administration, I shall be emphatically in its favor.

Yours very truly,
PERCY H. STEWART.

Putting the "40 Look" In the $20 Suit

If my salesman (who is also a member of the Rothberg family) ever says or implies that my $20 suits are as good as a $40 suit, and I find it out, he'll be summarily dismissed, which is "high-brow" for getting fired on the spot!

My $20 suits are NOT as good as $40 suits and never will be until $10 gold pieces are as valuable as $20 ones.

But This Is What I Do Claim

I claim my $20 suits have the "$40 look," because the Designer-in-Chief of my garments is the "master-mind" of the clothing business in this country.

Let me make myself clear. This genius does not work for me—he is the power behind the throne in the factory that sells to me exclusively in Plainfield.

And so, out of familiarity, I call him "My Designer," just as the fellow who was once presented at court always referred to the King as "My friend Ned."

CODINGTON'S ANSWERS

this matter. Therefore, I am sure you will agree with me, to, at this time express my views on the subject upon which I may be called to act as a member of said commission would be unfair and injudicious.

Liquor Licenses. As to the liquor licenses, that is a matter entirely within the jurisdiction of the Common Council. The Mayor has no voice in the determination as to what licenses shall be granted or to whom. He, however, is required by law to attach his signature to such licenses as the Common Council shall grant. With the limited number of licenses now granted within the restricted territory, it occurs to me that the proposed license fee of $1,200 per annum is not excessive.

Garbage. As to the municipal system for the collection and disposal of garbage and ashes, it is my opinion that the city should have such a system; by that I do not mean necessarily that it should be collected in a different manner, or by different persons than those who now collect it, but that the whole matter should be regulated by the Common Council, so that the Common Council, through proper committees appointed for that purpose, could regulate and control the removal of garbage and ashes in a proper and sanitary manner.

Commission Form of Government. At present, I do not favor a commission form of government. My information from municipalities who have adopted this form of government is to the effect that in many respects it is unsatisfactory; and Plainfield, in my opinion, can equally as well, or better, be served under the present form of government, and I know of no urgent or important reason for a change to a commission.

Respectfully submitted,
W. R. CODINGTON.

G. O. P. MEETING.

Under the auspices of the Republicans of South Plainfield, a mass meeting will be held in the square opposite the Lehigh Valley Station at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Green, candidate for the Assembly; also the candidates for town committee.

WITH OUR COMPLIMENTS.

The Daily Press—the paper that originates and does not imitate—has arranged a great treat for the people of Plainfield and the surrounding country. By means of a thirty-six inch battleship projector, the result of the Presidential election will be heralded for miles around from the giant searchlight as swiftly as the news is flashed over the telegraph wire from the New York Sun news bureau, whose complete service of 20,000 words has been contracted for. In addition, the detailed news of the election in the Nation will be flashed upon a screen in front of the Daily Press building as it comes over the wire. And the news in the State will come from our staff correspondent at Trenton, while the results in the county and city will also be thoroughly covered. At intervals, moving pictures will be shown. These will include scenes in the present campaign in which Taft, Roosevelt and Wilson figure, and there will be many comic pictures, too. At 6 o'clock on Wednesday morning, the Daily Press will be out on the streets with an election issue containing all the news, National, State, county and local.

A MISGUIDED NOMINEE.

Wouldn't it have been better for U. B. Crane, the Republican councilmanic nominee in the First ward, to have named specifically the Republican leaders he charges with having approached him for the purpose of getting him to commit himself a certain way on license matters? And wouldn't it have come with better grace, assuming the accusation to be true, if he had exposed them instanter instead of waiting until the eleventh hour? Veiled general insinuations of this sort never do any good or serve any real healthy purpose; what is wanted is a bill of particulars. Then again, Mr. Crane intimates that A. D. Edgar, his opponent, would be partial to the Jersey Central railroad in matters affecting its interests because he is an official of that road. Has there been anything in Mr. Edgar's life to warrant this assumption? Is it a crime to work for a corporation? We do not believe that Mr. Crane has gained any friends or made any votes by his attack.

PUBLICITY VIEWS.

The Daily Press has been quizzing the Mayoralty and Councilmanic nominees during the past week for the benefit of the voters, the purpose being to ascertain the views of each and every candidate on the important problems of the municipality and to lay them before the people for their judgment. Twelve questions were submitted and seven of the eleven Councilmanic nominees of the several parties took advantage of the opportunity to tell the voters where they stand.

Today, we publish the answers filed by the three Mayoralty candidates, Percy H. Stewart, Democrat; G. W. V. Moy, Progressive, and William R. Codington, Republican. The twelve questions are reprinted in order to guide the voter as he reads the replies of the candidates.

No voter, and for that matter, no taxpayer, should neglect to read what these three have to say.

Paste this in your hat and act on it to make sure that Plainfield will not be taxed by the county next year without representation, "vote for Hughes and McCann, Democratic nominees for Freeholders." There is no Plainfielder among the Republican Freeholder candidates. Hughes and McCann are Plainfielders, and Hughes, at least, is a Plainfield property owner, and a Plainfield business man.

Under no circumstances will any communication relative to politics be published in our news columns on Monday, the day before election. This is made necessary by reason of the press of general news matter and advertisements which mark the issue on the eve of a Presidential election.

Chauncey M. Depew failed to put in an appearance at the Republican mass meeting in Elizabeth last night. "Our Chauncey" always was fond of practical jokes.

One can not help but admire the political organs published in Union County. They are up against a hard proposition but are doing the best they know how.

We venture the prediction that George L. Babcock will be high man on the Republican Assembly ticket. Men of Babcock's type are needed in politics.

MISS RICHARDS' ELECTION GUESS

Lecturer Tells Audience Percy H. Stewart Will Win Mayoralty.

OTHER CURRENT EVENTS

War Between the Balkan Allies, Miss Richards Says is Quite Likely After Turkey Is Despoiled of Territory—Canal Treaty.

The first of a series of ten talks on current events by Miss Janet E. Richards, of Washington, D. C., was given yesterday afternoon in Hartridge Auditorium. Miss Richards' reputation as a speaker on happenings of the day is well known among society of this city, and her talk yesterday was greatly enjoyed by her audience, which filled the auditorium.

One of her interesting subjects was in reference to our supposed broken treaty with England regarding the Panama Canal. Miss Richards said if we had broken any treaty with England on any question in regard to the Panama Canal, which is a great work by American people, it is not to be compared with the broken treaties of European countries of which she knew. Great Britain she said broke a treaty with Persia four years ago, a country which could not fight her either in commerce or war.

"While in England I had occasion to read that great book, 'A Great Illusion,' written by the editor of the London Daily Times," said Miss Richards. "His first paragraph was headed 'Why Not Fight.' The writer held that England could not afford to go to war with the United States, because she would starve for the want of American products and while her battleships could probably block our every port, the resources of this continent country would enable us to live on, without the aid or help of the imports from another land."

Miss Richards praised the Progressive party for one of the provisions of its platform which calls for the abolition of the Commerce Court. She said the report of that court shows that nearly every case which had been decided in favor of the small shipper against the railroads by the Commerce Comission and appealed to the court, had been reversed in favor of the railroad. It is claimed by the Progressives that the personal interest of the five judges which form this court favor the railroads.

The Balkan situation was Miss Richards next subject. She said there would be trouble again if Turkey were conquered, as the Balkan states would not be able to settle the disposition of the spoils of war to the satisfaction of all, and that it would not be surprising to her to find them at war among themselves in time to come.

After telling facts of interest to peace between Italy and Turkey, the lecturer spoke on the political situation. She said in part: "If I form my opinion from the newspapers and the facts are correct, I think, my friends, that New Jersey will have the honor of supplying this country with the next president. But, judging from last night's demonstration in Madison Square Garden for Theodore Roosevelt, it would seem that the Bull Moose would be victorious. And the followers of President Taft, are trying to persuade the people the danger which confronts the country if Wilson is elected, but in my opinion all three are good honest and capable men, and whoever is returned the winner, I feel sure the United States will continue in its present stride of prosperity.'

Speaking of the local election Miss Richards said: "Friends, from what I have observed, I think you will have the good fortune of having Mr. Percy H. Stewart, as your next mayor."

The next lecture will be given November 14, in the High School Auditorium.

THIRTEEN Y. W. C. A. MEMBERS CELEBRATE THEIR BIRTHDAYS

A birthday supper was given thirteen members whose birthdays fell during the month of October at the Y. W. C. A. last night. In the centre of the table was a large birthday cake decorated with candles and autumn leaves.

The committee in charge of the supper consisted of the Misses Lillian Fordham Grave VanDenburgh, Faith Parmelee and Miss Mayhew. The party was given in honor of the Misses Mildred McAuliffe, Elsie Van Denburgh, Mary C. Brodie, Carolyn Van Pelt, Clara Smith, Elizabeth M. Webber, Marquerite Ewart, Dorothy Martin, Almo Thomas, Mrs. Scheing, Mrs. I. C. Hawkins, Mrs. William O'Donnell and Mrs. Ralph P. Gay.

MISSIONARY REUNION CLASSIS CONVENTION

The annual convention of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Classis of Newark, was held in Clinton Avenue Reformed church, Newark, yesterday, and among those present was a delegation of twenty-five from Trinity Reformed church, this city, the largest from any one church. During the afternoon session these officers were elected for the coming year:

President, Mrs. H. V. Youngman, of Montclair; vice president, Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse, of Plainfield; secretary, Miss Enders, of Newark; treasurer, Miss Elizabeth Sleight, of Newark; Classical Committee, Miss Anne Littel and Miss Edna Merritt, of Newark. The place of the next meeting will be the Reformed church at Irvington.

The morning and afternoon sessions were largely taken up with reports from the officers and committees and several addresses by speakers representing both the foreign and home mission boards.

PROCTOR'S STRONG MAN.

Maximus, the Russian Hercules, a living tower of strength, playing at Proctor's this week will pull against two of Nick Van Winkle's black dray horses tonight. He performed this feat when he was here two years ago. Maximus gives a remarkable test at weight lifting, and the spring board stunt is wonderful. Leslie Thurston, a clever xylophonist, is excellent. Her four selections are well played. Pawel's Pantomine Players in a screamingly funny French farcical pantomine. The scene is a clever arrangement, showing two stories of a house. And most of the fun occurs on the second floor. Tanner & Potter, singers and pianists, are very good. Fields and La Adalia, singers, dancers and comedians, are likewise very good. The pictures were above the average.

E. R. FINCH ENGAGED.

Mr. and Mrs. Maturin Delafield, of 82 East 79th street, New York, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mayzie Livingston Delafield, to Edward R. Finch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Finch, of Park avenue. Mr. Finch, who is a resident of New York, where he practices law, is a former Assemblyman of New York State, and a member of the University and other clubs. Mr. and Mrs. Delafield have a summer home at Riverdale, N. Y., known as "Fieldston."

CLEBRATED HER BIRTHDAY.

Mrs. Mary Jane VanNest, of Elmwood place, observed the seventy-fifth anniversary of her bithday on Wednesday and in the evening her daughter, Mrs. Charles Conover, arranged a party in honor of the event. There were about forty friends and neighbors present to enjoy an informal social evening, during which Mrs. VanNest received congratulations; also many gifts. Refreshments were served.

NO HALLOWE'EN ARRESTS.

Contrary to past years, there were no arrests in this city as the result of Hallowe'en celebrations and only one complaint of violence was made. One lad claimed that he was on his way to a party attired in his best clothes and the unsympathetic mob which thronged West Front street smashed his new derby. Arrests may be made.

YOUTH HELD AS THIEF HAD PLEADED GUILTY

Orville James, arrested last night by Chief Weiss, of North Plainfield, charged with stealing canned fruit, tools and other valuables from the cellar of Mrs. William Drake, of 242 Grove street, recently, pleaded guilty before Recorder Gano this morning, and was held for the Juvenile Court in Somerville.

TURKISH LETTER WRITERS

Make Money Out of the Illiteracy of Ottoman Soldiers.

Turkish professional letter writers have had their hands full since the beginning of the Balkan war. So many men in the Ottoman ranks are illiterate that the few writers who know how to indite a letter to sweetheart, father or mother are in great demand. The writers are seated with their stands in the public market at Stamboul. The soldiers tell what they want to have written and the professionals do the rest. Illiteracy in Turkey is the rule, not the exception, as it is in America.

TURKS SEEKING PEACE AFTER GREAT DEFEAT

Army of 200,000, Routed, In Full Retreat.

London, Nov. 1.—A four days' battle in Thrace has ended in the triumph of the Bulgarian commander in chief, General Savoff, whose skillful strategy has probably brought to a close one of the shortest and most remarkable wars on record.

A great Turkish army, estimated at over 200,000 men, has been defeated and is in retreat.

Constantinople is believed to be at the mercy of the victorious Bulgarian army, and a council sitting at the porte is discussing the advisability of suing for peace.

Nazim Pasha, the Turkish minister of war, and commander in chief at Thrace, has been either shot or taken prisoner.

Such is the news which comes from Constantinople.

It is only a fortnight since Turkey declared war. The first week of the campaign closed with the dramatic fall of Kirk-Kilise, fully revealing for the first time the disorganization, bad morale and inefficient commissariat of the Turkish army. Today that army is defeated, routed, within fifty miles of Constantinople, and possibly its retreat within the capital's line of defenses is cut off.

Only the briefest, vaguest accounts of the great battle have yet been received, for the war has been especially remarkable in that not a single war correspondent has been allowed at the front except in the case of the little Montenegrin campaign against Scutari.

Thus no independent personal narratives of the absorbing events have been possible, and the world has had to depend on biased official accounts provided by the respective governments or confused details supplied by wounded soldiers.

MET HAZERS WITH HOSE.

But Strenuous Defense Did Not Save Divinity Men From Ducking.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Six Biblical students at the Northwestern university were ducked in Lake Michigan by about eighty fraternity men. The men who were thrown in the lake were captured after a raid on Heck hall. They were caught only after a hard fight, and the noise of the many persons in the hall awoke the men on the upper floors. The next thing the marauders knew streams from two fire hose were pouring down on them.

The invaders made a hasty retreat, but took with them the six men who had been caught. The students were taken to a pier, where the ropes binding them were cut and they were thrown into the lake.

WILSON CHEERED FOR 64 MINUTES

Record Demonstration In Madison Square Garden.

SIXTEEN THOUSAND THERE

Colonel George Harvey, Who Fought Nomination, In Box, and Charles F. Murphy Stands Waving Flag Aloft For Half an Hour.

New York, Nov. 1.—The biggest crowd that ever jammed its way into Madison Square Garden last night cheered Woodrow Wilson for sixty-four minutes. This is about half a minute longer than the ovation given William Jennings Bryan in 1896.

The demonstration lasted from the instant that Oscar Underwood of Alabama shut off his speech at 9:10 with "I will now make way for the next president of the United States," until, by dint of waving of arms, hisses, shouts and commands from ushers, policemen and officials, the clock had gone well past 10:14, and even then they evinced a readiness to start it all over again at the first chance, although it did not seem as if human throats could stand a greater strain than that imposed by the hour and four minutes just passed. Disinterested spectators pronounced the garden rally the greatest in the garden's history.

Murphy Waved Flag.

Charles F. Murphy stood on his feet for a half hour or more waving an American flag, and not far away from him were Empire State Democrats who are bitterly opposed to him, waving with just as much vigor. Tammany leaders and reformers stood shoulder to shoulder and whooped it up, with never a thought of local issues. Officials of all kinds of reform societies and members of clubs they have denounced were in the same groups. Men who fought Governor Wilson for the nomination with personal bitterness, like Colonel George Harvey, were boxholders and showed all the enthusiasm in the world. The banker, the merchant, the lawyer, the doctor, as well as the man who works by the day, were aligned together and helped with equal strength of lungs. Then there were the women. Many thought the meeting of the night before would monopolize them, but the appearance of the audience showed that she is just as interested in politics from a Democratic standpoint as from a Republican standpoint. It was estimated that on the night before about four out of ten in the garden were women. Last night they constituted fully one-fifth on the floor, with the proportion becoming much less as the balconies reached toward the roof. But those who were there made up in excitement for what they lacked in numbers.

Sixteen Thousand There.

Sixteen thousand persons were jammed into the big garden. The garden was profusely decorated with flags and bunting. The inspiration of the color scheme made the audience want to start cheering when they first came in, and it worked them up until they were in fine form for the climax. The meeting, advertised as free, was not so free after all when one came right down to it. About 6,000 early comers might get into the upper balconies without a ticket procured in advance, but when you came down to the lower tiers, the floor and the boxes, tickets were required. The meeting was under the auspices of the Business Men's League of the United States, and it gave cheerfully of tickets when asked.

He Feels Responsibility.

Governor Wilson, deeply moved, expressed the deep sense of responsibility that the overwhelming reception had impressed him with. He declared that it thrilled him the more because he realized that it was a welcome extended not only to him the man, but far more still to true Democracy, the cause in which he was to lead them, a cause which was to help Americans come into their own again.

The other of the great older parties, he declared, had suddenly seemed to abandon the initial principles which had begotten it and to have subsided into a frightened inactivity and apathy as to ideals, into a panic stricken fear of undertaking any reforms whatever, lest the great interests of monopoly and dishonest business it had fostered and helped grow turn upon it and wreck it with the power it put into them.

To the bull moose party, on the other hand, he referred as a party that had broken away from the Republican party to become a company of "adventurous discoverers, looking about for new ways of performing old duties, duties that every party has owned from the beginning of party government." It aimed, he declared, to substitute new methods of executive supervision for the old methods of law and to undertake a chastening of business instead of a regeneration of business.

"Devil's Agent" to Prison.

Munich, Nov. 1.—Believing that Maira Kefer, a gypsy, had business relations with the devil, the wife of an Augsburg schoolmaster paid $400 for relief from headache. Three years' imprisonment was meted out to the gypsy.

THREE HUNDRED AND TEN MASQUERADE IN BOROUGH

About three hundred people attended the masquerade dance given by the Women's League of St. Joseph's church, held at Debele's Hall, last night. Five prizes were awarded, three to the gentlemen and two to the women. The prizes were awarded for the most appropriate and most original and one for the most grotesquely dressed.

R. O'Neill won a $2.50 gold piece with the most original costume. Charles Mattey, dressed as a woman, took the first "women's" prize, a $2.50 gold piece. M. D. P. S. R. WILL IMPROVE SOMERVILLE SERVICE

The Public Service Railway Company, through the Board of Public Utility Commissioners, has replied to the complaint made by James L. Griggs, counsel for the Borough Council of Somerville, in the matter of the crowded condition of its cars through the borough. As a result the company has double-headed a number of its cars, especially during the morning and evening rush hours, both east and west. The company has also arranged to place a larger type of car in operation to take care of the traffic.

The traffic is now much heavier than formerly owing to the construction work at the Johns-Manville plant at Finderne, the riding at certain hours being very heavy. The patrons of the trolley appreciate the efforts of the borough officials and the company has also been commended for its prompt response.

Mrs. Cornelia Zabriskie, of West Front street, has removed to West End avenue, taking the house formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Kister.

ASPECTS OF BIG PROBLEM

Dr. Maximilian P. E. Groszmann, educational director of the Association for the Study of Exceptional Children, and the leading spirit of its work, expressed the opinion at the association's convention in New York this week that it is unfortunate the public interest is being so morbidly fastened upon the problem of the feebleminded and mentally defective. As the work represents an uneducable type, he said it does not consider the school problem; it is rather a social problem, a psycholothic problem, a medical problem.

Dr. Groszmann discussed the functions of the special ungraded classes, and deplored the fact that they have largely been used for disposing of the mentally defective. As a makeshift, such an arrangement may pass. There can be no objection to preliminary measures which may lead to more radical provisions, and, in a way, these classes may be used as educational clearing houses, as it were, until a better plan can be adopted. But we must face the issues squarely, and state the case clearly.

He summed up his argument with the following form:

First. We must have an agreement upon a proper classification and terminology in speaking of exceptional children.

Second. There should be conected with every public school system a pedagogical clinic where children of difficult mentality or difficult management may be examined by pedagogical and psychological experts in connection with the chief of medical school inspection.

Third. Such cases as would seem to be unfit for maintenance in the public school system should be referred to a State board for a thorough examination and specification by specially trained experts.

Fourth. This board should have power either to return the child to the public school system with proper advice as to his condition; or to place it in an institution under custodial care, such as would fit the case.

Fifth. Legislation should be developed which would grant those powers and which would modify and extend the compulsory education laws so that they shall apply to all children of school age without exception and provide for their training.

Sixth. There should be provisions in every school system to meet the special needs of the exceptionally bright child and of the slow child; special help, either by more individualized work or by the establishment of ungraded classes, should be extended to retarded or otherwise handicapped children; and special classes and special schools with modified and readjusted courses of instruction should be developed so as to give opportunities to children of special aptitudes to develop along the line of their strongest powers.

Seventh. This would imply in a large measure a revision of our general educational standards, methods and organization. So that the modern school may become more and more an expression of modern child psychology.

Lastly. Not only should our public school system recognize these differences in aptitudes in the children, but it should study them carefully so that the pupils may be guided in the selection of their vocation and life work on the basis of their special aptitudes. This vocational guidance, determined by physio-psychological tests, will materially reduce the great number of misfits in society.

HUNTING SEASON OPENS; SPORTSMEN ARE HAPPY

City Clerk McMurray had made out three hundred and forty-three hunting licenses up to noon today and the hunters are still after them. The Borough Clerk has made out in the neighborhood of two hundred and fifty.

Among the local hunters that are out today are Dr. Elmer Giddes, Fred S. Sandford, P. A. McVoy, Clarence Thorn, Fred Bock, A. E. Force, Thomas Martin, John B. Harsell, Dr. Wilcox, A. I. Smalley, Oscar Schweitzer, Arthur Beekman, Henry Haurand, Dr. N. C. Sears, Dr. Charles R. Thiers, Dr. C. W. Leonard, Dr. B. F. Leonard, Harry Coddington, Sherman Haberle, Pete Mantz, Charles Maltby, Jack Nichols, D. J. Galbraith Bert Steiner, T. A. Martin, and W. H. Callahan.

Despite the inclement weather, many sportsmen in North Plainfield took advantage of the opening of the season for rabbits this morning, and shouldering their guns, with their dogs trooping expectently behind, strode toward the mountains in quest of the game, which is said to be plentiful hereabouts.

Henry Haurand, of Somerset street, accompanied by William L. Smalley and Dr. Leonard, headed for the vicinity of Dr. Zeglio's farm in the Watchung mountains, which they make their annual hunting place. Fireman William Hogan, Fred Eckert, William Nischwitz and William Heath, will make Stockholm their camp.

IN SHERMAN'S MEMORY.

A large picture of the late Vice President James S. Sherman, draped in black, has been placed in the window of the North Plainfield Republican Club. All the public buildings have been ordered to fly their flags at half-mast, by Mayor Clark, to show sympathy for the late executive.

The Government has decided to establish at Arsenal Park, Pittsburgh, Pa., a miners' health and sanitation bureau. A study of the diseases peculiar to miners and an investigation of working conditions with a view to remedial reforms is the purpose of the new bureau, which will be of importance to the welfare of 750,000 men endangered in coal digging in the United States. Surveys of mines and investigation of mining conditions will be made part of the work of the bureau.

CUBA IN SUSPENSE OVER ITS ELECTION

Republic's Devotion to Orderly Procedure is Under Test Today.

Havana, Nov. 1 (Special).—All Cuba [illegible] awaiting to see [illegible] come of the great political battle being fought out at the polls today. [illegible] and doubtful have [illegible] a campaign for the presidency been so momentous and never before has the feeling between the opposing parties been so high.

The election today is the second to be held by Cubans without American supervision. The last election, that of 1906, when Estrada Palma was elected president for a second term, was accompanied by disorders, followed by threats of revolution, culminating in the outbreak of August, 1906, directed by Dr. Alfredo Zayas and Gen. Pino Guerra and precipitated a second American intervention. The next election was held in 1908, under American supervision, and resulted in the choice of Gen. Jose Miguel Gomez as president and Dr. Zayas as vice president. The election was marked by the absence of any disorders.

The question now uppermost in the minds of all persons having the welfare of Cuba at heart is whether or not the republica can hold an honest and orderly election for the presidency with a loyal submission of the defeated party to the will of the majority. Many view the future with grave forebodings, but the more conservative of all of the rival parties and political factions express the belief that the republic will satisfactorily solve her own problems and that there will be no occasion for outside intervention.

The candidate of the Liberal party for the presidency is Dr. Alfredo Zayas, the present vice president. The standard-bearer of the Conservative party is Gen. Mario Menocal. Both are able men and each has a large following. Dr. Zayas is a journalist by profession and is well known as an orator. Dr. Menocal is an engineer and distinguished himself as a military leader in the war for independence. Four years ago he was an unsuccessful candidate for president in opposition to Gen. Gomez. For several years past he has acted as manager of one of the largest sugar plantations of Cuba.

The Liberal party candidate for vice president is Rafael Manduley, governor of Oriento province. The candidate of the Conservative party for second place is Enrique Jose Varona, a philosophical writer, former editor and at present a professor of the Nationall University of Havana.

Unprejudiced observers of the situation appear inclined to the belief that Gen. Menocal will carry the election, though the following of Vice President Zayas is still strong. The chances of Gen. Menocal have been considerably augmented by his recent alliance with the wing of the Liberal party under the leadership of Gen. Ernesto Asbert. The latter was himself a candidate for the presidency but withdrew from the contest in favor of Gen. Menocal. Gen. Asbert is vastly popular with the masses, having risen by his own efforts from a very humble position in life to the high post he now occupies as governor of Havana province.

Both Conservatives and Liberals are making strong bids for the large negro vote, the former trying to excite the animosity of the negroes against the Liberals on account of fatalities to men of their race during the last insurrection in Oriente, and the latter seeking to placate them by promises of unconditional pardon to thousands of negro prisoners now confined in jails throughout the island.

Besides the president and the vice president, there are to be elected today thirteen of the twenty-four senators, forty-nine of the ninety-five representatives who compose the lower house, the governors of the six provinces into which the island is divided, and mayors, councilmen and minor officials in ninety-five municipalities.

During the closing days of the campaign the opposing parties have reached such a stage of rivalry that street fights and incipient riots have been frequent. Today the cooler heads on both sides are counselling moderation, and the unusual precautions taken by the authorities in Havana and elsewhere to prevent disorder at the polls today have met with general approval. Both parties realize that recourse to arms in the settlement of election difficulties will almost inevitably precipitate American intervention, but grave fears are felt over the outcome of the election nevertheless. In the present state of the public mind it appears to be likely that many on both sides would as soon face another intervention as to submit to the rule of the opposition.

ELECTION BOARD SUMMONED.

The members of the Election Board of the First ward, of Rahway, have been summoned to appear before the County Board of Election tomorrow morning at the Court House, Elizabeth, to explain discrepancies said to exist in the registration lists. The canvas of varification made by the police, as provided by the Geran law, proved there was something wrong somewhere. This procedure was decided at a meeting of the County Board held yesterday.

HOLY CROSS PLAYS SOMERVILLE HERE

Good Game Expected on Cricket Field Tomorrow Afternoon.

Holy Cross will play the strong Somerville athletic asociation football team on Cricket iFeld tomorrow afternoon and one of the best games of the season is looked forward to. Although Somerville has been defeated in its first two games of the season the team has been considerably bolstered since the last struggle and reports have it that the eleven from the Somerset county seat is out to administer a drubbing to the Boroughites. We can hardly believe this assertion, however, as the local team is not in the habit of losing two straight and as they dropped a hard one last Saturday afternoon they are pretty likely to come back with a win tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Hamilton has issued a call for practice this evening on Hyde Field and every candidate who expects to get into tomorrow's fray will have to be out in full regalia tonight. Hamilton takes the practices as a serious proposition and any candidate who slights them is apt to adorn the sidelines during a regularly scheduled game. Holy Cross will have its usual lineup and as this has been sufficient to hold all the teams which have appeared on Cricket Field this year, well in hand, it will most likely be enough to give the Somervillians a good run for their money.

P. H. S. VS. ROSELLE AT PARKER FIELD

High School Coaches Have Been Hard at Work Since Wednesday.

Two games of football are on the card in this city for tomorrow afternoon, as the High School schedule is now going along smoothly and Manager Janke has signed up a game to take place on Parker Field between the local school boys and the team from Roselle High School. Since the game with Rahway last Wednesday afternoon the coaches of the Plainfield team have been hard at work polishing off the rough spots and when they take the field tomorrow afternoon the P. H. S. players will be primed to win. The mid-week game brought out many weak spots in the makeup of the aggregation and these have now been remedied so that Manager Janke is looking forward to the first win of the season tomorrow.

Roselle will be well remembered by local football enthusiasts who took the trip with the P. H. S. team last year as one of the hardest combinations that last year's strong eleven had to contend with and it has been reported that the visiting team will be made up of about the same players as last year. The 1911 game was played on the Roselle field and the team from Plainfield was greatly handicapped as the field was little more than a swamp.

Y. M. C. A. AJAX TO PLAY FIRST GAME

Basketball Season Opens at the Y. M. C. A. Gym Tomorrow Night.

Without a doubt basketball will occupy a far different place in the local curriculum of sports this year than it has in the past years, if the spirit that had been displayed in regard to the opening game to be played at the Y. M. C. A. gym tomorrow night foretells anything. Manager Hetfield, of the Ajax basketball team, has signed up the speedy Crescent A. C. team, of Elizabeth, to hook up with the Y. M. C. A. quintet in the initial attraction and a good game is expected as a early season appetizer. Basketball seems to be the main topic of discussion in these parts just at present and although Plainfield is a little slow opening up the popular indoor season, it will probably make up for the tardiness by the quality of the teams turned out.

All of the local managers and enthusiasts who value the purity of the fast indoor game, in preference to the financial and business end, are enthusiastic over the optimistic outlook. At present Plainfield can boast of only one good basketball court and that is at the Y. M. C. A., where the opening game will be played tomorrow night. The Hope Chapel court has been greatly improved within the last two years, however, and the team from that place will also open their season tomorrow night, playing the five from Union High School. The sport has been conducted at the Y. M. C. A., during the four years that the Ajax have been playing together, not with an incentive toward financial gain, but through the love of the sport on the part of the six players who have stuck together both on the court and off. It became necessary for Frank Dunning to resign from the team this year because of pressing school work and this was the first break recorded in the ranks. His place has been admirably filled by James Nash, the old P. H. S. star, and Nash will be seen playing centre tomorrow night in his first appearance in an Ajax uniform. William Peacock, one of the regular forwards, is still unable to play because of an injury he sustained to his ankle some weeks ago, but Andrew Hetfield is capable of filling in the gap and the team will be able to put up a good game in the initial contest. Glover and Brynarski will play the guards and McNamee will play the other forward.

The Crescents are coming to Plainfield with a reputation that they have gathered in and about Elizabeth and reports have it that the Ajax will be extended to the limit in order to nose out ahead. Tomorrow night's opponents are not an altogether unheard of aggregation, as they have been playing together for the last three years on independent courts, and their schedule includes teams from Elizabeth and Newark High Schools.

BASKETBALL GAME AT HOPE CHAPEL

Union High School Will Be the Attraction at That Place Tomorrow.

Basketball will again be the leading attraction in the Hope Chapel gym tomorrow night, when the representatives of the Chapel stack up against the team from Union High School. Hope Chapel played this same quintet last year and although the Fourth street aggregation came out ahead they did not have much to spare at the end. The game caused such intense excitement among the players and spectators, that near the end the affair resolved itself into a good natured rough house in which the five players on each team participated.

Acting Captain Johnny Heron has been confronted with such a wealth of material that he is now facing the puzzling question of picking a permanent team. In the game tomorrow night every one who has been faithful to the practice will probably be given an opportunity to shine and Heron will pick a team of five permanent players at that time. There is a great drawback in shifting the lineup in order to give every candidate a tryout as the team work has to be broken up to some extent.

HARVARD AND PRINCETON.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 1 (Special).—Princeton will engage in football battle with Harvard tomorrow, and, needless to say, the followers of the Tiger are keenly alive to the importance of the struggle and the vital bearing it will have on the chances of both universities in the race for the Eastern gridiron championship. On the records of the two institutions for the season up to date they appear to be well matched. A party of several hundred Princeton supporters leaves tonight for Cambridge to witness the game.

Philosophical Phelix Says:

BOUND BROOK ELEVEN PLAYS NEW BRUNSWICK

The football team of the New Brunswick High School will line up against the strong Bound Brook High School team on Saturday afternoon. The game will be staged on Horners Field, New Brunswick.

The team of Metuchen High School is the only one to hold the honor of crossing the New Brunswick's goal line. This came on an eighty-five yard run by Smith when he picked up the ball on a fumble and made a touchdown. This was the first game of the season and since then they have had a clean slate.

The record now stands one tie and three victories. One of these was the triumph over Rutgers Prep, in the annual game between these two teams. Prep defeated Bound Brook last Saturday by a rather bad score. But scores do not count as was shown by the New Brunswick's tie with Somerville.

The New Brunswick's will enter the game with the same lineup as in the other games. They have been practicing hard this week but it will be needed to stop "Dedo" Mason's 230 pound fullback.

PROFESSIONAL FOURSOME AT SOMERVILLE COUNTRY CLUB

The Somerville Country Club has announced that there will be a professional foursome on its course tomorrow between Alec Smith, the professional of the Wykagyl Country Club, New Rochelle, and John Langlands, the home professional, on the one side, and George Low, professional at the Baltusrol Golf Club, Baltusrol, and John M. Shippen, professional at the Maidstone Club, Easthampton, L. I., 36 holes, 18 holes match play in the morning, at 10 o'clock, and 18 holes medal play at 1:30 in the afternoon.

This match will be a rare treat to the lovers of the game in this part of the country, and will afford an opportunity to see two at least of the most noted exponents of the game of golf in this or any other country.

It is earnestly hoped by the club that all who are interested in the game will avail themselves of the opportunity that has been brought so close to all of the players and their friends in this section, for a very cordial invitation is extended to all to attend, whether they are at present members of any golf club or not, for if they have never been interested before they are sure to be after witnessing these men play the game as it should and can be played.

—We never suspect the good qualities of some people till we read their obituaries.

INSTRUCTIVE TALK OPEN TO 400 BOYS

Juvenile Set of Plainfield Will Be Entertanied Tomorrow Evening.

In an effort to interest the younger boys of the city in the movement originated by the Daughters of the American Revolution to erect a suitable memorial at Washington Rock, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead and Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen will entertain the first 400 boys to arrive at the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium Saturday morning. Mrs. Mead and Mrs. McCutchen will try to enlist the youngsters aid in the worthy movement by explaining in detail the significance of Washington Rock and have arranged an instructive program for the "young Americans."

Their talk will be illustrated with motion pictures depicting the famous battle of Yorktown which took place about the time George Washington made the spot on the Watchung Mountains famous, when he viewed the British manoeuvres at New Brunswick from the high rock on the mountain slope. It has only been within the last two years that citizens of Plainfield have really awoke to the fact that they have a famous historical spot in their midst and since that time the Daughters of the American Revolution have been soliciting voluntary contributions in order to raise a fund to make Washington Rock a permanent place of interest.

During the last year a suitable monument has been erected through the zealous efforts of the local chapter and safely encased in the cornerstone are the names of nearly every boy and girl between the ages of eight and sixteen, in this city. This was done to make the younger set have a feeling of having some part in the work accomplished, but tomorrow morning everyone will be asked to bring either a cent or two cents to help pay for the erection which is now completed.

Although the sum assessed seems exceedingly minute it can be readily figured out that 400 children each contributing two cents will add eight dollars to the fund. The speakers aim is not to swell the fund, however, but to enlist the cooperation of the boys of the city in the most worthy object and to enlighten them concerning the founding and naming of the spot in the Watchung Mountains that has become famous throughout the State. What Plainfield boy is not an admirer of George Washington? Will you be one of the first 400, or will you accept defeat like a quitter and be one of the laggers to whom the auditorium doors will be closed?

The affair will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock and the first 400 boys will be admitted.

ALL PLANS COMPLETED FOR Y. M. C. A. ANNIVERSARY

Arrangements have been completed for the observance of the forty-fifth anniversary of the Plainfield Young Men's Christian Association, and nearly all of the exercises which have been arranged in connection with the affair will be held during the association week of prayer, November 10 to 17. The program will include services in several of the evangelical churches, at which the work of the association will be presented by visiting and local secretaries; special meetings will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Auditorium.

The speakers who have been secured to outline the work during the anniversary week are: November 9, C. William Bingeman, at the Seventh Day Baptist church; Sunday morning, November 10, First Methodist church, J. M. Clinton, secretary at Tokio, Japan; Park Avenue Baptist church, Charles A. Coburn, State secretary of the Y. M. C. A.; Congregational church, G. H. Roehing, boys' work secretary of the Trenton Y. M. C. A.; Trinity church, Charles H. Green, secretary of the Madison Y. M. C. A.; Warren chapel, Herbert E. Parker, of the local association; Sunday evening, November 10, Herbert E. Parker, at the First Presbyterian church. A service will be held later at the Crescent Avenue church.

BULL MOOSE DISCUSS WATER AND SEWERS

Headquarters Meeting Resolves Itself into Informal Interchange of Views.

The "Bull Moose" meeting at the headquarters on North avenue, last night, took on the aspect of an informal discussion among some of the candidates and other supporters of the Progressive ticket. The speakers included Mayor G. W. V. Moy and Stanley Gunnison, Jr., candidate for Council from the Second ward, while others who entered into the discussion were I. B. Hill, H. LaC. Hoff, Charles A. Sturtevant and Henry Nicolay.

Mr. Gunnison took occasion to refer to the twelve questions propounded by the Plainfield Daily Press, adding that it was not possible for him to answer them more fully without more detailed information and additional facts, and he did not think it was right for a candidate to pledge himself absolutely on a certain matter with which he is not fully conversant. As to the question of a commission form of government, Mr. Gunnison said that he did not think that it was a part of the present issues of the campaign.

Taking up the water and sewer questions, Mayor Moy said that his reason for certain views on the sewer question was that the indirect route would cost $100,000 more than the direct and in his opinion any plans adopted now must be regarded as temporary as many improvements and inventions are being made rapidly and it would probably be a matter of only ten or fifteen years when the whole plan or system would have to be changed.

Mr. Moy added that he further objected to the proposed plans because of the provision of four siphons in the indirect route, and in view of the fact that Plainfield would pay 68 per cent. of the cost, it would represent a considerable outlay.

Referring to the water question, Mr. Moy said that he had always favored a municipal system, and had advised it in his first message to the Common Council, urging that body to move quickly and take advantage of acquiring the water supply under the city, by building an independent plant. He could see no real reason for paying any attention to the water company in this matter. In the opinion of the Mayor a man who works to the end of performing his official work by making himself popular soon finds himself in difficulty, that it was not always possible to be popular and right at the same time.

The meeting tonight will be addressed by Councilman F. L. Holt and A. M. Morrell, candidate for freeholder.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

At the opening exercises of the High School today, Principal Phelps presented last year's girls' basketball team with monograms. This is somewhat late for last season's honors but the manager had trouble in getting them. Mr. Phelps referred to the team's great record of twenty-one victories and only three defeats. As the girls received their monograms the High School gave many cheers. Those who received the letters are the Misses Mildred McAuliffe, Elsie Debele, Marion Mair, Clara Smith, Bessie Carson, Margaret Eaton and Captain Helen Hummel.

At a meeting of the junior class yesterday, a new pin committe was selected. There has been much trouble about the class pins and it was thought a new committee might have better success. The committe: Miss Woolston, chairman; Miss Dalley, Miss Peck, Donald Ketcham and Roy Love.

Professor Mertz, of the English department, will take a large party of students to New York tomorrow to see Sothern and Marlowe's production of "Macbeth." Those who are going are Kathryn Reed, Edna Green, Mary Viana, Anne Hull, Madaline Mundy, Mary Bennett, Helen Woodruff, Miss Terry and Estes Small, Russell Lee, Addison Newkirk, Oscar Dilts and Mr. Mertz.

Captain Townley and Coach Webster have the basketball squad on a run every evening. The run is about four miles and is led by the coach. Those who are out as regular candidates are Carroll Taylor, Ashley Purner, Frank Dunning, Addison Newkirk, Roye Love, Duclos Van Mater, Edson Day, Lester Chandler, Elmer French, Newton Spencer.

"Newt." Spencer looks good as a possible candidate for the open position at forward. He is fast and has basketball blood in him. But "Newt" has been ruled out of athletics by the Board of Education until the first of the year.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Tryouts of ends for the Boys' Minstrels will be held Monday afternoon. The candidate are: Edson Woodhull, Joseph Carty, Arthur Van Zandt, Eynar White, Fred Krom, A. Crozier, Edward Jenkins, Gerald Linke, Felix Janke and Valentine Goldsmith. Interlocutor candidates are Fred Allen, Harold McDowell and Monroe Good.

The football team will play the Roselle High School eleven on Parker Field tomorrow at 3 o'clock.

Boys' Secretary C. William Bingeman, of the Y. M. C. A.; A. N. Cottar, of New York, and Charles R. Scott, of Newark, visited the school this morning.

Roy Titsworth, a member of the P. H. S. Alumni, visited the school this morning, and favored the students with the three songs, "Sweetbriars," "The Little Irish Girl," and "I Long For You."

William Cranstar Lawton gave a talk to the school this morning at general assembly, the topic of which was "Sources of Longfellow's Inspiration." At one o'clock Mr. Lawton spoke to the freshmen on the "Charm of Homes."

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Kister, of West End avenue, removed to Brooklyn yesterday.

There is only one thing more remarkable than the beauty of the designs, and that is the sturdiness of the weave. You can put one of these Rugs down in your bedroom, your dining-room or your sitting-room, secure in the knowledge that constant wear will have practically no effect on its brightness and firmness.

Another house is advertising this quality at $16.50, and it is excellent value at that price. We can afford to sell at less profit

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

FRIED MUSH.

SERVED for breakfast with chops, fried mush is a tempting dish.

The mush may be made with cornmeal or graham flour.

Mush for frying should be prepared just as for ordinary serving, but it should be poured into a deep oblong dish to cool. When it is to be used it should be turned out of the dish and sliced for frying.

Breakfast Appetizers.

Fried Mush.—Slice well cooked mush about one-quarter of an inch thick. Cut in squares or oblongs. Drop in smoking hot fat as you would French fried potatoes. When a delicate brown lay on a paper a few minutes.

Mush Croquettes.—For this use cornmeal mush. Take about a pint of the hot mush and stir into a tablespoonful of butter and let it cool until lukewarm. Then add two well beaten eggs and a saltspoonful of salt. Shape into croquettes about three inches long and fry in hot fat until golden brown.

Novel and Nutritious.

Fried Graham Mush.—The day before you wish to serve the mush mix a cupful of graham flour and a level teaspoonful of salt. Make this into a paste with two pints of cold water. Stir this, a little at a time, into a half pint of boiling water and cook for fifteen minutes, stirring it frequently. Then turn into a buttered tin or dish and set it aside. The next morning turn the mush out of the mould, cut in slices and place in a frying pan in which a teaspoonful of butter has been melted. Fry the mush till it is a light brown. This may be served with maple sirup.

A Tempting Dish.

Fried Mush and Bacon.—Fry thin slices of breakfast bacon in a hot frying pan and then lift out and set aside where it will keep warm until the mush is ready. Cold cornmeal mush should then be sliced and dipped alternately in cracker or breadcrumbs and beaten egg. Fry in the bacon gravy and serve with the slices of bacon laid on top of each slice of mush.

FLOTSAM AND JETSAM.

The Bar Bow Still a Decorative Feature of the New Gowns.

Groups of three and six little bar bows are used for decorating plain frocks.

Accordion plaiting has been revived and many of the newest skirts are treated in this manner.

Brown, with a decided leaning toward the golden tones, is seen everywhere among smart gowns.

Many of the French felt hats in white and colors have their crowns

COLLARET AND MUFF.

swathed in folds of silk or ribbon, with jaunty bows of various descriptions at the side, generally well toward the back. A charming one in an oyster white felt was trimmed in this way with purple ribbon, showing a white picot edge. Two loops of the ribbon were drawn through a buckle of the ribbon at the side, with the two ends allowed to fall on to the hair.

The collaret that fits up snugly around the neck and terminates in long stole ends is a favorite one. New muffs are large and roomy, yet quite flat. The set illustrated is entirely satisfactory and may be used for fur and fabrics. JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in one size only. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7241, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LECTURE AT THEATRE

Judge Smith Interests Large Audience in "Gospel of the Kingdom."

"Christian Science, the Gospel of the Kingdom," was the subject of a lecture given at the Plainfield theatre, last night, by Judge Clifford P. Smith, C. S. B., a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ Scientist, of Boston. There was a large attendance of members and friends of the church and all appeared to be deeply interested in the lecture. Judge Smith was introduced by L. B. Woolston, of this city. He said:

Judge Smith spoke in part as follows:

The history of the human race shows that its search and hope have always been for a larger dominion over adverse conditions and a greater continuity of life. Eternal and abundant life is the prayer of humanity; it is the goal of righteous effort. For this reason Christian Science responds to the purest desires and the highest aspirations of mankind.

How should you like to know that infinite good is the Principle—the cause and substance—of all that really is, and that this divine Principle is always available to you for the overcoming of any evil condition?

How should you like to be sure that in the reality of your being you image and reflect divine Life and Truth and Love, while the only devil, evil, or hell is the illusion in human consciousness?

How should you like to be certain that heaven and hell, health and disease, happiness and misery, are simply opposite mental states, resulting from contrary modes of thought, and that one of these states is real and true and enduring, while the other is a bad dream?

How should you like to learn that there is a way by which you can enter into the kingdom of heaven on earth?

For the proof of the propositions involved in these questions Christian Science relies on four distinct grounds of assurance. First, the verbal instruction of inspired teachers as found in the Bible; second, the object lessons or so-called miracles furnished by Christ Jesus and his followers in the first three centuries of the Christian era; third, the evident spirit of Truth which pervades the works on Christian Science written by Mrs. Eddy; fourth, the results of Christian Science in the experience of the multitudes who have sought its benefits according to its own rules. With this data Christian Science is able to satisfy the highest sense of reason, but not content with the verdict of any human faculty, it makes its ultimate appeal to the understanding that is spiritual and divine.

FRIENDS SURPRISE THEM IN THEIR NEW BUNGALOW

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Causbrook gave them a surprise house-warming, last night, at their new bungalow on Netherwood avenue, of which they have recently taken possession.

There were nine tables of "five hundred." Those who won the honors for the women were Mrs. Robert Gow and Mrs. J. R. H. Hall; among the men Fred S. Sandford and [illegible] Deidelman were the winners.

After the playing of cards instrumental and vocal music was enjoyed. Refreshments were served after which Mr. and Mrs. Causbrook were presented with a renaissance lunch cloth.

—Blobbs—"What's a good cure for the blues?" Slobbs—"I can always manage to get rid of mine in a poker game."

—"The purple and fine linen of some people," says the Manayunk Philosopher, "always reminds me of putting a $10 collar on a 30-cent dog."

COWAN CHICAGO

Furniture

Conceded to be the Most Important Single Offering of Fine Furniture Ever Made in New York City

Cowan furniture is so thoroughly genuine in wood, workmanship, and in its fidelity to design, that it compares favorably with the originals which it reproduces—the work of the old masters like Chippendale, Adam, Sheraton, Hepplewhite.

W. K. Cowan & Co., who made the furniture, have a retail store in Chicago that is said to be the most artistic spot in the City.

They also have a factory on the Lake Shore Drive that is one of the most efficient, as well as one of the most artistic workshops in the country.

Cowan furniture, while well known in the middle West, especially in Chicago, is not so well known in New York and the East.

But the East, with its fine luxurious homes, is a great user of fine furniture.

Therefore Cowan wants to "win the East"—as he has won the West.

So Cowan, to make his furniture better known, cooperated with us in organizing this introductory sale—with prices a third less than Cowan prices.

The woods employed are carefully selected—mostly Cuban mahogany, with the soft rubbed-down finish. The cabinet-work is the cabinet-work of artisans who love their work—as your examination of any piece will show.

The designs are classic with pure fidelity to the originals—mostly of the English and Colonial period—in furniture for the hall, dining room, library and bedroom, in full suits and single pieces.

And the prices—one-third less than Cowan retail prices, which themselves were moderate considering the high quality of the furniture.

Words cannot adequately describe the great variety and beauty of this Cowan Furniture—

Sheraton, William and Mary, Jacobean, Adam, Italian Renaissance dining-room suites; fine period chairs, console tables and hall glasses; fine couches and sofas; library desks and ladies' desks; hanging book racks, book stands and blocks; tea tables, card tables, small table stands of various sorts, tilting top tables in many styles, pedestals, nests of tables, gate leg tables, muffin stands, work tables, jardinier stands, jardinier boxes, folding screens, candlesticks, umbrella stands, stools, magazine stands—

But come tomorrow. See for yourself. Select what you need while the opportunity is here. There is always room for one piece more if it is a Cowan.

Fifth Gallery, New Building.

Mahogany Couch
The "New Orleans day bed," or couch, a finely executed reproduction of a piece of furniture very popular in New Orleans during the Colonial days. As an example of fine handiwork it is probably unequalled. It is 77 inches long, 32 inches wide, 38 inches high.

STILLMAN BALKS AT THIRD TERM IDEA

That and Judiciary Planks in Platform Led Him to Leave Progressives.

Reasons why he felt compelled to leave the ranks of the insurgent Republicans were made public today by Corporation Counsel William M. Stillman in the following letter to the Daily Press:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Permit me to express my views of the present political situation and to state why I earnestly desire the election of Mr. Taft:

(1) As a Progressive Republican I followed Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. Colby and other leaders up to the point of the Republican convention, but I am against the progressive movement from that time for the following reasons:

Their platform calls for a third term. Mr. Roosevelt also in an editorial in the Outlook amplified this by stating that he could see no good reason why the President should not hold office for as long a term as he was able to render good service, in other words a life tenure.

The platform calling for the re-call of judges is impossible as well as useless. Ample remedy is at present provided by law for crooked and dishonest judges, viz.: impeachment. If our judicial system is at fault, especially in criminal law the people themselves are to blame for the State Bar Association has at various times tried to have our judicial procedure amended by constitutional amendments, but the people have voted these amendments down every time.

The third and most important idea advanced by the progressives viz.: the recall of judicial decisions, is a strike at the very root of our free government, and if carried to its logical conclusion would place the minority at the mercy and behest of the majority, and would set class against class and religion against religion, and do away with all checks given by our constitution to protect minorities and vest the supreme power in the mob. This would affect our religious liberty, our schools and might do away with the 14th and 15th amendments, take from the black man his right to vote. In fact whatever the majority might wish to do could be done by them, either in labor matters, religious matters or social questions.

Mr. Wilson is a Democrat of the southern school, and his writings show that he is an extreme free trader and States right man. His speeches also show that he is one thing in one place and another in another on the tariff question. With a solid south in his favor and with but two or three northern States necessary for him to carry the election we are threatened by a revolution which will disturb business to its very vitals. His election will carry also with it a Democratic House and a Democratic Senate. What they will do can be forecasted by what they tried to do last year when both houses passed a tariff bill which only the vote of Mr. Taft prevented from becoming a law.

This tariff bill would have ruined New Jersey and stopped every machine shop in Plainfield.

I am for Mr. Taft because I think with his calm judicial temperment he is just the man needed for the present crisis which I believe to be the greatest that has appeared since the Civil War.

His character is much like that of the late President Cleveland, and he has all of the firmness and backbone that characterized that president. This was well exemplified by the calm and careful way that he has handled the different questions that came up during his administration and the vetoes of bad measures in spite of great pressure, brought to bear on him.

With him as our next president we are sure of four years more of great prosperity, which with either Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Wilson in the presidential chair there will be much disturbance and change in both business and social matters.

Respectfully yours,
WM. M. STILLMAN.

BOUND BROOK YOUNGSTERS FIND OLD STATION A MINE

The youngsters of Bound Brook have discovered a silver, gold and diamond mine which is yielding such rich hauls that all the small prospectors have funds to buy the best seats at the "movies."

The mine was found underneath the old platform of the Bound Brook station on the Jersey Central. For twenty-five years the stray coins of passengers have been dropping through the wide cracks in the platform. A week ago workmen were engaged to move the station, and they began by tearing up the boards.

Then the children got busy. Seventy dollars has been taken out of the diggings already. Yesterday Albert Young, of Main street, found a $10 gold piece. A diamond ring was found on Monday.

The mining fever has so beset the children that they go down to the station at night and dig by lantern light.

UNDER THE EYE OF "HONEST ABE"

The names of Abraham Lincoln and J. W. Greene & Co. have been indelibly linked with HONESTY—and, by a happy coincidence, the heroic statue of Lincoln on the Court House Plaza is placed almost directly facing the windows of this honest store. Were it necessary we could simply look across the street and gather inspiration from the watchful gaze of Honest Abe. But our established policy of Honest Dealing and Honest Values is well known. We merely call attention to the fact that this magnificent statue could not be more happily placed, for honesty and justice are gathered here in a grand triumvirate group—the statue of Lincoln, the House of Greene and the massive Court House.

Honest Values only will you find in this store, and Honest Dealing always. And whatever the House of Greene advertises is honestly so. Our established reputation is squarely behind our every statement, and when you buy here you buy at "The Honest Store" and under the eye of Honest Abe.

50TH YEAR OF RULERSHIP.

Athens, Nov. 1 (Special)—King George of Greece, who again looms large in the public eye by reason of the flame of war that appears to be rapidly spreading over southeastern Europe, yesterday entered upon the fiftieth year of his reign. Next to the venerable Emperor of Austria he is the oldest of the sovereigns of Europe. Born a prince of Denmark, he was proclaimed King of the Hellenes by the national assembly of Greece on March 30, 1863. He was then seventeen years old. On October 30 of the same year he arrived in Athens, and on the following day he took the oath and mounted the throne. When the future King arrived in Athens, forty-nine years ago, he was welcomed by a little nation of a million people. He has more than two million subjects now, and Greece has progressed very creditably under his rulership. Though Greece has been overtaken by severe political storms during the past half century the throne of King George has never once been seriously threatened. No one doubts that the king has a genuine love for his adopted country and, at the present moment, shares to the utmost degree the dream of every Greek of making the Aegean Sea a Grecian lake, as it was in the palmy days of ancient Athens, and of seeing her flag float from the minarets of Constantinople on that day, which may not be far distant, when the Ottoman shall be expelled from Europe.

—Hope is an airship. Disappointment is a parachute that lets him down easy.

—The shoe dealer always has to begin at the foot, but the hatter realizes from the first that there is plenty of room at the top.

—I've never made election bets;
I never hope to make one.
They're not, we find with vain regrets,
So apt to make us break one.

SENATE SEATS ARE IN THE BALANCE

Seven Members of Upper House of Legislature Go out of Office This Year.

Trenton, Nov. 1.—State Senators will be chosen at next Tuesday's election for seven counties in New Jersey, and upon the selection made by the voters at that time will rest whether or not Governor Wilson, in case of his election to the Presidency, will be succeeded by a Democrat or a Republican. The State Senate as now constituted has eleven Republicans and ten Democrats, so that a change of one in the political complexion will mean that a Democratic President of the Senate will be chosen, and he will succeed Wilson as Governor, in the event of the latter being made President.

In each of the seven counties, with the exception of Middlesex, there are candidates from all three parties, Progressive, Republican and Democratic. Those seeking the office, none of them at present being members of the Senate, are:

BURLINGTON COUNTY.

Winter Cold
Never creeps indoors when the sentinel on guard is a Square Pot Furnace. These embody principles and improvements that give complete fuel consumption without heat waste. The firepot of these furnaces is square and corrugated—a form that throws off more heat than a round firepot. Also, this square pot never retains an ash accumulation large enough to prevent free burning. Big fire or little fire, driven hard or checked down, a Square Pot Furnace gives you back a full return for fuel expended. The full story of Square Pot Furnaces is interesting—get it from one of our dealers.

$9,200 Worth of Men's Fall Suits to Sell for $5,980

Entire Surplus Stock of Michael, Stern & Co., of Rochester, In Sale That Will Appeal to Men of Discriminating Judgment.

Michael, Stern & Co., of Rochester, N. Y., is one of the largest clothing concerns in America. There is no maker of men's clothing that stands higher in public esteem. The name, "Michael, Stern & Co.," is familiar to thousands of men. On a label sewed inside a coat pocket it stands for strictly all-wool material and honest and sincere workmanship. Naturally, manufacturing and selling as much clothing as this house does, cancellation orders, delays in delivery, etc., leave quite a surplus stock of clothing on hand when the season's business is wound up. This season, as in previous years, Michael, Stern & Co. turned to Bamberger's with our great outlet to be relieved of this surplus stock. We bought the suits at a much lower price than the manufacturer ever intended them to sell—lower than it cost to make them. And in turn we present to the men of Newark and vicinity clothing values that you cannot duplicate in the metropolitan district.

Men's 15.00 and 16.50 Suits for 9.75
Men's 18.00 and 20.00 Suits for 13.75

Every suit is made of strictly all-wool material in the season's most approved patterns, in gray, tan and the popular shades of brown. Two and three-button models of the very newest type—clothes that real men wear—clothes that appeal to men of good judgment. Men, don't let this clothing opportunity slip through your fingers. You are offered a chance to buy brand-new Fall clothing at far less than its real value—less than we could buy it at regular wholesale price. It is not a "job" lot of clothing by any means, but suits made by the best tailors in America with the Michael, Stern & Co. label sewed in. Come to this sale and pick out several suits. It's the privilege of the season. Suits go on sale Saturday morning in the new clothing store for men, second floor. Reached by Washington street elevators. The clothing sale of the year awaits you. COME!

Extraoreinary Prices---The Power Behind GIMBEL Apparel for Girls and Young Women

Three Unexpected and Exceptional Purchases of Dresses and Suits Will Increase the Importance of Tomorrow in This Salon

"In war it is the man behind the gun that counts most, and yet he cannot do his work unless he has the right kind of gun!" said Theodore Roosevelt on Wednesday evening at Madison Square Garden.

Yes, our extraordinary prices are the power behind Gimbel apparel, but they would count for naught if our styles were not correct. A mother does not want to see her little girl of six years dressed in a passe fashion, and neither does the young girl who is approaching the debutante age want a suit, a dress or a coat that is not up to the minute.

For these reasons the Gimbel Salon for the Younger Generation has established for itself a unique place in the hearts of all young girls.

Tomorrow, being the first school holiday of the Winter season, we have enriched our collection to such a degree that no matter what kind of a Dress, Suit or Coat you may desire there will be a comprehensive selection at each price. Altogether there will be more than 600 styles.

Young Girls' Chinchilla Coats, $5

A severely tailored, boyish style for school wear. Others up to $18.50. Besides, for girls of 6 to 14 years.

Dresses of velveteen, serge, corduroy, broadcloth, eponge, charmeuse and chiffon, $12.50 to $110.

100 Suits for Young Women at $16.50 That Should Be at Least $22.50

A well-known tailor had an accumulation of surplus pieces of material, and he offered to make them up, if we would take the entire 100 suits. We said "yes," as he agreed to make them, in the plain, tailored style (illustrated) and because he lined the coats with guaranteed satin.

Two-tone zibelines, wide-wale cheviots, two-tone cheviots and fine worsteds. Blue, brown, gray and black. Sizes 14, 16 and 18 years.

Young Women's $20 Evening Dresses, $13.75

Chiffon, daintily draped over messaline—that is the skirt, and the little surplice bodice is also prettily draped and has shirred sleeves trimmed with garlands of tiny ribbon flowers. Pink, light blue, Nile green, maize and white. Sizes 14, 16 and 18 years.

300 Young Girls' School Dresses, $5.50 and $7.50 Regular $8 to $15 Qualities

One-piece Dresses with pleated and gored skirts; also one and two piece sailor suits. A host of styles, but they are all designed especially for girls from 6 to 14 years. Cheviot, cassimeres and fancy worsted, trimmed with silk braid and a few with lace. Also fifty imported Frocks in the collection.

Young Women's Velveteen Suits, $29.50

Tailored in a severe style, such as one always associates with elegance—and trimmed only with tiny silk braid buttons and loops, that are so refined. Its Robespierre vestee of white corduroy is detachable. Navy and black. Sizes 14, 16 and 18 years.

Women's and Misses' Tailored Suits and Dresses $15 to $22.50 Qualities, at $9.75

From several good tailoring firms we have secured an end-of-season surplus of Tailored Suits to sell at about the usual cost to manufacture.

The group contains a dozen recent models, one of which has a strictly tailored coat with Eton back, with collar. The skirt with side plaits. Materials are Lymansville cheviots, serges, homespuns and mixtures; and sizes include 34 to 44 for women and 14 to 18 for misses. All at $9.75 Each—Suits of usual $15 to $22.50 values.

The Dresses present Seventeen Distinct Styles, not any large quantity of a style, though all sizes in the group. Materials include chiffon serges, charmeuse, corduroy and a few velvets; and almost every favorite color is represented, such as taupe, navy, green, tan and brown, as well as black and white. Many are in charming styles for evening and party wear. Regularly $15 to $22.50, at $9.75 Each.

Children's $8.75 Chinchilla Coats at $5

This large quantity makes certain that there will be practically all sizes, from 2½ to 8, in B to E widths, for your choosing tomorrow, in every style in spite of busy buying.

These are the styles and leathers—all most desirable, as you can see for yourself.

Tan calfskin, gun metal, vici kid, patent leather, button or lace styles, with high and low heels.

Also some Shoes with black or gray cloth tops, and a fair quantity of patent leather Button Shoes with black velvet tops.

A most welcome offering, just when most women are giving up their low shoes to favor high ones. All at $1.85 pair. Subway Balcony

Over 1,200 Men Can Save 33 1-3 to 50 Per Cent. on Suit or Overcoat---$18, $20 and $22 Grades TOMORROW at $11

This money-saving is made possible by our securing, at an unusual concession, the over-product of one of our regular manufacturers. He had these garments made in advance, planning to supply his clients' re-orders for this season's trade. The duplicate orders, however, failed to materialze, making it necessary to find some other outlet for fine Suits and Overcoats. An attractive proposition was made to us, which we accepted, and we now present it to the public in the form of concrete economies.

Men Who Spend $18, $20 and $22 Will Find These Suits and Overcoats Excellent at $11

Among the coats there are three-quarter length Chesterfields, with velvet collar; button-through models, with self-collar and patch pockets. Many are one-quarter silk-lined and with plaid backs. Full-length coats with convertible collar, single or double-breasted, plain or belted backs. Also the smart "Avenue" model with belted pleated back.

The wide variety of materials affords selection in blues and blacks, dark Oxford, gray and brown shades; also new Fall and Winter mixtures in plaids, checks, stripes and interwoven designs.

The Suits are in becoming styles and well finished throughout. Plain blue serges, fancy blues, plain blacks, grays, and gray or brown mixtures. Fine Suits for men and youths, in sizes 33 to 46 inch chest measure.

And the Boys Also Save on Their Suits and Overcoats

OVERCOATS at $3.95 and $5 SUITS at $1 and $3.50

It is only necessary to see these Overcoats to tell that they were especially made to ward off the bitter, bitter cold—and mothers usually appreciate the warm materials. The Suits will hold their own.

Woolteed, have convertible collar and belt all around; sizes 9 to 17 years.

GET GLIMPSE OF T. R., THE BROTHER

Mrs. Robinson Tells Moosettes How He Wrote Her About Poem.

SPEECHES STIR WOMEN

Luncheon at the Park Club Proves a Source of Increased Enthusiasm Over Roosevelt and the Progressive Party—Platform Lauded.

Stirred by seven speeches, one of which was delivered by Mrs. Douglas Robinson, of Orange, a sister of Theodore Roosevelt, the 150 women at the luncheon given at the Park Club yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the local Women's Committee of the Progressive party, rose from the tables when it was all over with increased enthusiasm for Roosevelt and his party.

The Progressive platform was the main topic of the speakers, social justice and political reform being emphasized.

The feminine political orators were women of national fame, and included besides Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Everett Colby, wife of ex-State Senator Colby and chairman of the Eastern Division of the Women's Finance Committee with a territory of twenty-nine States; Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, of High Bridge, writer, lecturer, clubwoman and noted suffragist; Mrs. Frederick Nathan, national president of the Consumers' League; Frank A. Pattison, ex-President of the New Jersey Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Charles Israel, chairman of the committee for improving social enjoyment in New York, and Charles Weller, of the National Playground and Recreation Association.

Mrs. Robinson, introduced by Mrs. E. F. Feichert, the toastmaster, as "Mr. Roosevelt's sister and one in close touch with our standard bearer," was given an ovation when she took the platform. She said her brother's political opponents had caused a great deal of ill feeling to be directed toward him because he is running for a third term.

"But I tell you friends," she continued, "there has been no personal ambition attached to his becoming a candidate for the exalted position of president of this great country. On the other hand he has entered the field fully realizing the great responsibility placed upon his shoulders and

DILTS FOR COLLECTOR TELLS WHERE HE STANDS

To the Voters of Plainfield:

During the present campaign you have learned more than ever before about boss rule and the power of the political machine. The evidence has been supplied by members of this machine themselves. You vividly recall the straw vote fraud perpetrated on the voters by officials. Recently you have seen the diatribes of William Newcorn, chairman of the City Republican Committee, and of others high in the machine's councils boldly admitting there is a machine.

If you want to get rid of the machine, party lines must be disregarded, and support only such candidates who refuse to be bossed so that if elected you are sure of getting officials who will be the servants of the people and not of a gang.

If elected collector of taxes, I solemnly promise not to use the office for political purpose nor to be connected with any machine or gang. I will give my whole time to the office and will not engage in other lines of business. My reputation as a man is fully known to you all. I await your decision.

EDGAR IS UNFAIR IN RUNNING, SAYS CRANE

Should Have Accepted Primary Defeat as Final, Crane Contends.

Rejoinder is made today by U. B. Crane, Republican candidate for Council in the First ward, to A. D. Edgar, his Progressive opponent, whose reply to a circular signed by Mr. Crane was printed yesterday. Mr. Crane writes as follows:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

Mr. Abiel Donald Edgar in last night's Daily Press charges me with being unfair in the campaign. If there is anything unfair in the campaign the burden of guilt is upon Mr. Edgar, for after being fairly beaten as a regular Republican candidate at the primary, he turned to the Bull Moose people for nomination. Acting upon the square and as a man of honor he should have considered his defeat at the primary as final and then to have given me his support as a Republican and not have tried to deceive the voters by accepting the Bull Moose nomination, thereby endeavoring to injure the party that he claims to be representing.

Mr. Edgar asserts that "Mr. Crane is seeking this office while he (Mr. Edgar) was besought by a great number of citizens of the First ward to stand for the office of councilman and in accordance with their wishes he consented to stand." Every voter in the ward knows that Mr. Edgar has played every card known to the political game to secure his election and now wishes to appear as injured innocence thereby securing your sympathy.

Answering his slurring remark with reference to my church affiliation, anything that I have written or said or published will be judged by the voters on election day.

I am seeking this office as being opposed to being represented by a man who has no interest in the ward. Mr. Edgar asks why I want to get into the Council? Endeavoring to infer, I presume, that I have a sinister motive in so doing. The answer to the foregoing is that I desire to get into the Council to keep men out of it whose only claim to the office is a desire to experiment with legislation at the expense of the tax payers.

UZAL B. CRANE.

BOY NOMAD SENTENCED TO STATE REFORMATORY

Elizabeth, Nov. 2 (Special).—Ralph Rexford, a boy of eighteen, who has led the life of a nomad about Plainfield and vicinity for some months and who has been in jail here for the theft of a bicycle from a farmer, was sent to the State Reformatory at Rahway yesterday by Judge Atwater in the Court of Quarter Sessions.

Rexford's father and mother are dead and he has no relatives. He hails from Delaware county, New York State. He told the court that he had recently been employed by a farmer in the outskirts of Plainfield.

DEMOCRATIC PARADE.

The City Democratic Committee have arranged for a genuine old fashioned Democratic parade and political meeting to be held Monday night. The start will be made shortly after 7 o'clock from the headquarters in Park avenue. A band and plenty of red fire will make the affair lively. Stops for speeches will be made at Third and Richmond streets; Fifth street and Watchung avenue; Fifth and New streets and Third street and Plainfield avenue. All Democrats of the city are invited to "fall in" along the line of march.

SPECIAL UNION SERVICE.

A special union service will be held at the German Lutheran church tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at which delegations from Elizabeth, Rahway, Carteret and New Brunswick are expected to attend. Rev. C. J. Fischer, of Elizabeth, will address the congregation in German, and Rev. Harry L. Y. Seyler, also of Elizabeth, will deliver an address in English. Special music will be a feature.

HE SAYS ENDRESS WAS ALL WRONG

Not a Single Argument on Sewers Good, Avers Holt.

QUOTED ANCIENT PLAN

Neither Route Will Require More Than One Local Pumping Station—No Such Statement as Attributed to Mr. Gavett Made.

Councilman Frank L. Holt, who has been a member of the sewerage commission, and who in consequence has made an exhaustive study of the proposition, takes exception to recent statements on the proposed joint trunk sewer plan by Councilman Fred Endress, declaring that not a single one of his arguments is true. Mr. Holt's reply follows:

Editors, Daily Press:

I do not believe in unduly protracting the discussion in regard to the sewerage matter, but Mr. Endress' recent letter to you really makes it necessary to say one last word on the subject.

Mr. Endress' article reminds me of the student who defined a lobster as a red fish which swam backwards, and the professor said that this was an extremely good definition—the only trouble with it being that a lobster was not a fish, was not red and did not swim backwards. So Mr. Endress' arguments are all very good and very conclusive, subject only to the condition that not a single one of them is true. To take them up in order and as briefly as possible:

He quotes the specifications as providing that the pumps were designed "to be used when needed." The trouble with this statement is that he is not quoting from the recent plans but from certain old plans which contemplated a long siphon on the south side of the brook ten thousand feet in length, and in connection with which pumps were to be used "when needed." This plan was absolutely condemned by every engineer to whom it was submitted and was of course rejected, and the plan which is now under comparison with the gravity route, provides for continuous pumping at the disposal works.

In the second place, he charges the indirect route with the cost of right of way and figures it at $1 per foot, whereas the usual rate and the rate which has been paid for similar rights of way, is only 50 cents per foot, and he also omits to state that the direct route would be subject to the same charge only not for quite as great a distance. The excess of the expense of this item for one route as against the other is almost negligible.

In the third place, he speaks of possible damage suits which he estimates will amount to $25,000. I shall have to admit that I do not know what he means by this item. The acquiring of the right of way will not of course occasion damages to any adjacent property owner and any possible damages for the maintenance of the disposal works themselves will, of course, not be affected in the slightest degree by the route which is taken to reach them.

In the next place, he charges the indirect route with the cost of installing and maintaining two pumping stations within the city of Plainfield, and the cost of these he figures at $10,000 each with maintenance charges of $800 per annum. The intimation is that if the direct route were adopted these local pumping stations within the city of Plainfield would not be required. In the first place only one local pumping station will be required in any case, and this will be necessary whichever route is adopted, direct or indirect, so that neither route has any advantage over the other in this respect. Furthermore, the cost of such a pumping station does not exceed over $5,000 or $6,000.

In this connection Mr. Endress makes some reference to a route which in 1909 was suggested for a trunk sewer system running down the Raritan valley. This route has not been thought of or considered since the abandonment of this idea about three years ago on account of its cost, and has not been considered at all in connection with the present plans for very good reasons. Furthermore, the level of the 1909 route at the disposal works is twelve feet lower than the direct route which has been recently under consideration, and the result would be that it would

MAYOR ANSWERS REPUBLICAN QUIZ

Unable to Attend Club Meeting, He Replies Today at Office.

HE GOT SHORT NOTICE

Invitation to Come and Be Interrogated Not Delivered Until Too Late to Cancel Engagement—Questions Read Just the Same.

Unable, by reason of a previous campaign engagement, to attend the open meeting of the Taft Club last night, and answer questions the Republicans wrote him they would like to put regarding his administration, Mayor G. W. V. Moy made up for his absence today. Pushing aside a pile of work on his desk, he cheerfully took time this morning to answer the queries. They were read at the meeting last night, although it was known that the Mayor couldn't attend, and that, to begin with, the invitation to attend hadn't been placed in his hands until noon yesterday.

The queries and the Mayor's answers follow:

Question—As a member of the committee appointed to represent the city at the joint conference upon the sewerage question, how many times have you attended the numerous metings of the said joint committee?

How often have you consulted with the engineer employed by the city on the sewerage question?

Answer—I attended a number of the meetings of the joint sewage committee, as to just how many I am unable to say. Inasmuch as the report and plans were before me I found no necessity for consulting the engineer. I have, however, talked the sewage matter over a number of times with Mr. Gavett.

Question—Did you know when you signed a warrant to the order of the Daily Press on the City Treasurer of Plainfield for the sum of $423.24 paid for printing sample and official ballots for the Primary Election September, 1911, that the said bill was for 41,400 ballots and that the said amount included a charge of $129.60 for reprinting some of the ballots on acount of an error made by the City Clerk?

Did you ever investigate this error, and if so, what did your investigation disclose?

Answer—I do not know how many

HOSPITAL ASKS BOROUGH TO PAY FOR PATIENTS

Julius E. Erickson, treasurer of Muhlenberg Hospital, appeared before the members of the North Plainfield Council last night and requested that provision be made to pay for treatment of the poor of North Plainfield who are taken to Muhlenberg. He explained that Plainfield paid $1 per day for each indigent patient, an amount of $3,500 being placed as a maximum amount to be paid in a period of one year. He pointed out that the city might take exception to paying if the borough was not charged a similar amount. The matter was laid over for further discussion at the next meeting.

The report of Recorder Gano showed that 47 arrests had been made by the borough police during October and $66 in fines collected.

The next meeting of the Council will be held Wednesday evening, November 13, when the ordinance in reference to the Manning avenue extension will be further considered. The assessment report on the Steiner place road improvement work will also come up for attention.

Happenings Due Next Week

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2 (Special).—What has been the most eventful political campaign the United States has seen in years will terminate Tuesday, when the vote of the people will decide whether the Republican administration of William H. Taft is to have a renewal of its lease of power, or whether the Democrats, under Woodrow Wilson, or the new third party, under Theodore Roosevelt, will assume the reins of office.

On the same day the representatives who will sit in the Sixty-third Congress will be elected, also State legislatures that will have the selection of many United States Senators. Twenty-nine States will elect governors, and the most of the others will choose minor State officers.

Wisconsin, Michigan, Kansas, Oregon and Arizona will vote on proposed constitutional amendments granting the right of suffrage to women. Numerous other States will vote on proposed amendments or laws of less general interest and importance. A proposal for State-wide prohibition is included in the thirty or more measures to be passed upon by the voters of Colorado. In Oklahoma the fight between Cuthrie and Oklanoma City for the State capital will be determined by the voters.

Judge Staples, of Roanoke, who is to complete the trial of the men connected with the shooting up of the Carroll county courthouse and the killing of six persons at Hillsville last March, will call the cases of Sidney Allen and Wesley Edwards, the two remaining outlaws, in Wytheville, Va., next Thursday. Wesley Edwards will be tried first. Then will come the hearing of the case against Sidney Allen, who is regarded as the leader of the band of outlaws.

What promises to be another noted criminal case is to come up in the United States court at Chicago Wednesday, when George W. Fitzgerald, former teller of the Federal subtreasury in Chicago, will be placed on trial on a charge of embezzling $173,000. This amount disappeared from the Chicago sub-treasury more than five years ago and never has been accounted for.

Saturday will see the annual celebration of Lord Mayor's Day in London, when Sir David Burnett, the Lord Mayor-elect, will be installed in office with all of the pagentry and quaint ceremonials that has attended similar occasions in the British metropolis for several centuries.

The week will be observed in New York City as "Suffrage Week." Each day and evening public meetings in the cause of equal suffrage will be held and the celebration will wind up with a great parade on Saturday. It is expected that more men and women converts to the cause will be in line than ever marched before in the interests of woman's suffrage.

Several large conventions are scheduled for the week. Those of most importance will be the National Farm Congress in New Orleans, the annual meeting of the American Prison Association, in Baltimore, and the annual conference of the association of American Universities, in Philadelphia.

MRS. HILLS BURIED.

The funeral service of Mrs. Eliza C. Hills, wife of the late Townsend Hills, was held at the home of Mrs. Edward Booth, 930 Central avenue, yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Rev. E. Vicar Stevenson, rector of Grace Episcopal church, officiated. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery.

Mrs. W. E. Van Court, of Oak Tree, is spending the week end at Sewaren, the guest of Mrs. R. H. Freeman.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

There certainly will be a notable day at the Plainfield theatre, matinee and night, Tuesday, November 5, for no better show than the "Follies of New York and Paris" could have been picked out. Not only is this particular attraction popular for its ever bright and rollicking offerings, but it has been for the last fifteen years in the front rank of all similar organizationss. Several years ago, one of the best known dramatic critics in this city stamped the "Follies" with the trade-mark "The Show that Made Farce Comedy Famous," and up to this time that popular attraction has lived up to its excellent reputation. Joe Hurtig, under whose direction the "Follies" have been since their initial tour, has added new features. This season's offering, "The Plain Clothes Man," a breezy musical farce, will be the principal vehicle, Fitzgerald and Quinn, who carry the honors of being among the most popular comedians on the comedy stage, and Miss Mabelle Morgan, who makes a superb appearance, being tall and of exceedingly handsome face and statuesque figure, head the cast, which includes Chas. Jansen, Sam Brown, Minnie Lee, Edna Green, Lillian Vedder, Keeler and Don, who will make their first appearance in their marvellous juggling novelty. A well selected collection of pretty young women will make up the chorus.

Much care has been bestowed upon the scenic and electrical equipment of the new musical play, "Seven Hours in New York." The first act, showing the interior and partial exterior of Merrill Lee's home, is rich in the lavish display one would expect to see in a wealthy man's home. The second act represents a summer garden belonging to an estate, with a lovely view of a summer resort in the distance. Both scenes are triumphs of the scene painter's art. Both acts are enhanced by the effect produced by electricity. "Seven Hours in New York" will be seen for the first time at the Plainfield theatre, Thursday, November 7.

Inasmuch as Plainfield is without representation on the Republican Freeholder ticket, I take pleasure in recommending to my fellow citizens the candidacy of my friend and associate, Thomas J. Hughes, as a local Democratic nominee for the two-year term. My association with him for many years warrants me in saying that he is a man of integrity and ability and would conscientiously and splendidly look after Plainfield's interests in Union county. As a taxpayer, I feel that Plainfield should be represented on the Board.

BAKING AND CANDY SHOW.

The cessation of campaign activities will clear the field of public attention for the entree of the "Candy Show" next Monday, at Madison Square Garden, New York. The exhibition, the second of its kind, is fully entitled The Internation Baking, Ice Cream and Candy Show. The main object is to prove to the public that its promoters, the bakers and confectioners practice what they preach by living up to their motto, "Purity and Cleanliness!" Baking is the most important and extensive interest of the exhibition. Confectionery, ice cream, soda water, and other non-alcoholic beverages are likely to lead in the fancy of the general public, attracted more by the suggestion of the delicious than the nutritious. The exhibition is owned and promoted by the New York State Association of Master Bakers and Confectioners' and Ice Cream Manufacturers' Protective Association. The exhibit will open to the public at 2 o'clock, with a formal opening at 8 o'clock. The daily open periods will be from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m. Election Day returns from the national and various State elections will be published in the Garden Auditorium.

The exhibit of the members of the New Yorker Conditor Verein is a competitive one and will include master pieces of the fancy cake bakers' and pastry cooks' art. The Bakers Exhibit's leading feature will be a loaf of bred fourteen feet long, said to be the largest ever baked. The United States War Department has detailed a detachment of regulars to exhibit and operate a field bakery. There will be exhibited a complete modern bakery, making bread and cake from flour to the finished product. A complete ice cream manufacturing plant with the refrigerator system, showing the manufacture of ice cream and the raw products will prove an interesting exhibit. A complete candy manufacturing plant, a "live" exhibit, will demonstrate the various operations of turning sugar into dainty and delicious hard candies, as well as the extensive use of chocolate.

New York Times—"With one delicious wave of melody following another, with a book that provides opportunity for really clever people to be funny, with a chorus that satisfies the eye and delights the ear, 'The Count of Luxembourg' at the New Amsterdam theatre very promptly duplicated its foreign success. Two richly decorated scenes, each full of life and color and go, peopled with a richly dressed and well trained chorus, provide the place of action. To name the numbers that pleased would be merely to catalogue the whole list. The staircase waltz song is the most seductive number." New York Sun—"The music is melodious and beautiful, with the staircase waltz of exquisite movement. The authors and composer succeeded in making 'The Count of Luxembourg' one of the most delightful musical romances that New York has seen in a long time."

On Monday evening Jules Eckert Goodman's play, "The Point of View," will be produced by William A. Brady for a run at Daly's theatre. This drama was presented at a matinee at the Forty-eighth Street theatre a few days ago, with the intention of making it the program for a series of afternoon performances, but it created so profound a stir, and awakened such an outburst of opinion regarding the theory developed in the story, that Mr. Brady altered his plans and engaged Daly's for a regular evening production. In this drama the young woman who is the central figure refuses the marriage offer of the man who has wronged her, upon the theory that he makes the proposition from a sense of duty, and not from love, and that the condition thus established would be even worse than the original mis-step. It is upon the complication described that the widespread discussion of "The Point of View" has been raised. Miss Emily Stevens, Miss Lucile Watson and the other well known players who contributed to the success of the opening representation of the play will be retained for the run at Daly's.

In "Hawthorne, U. S. A.," the new play by James Bernard Fagan which Cohan and Harris will present at the Astor theatre beginning next Monday night, Douglas Fairbanks is the principal figure in a stirring romance of the 20th century, set in the picturesque environment of the idyllic Balkan country in southeastern Europe. Hawthorne, who has just succeeded in breaking the bank at Monte Carlo, is making a motor tour through the Balkan country, carrying the immense sum of money he has won, in an old dress suit case. Observing a beautiful garden wherein he spies a charming maiden, the romantic nature of the American is stirred and in vaulting the high stone wall that surrounds the Eden falls plump into a love affair. The princess fails to enlighten him as to her exalted station, neither does she tell him that her father the King is about to be dethroned because of the bankrupt condition of his country. Hawthorne finds these things out for himself. Around the experiences encountered by the impulsive American, who goes to the assistance of the King, pays off several months back salary of his army, whips the prince of a rival house, and eventually wins the heart and hand of the princess, that the plot of "Hawthorne, U. S. A." revolves.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, NOVEMBER 2, 1912.

The editorial columns of this paper are conducted on Saturdays by representative citizens who are free to express their own views. Corporation Counsel William M. Stillman is the contributing editor for today.

THE CITY'S NEEDS.

As a life-long resident of Plainfield, and one who has been much interested in its civic affairs, officially and otherwise, I have some suggestions for the enhancement, the growth and the prosperity of the city.

First to my mind comes the water question. The city should own its own water plant, even if it should cost a million or more of money to acquire same. Twenty-five years ago this plant could have been purchased for $200,000; twenty-five years from now, twenty-five millions will not buy it. The first and greatest reason why we should own our own plant is that the water company does not and cannot furnish us with a proper pressure for fire purposes. No later than the Nagle drug store fire, Chief Doane reports to me, that he had not enough pressure to drive the water through the hose, the length of the store. Our property and even lives are therefore at the mercy of the water company and the present system of the cities handling this matter.

Because of the water company supplying, in ever increasing quantities, the places to the east of us as far as Elizabeth, our private wells have gone down by actual measurement at least twenty feet and the brooks and streams are almost dry. As a boy I waded in Cedar brook at Park avenue in water knee deep, running clear and fresh and full of fish, and as to Green brook this was so deep, that I had a boat which was tied up in the rear of my father's house at 212 West Front street. At present Cedar brook is perfectly dry and a boat in Green brook would be a joke.

The Common Council has done all it could in the matter. After two public votes by the citizens expressing their desire to own the water plant, the Council has proceeded to condemn, and has gone so far as to have commissioners appointed, but the water company has certioraried the proceedings and the whole matter is now tied up by the Supreme Court.

If we should receive a favorable decision it would be profitable for the citizens to take over this plant at a millon dollars or even more, issuing four per cent. bonds and with all the public buildings and fire hydrants getting free water and the private consumer lower rates than at present paid to the company and a handsome profit would still be left to the city and we would then have the water that belongs to us, for it would not be diverted to other places, and we would secure a sufficient fire pressure to make sure of the safety of our homes, our business blocks and our factories.

If the decision of the court should prove unfavorable it would probably be on the ground that we cannot interfere with the contracts made with other towns and cities. If this is so, then these places should at once proceed to own their own works and leave us in possession of what belongs to us, or the State Board should take hold of the whole question as they have ample power to do under present laws.

A second matter of much importance to our citizens is the widening of cross streets between Front street to and under the railroad and the laying out and opening of new cross streets. Every year that this matter is delayed, it will become more necessary and expensive. At present there is no cross street between Terrill road and Leland avenue and between Leland avenue and Berckman street, and no street between Plainfield avenue and Grant avenue, and none between Grant avenue and Clinton avenue, and Rock avenue is the only street between Clinton avenue and Dunellen. This is all wrong. Surveys should be made and new cross streets mapped and laid out before it is too late and the question of bridge building with the railroad could be taken up later. Park avenue, Madison avenue, Central avenue, New street and Liberty street should also be widened.

If nothing else building lines should be established in all these streets, by condemnation proceedings in the usual manner.

The city, in 1898, made a very favorable contract with the then Plainfield Gas & Electric Light Company, which gave the city an option to purchase the plant in 1923 and every five years thereafter. This right should never be given up, even at the price of reduced rates.

If the Public Service Corporation desires a new contract with the city all these options should be included.

The movement to have Madison avenue and Somerset street widened, will, if carried through to completion, be of great benefit to the city; not only will a lot of small and homely buildings be done away with, but great advantage will result to the general public, in having wider thoroughfares and the doing away with the present congestion of traffic.

On general principle wide streets add much to the attraction and value of a city. Newark and Elizabeth have much to be grateful for in that a hundred or more years ago, they had far seeing and public spirited citizens, who laid out Broad and Market streets which have undoubtedly done much to make those cities what they are today.

In an article of this kind I can touch on but few of the many items of interest that would appeal to Plainfield. We are a well governed city; a law abiding and educated people—second to none in the State. We have fine fire and police departments and the best of schools and have men serving the public in official positions whose honesty and devotedness to public interest cannot be questioned, and I for one am glad that I am a citizen of this handsomely equipped and well-to-do municipality.

WILLIAM M. STILLMAN.

NEW BOY CHOIR.

There will be a communion service at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning when the boy choir under the direction of Wendel C. Glover, organist and choirmaster, will begin his duties. The new processional cross will be used for the first time and dedicated by the rector, Rev. C. H. Mallery, who will preach a sermon appropriate to the occasion. There will also be a service at the church at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in charge of the rector.

STRIKING SERMON BY BISHOP OF NEW YORK

Grace Church Congregation Hears Eloquent Homily on Life Eternal.

A sermon remarkable from an intellectual, logical and spiritual viewpoint was delivered at Grace church, last night, by Bishop David H. Greer, before a large congregation. Rev. E. Vicars Stevenson, the rector, in introducing the Bishop, took occasion to extend a hearty welcome to the strangers present at the service, adding that Grace church always stood for those things which are for the best interest of the city.

Bishop Greer took for his text the words: "God is not the God of the dead, but of the living." St. Matthew 22:32. In part he said:

"The question asked of Jesus by the Pharisee was difficult to answer. The Pharisees stood strongly for two things—they accepted the Books of Moses and disbelieved in a future life. The Pharisee therefore challenged our Lord's general teaching on the subject. He tells a story of a woman who had married her second husband and asked Jesus to tell him that if there was a future life whose wife she should be of the several in the future existence.

"Jesus met the challenge on the terms of the inquirer, pointing out that in his accepted Scriptures, the Books of Moses, God was referred to as a God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob; that God was a God of the living and not of the dead; evidently demonstrating the existence of the departed even in the limited Scriptures of the Pharisee."

In continuing the preacher argued the question who are the living and pointed to the universal reverence of ancestors in human life; that men are constantly speaking of "Our Father's God."

"Now if God is King," said the Bishop, "what are the limitations of His Kingdom? Is it in this world only? Is it in this sphere only, where human existence is characterized by death; where ever advance in our days is the accumulation of destruction; where men are patched and repaired from accumulating ills until the time comes when repair is impossible and the earthly vessel crumbles in the grasp of death Is that the realm of the Kingdom? If so, it is truly limited.

"Is it on the contrary in the larger sphere into which men are ushered where every principle of life inherent in human nature breaks from that earthly tomb and soars to the higher and more real existence in the world beyond? Is He a God of the dead or the living? Is He the Sovereign of a few millions of clinging creatures on this planet or is His Kingdom set among the thousands of millions of all nations, tongues and people which no man can number in the life beyond.

"Let us see the bearing of natural events upon this problem of a future life. This is a remarkable age, but above the achievements, science, art and industries something more remarkable has come as quietly as the publication of a book. The most remarkable achievement of this age was the publication of a book by Charles Darwin forty yeads ago, entitled 'The Descent of Man.' The great scientist has contributed not only to the science of life, but the science of religion in sketching not only the descent of man, but his destiny. He has attained his status through periods of evolution which are still leading him on and the comments of John Fiske have made this point still more evident. It has shown that in every period of progress man has unfolded a new sense to meet a new kingdom which has called it forth; the sense of seeing to the kingdom of light and hearing, to the kingdom of sound and here we have a more universal and native sense arising from the human breast and reaching up to a life beyond the grave.

"If that sense is not to meet its legitimate realm in the realizing of life eternal it is a whole reversal of the accepted law of evolution. Thus these powerful influences of life come to qualify our faith to the point of actual demonstration—the human heart endorsed by the teaching of Jesus and corroborated by every voice of nature. He is not a God of the dead but of the living. What are our relations to the unseen? People will say, why pray for the dead? The answer is we don't pray for the dead, there might be no use in that, but we pray for the living departed.

"Not alone is this of advantage to them, but to us. It links us in one bond of fellowship. A mother who has prayed long and earnestly for her child upon earth—a wife who has petitioned the Father for her husband—shall they immediately sever their interest—cease their prayers, because a loved one has passed the grave and laid aside every element of death in the kingdom of the living hosts beyond?

"It is towards them that our hearts go out tonight—towards that more abundant life, that greater liberty, that fuller knowledge, because we realize that soon we, too, shall have passed the great border line of death to the kingdom of the living."

DECREE OF DIVORCE GRANTED PATROLMAN ANDREW SAFFRON

Chancellor E. R. Walker has granted a decree nisi to Partolman Andrew L. Saffron in his action for divorce from his wife, Minnie Saffron, on the grounds of desertion. The testimony, which was taken before Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., sitting as special master, showed that the couple was married September 17, 1896, and that they lived happily together until two and a half years ago, when the defendant began to take boarders. The testimony showed that the defendant was on friendly terms with one of the boarders.

The decree prevents the defendant from re-marrying in New Jersey. The petitioner was represented in his action by City Judge William G. DeMeza. Mr. Saffron has been connected with the local police department for many years.

BOYS START FUND FOR WASHINGTON ROCK FLAG

Two hundred youngsters turned out to the boys' meeting called at the Y. M. C. A. this morning by representatives of the Daughters of the American Revolution to instruct the juvenile set of the city in the significance of Washington Rock. Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, treasurer of the association, and Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, chairman of the association, spoke to the boys outlining the history of the Rock and what the local chapter was doing toward its preservation.

Every boy was required to pay two cents for admission and about four dollars was realized from the meeting. The money will serve as the nucleus of a fund for a flag to be flown at the Rock.

Motion pictures showing the closing scenes of the Revolution were shown at the meeting.

CHANCES ARE BRIGHT FOR T. R. COUNTY TICKET

From present indications the Progressive county ticket is running equally as strong as its Presidential candidate. In all parts of Union county meetings have been largely attended and the arguments produced by the various speakers have not been without their effect.

At the armory meeting in Elizabeth on Wednesday night, at which Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, spoke, there were over 2,000 people in attendance, which is conceded to be the largest political meeting held by either of the parties in this county during the present campaign. The Progressives are looking forward to a complete victory for their entire ticket.

CODINGTON STILL RUNNING? ENGLISH WANTS TO KNOW

Elizabeth, Nov. 2 (Special) — The candidacy of William R. Codington, county attorney, who is running for Mayor of Plainfield on the Republican ticket, was the cause of a few good-natured jabs on the part of two of his fellow lawyers yesterday afternoon. Mr. Codington was to have appeared in the Court of Common Pleas before Judge Atwater for the purpose of taking up the question as to whether or not Essex or Union counties is the permanent residence place of Charles Henry, whose wife was found mentally unbalanced last week when she was given a hearing in connection with the murder of her three-year-old child. He did not put in an appearance.

"He's too busy running for Mayor," said Prosecutor Swift in low voice, laughing.

"Is he running yet?" asked John K. English, an ardent Bull Mooser, dryly, and there was a laugh all around. The hearing was adjourned to next Friday.

Instinctive Playing is Delightful Because Natural

When a player-piano sounds mechanical, it is because it is built to get expression by artificial, instead of natural means.

Expressive, beautiful, natural music is instinctive. It does not come from "thinking" or reason—it springs from feeling and instinct. Any pianist can make it, once his fingers are trained to the point where they obey his will without obstinacy. His Instinct for expression then has full sway.

So a player-piano that is built to make you play by "thinking it out" is opposed fundamentally to natural music. The

is an invention different from all other player-pianos. It is constructed so that you get beautifull lifelike music with hardly any thinking of how you are getting it. The Acsolo buttons give you absolute control over the air of the piece, enabling you to emphasize it above the accompaniment, in any part of the piano.

SISTERS OF THE SICK

Report of Nursing Bureau

BY

ELSIE BURKE

Secretary of the Bureau

The first year's work of the Nursing Bureau came to an end on July 1, 1912, and the committee in charge feel that the year has been a very successful one in many ways. We have gradually become better known throughout the city and our sphere of usefulness has consequently been enlarged. When we look back to our records for the first few months of work and find 288 visits recorded during August, 1911, and then turn to May, 1912, and learn that over three times that number of calls were made, we realize that the work has grown extensively. Of course the latter report includes the visits made by the school nurse, a branch of the work not organized until September, 1911. The total number of visits for the first year was 7,096.

In November we undertook nursing work in the North Plainfield schools; the North Plainfield Board of Education paying us for our services $25 a month. The school nurse has a busy time of it, making weekly inspections of all the public school children. The ailing ones are reported to a physician and are given treatment at home or at school as directed. Last June she noticed one little fellow about twelve who she thought [illegible]

Also Linoleums, imported and printed in a great variety

[illegible] and fed through the summer. He has gained wonderfully and is now waiting to be admitted to Bonnie Burn.

During the autumn of 1911 we had two exceptional opportunities of making our work more widely known to the public and we eagerly took advantage of the invitation to send an exhibit and a representative to the Industrial Exhibition held in Plainfield in October. Our tent was the centre of a great deal of attention and interest and we were encouraged to prepare a more elaborate exhibit for the Welfare Exhibition the last of November. One of our nurses was in constant attendance there and we trust that the souvenirs we scattered broadcast, toothbrushes, powder, etc. have helped to make their use more popular.

In March, 1912, our chief nurse Miss Schreibweis, tendered her resignation. She had been ill for several weeks from overwork. We regretted losing her from our staff; but by April 1, the work was well in hand again under the competent management of Miss Plummer.

We had a slight setback in May when one of the contributing organizations on account of their own increased expenses felt obliged to reduce their monthly pledge toward our support from $40 to $20. The summer work, however, being lighter on account of the closing of the schools, we were able to dispense with the services of the pupil nurse loaned us by the hospital; and we expect by some slight changes in our arrangements to cut down expense to suit our income without limiting the activities of the bureau.

The Day Nursery has a particular claim upon the interest and sympathy of the nurses. It is visited by the chief nurse three times a week. She inspects the children and is informed by the matron in charge if there are any symptoms of contagious or other diseases among them. A little tot of about a year and a half attracted the nurse's attention last spring. The child made no attempt whatever to walk or creep and they feared spinal trouble. So the nurse took her to the hospital and on examination it was found she had double curvature of the spine. The baby was kept at the hospital all summer and was a great pet with the nurses and doctors. They sent her back to her mother, a Syrian woman, a few weeks ago, fat and wonderfully improved. She still wears a splint but is able to creep a little and will eventually walk. The nurse is visiting the case daily, giving baths and instruction as to diet etc.

These tiny citizens and especially the younger babies find it hard sometimes to thrive on the fare furnished them in their homes, so toward the close of our first year we decided if possible, to organize a diet kitchen. With the co-operation of the King's Daughters a milk station was opened and operated at the Day Nursery for about six weeks. Forty dollars was raised by newspaper appeals and with this money the necessary equipment was purchased, and the station was started with one of our nurses in charge.

The milk was prepared for each baby daily from a prescription ordered by the physician attending the case and the mother would call for the milk and pay for it if she had the means. The entire cost of this branch of the work amounted to $74.18. Although the milk station is now closed, the nurses are continuing the work as far as possible in the homes of the babies. They show the mothers how to prepare the milk, making daily visits at first until they feel that the preparation of the food is thoroughly understood. Frequent visits are made afterwards to keep watch of the case and to note the progress of the baby. One poor little half starved infant was brought to the nurse's attention in September by the Executive Secretary of the Charity Organization Society, who was visiting the family at the time. The baby was seven months old and weighed only a little over 9½ pounds. As the milk station had been closed the nurse had to prepare the milk at the baby's home, and a very wretched home she found it—a family of seven living in three rooms. The Charity Organization Society supplied milk, while the bureau supplied bottles and a bottle washer and ice; so that now a much pleased mother is able to prepare the milk herself and in the past month, to her great delight the baby has gained nearly a pound.

The diet kitchen seems to us a very valuable part of the nursing and we hope to be able to reopen the station next summer. We trust in the meantime that this work will be better known to the public and of far greater value in consequence. The committee in charge hopes that the contributing boards, societies and individuals are satisfied with the committee's administration of the work and asks for a continuance of support and financial aid.

Respectfully submitted,
ELSIE BURKE,
Sec'y Nursing Bureau.

TAFT IS TO AWAIT NEWS IN CINCINNATI

Leaves Tomorrow to Vote in Home City.

Washington, Nov. 2.—President Taft left the White House yesterday to attend the funeral of Vice President Sherman at Utica today. Following the funeral and a brief visit to New York city for a final political conference the president will proceed to Cincinnati to cast his ballot and there await news of the national election results.

With the sudden death of the vice president came the practical close of the campaign for the re-election of both himself and Mr. Sherman. The president had expected to make a few more political speeches, particularly from the rear platform of the train on his way to Ohio, but since the death of Mr. Sherman he will not do so.

The president will leave New York late tomorrow so as to spend practically the entire day Monday traveling through his native state from the northeast to the southwest corner. He will travel on a private car on a regular train over the New York Central lines, and at the request of the Ohio state central committee, as expressed to him by telegraph, he will appear on the rear platform and greet the people at each station where the train shall stop on its regular schedule, but he will not make political talks if it can be avoided. At places where there are large crowds and there may appear to be a demand he may pay a tribute to the late vice president and make a brief and earnest appeal.

A very handsome fichu of net with bead garniture is $7.50.

At one of the stores one can buy for 12½ cents a pack of cards of high weight and excellent finish. The design on the back includes the name of the store on a disk.

In the millinery department of one of the stores one can purchase for $1.5 a most attractive wreath composed of heavy moss stems with tiny bunches of velvet apples at intervals.

Small round hat-pins of enamel in various colors and silver are 24 cents.

The woman who enjoys her afternoon tea will be delighted with the lace trimmed and velvet applique tea cosey at $1.00.

At a specialty shop is offered a most artistic little bunch of tiny velvet flowers with velvet foliage for $2.00. These are the newest things for the hair for the corsage.

One frequently wants a little fur head for trimming, especially for children's coats or bonnets, and one of the stores sells these with claws for 7 cents.

For $17.50 one can purchase a very well made and attractive coat suit in navy blue rough material.

Glass salt dips are 55 cents a dozen.

Lawn dresses for little folks are offered at $1.00. These are very daintily trimmed with embroidery and lace.

Amber is popular again. Cut amber hat-pins are selling for 24 cents and 4 cents.

EXPELLED FOR NOT SALUTING FLAG

Socialist Parents Want Boy to Respect Red Insignia.

TEACHER SUSPENDS HIM

Camden Boy Says Parents Told Him to Acknowledge Nothing but Party's Flag—Mother Attempts to Force Reinstatement, but is Ejected by Police.

Camden, N. J., Nov. 2.—For refusing to salute the American flag S. Oscar Whiting, ten years old, a pupil of the Read school, was suspended by the principal, Miss Holl, pending action by the board of education. Whiting told the principal that his parents were Socialists and had ordered him to salute nothing but the red flag.

The boy was accompanied to the school by his mother, who demanded that the teacher admit him. The mother was so insistent that Miss Holl summoned the police by telephone. Mrs. Whiting was put out of the building, but returned a second time and was again ejected by the police.

It appears that the Whiting boy has failed to salute the flag since the opening of the present term of the school, but the fact was discovered by the principal only when her attention was called to the matter by other scholars, who were indignant at the disrespect shown to the flag.

WEDDING ENDS SCHOOL WAR

Supervising Principal Becomes Bride of Bank Employee.

Swedesboro, N. J., Nov. 2.—Hymen has stepped in and ended all further dispute over the supervising principalship of the public schools after the controversy has been aired for eighteen months in the state board of education and the courts.

Announcements have reached here of the marriage of Miss Elsie Breece Nicholson, the central figure in the dispute at Salem, on Wednesday afternoon, to Charles Walker Lounsbury, paying teller of the Salem National bank.

Miss Nicholson, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Nicholson of Salem and a graduate of the Salem high school, was until the spring of 1911 supervising principal of the Swedesboro schools. Earlier in that year criticism had been made against her management of the schools by a certain faction in the town, and she presented her resignation. The board refused to accept it, but the faction opposing Miss Nicholson got control of the board at the spring election and claimed its authority to accept the resignation and dismiss the principal.

TRACES ILLS TO HOME STUDY

Normal School Lecturer Tells Teachers Modern Schemes Are to Blame.

Atlantic City, N. J., Nov. 2.—Home study, lack of natural play and other defects and excesses of the modern scheme of public education slowly but surely are shattering the nervous systems of tens of thousands of children, according to Professor W. S. Monroe of the State Normal school, Montclair, N. J., who addressed the joint teachers' institute of Atlantic and Salem counties here on Thursday.

Substitution of gymnastics for natural play during recess periods was declared by the speaker to be an outrageous invasion of the rights of the children. "Scientific play will not suffice," he said. "Gymnastic practice is recognized as one of the most exhausting forms of instruction. The baneful results may not come at once, but they are inevitable. Evidence of this is to be found in thousands of homes."

Professor Monroe denounced the custom of holding school examinations at the close of the school year because the enervating effects of warm weather handicap pupils when they should be at their best.

SAUNDERS GETS AFTER STOCKTON

Manufacturer Attacks Arguments of Merchant Who Will Vote for T. R.

A TARIFF DISCUSSION

Former Mayor Silenced Former State Senator's Guns and Now Fires on Democrat Who Carries a Banner for Progressive Leader.

In this paper on Thursday, H. M. Stockton told why he supports Roosevelt, his reason being that Taft cannot be elected and a Wilson victory would be injurious to the American workingman as Wilson would destroy the protective tariff:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

As I understand Mr. H. M. Stockton, in the Plainfield Daily Press on Thursday, his points are as follows:

1. A lower tariff "would do nothing toward lowering the price of a suit of clothes, but it would inevitably reduce wages."

2. Prices are made higher "not because of a protective tariff, but because of the cost of distribution."

3. Taft could be trusted to revise the tariff, but he cannot be elected.

Mr. Stockton is an expert in woolens and I am not; therefore I must look for authorities. He says that to lower the tariff would not lower the price of a suit of clothes. Let us see about this. "The Clothing Designer," which I am told represents the sentiments of clothing manufacturers generally, recently published the following editorial:

"Cheap raw material and of the best quality is most desired. Cheap raw material gives an advantage from the start. A cheap, finished product means a larger amount of consumption and a wider market abroad. Now the raw material of the clothing trade is cloth. Cheaper and better cloth is wanted. There are two ways of getting it. One by the free admission of wool from the most efficient wool producing parts of the world, namely, Australia and the Argentine, another by the admission, either at a low duty or of no duty, of cloth from the most efficient cloth producing countries."

Here is a direct contradiction of Mr. Stockton's position and it quite agrees with economic principles generally. Because it is a suit of clothes it cannot be claimed that to tax a thing does not raise its price. It is the most certain way of all to raise a price, but it is not the only way. Increased taxes on real estate make increased rents.

Mr. Stockton adds in statement No. 1, that lower duties would reduce wages. Let me again quote "The Clothing Designer:"

"In the woolen industry here a class of labor is largely employed about or nearly on a par with the 'pauper labor' on the other side."

The Federal Immigration Commission reports on woolen and worsted manufacturing, as follows:

"In the Northern States out of 23,388 employes 61.9 per cent. were of foreign birth. The average weekly earnings of the male heads of families, 18 years of age and over, were $10.49; the average yearly earnings of male heads of families $400 and of all males over 18 years of age $346 per year."

Numerous additional authorities might be cited on this point, namely, that though the woolen industry is the most highly protected of any in the world the average wages of men employed in that industry are lower than in any other important manufacturing industry in America, and as these wages are close to, if not entirely at the level of foreign operatives, how can it be claimed that to lower the tariff will lower wages in this industry?

Many things may affect prices. The tariff is one of them, the cost of distribution is another. Mr. Stockton very properly calls attention to the fact that cost does not mean simply shop cost, material and labor, but it goes back to the wool grower who raises the wool, to the broker, through the department store, etc. This confirms the point which I endeavored to make in my correspondence with Senator Ackerman, namely, that a great many things must be taken into consideration when figuring costs and that many of those things are neglected and the chief burden of cost put upon labor, when as a matter of fact true cost contains a large number of items, which when added together are greater than the one item of labor, which is usually the largest single item on the cost sheet.

Where Mr. Stockton and I disagree is in his statement that "in all this tariff plays no part whatever." It plays a very important part, for it has long been recognized that increase in commodity prices affects articles that are not even protected by a tariff and that it certainly affects protected articles. This point is not generally disputed.

Certain influences are direct and others indirect. For instance, shaster water, delivered in California from Mt. Shasta, is sold at the price of imported Apollinaris because it is claimed to be as good and both the Apollinaris and the bottle that holds it are upset by a tariff. Similar illustrations might be given in almost every line of industry, which shows that there is a conspicuous and unquestioned indirect influence upon prices through a high tariff. England has generally collected her revenue through duties upon food stuffs, and in the day of the corn laws these tariff duties were either reduced or suspended temporarily during periods of sufferings or famine. This was for the purpose of enabling the people to buy food at low prices.

As Mr. Stockton thinks that President Taft might be trusted on the tariff question I refer him to the President's statement that Schedule K is "indefensible," and I refer him to the report of the President's Tariff Board on the wool schedule, quotations from which were given in my answer to Mr. Moore. This Taft report proves that in the woolen industry tariffs have been fixed at figures three or four times the total labor cost, yet Congress was asked to put them there on the ground that they were necessary to protect American labor against foreign competition.

Yours truly,
W. L. SAUNDERS.

SAYS ENDRESS WAS WRONG

exactly double the cost of pumping operations at the disposal works.

In other words, to save the local pumping of a small amount of sewage, we would be obliged to double the cost of the daily pumping of four million gallons at the disposal works, so that instead of an annual charge of $3,150 for pumping expenses we would have a charge of $6,300. This is the Endress method of saving money.

Lastly, he says that the direct route is to be credited with a saving in excavation, which Mr. Gavett has stated would be about $50,000. Mr. Gavett has made no such crazy statement. Inasmuch as both routes take us to the same disposal plant, there will be no material saving in excavation of one route over the other. If the indirect route is somewhat longer than the other, it is offset by the fact that the direct route will for a longer distance, go through city streets requiring the destruction and replacing of pavements. What Mr. Endress seems to have in mind is the old argument which was used against the Cramer site before that site was abandoned for the Darling site, and it is perfectly true that the excavating at the Cramer site would have made that site cost a considerable sum (estimated at $40,000) more than the Darling site, and it was for this reason among others, that the Plainfield Council advocated the Darling site.

I sincerely wish that Mr. Endress could prove some of the arguments which he advances as I would himself much prefer the direct route if it did not conclusively appear that it were much more expensive in the long run. In fact, Mr. Endress in favoring the direct route at this time, is in exactly the same position that all of the Council were in three months ago, when I think without exception they favored the direct route, but the cold logic of the situation has forced practically all of them to the conclusive, against their own preferences, that the gravity route will be by far the most economical one in the end and that the interests of Plainfield will be best served by its adoption.

In closing I may state, that before finally deciding to advocate the gravity route, the committee gave Mr. Endress every chance to prove the assertions which he made at that time in favor of the direct route, and it was only after he had failed to establish a single proposition that the committee recommended to the Council and the Council adopted its recommendation favoring the gravity route. What facts or proofs Mr. Endress had, should have been produced at that time and it is hardly the proper course to wait until the matter is settled and the route adopted by three municipalities and submitted to the State Board of Health for approval, before coming forward with his arguments and attempting to upset the whole proposition and throw the entire matter into a state of chaos.

Yours truly,
FRANK L. HOLT.

WILLIAMS DRAMATIC CLUB COMING WITH NEW PLAY

The Williams College Dramatic Club, "Cap and Bells," will return to Plainfield this year. Many will remember the great success of "The Duke of Killicrankie," a year ago. The play to be offered this year on Thanksgiving Eve, November 27, at the Hartridge Auditorium, will be "His Excellency the Governor," by Robert Marshall, the author of "The Duke." A dance will follow the performance.

It is confidently expected that the sucess of last year will be duplicated. Frank Lea Short, who has coached the Yale Club for ten years, has been engaged by "Cap and Bells," and has been holding rehearsals for the last six weeks. This year the club will bring its own scenery. Three performances of the play will be given before the one at Plainfield, at Northampton, Mass., November 2; at Williamstown in the new auditorium, November 9 and at Saratoga, N. Y., November 26. Quite an expensive trip will be taken during the first part of the Christmas vacation, ending with performances in Brooklyn and in New York, at the Plaza on December 23. Tickets for the local performance can be obtained at Armstong's drug store.

even of the personal danger, the presence of which was recently illustrated. But when he became convinced that the American people wanted him to enter the fight to rescue them from the wrongs wrought upon them by the Republican party, there was no holding him, and he is out to do their bidding.'

Speaking of Roosevelt's running mate the speaker said Hiram Johnson was a rushing torrent of righteousness and that this country will do well to select him and her brother to sit at the helm of the nation. Referring to a poem she had written, "The Call of Brotherhood," a story in poetry of the Progressive party, Mrs. Robinson said Mr. Roosevelt had written her a letter just previous to the Milwaukee shooting, referring to the poem and commenting on the Progressive platform and what it means to the common people.

"This letter proved," she said, "that Theodore Roosevelt the private man, the brother, is interested in this great movement, not alone Theodore Roosevelt, the public man and politician."

Mrs. Colby spoke briefly, telling of the work of women in the United States for the Bull Moose and the organizations formed in the principal cities of the Union.

Mr. Weller told of Roosevelt's help when he was president, in the work of organizing playgrounds throughout the U. S., saying that he had proven himself capable to a high degree of efficiency in the chair, and that the country would profit by his return.

Referring to the Progressive party as one seeking to uplift human rights, and to its platform as the best ever produced, Mrs. Nathan spoke at length on the existing condiitons among the working people. Concluding, she told of the good results attained where equal suffrage is enjoyed.

Mrs. Charles Israel said the Progressive party was a party of opportunity and said this campaign was the first in years in which the theories of social reform had been put before the public. She urged her hearers not to talk "Votes for Women," but to support the Progressive party and to learn practical politics.

"The Democrats and Republicans," she continued, "are really defending themselves and making apologies for not having platforms like ours. The sucess of the Bull Moose on November 5 means a peaceful revolutionizing of this country. A bloody revolution was averted by our party, for surely it would have been only a few years longer, when the multitudes of people would have risen and resorted to the musket and the sword to deliver them from the power of the trusts and monopolies; and from the snares of inhuman living, harbored and allowed under Republican rule."

"A Plea for the Immigrant," was the topic selected by Mrs. Hall. She said we need the foreigner for hard work, the development of the West, and that if given a fair chance they become good citizens. Speaking of the Milwaukee shooting, Mrs. Hall said she well remembered the shooting of the three presidents who have died at the hands of assassins, and continued in part:

"It seems to me the use of this dangerous weapon has become altogether too common among us. There are circumstances where the shot of the pistol is more auspicious—when our young men at colleges start athletic races, or at Sweden this summer where our athletes won such splendid victories, the crack of the pistol was their start on the road to triumph. Friends the sound of that pistol shot at Milwaukee where our beloved leader was struck down was the signal for all of us in the Progressive party to start on a race, a race which will end with victory November 5, but if not then, surely in the future."

Mrs. Parson said all the people's needs were dependent on the government and politics was the only method to provide good government. She said Roosevelt was the embodiment of the efficient system needed to lead the country.

MISS LILLIAN RALPH BRIDE OF GEORGE BRYAN

Miss Lillian M. Ralph, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ralph, of Martinsville, was married to George S. Bryan, of this city, this afternoon, by Rev. Charles E. Herring. The wedding was simple, only the immediate relatives being in attendance. The couple left immediately after the ceremony for a wedding trip of two weeks. Both the bride and bridegroom are well known to a large circle of friends in this city and will be at home at their new residence at 419 John street, after November 11.

Mrs. Bryan has lived in Plainfield all her life and went to school in the borough where she made many friends. The bridegroom is a civil engineer in the employ of Harry Van-Emburgh and came to this city from Lambertville five years ago. He is the son of Holcomb Bryan, Lambertville.

Important Announcement!---Occasion Extraordinaire!

GIMBEL BROTHERS Have Bought, and Will Place on Sale Monday The Entire Retail Stock of That Honored House

JOHN & JAMES DOBSON, Carpets and Rugs

$175.000 Worth of High-Grade Floor-Coverings at Extraordinary Savings

This is one of the rare events that make milestones in storekeeping history—one of a series of merchandising master-strokes by which Gimbel Brothers have hewed their way to the front rank of New York retailing in two short years. And it is a matter of as much pleasure to us to be able to announce it, as it is one of extreme surprise to the trade.

A Famous Old Firm Retires from the Retail Field

John & James Dobson are as well known to old New Yorkers as is Washington Square. Away back in the '70's, when they established their retail business on lower Fifth Avenue, their store was within a stone's throw of the social center of Manhattan.

At that time the first Grand Central Depot was just being completed; the Brooklyn Bridge was but a pair of idle towers flanking the East River, and Forty-second Street was almost "out in the country."

So it is a long and honorable friendship with New Yorkers, and a splendid record for integrity and fair dealing, that comes to a worthy termination with the purchase by Gimbels of the whole retail stock of this fine old firm. It is the last step in the discontinuing of their various retail business, so that they shall be the better able to concentrate their efforts on the great manufacturing enterprise which they founded sixty-two years ago, and still continue in Philadelphia.

Ever since the purchase was consummated—and it is probably the most considerable of its kind ever effected—we have been busy sorting out and packing up the stock, moving it to our stores, and arranging it for Monday's selling—and it has been a tremendous undertaking. But now all is in readiness.

The Stock Is Thoroughly Representative

It includes practically every well-known make of floor coverings, in rich variety. Besides Messrs. John & James Dobson's own fabrics, such as Tapestry Brussels, Body Brussels, Velvets, etc., there are all the favorite weaves of rugs and carpets from

Hardwick & Magee	Bush & Terry
Bigelow Carpet Company	A. & M. Karagheusian
Thomas Devlon & Sons	Overbrook Carpet Company
Hartford Carpet Company	Thomas L. Leedom
Alexander Smith & Sons	Schofield, Mason & Co.
Roxbury Carpet Company	S. Sanford & Sons
Firth Carpet Company	Philadelphia Axminster Carpet Company
Ettrick Mills
John Bromley & Sons

In short, a complete collection of every sort of floor covering that you can possibly wish for any room in your home, at prices calculated for rapid clearance, that are lower than any that have ever been offered before for equal variety of assortment.

Among the Rugs are such standard grades as Royal Kashan, Bigelow, Wilton, Axminster, Wilton Velvet, Body Brussels and Tapestry Brussels and Art Squares.

Among the Carpets are Royal Wiltons, Wilton Velvets, Imperial Velvets, Princess Velvets, Royal Mottled Velvets, Body Brussels, Crown Tapestries, XXX Tapestries, Ingrain and other recognised qualities.

Also Linoleums, imported and domestic, inlaid and printed, in a great variety of makes and designs. And a fine assortment of domestic and imported Door Mats.

A Greatly Augmented Sales-Force for the Occasion

In addition to our own staff of experts, we have secured for the sale the services of all the salesmen of John & James Dobson, who are naturally thoroughly familiar with the stock; also other extra salesmen. The response is sure to be overwhelming, for such an occasion as this has never been announced before, and we have taken every precaution to assure prompt, courteous and intelligent service for our public.

Hotels, Clubs and Institutions Are Especially Interested

The sale presents particularly favorable opportunities for buying floor coverings in large quantities at unusual savings. Representatives of our Contract Bureau will be constantly on the floor to be of assistance in every possible way.

The Sale Will Be in Two Main Divisions

The floor coverings of the higher grade will be displayed and sold in the Carpet and Rug Store on the Sixth Floor.

The lower priced goods, including remnants and short lengths; also small rugs, will be sold in the Subway Rug Store, lower floor.

With so vast an assortment of goods to be placed on sale at one time, it is impracticable to give complete details, but prices in every case are extraordinarily low.

THOS. J. JEFFRIES, MANAGER.

Philadelphia, October 24th, 1912.

Messrs. Gimbel Brothers—

Gentlemen:

After thirty-five years in the retail business we have decided to devote the entire energy and power of the organization to the manufacture and wholesaling of Carpets and Rugs, to the manufacture of which we have, as the FALLS OF SCHUYKILL CARPET MILLS, given over fifty years of effort.

We have, therefore, accepted your low offer for the entire $175,000 stock of Carpets and Rugs in our retail store at No. 59 West 14th Street, New York, the doors of which we now close.

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Baseball going down and football on the jump, with basketball knocking at the door to be ushered in this evening. Two good games of indoor variety on tap tonight. Get into line to see one of them.

At the Y. M. C. A.—Y. M. C. A. vs. Crescent A. C., of Elizabeth

At Hope Chapel—Hope Chapel vs. Union High School.

Some big surprises are in store for some people next Tuesday but Manager Janke, of the High School football team, says that some people will be overcome this afternoon. Let's hope so.

P. H. S. will start its game this afternoon at three o'clock. This early hour ought to please the football followers as the arguments which generally split up a game often prolong it until after dark.

Thanksgiving Day only twenty-six days away. Have you planned that hunting trip yet?

Who have you picked to win this afternoon. We refer to the Princeton-Harvard football game.

Captain Townley and his quintet of basketball prospectives can be seen every night taking a four mile spin on Mountain avenue. Wonder why such strenuous exercise is needed to round a team of school boys into condition. They must have had a big summer over in Canada to fall back so much in their condition.

A hockey game was played at the Cedarcrof Court yesterday afternoon. Oh, no it wasn't ice hockey. Just the feminized field variety.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT.

A good game of basketball is scheduled to be played in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium this evening between the Crescent A. C. team, of Elizabeth, and the Y. M. C. A. Ajax. Captain Brynarski has given out the following lineup for the local team: Hetfield and McNamee, forwards; Nash, center; Brynarski and Glover, guards. Peacock is still out of the game with an injured ankle but it is possible that he will be used as the referee. The game will be called at 8:15 o'clock.

BUNTS AND PUNTS

Jim Mutrie, who managed the New York Giants in the late '80's, is running a news stand on Staten Island.

"Batting for .400 and fielding for 1,000 in a world's championship series is a record that "Buck" Herzog can well feel proud of.

"Bunk" Congalton, formerly of the Boston Red Sox, and last season with the Columbus Senators, has opened a cafe in Columbus, Ohio.

Catcher "Gabby' Street, the old Washington baskstop, is once more on his way. The Providence Club has shipped him to Chattanooga.

First baseman Hal Chase is managing and pitching for a bunch of New York Yankees on a barnstorming trip through New York and New Jersey.

By the time the National League moguls get through canning managers, John McGraw and Fred Clarke will be the only veterans still on the job.

Chicago fans paid $110,808 to see the White Sox slaughter the Cubs for the Windy City championship. Each Sock got $876 while each cub took down $519.

Roger Bresnahan's St. Louis Cardinals were the only National League team to win a series from an American League outfit this fall—and then Roger gets the gate. What's the use?

The Giants lost a world's series with Charley Faust chasing the jinks, and repeated the losing stunt without the services of Charles. That shows an average of .500 per cent. for the Kansas bug.

Captain Thorpe, of Carlisle, is getting away with the field goals as of yore.

Brown's rushline this fall has a familiar look, but Robinson's backfield is pretty much made up of new men.

Foster Sanford, the old Yale star, is getting back into the game by helping to coach the Fordham College team.

One of the candidates for the Michigan eleven is a Greek who three years ago was a stevedore on the docks in Buffalo.

In Marting and Myer Yale has about as husky a pair of substitute centers as can be found on any gridiron in the country.

The Yale-Harvard game will see two left-footed kickers booting out the punts if Felton and Flynn are in the game together.

Having McConnell out of the game for the balance of the season on account of a broken leg, is a severe setback for the Purdue University eleven.

The Princeton Tigers' rushline this fall is said to average between 176 and 178 pounds, in which case it will be about 10 pounds to a man lighter than Harvard's line.

Steve Philbin says he is through playing football, but he still remains as Yale's most valuable scout for the games the Harvard team is playing in the Stadium.

CHAPEL AGAINST UNION HIGH.

Captain Johnny Heron, of the Hope chapel basketball team, will give his long list of recruits a final tryout in the scheduled game with Union High School this evening on the Hope chapel court. A good game is expected as the Union team put up a speedy article of basketball on their apearance here last year and they will probably duplicate the feat tonight.

GUNNERS COVER HILL AND DALE

Rabbits Must Lay Low, Many Take to Woods to Shoot Cottontails.

When Old Sol poked his smiling visage above the eastern horizon at 6:31 o'clock yesterday morning, Mr. Bunny Cottontail began his own little fall campaign, which will last until sundown December 15. But Mr. Buny, unlike most campaigners, will carry out his battle along lines altogether different from the ordinary limelight seeking candidate. As a matter of fact, Herr Cottontail is mighty anxious to dodge the calcium from now on, as he is fully acquainted with the fact that his chance of another year of life rests on success along these lines

The opening of the rabbit season found many empty benches in local factories today, and there was a comparatively large number of absentees among local business and professional men. Every known lair of the cottontail will be thoroughly covered before "night lets down her curtains," and the day promises to be a disastrous one for the Bunny folk not up on the game laws of New Jersey.

Many local gunners left the city yesterday afternoon and last night for Pennsylvania, Delaware and different parts of the State, where it is reported that rabbits are exceedingly plentiful this year. Good hunting is promised, particularly in Morris, Hunterdon, Warren, Passaic and Susex counties. According to the Jersey game laws, no more than ten rabbits may legally be in possession of a hunter. Some gunners have construed that the rule means that a bag of ten rabbits a day is allowed. This interpretation is wrong, however, the real translation being that each hunter is allowed to have but ten rabbits in his possession, no matter how many days he has hunted. The same law also states that the limit bag is ten quail, three English or ring-neck pheasants, three Hungarian partridge, ten woodcock, three ruffed grouse, twenty ducks, ten geese and ten brandt.

The open season also opened yesterday on squirrels, English ringneck pheasants, Hungarian partridge, prairie chicken, wild turkey and partridge. Black and mallard ducks, geese, brant and shell-drake may be hunted until March. Morris county will probably be the mecca of gunners in search of quail, as large flocks of these birds have been seen in the vicinity of Whippany and Parsipany, two small villages about five miles out from Morristown. Morgan Station and Warren county are also well stocked with quail, while advance information has it that Flemington is the stronghold of the squirrel.

David Conover, Albert DeCamp and Otto Clark, all of North Plainfield, returned this morning from a one-day hunting trip in the vicinity of Flemington. Each was lucky in securing five rabbits and in addition DeCamp's true aim brought two woodcocks to earth.

MOY'S ANSWERS

ballots the bill mentioned, called for, nor until later, that there had been an error in printing same.

Question—When you signed a warrant to the order of the City Clerk paying him a fee of $180 for his services in connection with the election were you aware that he had billed the county for the sum of $360 for the same services?

Answer—I have no knowledge that the City Clerk had rendered any bill to the county for services.

Question—If your excuses for approving these bills are that they were approved by the Auditing Committee of the Common Council and ordered to be paid by the Common Council, why did you hold up other bills that had been passed by the Common Council, and refuse to either approve or return the same?

Answer—I returned all bills approved or disapproved; some required more time than others for consideration.

Question—Have you ever stated that the Common Council did not give you a square deal at the beginning of your term? or at any time during your term? and if so, will you state the occasions you refer to?

Answer—I have never stated that the Council did not give me a square deal, although I have heard that statement made a great many times by other people.

Question—Have you given all official orders to members of the Fire and Police Departments through the chiefs of the departments?

Answer—I have always given my orders through the heads of departments, excepting perhaps when I would see something needing attention on the street when I would direct an officer on the post to attend to the matter.

Question—Have you received complaints from members of the Fire and Police Departments that you have not reported to the chiefs of those departments?

Answer—The members of the Fire, Police and all other departments have always had free access to me, as well as all other persons having anything to say with regard to city matters, whether by way of complaint or suggestion. And these complaints have always been taken up with heads of the departments, or with the proper committees.

Question—Did you not state, when questioned by members of the Common Council as to the reason why circuses were permitted to show in the city of Plainfield upon the payment of a smaller license fee than during the administration of Mayor Fisk, especially in view of the fact that such fees were turned into the Firemen's Pension Fund, that had you known such was the case you would have permitted the circuses to give their performances in the city without any charge whatsoever?

Answer—I have no recollection of "being questioned by members of the Common Council" as to the disposition of license fees, but inasmuch as I favored the "Fire Pension Fund," the charge alleging that I was charging a smaller fee to circuses, and was willing to charge no fee at all in order to detract from that fund, is not only false, but ridiculous.

Question—What have you done to get back for the city of Plainfield the money paid out for election expenses that should never have been paid by the city.

Answer—It has not yet been demonstrated that the city has paid for election expenses, any money that it should not have paid for that purpose. If that was done it was by the vote of the Common Council, who have taken up the matter with the Board of Freeholders.

Question—Did you not refuse to sign a note authorized by the Common Council to be drawn and discounted as a loan in anticipation of taxes, upon the ground that you would be making yourself individually liable on the said note?

Answer—I never refused to sign a note authorized by the Common Council.

Question—If as you stated, the City Clerk has promised to turn over to the city the fees of his office at the expiration of the year, what became of the fees for the year, 1911, received by the City Clerk?

Is it not a fact that when you refer to the separate account being kept of the fees received by the City Clerk you are simply referring to a detail in bookkeeping suggested in the report of the expert accountant who during the year 1911 examined the books of the city and made various recommendations as to the method in which to keep the various funds and accounts of the city?

Answer—The question concerning fees of the City Clerk for the year 1911 may very properly be diverted to him. The fees for 1912 he has promised shall be paid to the city. He states to me that a separate account is being kept of these fees. He was re-elected January 1, 1912.

At the meeting last night former State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, President R. I. Tolles and Councilman Duncan W. Taylor, of the Common Council, and Leighton Calkins spoke. Senator Ackerman referred more especially to State issues, and also touched upon the tariff, making a strong appeal for the Republican candidates.

Councilmen Tolles and Taylor sought to show that Mayor Moy had not worked in harmony with the Council, that he had failed to attend certain important meetings, had declared that his mind was made up on certain questions and that there was no further use for argument; that he had held up bills and refused to state why he neither approved nor disapproved the bills. Other points more or less pertinent to the subject were discussed briefly. Both councilmen stated, however, that they regarded Mr. Moy as thoroughly honest, and they did not want any one to get the idea that what they were saying was personal.

DR. STRONG TO PREACH AN ELECTION SERMON

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, will preach a special election sermon tomorrow evening. The discourse will be entirely non-partisan and patriotic. Dr. Strong possesses such discourses preached before his own relative, Hon. Caleb Strong, governor of Massachusetts and one of the framers of the national constitution. A hearty invitation is extended to the public generally. Following this service the ordinance of baptism will be administered to three young men.

Vote for
Calvin D. McMurtry
For Surrogate

The people of Somerset County are entitled to the services of an experienced official in this important office which should be placed above all party consideration. The office of Surrogate deals with the estates of men—rich and poor alike—not with their business. The office requires a man of integrity, learning and special qualification relative to the duties of the office.

A VOTE FOR CALVIN D. M'MURTRY IS A VOTE FOR A CLEAN AND EFFICIENT SURROGATE

This adv. ordered and paid for by C. D. McMurtry Committee.

Plainfield, N. J., Oct. 31, 1912.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE FOURTH WARD

I am a candidate as Councilman to represent you in the government of this City.

I fully realize the responsibility of the position, and it is my earnest intention, if elected, to serve this City, which has been my home for over twenty-four years, to the best of my ability, as shall seem to be for the best interest of the City.

I believe that all public business should be transacted openly, and with the same economy, attention to details and endeavor to keep the expenses at the lowest point without impairing efficiency that one would give his private business.

I shall, if elected, always endeavor to ascertain your views, the facts and the greatest need in advance, and act in accordance therewith.

As your representative, it would always be my aim to see that the Fourth Ward was fairly treated and received the attention which is justly due.

Very truly yours,
George E. Greenleaf

MINCED HAM RECIPES.

WHEN there is cold ham which is not presentable for the table it may be minced or chopped and made into various dainty viands. Recipes for some of these are given here.

Use For Cold Ham.

Ham Balls.—The pieces of cold ham must be chopped fine for this. Add half a cupful of milk to four tablespoonfuls of bread crumbs. Put the milk and bread crumbs on the range and boil until thick, then add the yolks of two eggs and stir well together before taking off the fire. Add a cupful of chopped ham, a teaspoonful of chopped parsley and salt and pepper to taste. Mix this. It may then be put away to cool. When ready to use shape into balls, dip into beaten white of egg, then into bread or cracker crumbs, and fry in hot fat. Serve hot with parsley.

Quickly Made.

Ham Croquettes.—Take one cupful of chopped cooked ham, one cupful of breadcrumbs, two cupfuls of hot mashed potatoes, one large tablespoonful of butter, two eggs and a dash of cayenne. Beat the hame, butter, eggs and cayenne into the potatoes. Let cool and shape like croquettes. Roll in breadcrumbs, dip in beaten egg and again in crumbs, put in frying basket and plunge into boiling fat. Cook two minutes, drain and serve.

Ham Omelet.—Run the ham through the meat chopper and allow one tablespoonful of ham to each egg. For a large omelet beat three eggs, yolks and whites together. Add seasoning and three tablespoonfuls of cold water and beat well. Into an omelet pan put one teaspoonful of bacon fat or drippings and heat these. Pour in the omelet and reduce the heat at once, as the eggs must cook slowly. Keep the pan in motion constantly, lifting the edges so that the soft part will run underneath and still be moist. Add the chopped ham, which has been warmed. Double up the omelet.

Served With Sauce.

Ham Loaves.—Mince ham and season to taste, adding one-third as much breadcrumbs as ham. Use enough milk to moisten, fill well buttered molds and sprinkle lightly with breadcrumbs. Bake in a pan of hot water until they puff up. An egg may be dropped in a larger mold before the ham is added, or some chopped boiled egg or other garnish may be put in, so that it will decorate the center when contents of the mold are turned out.

FUR FANCIES.

Long Coats In the Lead, but Short Models Still In Style.

Long coats of fur will continue to rule, although the short coat will not be banned altogether. Neckpieces generally will be somewhat larger than they have formerly been, and muffs will be fashioned in the popular pillow style and much trimmed.

Ermine, mole, fitch, beaver and even the humble squirrel are favorites for trimming, and leopard and opossum are used for children's clothes in the same way.

Every variation of the Norfolk idea is fashionable for litle girls. This dress includes the characteristic box plaits and can be made plain or dressy according to the sleeve and neck finish. In the illustration the frock is of checked wool with plain collar and cuffs.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

A MEASURE OF MERIT.

Plainfield Citizens Should Weigh Well This Evidence.

Proof of merit lies in the evidence. Convincing evidence in Plainfield is not the testimony of strangers But the endorsement of Plainfield people.

That's the kind of proof given here—

The statement of a Plainfield citizen.

Mrs. William E. Gardner, 322 East Second street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I suffered intensely from pains through my back and I also had a distressing weakness of my kidneys. I was in misery and nothing gave me the least relief until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, which I obtained at Randolph's Drug Store. They acted on my kidneys at once and not only removed the pain from my back but corrected the kidney weakness and restored me to good health. I shall always be willing to give Doan's Kidney Pills the praise they deserve."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Millburn Co., Buffalo New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

To the Voters of North Plainfield:

You will be called upon to vote at the election to be held Tuesday, November 5th, for two Councilmen. It behooves the voters of the Borough to be careful in the selection for members of the Council, for there are many problems to be considered in the consideration of which it will require men thoroughly qualified.

Among the many problems to be considered and solved by the Council during the coming year the proposed "Sewage Disposal System" is of the greatest importance to every inhabitant in the Borough. This problem alone requires the best efforts of men of ability experienced in the intricacies and complications of large undertakings. The two Republican candidates for this Council this year are by experience, education and profession particularly well fitted to aid in carrying on and bringing to a successful conclusion this very important work.

Mr. Edwin S. Boyer has lived in the Borough for ten years and has been an active member of the Borough Sewage Commission since 1909 and as well represents the Borough ni the Joint Sewage Committee with the representatives of Plainfield and Dunellen. He is also a member of the Borough Board of Education. Mr. Boyer is an Engineer, and Alumnus of the University of Pennsylvania and is associated with a well known construction firm in New York.

Mr. Allen Cowperthwaite has been a resident and taxpayer in the Borough for the last six years. He is a graduate engineer of Cornell University and has for the last fourteen years been connected with a manufacturing concern whose works are located in Jersey City. Mr. Cowperthwaite's experience in practical construction work and knowledge of the details of business management particularly fits him for the office of Councilman at this time when the Sewage problem is before the Council for final settlment. The high moral characters and known interest in municipal affairs of both these gentlemen assures to the community in the event of their election the intelligent rendition of faithful and efficient service.

JAMES B. FURBER
CANDIDATE FOR ASSEMBLY
ON THE
NATIONAL PROGRESSIVE TICKET

Mr. Furber was a PROGRESSIVE

When he was elected Mayor of Rahway on the Republican ticket and insisted that the campaign pledges of the party should be fullfilled—

When he insisted that the city of Rahway should receive interest on its bank balances—

When he objected to the discharge of competent officials because of their political beliefs—

When he went as a Colby delegate to the County Convention during the "New Idea" movement—

When he preferred charges of malfeasance in office against a member of Common Council of his own party—

When he urged and secured for Rahway a "Sane Fourth" ordinance—

When he refused to vote for Taft in 1908 because of the character of the men with whom Taft had surrounded himself—

When he announced himself unreservedly in favor of woman suffrage—

When he declared unequivocally for a third party immediately following the Republican presidential convention where the nomination was stolen for Taft—

When he accepted and endorsed the National and State platform of the Progressive party and pledged himself if elected to the Assembly, to further every cause before the Legislature in which human rights are recognized as being above, beyond and superior to property or business rights—

He Pledges Himself If Elected

To favor payment of all election expenses by the State in order that all men may have equal chance to secure office—

To favor the Missouri plan of gradual tax reduction on personal property and improvements until taxes are assessed exclusively upon land values. This will mean a fair distribution of the unearned increment—

To favor the requirement of medical certificate from both contracting parties before marriage licenses are issued—

To favor remission of poll tax to all whom the records show to have voted at the last preceding election, to secure the full vote and thus an expression of the people's will—

To favor the use of school houses for social centers and all school auditoriums for public meetings of an educational nature, and especially for political meetings.

To favor and urge the election of Everett Colby to the United States Senate.

Mr. TAXPAYER:

A municipality is a corporation in which each taxpayer is a stockholder. A strictly business corporation shows no personal partiality—it employs men who best do their duty. And if experience proves that an employee is faithful and efficient, such is the final test.

The Mayor and Common Council, on November 27, 1907, appointed me as your Tax Collector to serve until the next election. In November, 1908, the taxpayers, having a vote, elected me to fill out the unexpired term. Again in November, 1909, they chose me for a full term until January 1, 1913. Now, I have been honored by the Republican party in my nomination for another term.

"Public office is a public trust" and without any spirit of vanity I refer you to my record as one of your servants. I have conscientiously tried to do my duty and I have always been at the command of the taxpayer in my line of duty. As to this, I ask you, even if a taxpayer without a vote, to bear testimony.

If you consider me worthy of the trust reposed in me, if you believe I have been a faithful public servant of a public corporation, I take this means to solicit your support at the poll on Tuesday, November 5, at the hours between 6 a. m. and 7 p. m.

LAST BIG INDOOR CAMPAIGN RALLY

Democrats Hold An Enthusiastic Meeting in the Plainfield Theatre.

CONG. CLAYTON SPEAKS

Lashes Republicans and Roosevelt Alike—Questions T. R.'s Sincerity Denies Tariff as High-Cost-of-Living Cause.

Congressman Henry D. Clayton, of Alabama, was the principal speaker at a large and enthusiastic mass meeting held Saturday night in the Plainfield theatre, under the auspices of the Wilson and Marshall Democratic Club. A. H. Atterbury presided. The meeting was the closing indoor demonstration of the campaign. The audience included numerous local and county candidates and nearly all of the prominent political followers of Governor Wilson in the city.

Congressman Clayton defended the policies of the Democratic party and severely criticized the campaign arguments of the Republicans.

"Under Republican rule and exorbitant tariff rates," said the speaker, "you are paying over 100 per cent. more for the necessities of life, whereas your wages have increased little in comparison. And these increases were not made through any assistance of the present administration or the multi-millionaires who are binding this country hand and foot with high prices, and forming monopolies in restraint of trade, but were secured through the organization of union labor, after many long and costly wars for their just rights."

Speaking of Roosevelt, he said the people of this country did not want a man who betrayed their interests during the seven years he was President. "Have you confidence in him," the speaker said, "when he appears today in the guise of a religious man preaching the condemnation of those, who with himself perpetrated these wrongs upon you?"

A number of local candidates spoke asking for support at the polls and assuring the public at large of their best services if elected.

CUNIFF BROS. BUILD COLUMBUS CLUB ADDITION

The Columbus Club at its meeting Saturday night, opened the revised bids for the extensive improvements planned at the club, and Cuniff Brothers, the lowest bidders, were given the contract. The price was $17,745. The addition is to be concrete fireproof tile, forty feet wide and one hundred feet long. The lower floor will be used for general club purposes.

The main floor will be used for lodges and public purposes, and provisions will be made for bowling alleys, etc. There will be a large auditorium where it will be possible to give plays and all kinds of entertainments. It is hoped to have the addition under cover by January 1.

OLD LINE DEMOCRATS JEER MOOSE WOMEN

Unterrified Feminine Workers For Roosevelt Invade Democratic Stronghold.

Touring in automobiles decorated with American flags and pictures of Roosevelt and Johnson, a party of twenty-one women Progressives, led by Mrs. Irving Whiting, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Roberson, of Bound Brook; Dr. E. R. Groff, of Somerville, and Mrs. E. F. Feickert, of this city, started Saturday morning from Bound Brook, passing through and stopping at the principal points of Hunterdon and Somerset counties.

At Whitehouse Dr. Groff, Ralph L. Reed, with Ralph Whiting, the only man in the party, and Mrs. Feickert made speeches from a soap box in the street.

At Flemington another street meeting was held, the party then continuing to Three Bridges. At this place opposition was met, the speakers being at times prevented from making their words audible because of the shouts of derision and calls for Wilson. A sympathizer, however, mustered courage enough to step from the midst of the assemblage and present Mrs. Feickert with a rabbit's foot.

SPECIAL MUSIC SUNG BY CRESCENT AVE. CHOIR

The quartet choir of the Crescent Avenue church, comprising Miss Lillian V. Watt, soprano; Miss Grace Carroll, contralto; James H. Richards, tenor, and A. E. Betteridge, bass, under the direction of E. Mettler Davis, organist and choirmaster, gave a special musical service, last night, singing Mendelssohn's work, "Hymn of Praise," before a large congregation.

Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, the pastor, preached the sixth and last sermon in the series on the Epistle to the Philippians, the text being taken from Phil. 4:8-23. The members of the Italian Mission attended the service and were given a cordial welcome by Dr. Zelie.

NEWLY ORGANIZED BOYS' CHOIR AT HEAVENLY REST

The recently organized vested choir of the Church of Heavenly Rest, which has been receiving instruction for the past seven weeks at the hands of Wendell C. Glover, organist and choir master, made its first public appearance yesterday at the morning services. The choir sang from the new choir stalls, the gift of Michael Rimmer, a member of the congregation.

The men and boys who comprise the choir are Charles Carson, John Anderson, Horig Chamberlain, John Rimmer, John Kriney, Lewis Kriney, Wendell Hutchcraft, Ralph Colgate, Frederick Siegrist, Harvey Wilson, Robert Wilson, Roy Mills, J. H. Babcock, William Gilbert and Richard Wright. Charles Chapman acted as lay reader and Richard Borden was Crucifer.

AUTO TUMBLES, KILLING GUEST

Car Falls From Green Brook Bridge, Man Drowning Beneath It.

WOMAN SLIGHTLY HURT

Timbers Collapse Under Machine Owned by Mrs. Neil, of Somerville, and Two Drop Fifteen Feet at Union Avenue, Bound Brook.

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 4.—Miss Bessie McNeill is prostrated at her home here following her tragic experience when the automobile in which she was driving with Solomon R. Jacobs, a broker, of 92 Riverside drive, New York, crashed through a wooden bridge at Bound Brook, N. J., and before help could be summoned by the frantic young woman Mr. Jacobs was drowned.

Miss McNeill, too, plunged into the sluggish little stream, but she was able to clutch at overhanging branches that lined the banks and drag herself to a spot where she could get a firm foothold. There she hung suspended until her screams were heard by persons in the vicinity. They dragged her, fainting, from the water.

Mr. Jacobs, hampered by his position behind the steering wheel, was thrown so that the car pinned him beneath it, and although rescuers worked quickly and got him to the bank while still alive, he died within a few minutes.

Raritan avenue, on which the bridge is, is part of the New Brunswick road and is heavily traveled. According to persons living at that point, traffic was unusually heavy, and a few minutes before the accident a crowded seven passenger touring car crossed the bridge after making a wide turn from Union avenue in a manner calculated to further weaken the frail structure.

No one saw the accident, and Miss McNeill is still hysterical and unable to explain it, but it is possible that the bridge had reached a condition in which any weight would wreck it. Mr. Jacobs, who was about fifty years of age, was a careful driver and opposed to speeding, his relatives say.

At the home of Mr. Jacobs it was stated that Miss McNeill was known to the family and that Mr. Jacobs had gone to New Jersey to demonstrate the advantage of a patent which he had perfected for assuring safety when operating the brakes of an automobile. For this purpose he took an attachment to Somerville and placed it on a runabout, which is the property of Miss McNeill, and then he and the young woman apparently took the machine out to give the apparatus a trial.

Under the caption, "A Fatally Neglected County Bridge," the Newark Star says editorially today:

"A specimen of freeholder business management is the broken bridge crossing Green Brook, near Plainfield, the scene of an automobile tragedy on Saturday. It was known officially that the bridge was unsafe for travel, but no repairs were made. In crossing the bridge an automobile broke through the planking into the brook and a human life was sacrificed. Doubtless the bridge will now be repaired and nobody is responsible. Somebody ought to be jailed."

BIG DEMAND FOR SEATS.

Owing to the enormous demand for seats for Saturday night's performance when Madame Nazimova will be seen in Bella Donna at the Plainfield theatre, Charles Frohman has consented to give a special extra matinee on Saturday in order that all may be accommodated. CONGRESSMAN UTTER KILLED BY A CANCER

Born in This City, the Son of Rev. George B. Utter.

Westerly, R. I., Nov. 4.—Congressman George H. Utter, former governor of Rhode Island, died at his home here from stomach trouble after an illness of several weeks. He was operated upon in the Providence hospital in Washington a few weeks ago and returned home on Monday.

Before his illness Congressman Utter campaigned in the west for President Taft. He was a candidate for re-election as congressman from the Second Rhode Island district.

Congressman Utter was fifty-eight years old. After graduation from Amherst college in 1877 he entered the publishing business as owner of the Westerly Sun. He was elected governor of the state in 1905 and again in 1906.

Mr. Utter was born at West Second street and Madison avenue, where the electric light plant os now located. His father was Rev. George B. Utter, who was one of the early editors of TheSabbath Recorder. He also had a pastorate in New York, commuting to the metropolis.

After being elected to the Assembly in Rhode Island, Mr. Utter succeeded to every important office, being speaker of the Senate, Secretary of State, Lieutenant Governor and was twice elected Governor. In 1910 he was elected Congressman and was a candidate for re-election. Miss Jessie Utter, of this city, was his nearest relative here. Mrs. Henry M. Maxson is a cousin to Mrs. Utter.

'PURE BUNCOMBE,' RETORTS ENDRESS

Spirited Rejoinder to Holt's Second Letter on Sewer Routes.

"INGENIOUS FIGURING"

Advocate of the Direct Route Repeats Contention That Only Facile Pencil Can Produce Results Favorable to the Indirect Line.

"Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

"In the Daily Press of Saturday, Councilman Holt brands as entirely false, my article in your paper of October 29, relative to the joint sewer problem. Knowing his attitude in the matter, I thank him for the compliment.

"I still maintain that he can arrive at his unwarranted conclusion in favor of the indirect route, only by an ingenious figuring process; and I reiterate that the adoption of the direct route to the proposed sewage disposal beds would result in a saving to the city of approximately $100,000.

"Many prominent citizens and taxpayers, who have studied the sewer question thoroughly, have consulted me and commended my advocacy of the direct route, as the better and more economical one. How many have conferred with Mr. Holt? Surely, he shows little concern for the Plainfield taxpayer, whose representative he is, and whose interests he was elected to serve. Personally, I am not surprised at his action, because on a recent inspection tour, through the city, he frankly admitted to me that he was not as well-informed upon general conditions, as he should be. He gave as his reason therefor, the fact that he had not been long identified with city affairs, and also, that he was unable to devote to his councilmanic duties, the time and attention they required. Needless to say, I agree with him.

"As to his denial of the statement attributed by me to Mr. Gavett, that on excavation work alone there could be saved the city, thousands of dollars, by adopting the direct route, I now repeat, Mr. Gavett did make such a statement at the October meeting of the Common Council, in reply to a question asked by Councilman Reville. Can it be (?) that the Councilman from the Second ward is endowed with so convenient a memory that he now fails to recall that significant reply, or "crazy statement," as he styles it, of Mr. Gavett, that "the city could save $50,000 on excavation alone through the adoption of the direct route to the proposed sewage disposal beds." And the faithful and efficient City Engineer knew whereof he spoke. Your "one last word," Mr. Holt, is pure buncombe, and you know it.

"Plainfield, N. J., Nov. 4, 1912.

PIETY SHOULD RULE AT THE BALLOT BOX

So Says Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong in His "Election Sermon."

The announcement that Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong would preach an election sermon attracted a congregation that crowded the First Baptist church to the doors, last night. The preacher said that he was an American of 300 years' standing and that next to his standing as a Christian, he rejoiced in his American citizenship.

"There is no place more appropriate for a political discourse than a church building," said Dr. Strong, "so inseparably linked together are a true christian's religion with his politics and particularly is this true of a Baptist church, for Baptists in every nation have always been distinguished for their patriotism. We are told on good authority that there was never known but one Tory of that faith, and from the days of Cornwell to the present they have contended for 'no king, but God,' and 'liberty' has ever been their watchword.

"It is a common notion that we are living in a most corrupt age, but as a matter of fact there never was a time when there was so much public conscience awakened as at the present.

"Politics is as much a part of a man's piety as is the family altar, the private devotion, the communion table or the observance of baptism. With that same spirit of reverence and desire to please his God with which a man approaches the sanctuary should he approach the ballot-box, or he is no true christian."

At the conclusion of the service the ordinance of baptism was administered to Messrs. Armstrong, Manning and Newkirk. After the discourse the congregation sang the national hymn, "America."

JAMES CURZEN DIES AT MUHLENBERG HOSPITAL

COUNTY YIELDS IN TAX FIGHT

Board Admits That Borough Valuations Have Been Too High.

18 PER CENT. DECREASE

Unanimous Vote in Favor of Reducing Burden on North Plainfield as a Matter of Equity—Individual Protests Unnecesary.

The question of the borough's ratables was brought up before the County Board of Taxation last Saturday in Somerville. There were present, representing the borough, Mayor Clark, Timothy F. Harrington, Alexander Milne and W. J. Buttfield. The valuations of the borough with reference to those of the rest of the county were discussed at length and the Board was convinced that, covering a period of some years past, the rapid enhancement in values and growth of improvements in many sections of the county, as opposed to an almost complete standstill in the borough, had resulted in a basis of tax valuation in North Plainfield materially higher than that of the average of the rest of the county. Under these circumstances the Board unanimously came to the conclusion that in equity the borough was entitled to a deduction of about eighteen per cent. to be credited against its apportionment of taxes next year.

Individual protests, therefore, will be uncalled for unless assessments are out of all proportion to others throughout the borough, as manifestly a property owner cannot expect a duplication of reduction on his tax bill, by securing a deduction this year and sharing in a credit allowance, common to all, next year.

DEMOCRATIC VICTORY A MENACE HE SAYS

Ulrich Eberhardt, the Progressive nominee for Assembly in Somerset county, has issued an appeal for support in which he points out the danger of placing the Democrats in power. He says incidently:

"Mr. Underwood, Dem., of Alabama, last August endeavored to sweep away the 30 per cent. duty and give absolutely free trade to us. Now Mr. Democrat, this is no secret. It is a fact and had it not been for a majority of seven Republican votes in the Senate, we should have had the displeasure of free trade on this line of skilled mechanics. Mr. Standpatter, do you think Governor Wilson will be able to control these men at Washington, to give us proper laws and a fair administration?"

WHY MAYOR MOY SHOULD BE RE-ELECTED

(An Editorial)

All three candidates for the Mayoralty are lawyers. All three are able men. All three are representative citizens.

Then why does the Daily Press, an independent newspaper, support the candidacy of the present incumbent, George W. V. Moy?

First, it is because, as an independent newspaper, we should take a decided stand on all matters of public concern and should fight for what we believe to be the right.

Second, because it is right not to confuse National politics with matters purely municipal. We should uphold men for local office regardless of their political affiliations.

Third, because when a public servant has consistently, conscientiously, fearlessly and impartially striven to do his full duty and has made a most creditable record, he should be continued in office; he is certainly entitled to at least one re-election.

Our highly honored citizen, William L. Saunders, at the Business Men's Credit Association banquet, said of Mayor Moy:

"He brought conscience into office and it has made its impress on the city." Surely that is the kind of a public servant that the people of Plainfield wish in office.

He has been the Mayor in reality. He has observed his oath of office. He has been uncontrolled by any hidden influence. He has served without fear or favor. He has not hedged or straddled. His appointments have been non-partisan. He has demonstrated practical economy. He has made no play for popularity.

He opposed the purchase of a touring car for the fire department chief. He opposed the city paying for pleasure jaunts for officials. He opposed the installation of huge gasoline storage tanks by the Standard Oil Company within the city limits. He opposed the paying for dead horses. He opposed the appointment of public accountants to audit the city books at excessive rates, this one item meaning a saving of $1,500.

He opposed favoritism in the police department. He has opposed and abolished "speakeasies," "cider joints." He opposed undesirable saloons. He opposed wagon restaurants on the public streets.

WHAT PROGRESSIVE MOVEMENT MEANS

By JOHN FRANKLIN FORT

The people are just beginning to fully comprehend what the Progressive movement means. The old line politicians have tried to belittle it and to get the impression abroad that it was only for this year, and that it was a one man party. They have failed. It is here to stay. The Republican party, as at present controlled, will go to the polls tomorrow for the last time. Its doom is about to be sounded.

A vote rightly cast tomorrow will do greater execution for good than any single vote ever has before. It will destroy bossism in both the old parties, and if successful, will overthrow all the old political conditions and start the country and State anew along popular lines. A victory for Roosevelt and Johnson means, the maintenance of the direct primary; a nation wide preferential Presidential primary, making it forever impossible for a boss-ridden National Committee to again select a candidate for President by fraud, as Taft was at Chicago last June. It means the submission to the people of at amendment to give equal suffrage to women; it means the limitation of all corrupt campaign funds; it means reform in judicial proceedure with exact justice for all; it means a code of laws as to industrial accidents, occupational diseases, overwork and improper hours, and for the general guarding against injurious effects in industry. It means better standards of personal safety and health; the prohibition of child labor and a fixed minimum wage for women, together with the elimination, for them, of night work.

All this stands for a better home life and a more sturdy race. It means compensation for death, accidental injuries and trade disease, with reasonable provisions for protection in case of sickness or old age. It will assure a full regulation of the corporate trust, and correct the inequities of the faulty Sherman law, through a commission with powers similar to those which the Interstate Commerce Commission has over railroads.

It means a physical valuation of railway property for a basis for the fixing of freight and passenger rates. It means the abolition of the Commerce Court, which forces litigants from California or New Jersey to the Capitol at Washington, to secure justice against corporate aggressions.

ELECTION ALL OVER EXCEPT FOR VOTING

People's Mind Made up on Ballots to Be Cast Tomorrow.

New York, Nov. 4 (Special).—With the last day before election, the last day of one of the most remarkable political campaigns the country has ever known, little is left to be done but to indulge in forecasts and wait for the returns. As the saying is, it's all over but the shouting. Nobody as yet who will do the shouting but the minds of the people are made up, the campaign is at an end, and the election will only be to secure an official record of a decision already made.

Five national conventions have nominated candidates for president and vice president of the United States. William Howard Taft, of Ohio, and James S. Sherman, of New York, were renominated for president and vice president, respectively, by the Republicans at Chicago. Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, and Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, were named by the Democratic convention at Baltimre. The new Progressive party, in convention at Chicago, nominated Theodore Roosevelt, of New York, for president, and Hiram W. Johnson, of California, for vice president. The Prohibitionists at their convention at Atlantic City, put up Eugene W. Chafin, of Illinois, for president, and Aaron S. Watkins, of Ohio, for vice president. The Socialist party at Indianapolis brought out the names of Eugene V. Debs, of Indiana, for president, and Emil Seidel, of Wisconsin, for vice president.

This year of 1912 has seen such a sundering of political ties as does not often occur in America, but it is all referable to so-called "progressiveism," just as slavery was responsible for the diverse tickets in 1860 and the monetary question for the split-up of the Democratic party in 1906.

The Democrats this year present a more united front than for many years past. Though the campaign that preceded the Baltimore convention was an exceedingly spirited one, it apparently left no bitterness, for the restoration of harmany was almost instantaneous. Within a week after the delegates adjourned at Baltimore the several factions had come together with a single purpose of electing the national ticket. The unsuccessful opponents of Wilson at Baltimore took to the stump in his behalf and the Bryanites and anti-Bryanites of the olden days have repeatedly spoken from the same platform during the campaign that has just closed.

The Republican party, on the other hand, has found itself divided for the first time since the Civil War. The "insurgents" who bolted the Republican national convention at Chicago after the renomination of President Taft met in the same city, a few weeks later and formed the Progressive party. Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, who had fought vainly to secure the "regular" Republican nomination, was named for president and Governor Johnson, of California, was selected as his running-mate.

The situation on the Republican side then became complicated by the fact that the political affiliations of the electors in many of the States were in doubt, being claimed by both the Taft and Roosevelt factions. The electoral controversies were finally settled in a manner more or less satisfactory to both sides, though new and more serious perplexities may result from the same source in case the balloting is close tomorrow.

A court decision has left Taft without representation on the electoral ticket in California, where the Roosevelt electors appear as Republicans. In Oklahoma the two Roosevelt electors appearing on the Republican ticket have agreed to vote for Taft if he carries the State. A similar agreement has been reached in Oregon. In South Dakota and Nebraska the Taft electors appears on the ballot by petition. In the other States where controversies existed the original Roosevelt electors have been replaced on the Republican ballot by Taft supporters.

The next electoral college will be composed of 531 members, and the successful candidates for president and vice president must secure a total of at least 265 to be elected. With three leading tickets in the field, instead of two as in former presidential campaigns of late years, it is easily within the range of possibilities that none of the three might secure a sufficient electoral vote and that the election of the next president and vice president would devolve upon the national house of representatives.

Besides the presidential succession there will also be decided tomorrow the question of the control of the House of Representatives. There will be 435 representatives in the next Congress, all of whom will be elected tomorrow except the few in Maine and Vermont, which States hold early elections.

The terms of one-third of the members of the United States Senate expire next March. In a few States their seats have already been filled, but in many others the complexion of the Legislatures elected tomorrow will decide.

A STRAW VOTE.

A straw vote among the little ones at the Lincoln School was taken this morning with this result; Roosevelt, 18; Wilson, 8; Taft, 5. The youngsters have evidently been listening to their papas.

BARBER SHOPS TO CLOSE.

All barber shops in Plainfield will close at 9 p. m. tonight and at noon tomorrow.

IN THE CITY'S INTEREST.

There is only one sure way in which to make certain that this city will be properly represented on the Board of Freeholders next year and that is to vote Plainfielders into the Board. The Republican party passed up Plainfield in naming Freeholder candidates, and it is up to the electors of Plainfield to see that Plainfielders, with the interests of Plainfield actively in mind, are in places of power when it comes time to vote money for roadways and bridges and public institutions.

Three Plainfielders are running for seats on the Board: Alfred M. Morrell, candidate for the three-year term, on the Progressive ticket; Thomas J. Hughes, for the two-year term, and James J. McCann, for the one-year term, on the Democratic ticket. They are all able men of undoubted integrity. So is Elwood W. Phares a Progressive candidate for the two-year term. He presents an attractive figure to the voter, not only because of his record in business and private life, but because of his unequivocal and earnest pledges of service for the public and the public alone.

The Courier News, locked in the chains of "regularity," prepared to swallow all the candidates of the Republican party with slight regard to the interests of the public it should serve, urged on Saturday the defeat of every Plainfield candidate for the Board. It would be a shameful editorial, were it not so feeble. Its chief argument is this:

"Better service will be rendered to Plainfield by the present Republican candidates than could possibly be given by our Democratic candidates if the Board has a Republican majority."

That is an indictment of the hoped-for Republican majority. If the Republican candidates are committed to a disbursement of the county moneys with partisan and not public advancement in view, then every Republican candidate for Freeholder should be defeated.

It is a comforting thought, in view of the Courier-News' conviction that a Republican majority would think of party before county and city, that the chances of such a majority are almighty slim.

OUR ENTERPRISES.

As tomorrow will be Election Day, a holiday in New Jersey, following our custom on general election days no paper will be published. But on Wednesday morning at 6 o'clock, the Daily Press will be out on the streets with a complete account of the National, State, county and city elections, accurate and comprehensive and fully in keeping with the high standard for which this paper is known in supplying the results. No other paper will be issued by us on Wednesday.

We desire, again, to call your attention to the fact that the Daily Press will herald the news of the elections as speedily as it is flashed over the wire from the New York Sun bureau, for whose complete service of 20,000 words a contract has been made. This service to the public will include stereopticon returns in front of the Daily Press building. Incidently, a high class moving picture show will be given, the films being run at intervals between the displaying of returns. These moving pictures will include scenes in the present campaign in which Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson figure; pictures of American celebrities and foreign crowned heads, thrilling incidents and what not. This feature will be started promptly at 7:30 o'clock and will be continued until long after midnight and probably until 2 o'clock in the morning.

Another election feature which it has remained for the Daily Press to introduce in New Jersey is the searchlight for swiftly announcing the tidings of the [illegible] miles around. Through the kindness of Samuel W. Rushmore, this paper will have the use of his giant thirty-six inch battleship projector for that purpose. The code of signals is published on the first page today. Cut it out for otherwise the beams of light will mean nothing to you.

Come around to the Daily Press office on tomorrow night; learn the news and be entertained by moving pictures.

EXPLANATION.

Dash (——) means steady flash for five seconds.
Dot (.) means steady flash for one second.
One second darkness between dots and dashes of all signals
Darkness for five seconds means space between signals.

Above is the signal code to be used in flashing the Election news. Cut out the code and save it for Tuesday night. If you don't know the code the signals will mean nothing to you.

Through the generosity of Mr. Rushmore, the immense searchlight will be at the service of the Daily Press on Election night and an expert operator will be in charge continuously until the last news of the National battle of ballots is received. As speedily as the result of the Presidential election is flashed to the Daily Press from the New York Sun, powerful beams, with a carrying distance of thirty miles, will herald the tidings at the four cardinal points of the compass. The results in Union county and Plainfield will be announced in like fashion. Cut out the code and save it—do it now.

It means good national highways and the destruction of patent law monopolies. With its success will come a cleaner Civil Service, the elimination of political machines, more independence in legislators, with the right in the people to initiate legislation if the Legislature refuses to enact the laws that the people demand. It will enable the people, through a referendum, to prevent bad legislation, which the special interests secure, from becoming operative.

It will insure the power in the people to recall a corrupt public official whom under the law there is now no way to reach.

It will mean an honest downward revision of the tariff, which will reduce prices to the consumer and still maintain the protective principle and the American standard of wages. It means an even chance and an equal opportunity for every man, woman and child in the Republic.

The Progressive party as a concrete organization is a growth of the past eight weeks. It is a great party in nation and state and it is not the annex of either the Republican or Democratic party. Certain old party leaders have tried to make it such, as to the state ticket; but they have failed, notwithstanding their scheming, both with us and the old parties. We are a new party—not Republicans—not Democrats—made up from all parties into a new strong fighting force, knowing nothing except loyalty to the great principles of our platform adopted at Chicago and which is our "Covenant with the people." Let every voter forget everything tomorrow, except that he is a citizen of a great country founded solely upon the welfare of the individual man and woman within it. A better Nation, a better State, a better local government; better health laws and sanitation; better living and labor conditions; better homes and purer justice are all in the outcome of this election. The success of Roosevelt and Johnson and the Progressive candidates for Congress, the Legislature and the local ticket, means more for you, my fellow citizens, than any political event that has ever happened in your day. Do not fail to vote for the full Progressive ticket.

The hour and the opportunity are here.

JOHN FRANKLIN FORT.

He stands for the utmost publicity concerning public affairs. He stands for widening of Park and Madison avenues. He had stood for and brought about better trolley service; better lighting service but he is not yet satisfied with either. He recommends the appointment of a new building inspector. He has stood for and advocates the abolition of the fee system. He advocates the appointment of a city purchasing agent. He favors a committee to have charge of the city property.

He championed and increase of appropriation for playground and for the hospital and he helped to obtain those increases. He favored an appropriation for a dental clinic in order that poor children might receive the benefit. He has stood for the appointment of a school janitor or special police without the requirement of a fee from them.

He favors and is working for a joint sewage disposal plant. He advovates the municipal control of garbage and ashes, collection and disposal if practical and not too burdensome upon the taxpayer. He believes in a non-partisan Board of Education.

He routed the machine. He wants to keep that machine out of power.

Your taxes this year are seven points lower than they were last year, which is the best proof of the economy of his administration.

The re-election of Mayor Moy we firmly believe to be for the best interests of Plainfield and for this reason we urge his re-election.

TIMBO'S NEW PLACE.

Under the management of Thomas Timbo, Plainfield's veteran restauranteur, a store has been opened at No. 216 Watchung avenue, near North avenue, where a full line of cigars, fruit, newspapers, candy, etc., is carried. Mr. Timbo gives his personal supervision to the establishment and his popularity augers well for the success of the business.

SERMON ON DRINK.

Denouncing the sale of liquor as a crime and strong drink as the "root of all evil," the Rev. Dr. C. M. Anderson, preached a vigorous sermon to the congregation of the First Methodist Episcopal church last night. His subject was "Curse, Cost and Cure of Drunkenness."

THE CALL OF BROTHERHOOD.

[At the request of a member of the local Women's Progressive League, the Daily Press prints below the poem "Brotherhood," which Mrs. Douglas Robinson recited at the Bull Moose luncheon held by the league last Friday.]

Have you heard it, the dominant call
Of the city's great cry, and the thrall
And the throb and the pulse of its Life,
And the touch and the stir of its Strife,
As, amid the dread dust and the din
It wages its battle of Sin?
Have you felt in the crowds of the street
The echo of mutinous feet
As they march to their final release,
As they struggle and strive without peace?
Marching how, marching where, and to what!
Oh! by all that there is, or is not,
We must march too and shoulder to shoulder.
If a frail sister ship, we must hold her,
If a brother be lost in the strain
Of the infinite pitfalls of pain,
We must love him and lift him again.
For we are the Guarded, the Shielded,
And yet we have wavered and yielded
To the sins that we could not resist.
By the right of the joys we have missed
By the right of the deeds left undone,
By the right of our victories won,
Perchance we their burdens may bear
As brothers, with right to our share.
The baby who pulls at the breast
With its pitiful purpose to wrest
The milk that has dried in the vein,
That is sapped by life's fever and drain—
The turbulent prisoners of toil,
Whose faces are black with the soil
And scarred with the sins of the soul,
Who are paying the terrible toll
Of the way they have chosen to tread,
As they march on in truculent dread,—
And the Old, and the Weary, who fall—
Oh! let us be one with them all!
By the infinite fear of our fears,
By the passionate pain of our tears,
Let us hold out our impotent hands,
Made strong by Jehovah's commands,
The God of the militant poor,
Who are stronger than we to endure,
Let us march in the front of the van
Of the Brotherhood valiant of Man!

MOOSE AND REPUBLICAN MEETINGS RUB ELBOWS

"The Flying Squadron," comprising the Bull Moose candidates in the city and county, as well as Republican spellbinders invaded the city Saturday night, winding up a rather strenuous campaign in Plainfield. The Bull Moose candidates, together with suporters of the movement went about the city in automobiles, displaying red fire and torches.

One open-air meeting was held at Park avenue and East Second street, and the other at West Front street and Madison avenue. While they were at the former corner, the Republicans were running a meeting on the oposite corner, the attendance at each being equal.

Mayor Moy, Stanley Gunnison, Jr., George E. Greenleaf, councilmanic candidates, together with the candidates for freeholder, Fred S. Taggart, candidate for surrogate, were among those who spoke at the Progressive meetings.

Those who spoke at the Republican meeting included J. J. Carroll, W. R. Coddington, Leighton Calkins, Francis J. Blatz, David E. Titsworth, Ernest R. Ackerman.

All the workers of the three parties will meet tonight to close up the work of the campaign.

Leighton Calkins, candidate for Council from the Third ward, in addressing the crowd Saturday night pointed out that he had taken advantage of the opportunity afforded by the Plainfield Daily Press and had not only answered the twelve questions put to candidates, but in answering them had discussed the city's problems in detail in order that the voters might know exactly where he stood in the campaign.

CHEER TAFT LEAVING HOTEL IN NEW YORK

Crowd Glimpses Him as He Takes Auto Spin.

New York, Nov. 4.—After attending service at the Church of the Messiah, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Taft, Charles D. Hilles and Major Rhodes, his chief of staff, President Taft had among his guests at luncheon at the Manhattan hotel yesterday his brother, Henry D. Taft, and Mr. and Mrs. Hilles. Following luncheon the president, his brother, Mr. Hilles and Major Rhodes took an automobile ride.

In some way it became noised about that the president was planning to leave the hotel shortly before he started on his afternoon spin and several thousand persons gathered in front of the hotel. The president was received with a rousing cheer and stood up in his car bowing until the machine turned into Fifth avenue.

In the afternoon the president received several callers. He left on the Canadian express over the New York Central railroad in his private car, the ideal, for Cincinnati, where he will remain over election day, cast his vote and await the returns. He was accompanied by his secretary, Mr. Thompson and Major Rhodes. On the way through Ohio his train will stop at Ashtabula, Painesville, Wellington, Shelby, Galilian, London, Springfield, Dayton and Middletown at each of which places he will speak from the platform of the train.

Just as the president was leaving the Manhattan hotel he received a telegram from his Aunt Delia Torrey, saying she and her friends were praying for his success. On the way to the station the president learned of the accident to Governor Wilson and expressed his sorrow. He said he was pleased to hear that the Democratic candidate's injuries were slight.

Toward evening he lapsed into unconsciousness and died of apoplexy. He was one of the three sons of William Cramp, the founder of the firm, and was admitted to partnership in the business in 1876.

NEW STYLES HORRIFY HER.

Columbus Woman Aghast at Fashions After Years of Blindness.

Columbus, O., Nov. 4.—The hobble skirt, the sheath gown and all the latest fashions came in for severe criticism by an expert here. A woman who had not seen for four years had her sight restored to her and was aghast at what was revealed to her.

Mrs. W. K. Ligette, a Columbus society woman, regained her eyesight, gazed around her, and the first thing she said was:

"What awful frights women are making of themselves in the new styles."

TURKISH ARMY ROUTED, APPEALS TO POWERS

Admitting Defeat, the Moslem Asks Europe to Save Him.

Constantinople, Nov. 4.—The porte has applied to the powers for mediation with a view to the cessation of hostilities and for the negotiation of peace.

Application has been made to the embassies here and by circular to the Ottoman representatives in the European capitals.

Announcement of this action followed closely upon a bulletin which the government issued admitting that the Turkish army had been defeated in the great battle with the Bulgarians and was in full retreat to the last line of fortifications outside the capital.

The official bulletin announcing the defeat says:

"The fortunes of war are variable, and it is not always possible to be successful on all sides. A people which accepts war must submit with resignation to all its consequences. To overlook this obligation is to fail in one's duty. Consequently while it would be unwise to be unnecessarily proud over our victories it likewise would be incorrect to be alarmed at want of success.

"For instance, in the present war with the four federated states the imperial troops are defending themselves with success in the environs of Scutari and Janina, but the eastern army, in the neighborhood of Visa and Lule Burgas, felt obliged to retire to the lines of defense at Tchatalja.

"In order to facilitate a successful defense it has naturally been decided to exert all efforts to safeguard the interests of the fatherland."

London, Nov. 4.—News of the appeal of Turkey to the powers reached London early this morning.

It is the general belief here that Bulgaria will refuse to listen to anything in the way of intervention until the Bulgarian army is at the gates of Constantinople and will insist that Turkey make an appeal direct to the allies without interference from the powers.

ADMITS KILLING MISS SINGER

Conway Tells Police He Struck Woman In Self Defense.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Charles Conway confessed to Captain Neetbaar that he had killed Sophie Singer of Baltimore. He pleaded self defense.

According to Captain Neetbaar, Conway told him that last Monday night Sophie Singer entered their bedroom and suggested that they enter upon an improper life.

Conway said his wife would never consider such a thing and Mrs. Conway added her protest.

"Sophie then reached for a razor," continued Conway. "I reached her arm and she dropped the razor and caught up a door knob, which was tied to a handkerchief. I pulled it away from her and when she reached for the razor again I struck her. She fell. Then we left. That is the whole truth."

FAIR ELECTION DAY.

Weather Man Says There Will Be No Rain In the East.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Fair and moderate weather in nearly every part of the country on election day is expected by the experts of the weather bureau. Indications are favorable for all districts east of the Rocky mountains. On the Pacific slope, however, conditions promise to be somewhat unsettled, and it may be that certain sections of the lake region and the Ohio and Mississippi valleys will have rains.

Eastern and southern states will have considerable warmer temperature Tuesday, and there is no indication of unseasonable cold weather in any part of the country.

An increasingly large number o people listened to the organ recita at Holy Cross Episcopal church at 7:30 o'clock last night, approving with marked interest and appreciation the splendid organ numbers and the special selections of Mrs. Viole Truell Johnson upon the violin.

It is to be remarked that Mr. Davis shows a growing familiarity with his instrument from Sunday to Sunday, so that it may be truly said that a growing treat is in store for those who attend the recitals, which are thrown open to the public.

At 8 o'clock, just as the late notes of the final selection were dying away, the chant of the choir at the opening of the processional hymn was heard. Brief evening prayer was said by the Rev. William S. McCoy, the rector, who also delivered a short address on the subject: "The gates of hell shall not stand against the Church of Christ."

HARRY SERNIL.

Harry Sernil, the six months old son of Mr. and Mrs Louis Sernil, of 815 Richmond street, died Saturday afternoon at the home of his parents. The funeral service was held from the house at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

ANNOYED WORSHIPPERS.

John Kennery, seventeen years old, of 137 Liberty street, and Frank Powers, seventeen years old, of 10 Madison avenue, were arrested yesterday afternoon by Patrolman McDonald and Kelly, for acting disorderly and disturbing the religious meeting in the Rescue Mission. City Judge DeMeza suspeded sentence this morning with a reprimand.

WILSON HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Head Badly Gashed When Limousine Is Jarred.

RUSH TO DOCTOR'S OFFICE

Wound Described as "Painful, but Not Serious"—Machine Going at High Speed In Early Morning Hits Mound In Road.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 4.—Governor Wilson today is nursing a bad cut on his scalp which he received early yesterday morning by being thrown violently against the top of the touring car of Abraham I. Elkins, in which he was returning to Princeton after his speech at Red Bank Saturday night. One of the ribs of the top cut a gash nearly three inches long in the top of his head and he was temporarily dazed by the force of the impact, although not rendered unconscious.

After the wound had been dressed by Dr. J. G. Titus of Hightstown, the governor continued his journey, reaching his home in Princton a little after 4 o'clock yesterday morning. He was about again as usual yesterday afternoon and except for the soreness in his head seemed to be none the worse for his mishap. The dressing of the wound had necessitated the shaving of a circular patch about four inches in diameter on the governor's head. This led him to remark that the principal result of the accident had apparently been to make him prematurely bald.

It was late Saturday night when the governor finally broke away from the reception accorded him by the voters of Monmouth county and he interposed no objection when the driver of Elkins' car, in which he was riding with Captain William MacDonald, hit up a high speed in order to make the journey as brief a one as possible.

Hits Mound In Road.

Things went smoothly enough until the car was a short distance outside of Hightstown. Here there was a mound in the road which had been caused by an excavation across which a telephone pole cast a slight shadow which led the driver to think there was no break in the road. The car was running at high speed when it bumped into the obstruction diagonally.

Without an instant's warning the governor and Captain MacDonald were violently jolted from their seats and thrown against the top of the car. The governor's injury was rendered more serious than it would otherwise have been by the fact of his head striking one of the ribs. The injury was in the left side of the top of his head and he fell back on his seat dazed by the shock. Captain MacDonald suffered from a wrenched neck and a bruised head, but was not sufficiently hurt to incapacitate him.

The driver succeeded in retaining control of the car, and as soon as a hasty investigation had been made of the governor's condition it was decided to make for the home of the nearest physician. Dr. Titus was routed out of bed, and a preliminary examination of the governor's wound convinced him it would not be necessary to resort to stitching. He first shaved off a fair sized patch of hair and then with collodion and plaster drew the wound together and discharged his patient.

Callers Offer Sympathy.

The remainder of the trip to Princeton, a distance of about twelve miles, was made at a more leisurely pace. The governor retired as soon as he had assured the members of his family that he had not been seriously hurt. He arose about noon yesterday and after shaving himself, as is his custom, he entered upon the usual duties of the day. During the afternoon he received a number of callers, many of his neighbors who had heard of the mishap having come to inquire as to his condition and offer their sympathy.

Later in the day the governor asked the newspaper men not to let exaggerated reports of his injuries get abroad, and it was to them that he laughingly spoke of premature baldness as the principal result of the incident. He said that he felt fully restored from the effects of the shaking up and anticipated no serious consequences whatever. He will, however, wear a big patch of plaster on his head for some time to come.

The governor will keep his engagements to speak in Passaic and Paterson today as usual.

WILSON PRODS PROSECUTORS

Asks Twenty-one County Officers to Enforce Election Law.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 4.—Determined that the corrupt practices act with reference to political assessments against officeholders shall not be violated this year and that if there be such violations they shall not go unpunished, Governor Wilson has sent a letter to each of the twenty-one county prosecutors declaring that he will look to those officials to see that the law is obeyed in every particular. The letter was as follows:

My Dear Sir—I take the liberty upon the eve of the approaching election to call your attention to the strict provisions of the corrupt practices act and to beg that you will devote your utmost energies to seeing that the terms of the act are absolutely complied with. The state now prides itself on the purity of its elections, and while I take it for granted that it is not necessary to call your attention to this law now that its provisions have been so long enforced I nevertheless feel it my official duty to remind you of this obligation and to say that I shall look to you to see that the law is obeyed in every particular. With much respect, I am your sincerely,

WOODROW WILSON.

FIND SKELETON IN A SHANTY.

Boys' Grewsome Discovery on Coney Island Creek May Reveal Crime.

New York, Nov. 4.—Charles Martin, Jr., of Neptune avenue and West Seventh street, Coney Island, son of a policeman, and William Stitts of 12 Cortlandt street, both about fourteen, found a human skeleton in a deserted shanty on Coney Island creek.

They took it to the Coney Island station and nearly scared Lieutenant Donahue out of thoughts of promotion when they exposed their find.

Detectives Bushby and Weyman afterward found in the shack several rings and scraps of paper with illegible writing on it. The police believe the skeleton is that of a woman who may have been murdered. They are investigating the history of the shanty.

COPS IN DEADLY FIGHT.

Neither Policeman In Uniform—Each Thought Other Dangerous Criminal.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 4.—As a result of a fight between a Jersey City and a West Hoboken policeman, each of whom suspected that the other was a dangerous criminal, the two men are in the North Hudson hospital, one with a fractured skull and the other from four bullet wounds in the breast and stomach. Both will die.

In the fight one of the policemen depended on a night stick, which which he dealt his antagonist a blow on the head hard enough to fracture the skull, and the other used his revolver at close range.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE SECOND WARD:

The voters of the Second Ward are earnestly requested to vote for Cornelius Van Herwerden, the nominee for Councilman on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Van Herwerden is a man eminently fitted for the office by reason of integrity, honesty and ability. He is a large property owner and taxpayer in the Ward, and if elected would conduct the affairs of the city so as to protect the interests of all property owners.

Mr. Van Herwerden has resided and voted in the ward continuously for the past seventeen years, while opposed to him are two candidates (a Bull Moose and Democrat) neither of whom has ever voted in this city.

Mr. Van Herwerden is the only Councilmanic nominee in the Second Ward who is a real estate owner, and as such, is worthy of the votes of the citizens of the ward regardless of their party affiliations.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE FOURTH WARD

I am a candidate as Councilman to represent you in the government of this City.

I fully realize the responsibility of the position, and it is my earnest intention, if elected, to serve this City, which has been my home for over twenty-four years, to the best of my ability, as shall seem to be for the best interest of the City.

I believe that all public business should be transacted openly, and with the same economy, attention to details and endeavor to keep the expenses at the lowest point without impairing efficiency that one would give his private business.

I shall, if elected, always endeavor to ascertain your views, the facts and the greatest need in advance, and act in accordance therewith.

As your representative, it would always be my aim to see that the Fourth Ward was fairly treated and received the attention which is justly due.

Very truly yours,

George E. Greenleaf

TO VOTERS OF PLAINFIELD

Inasmuch as Plainfield is without representation on the Republican Freeholder ticket, I take pleasure in recommending to my fellow citizens the candidacy of my friend and associate, Thomas J. Hughes, as a local Democratic nominee for the two-year term. My association with him for many years warrants me in saying that he is a man of integrity and ability and would conscientiously and splendidly look after Plainfield's interests in Union county. As a taxpayer, I feel that Plainfield should be represented on the Board.

F. C. LANGHORNE.

REASONS FOR A CLERGYMAN'S FAITH IN PROGRESSIVE PARTY

BY

Rev. C. E. Herring, Ph. D.

"Never have I come to a Presidential election with more zeal in my soul than now. Never have the appeals of any party met the instincts and longings of my whole being than the appeals of the Progressive party, and I want to state briefly my reasons for voting for it. First of all, I believe that the growing unrest of our land today demands progressive principles to meet and satisfy it. This talk about prosperity is not perfectly satisfactory, for it is not passed around to everybody. It is true that when the table is heaped with good things the more crumbs fall from it, but the ordinary man today wants more than the crumbs.

"The Progressive party has given to us in its platform and in the speeches of its efficient head, definite plans to meet this unrest. The attitude of the three parties has been well expressed in these words. 'The Republicans would leave things as they are; the Democrats would like to change some things but do not know how; the Progressives would like to change some things and do know how.' How? Here is one element of the platform that seems to me a real solution for some of the industrial difficulties in regard to the trusts. A Federal Industrial Commission.

"The New York State Railway Commission has proved its effectiveness is giving people along the line of the West Shore Railroad satisfactory transportation. An Industrial Commission would apply the same method to the great industries. With such a commission the Standard Oil Company could not undersell a competitor in his own field so as to drive him out of business. If the Railroad Commission is practical, why would not the Industrial Commission be practical? Here is what Mr. Roosevelt says, 'This commission should exercise over the industrial concerns like powers to those exercised over the railways by the Inter-state Commerce Commission. It should prohibit and especially punish monopoly achieved through wrong, and actual wrongs, such as artificial raising of prices, and the artificial restriction on productivity.' This is one of the serious causes of the high cost of living. Cattle raisers have been discouraged in raising cattle by the Beef Trust. This commission would have also dealings with those who refuse to sell to customers who trade with business rivals.

"A scientific tariff commission would help the laborer and the consumer by an immediate downward revision of the tariff. Dr. Abbott says of such a commission that it has been 'tried in protected Germany and protected Germany leads the world in industrial development.'

"I find no such definite plans in the Democratic platform. Mr. Wilson is a most excellent man, but he seems to be a theorist with no definite plans to apply to the great problems of the country. It has been said that Mr. Roosevelt accomplished nothing during his terms of office, but he did settle the coal strike in 1902. He helped to bring peace between Japan and Russia. He settled the difficulties in the way of making the Panama Canal a practical thing. He developed a policy 'for the conservation and development of our national resources' and he was the first to grasp with the menace of the trusts which revealed to us that the Anti-Trust law in its present form is simply powerless. The Standard Oil trust has been dissolved according to law and now it is richer and the people are poorer. Are we going to have four years more of this same process under Mr. Wilson? Mr. Wilson has had two years of rule in this State. Eighty per cent. of these trusts were organized in our State. In 1911 there were 42 Democrats in the House and 18 Republicans. In the Senate 11 Republicans and 10 Democrats. Mr. Wilson could have used the laws on the statute books of New Jersey to carry out his promises; he never initiated any movement against any of these trusts, and I have no confidence that things will be changed in the slightest if he becomes President.

"Mr. Wilson charged that Mr. Roosevelt was backed by the Hallelujah Chorus of Trusts and especially by the Steel Trust, but when challenged by Mr. Roosevelt for proof, he was not able to give it, except to say that they were 'behind him in thought,'—whatever that means. The fact is according to a Wall Street news agency that out of the 23 directors of the Steel Trust not more than three would cast their votes for the Progressive candidate.

"Dr. Charles Eliot, recently president of Harvard University, said of Mr. Roosevelt that while president, he frequently 'took grave public action in disregard of the constitution' but when asked for specifications of it, he had nothing to reply. What right has any man, be he a president of a great college or an ordinary citizen to make any charge that he cannot back with ample evidence?

"Listen to these criticisms of the man who in years to come our grandchildren will regard as one of the great men of the nation. I have before me a series of venomous statements of his character and work gathered from one newspaper, during one month's issue. Mr. Roosevelt is a man of 'unparalelled viciousness and dishonesty,' whose appeals are 'dangerous and subversive,' and with these utterances there is presented no proof. Contrast the words with what the London Daily Chronicle says of him at the time he was felled by the bulet of a would-be assassin. 'He is one of the greatest personalities which this country can ill afford to lose, whose passing would have left the whole civilized world infinitely poorer.'

"I have frequently heard this criticism, that Roosevelt is a habitual drunkard. When I have asked for the evidence, the reply has been that 'somebody who ought to know had said so.' It is satisfactory for me to have the testimony of his physicians. Here is one of the bulletins issued by them when he lay in the hospital, 'We find him in magnificent condition, due to regular physical exercise, and his habitual abstinence from liquor and tobacco.'

"Those who have known Mr. Roosevelt for years have learned to respect his judgment, the quickness of his vision and his sterling integrity. Lyman Abbott has known him for thirteen years and he says of him that 'the key to Mr. Roosevelt's character is his vital interest in his fellow men, that his belief in the common people is not merely a political principle. It is a fundamental faith.'

"In this week's issue of Collier's Weekly, there is this beautiful portrait of his character, 'Theodore Roosevelt is a fairly close presentment of what this nation likes to call a man. No man could have risen so high in American politics and emerged as stainless from his early struggles.' Generations to come will quote some of the words of Theodore Roosevelt as ideals for moral and self sacrificing heroism. They will have framed on their walls that beautiful utterance of his taken from his speech in Carnegie Hall last March. Here is part of it. 'In the long fight for righteousness, the watchword for all of us is spend and be spent.' In the same vein he said in his Milwaukee speech, not knowing whether he was fatally wounded or not, 'It matters little to me, but it matters about the cause we might be for. If one soldier who happens to carry the flag is stricken, another will take it from his hands and carry it on. I don't care about the nearness of death. There are other things worse than death and we know what they are.' In the Providence of God we have been permitted to gain a vision of the heart of this great man. If we close our eyes in prejudice, it will be our fault."

HOPE CHAPEL TOOK ANOTHER

Chapelites Put up a Fast Game and Trounce Union High.

SNYDER THE STAR

Score 55-19—Union, Never in It—Large Crowd Witnesses Game—Seven Men Used by Hope Chapel—Result Never in Doubt.

Hope chapel took another easy basketball victory Saturday night at the hands of the Union High School team whom they trounced to the tune of 55 to 19. Although the score would indicate that the Union boys were a bit easy for the local quintet, the game was a scorcher all the way through, the losers playing for all that was in them and the Chapelites trying to run up a century score. The locals led all the way through with fair advantage over their opponents who were never considered as really dangerous. After lasting victory the previous week over Monroe Avenue the Fourth street boys simply could not drop a contest and went right into the fray from the start and never evidenced a letup at any time.

Allen Snyder was the life of the Hope chapel team at all times and was at his best Saturday night, "pulling" a number of shots that were eye-dazzling. He was all over the floor at the same time and his floor work was by far the feature of the contest. Snyder distinctly displayed that he is just as good as he was in his High School days and that he will be an important factor in local basketball this winter.

In order to give all the recruits a fair tryout, acting Captain Johnny Heron used seven men during the course of the game and all showed good advantage. Heron has so much promising material that he is up against the problem of picking a permanent team which will be of representative strength. The Heron brothers, as usual, were right on top of the heap when it came to caging baskets, Tommy getting seven and Johnny getting four. Doig was a power of strength at center for the Chapelites and besides holding his man to a single goal he got six himself.

For the visitors, J. Sinclair was the main show, scoring fourteeen of his team's points. Ryan also played a good game at right guard for the High School aggregation.

EUREKAS GET A GRIP ON SOCCER PENNANT

Plainfield Outplayed by Undefeated Kearney Eleven —Score 4 to 0.

The Plainfield Soccer team journeyed to Kearney Saturday and were defeated by the fast traveling Eureka aggregation by the score of 4-9, in an Inter-City League contest. By their win the Eurekas, who are leading in the race with seven victories, practically clinched the pennant and put the locals completely out of the running.

Although outweighing their opponents the locals were outclassed at every stage of the game and showed poor form. The playing of Hanlon and A. Whiston for the home team was brilliant.

The teams lined up as follows:

The final standing for the cup is as follows:

Clarence J. Hand, 18 5-6 points; H. H. Woodland, 14; Charles B. Morse, 14; J. V. Beekman, 13¾; Royle T. Phillips, 13½; H. L. Moodey, 9; W. V. Byard, 9; W. P. Taylor, 8½; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 7; Peter C. Sweeny, 6 5-6.

These scores for the President's and Oakmont cups were returned on Saturday:

Clarence J. Hand, 105, 21-84; Dr. H. K. Carroll, 95, 5-90; W. V. Byard, 114, 12-102.

SMALL FIELD OUT AT COUNTRY CLUB COURSE

The Princeton-Harvard football game on Saturday kept many golfers away from the Plainfield Country Club, as well as that of the Park Golf Club, and in consequence the field was small on the local links. At the Plainfield Country Club there was an 18 holes, medal play handicap. The best scores returned were as follows:

C. C. Riggs, 93, 16-77; L. S. Church, 89, 10-79; L. G. Carman, 93, 10-83. Others who played, but who did not post scores were: D. O. Rogers, H. D. Hibbard, H. F. Fox E. J. Patterson and S. H. Patterson.

The event at the club tomorrow will be a four-ball, 18 holes, medal play handicap, play for which will be both morning and afternoon.

GREAT GAME IN Y. M. C. A. GYM

Ajax Barely Nose Out a Victory Over Undefeated Crescent A. C.

SPECTACULAR SHOTS

Score 45-42—Game Always in Doubt Speedy Passing and Brilliant Shooting—Ajax Played Well in Game.

In one of the fastest and most exciting basketball games ever played on the Y. M. C. A. court, the Y. M. C. A. Ajax managed to nose out a 45 to 42 victory over the strong Crescent A. C. five, of Elizabeth, Saturday night. The visitors were a set of the beet players hat has ever been seen on a local court, and were classed by many as being equal, if not superior to the Rahway Cubs, who claim the championship. Both fives fought like demons for every score and the game see-sawed back and forth, neither team being ahead at any time by more than a trio of points. The Crescent players had the knack of handling the ball with one free arm and could hold the guard off at a safe distance with the otner, while they were either shooting or passing.

A constant din of noise was evident from the minute the first whistle was sounded by Referee Peacock, and it would be hard to state which aggregation received the lion's share. Saturday night's defeat was the first that they have encountered this year, and they have played many games. The man on the floor who did the most for his team, if any individual could be singled out, was Captain Brynarski, of the Ajax.

For the visiting team, the two forwards, Hill and Shearer, were the whole show. Between them, these two speedy men got thirty-six of their team's forty-two points.

Next Saturday the Ajax will line up against the Crimson Athletic Club, a quintet of former and present N. P. H. S. stars, who are sure to put up a good game. The line up of the Crimson Club for next Saturday night will probably be as follows: W. Taylor, C. Taylor, Walker, forwards; Dunning, centre; Burner, Townley, guards.

107 Yards Gained on Forward Passes Four Out of Six Attempts Prove Successful—Good Again the Star —Schenck Does Good Tackling.

Nothing daunted by the heralded reputation of their opponents and the season's string of defeats, the eleven gridiron representatives of Plainfield High School waded into the fray Saturday afternoon and turned out a defeat which was 33 parts whitewash, to the Roselle High School football team.

Good, as usual was the center of the Queen City machine, both on the defense and offience. The Roselle players experienced the same difficult in bringing his 180 pounds to earth as every other opponent has this year, and when he received the oval the wings of the opposition part like so much paper. His tackling was both hard and consisteent and on no occasion did a runner get by him. Green, although he was not as prominent Saturday as he has beeen in previous games, shared up the bulk of the P. H. S. attack with Good, and between them these two players did the greater part of the P. H. S. ground gaining through the line.

ANOTHER GOOD GAME FOR THE AJAX SATURDAY NIGHT

Next Saturday night the Y. M. C. A. Ajax will line up against the Crimson A. C. in a basketball game on the association court. The Crimson Club hails from the borough and consists of past and present N. P. H. S. stars and five unusually fast players have beeen signed up. The boroughites are composed of the same players who made up the N. P. H. S. team last year, four of whom are playing with the same school again this season.

William Peacock, the star guard of the Ajax team, will probably be back in the game next Saturday and will take the place of McNamee, who will be out of the game for some time to come with as prained ankle, sustained in Saturday night's game with the Crescent A. C.

SOMERVLLE COURSE DEFIES GOLF CRACKS

Alec Smith's 82 Best Card of Double Round on Links of New Club.

In order to give the new course of the Somerville Country Club a test, four well known professional golfers played a four ball match at thirty-six holes there Saturday, George Low, of Baltusrol, and William Shippen, the Shinnecock Indian, defeating Aleck Smith, of Wykagyl, and George Langlands, of the home club, by 4 up and 3 to play. Some of the tees had been set back, making the total distance about 6,500 yards, which, together with the hoft ground, made the going hard.

Low and Shippen took an early lead, winning the first and third holes and were able to stand 2 up at the turn. The inward journey was well fought, Low and Shippen taking the tenth and eleventh and their opponents the twelfth, fourteenth and fifteenth, and the first named pair reached the end of the round 1 up.

It was only through fine work on the part of Langlands that Low and Shippen did not win the 180 yard second hole in the afternoon. Langlands' drive landed in a trap in which there was water, and he laid his niblick shot dead to the pin, being thus enabled to halve the hole in 3. Smith and Langlands squared the match at the fourth, but Low and Shippen became 1 up again at the next and reached the turn by that margin. At the short seventh Shippen ran down a 24 foot putt for a 2. Low ran down one from the edge of the eleventh green and halved that hole, which is 647 yards long, in 6. He had another good one at the twelfth for another halve, but after that there was no holding Low and Shippen and they settled matters on the fifteenth green. The bye holes were played out. Smith had an 82 in the afternoon, which was the best individual score of the day. Shippen had 83.

DEXTER QUINTET WON FROM COMPANY M'S FIVE

Somerville, Nov. 4 (Special).—An enthusiastic crowd watched the Company M boys, of Somerville, go down to defeat before the strong Dexter five, of Perth Amboy, in a game of basketball at the armory at Somerville on Saturday night. The score was 30 to 23.

After the Company M cadets had suceeded in defeating the Flemington High School team by the score of 37 to 11, dancing was indulged in until the Perth Amboy team arrived.

Woodruff, Carnavale and Brokaw played a strong game, as usual, while Van Pelt and Wachter showed promise of making fast and aggressive players. The lineup was as follows:

Football will be the main attraction in this city as a holiday appetizer tomorrow afternoon. Both the Holy Cross and P. H. S. elevens have good games on tap and Parker Field and Cricket Field sidelines should be crowded.

At 3 o'clock the Plainfield High School warriors will line up against the Lawrenceville Academy eleveen, who put it over Mercersburg to the tune of 13 to 7 Saturday afternoon. Interest is rife over this contest as Jack Zerega, the former P. H. S. star, is playing quarterback for the visitors.

WATCHUNG HUNT CLUB TO HELP UPLIFT TURF

Members Provide Fund for Purchase of 18 Thoroughbred Runners.

A revival of thoroughbred racing in its connection with Hunt Club contests is promised for next season by the Watchung Hunt, the members of which have determined upon an uplift which should do wonders toward making for an improvemeent in the sport.

Eighteen members of the club have subscribed to a fund, the purpose of which is to secure eighteen thoroughbreds of all ages suitable for racing from three year olds up. These, after being bought, will be drawn for by lot, trained, and raced in a mile-and-a-quarter event at the Spring meeting of the Watchung Hunt next year.

It has been arranged to have the three-year-olds carry 145 pounds, four-year-olds 155 pounds, and five-yearolds and upward 158 pounds, with amateur jockeys only to be allowed to ride.

When affairs in connection with the race have been definitely settled upon, each member who has contributed to the fund will subscribe $50, the total amount of this sweepstakes to go to the owner of the winner of the race, who will afterward entertain the other owners and jockeys at dinner.

Watchung has given race meetings for fifteen years, and is said to have contributed more amateur race riders to the sport than any other club in the United States.

HUNT CLUB RUN.

With plenty of good fencing and heavy going over a blind country, the members of the Watchung Hunt Club enjoyed one of its most spirited runs of the season on Saturday. There were numerous falls, but no bad accidents. The hounds were very fast and it kept everyone busy following them. The riders met at the Oak Tree Schoolhouse. The hounds were thrown in on the Randolph farm and after crossing numerous farms, the first check was made near Metuchen on the Ellers farm.

The hounds were again taken up and the run continued, the whole distance being about sixteen miles. Twenty-five riders started, but only the following finished:

Rufus C. Finch, M. F. H.; H. A. Bourne, H. F. Hollis, J. Schuyler Casey, Mr. and Mrs. Brown Rolston, Miss Gertrude Noe, H. L. Finch, J. J. O'Donohue, R. H. Towner, F. D. French and Huntsman Harrison.

SCOOP'S FINGER DIDN'T HIT THE RIGHT NAME

HONEST AND UNAFRAID

Frank H. Sommer, a Progressive Republican of National Reputation, Tells Where the Truth Has Led Him.

Every Patriotic American Ought to Read and Thoroughly Consider These Words Before Casting His Vote.

(Speech delivered at Newark, N. J., Saturday evening, Nov. 2, 1912.)

"In order to avoid any misunderstanding, I want to say that I have the kindliest feelings for those with whom I was formerly associated in political work, although I may differ with them on the course to pursue in order to accomplish certain ends. I have been asked to say why I still stand in the ranks of the Republican party; why I have not deserted it and entered the ranks of a party newly created, and I have no hesitancy in answering.

"In the past I and my colleagues have said everywhere that we were making our fight within the ranks of the Republican party, and so far as I am concerned I will adhere to that policy. I do not retract from what I formerly advanced.

"I have been told that I should desert the old standard and rally 'round the new because of a fraud at Chicago. I have examined page by page and line by line, in an effort to ascertain the truth, the records of that convention, and I freely say that in all except two instances I would have cast my vote in the national committee and voted in the convention precisely as a majority of the members cast their votes.

"If the men in that convention are to be branded as thieves, I am ready likewise to accept the brand.

"Who makes the charge? Those who have calmly investigated the proceedings of the convention? No. They are those who went into the convention to accept its fortunes. I am never willing to accept the judgment of a defeated party, and I do not now. I find no reason why I should desert the standard I originally helped to raise and enlist under another.

"One of the reasons advanced to convince me that I should do so is because my party is boss-ridden. There is talk of Penrose and Lorimer. But the party threw them out.

"What of the new party? There is Flinn, of Pennsylvania, and young Quay, son of old Quay, of Pennsylvania, and young Hanna, son of old Hanna, of Ohio. They are not bosses or the descendants of bosses; but by some magic have become sanctified leaders.

"I reject as a reason for deserting my party the claim of fraud, and I next reject the claim that it is boss-ridden.

"When I came into the Republican party many years ago, I came into it because I believed in its governmental and economic principles.

"I believed in a strong central government—a strong Federal government—with the power to do those things that could better be done by a central government than by the States acting separately. At the same time I believed in the States being independent sovereignties, with the power to do those things they could do better separately. That is still the theory of the Republican party. Why should I go into a new party that advances another theory?

"This theory places the State subservient to the central government. I believe in the States as independent sovereignties. I am opposed to reducing the States to mere geographical areas under the Federal government. That is feudalistic, even if it is benevolent feudalism. I refuse to enter a party, the theory of governmental construction of which is opposed to that of the Republican party.

"The men who stood by me in the past are not in the newly-formed party. When I was advocating the abolition of child labor, shorter hours for working women, the regulation of places of amusement and the improvement of working and housing conditions for the poor, the leaders of the new party, with one or two exceptions, were not there. Some of the men who are now on the public platform crying for social justice were in opposition to me then.

"Who leads the movement now? Perkins. God save the mark! Perkins, a leader in the cause of social justice, when the most degraded conditions exist in the steel mills of the country. He tells you he is merely a director and not responsible. Who is responsible, the men or the foremen over them or the superintendents over the foremen? No. Then who but the board of directors? Hail him as a leader in the cause of social justice. No! Desert the banner I helped to raise and follow that raised by him? No!

"It has been said that the Republican party has put no heart into the laws; no heart into the execution of the laws. That is untrue.

"William Howard Taft has put heart into the laws.

"He created a bureau of child labor. He created a bureau of mines to investigate the dangerous conditions in the mines. He aided in the enactment of legislation that has put an end to white slavery under the flag that floats over the nation for all time, and he has enforced these laws.

"They talk of trusts. What of it? Let's be fair, absolutely fair. They say they've grown up from practises that destroy fair competition. That's true. The Republicans directed the passage of the Sherman anti-trust act. It was in force during the administration of the leader of the new party. Yet the number of trusts was permitted to increase. He did nothing effective. On the other hand, there was at least partial official sanction of the consolidation of the Tennessee Iron and Coal Company with the United States Steel Company, an action which today everyone regrets.

"Now, the Republican party stands pledged to the proposition that the era of competition is not at an end. It says there shall be opportunity for free and unlimited play of competition. It advocates a trade commission to lay before Congress plans for action to regulate trusts so as to insure competition.

"The new party advocates a Federal commission similar in power to the Interstate Commerce Commission. The latter body regulates interstate railroad traffic and has the power to fix rates. Therefore, it is fair to infer that the proposed new commission would have the power to fix the prices of commodities that enter into interstate commerce. That is an adle dream. The idea of giving a commission of five or ten men supervision over all industries and the power to fix the price of bread, the price of the wheat that goes into the bread, the price of meat, of potatoes, of lumber, steel and brick.

"I am now and to the end shall be opposed to the creation of such a commission, for back of it lies the licensing of monopoly. It means nothing else. The standard-bearer of the new party perceived that this would be a legitimate criticism of his proposed new commission, and has said that he never contemplated that it should have the power to fix prices. Whenever you scan what he says he did contemplate you will find that it was precisely the same as what is proposed in the Republican platform—precisely the same as what is advocated by the man to whom I owe more than to any other in public life—'Battling Bob' La Follette, of Wisconsin. It is idle to talk of regulated monopoly. Whenever the leaders of the new party seek to take a middle ground they stand on a thin coating—a coating so thin that their followers eventually will break through it to their disaster.

"The members of this newly-formed party continually hark back to the Sermon on the Mount. Let me tell you that the Sermon on the Mount is not the property of the new party. It is the property of all of us. Neither is the Son of Jehovah the property of the new party and neither is His running for office on the Progressive ticket.

"Something that I resent in this new movement is the claim that it is lifting the American workman up, up, up out of the grime. The American workman is not down in the grime. He needs no political party to raise him up, for he is raising himself up.

"I am for social justice, as I always have been. I am for every plank of the Progressive platform that stands for social justice, but I resent the insertion of terms that appeal to the emotions. That is the height of demagogery. The appeal should be made to men as men.

"I've made my answer. Sometimes I wish I were a candidate. I'm not. I may be again. Some people are urging me to make a fight on the old lines once more. Here's the question propounded and here's the answer given.

"It is up to you to go to the polls next Tuesday and ask yourselves if the reasons advanced by its opponents justify you in deserting the standard of the Republican party. When you desert the party you desert its governmental and economic principles. Such action eventually will become a burden on those who have deserted. There can be but one result and that is to turn over the nation and State to those who favor opposite policies.

"I end as I began. I am a Republican and I am making the fight within the ranks of the Republican party, and when the time comes, if it ever comes, that I decide to leave the ranks it will be for reasons more sound than any advanced so far for making me haul down my party's flag."

IN RE PAR. 717 U. S. TARIFF ACT

BY

H. E. NEEDHAM

Former Mayor of North Plainfield

Thinking people generally have been convinced that the high rates of duty imposed by the present Customs Tariff Act are mainly the cause of the high cost of living, and have fostered the growth of powerful grasping trusts. Few if any have comprehended all the complexities of the 700 or more paragraphs that make up the Tariff bill, but experience, that best of teachers, has shown the urgent necessity for revision and that downward.

The President's use of veto power to defeat measures intended to give some relief to the country is so recent an act and so well known that repetition is unnecessary.

But even more objectionable than schedules assessing excessive rates of duty on imported goods is paragraph 717 of said act, that provides for admission free of duty of Artistic Antiquities produced over 100 years, and of Paintings, Engravings, various manufactures of Bronze, Stone, Terra Cotta, Wood and other materials, of an existence more than twenty years.

Under this paragraph during the nine months ending March 31 last, twenty-eight million dollars worth of goods, over thirty-seven million dollars a year, came into the country without payment of a cent of duty.

It is well to note that works of art imported for presentation to national institutions, or by societies incorporated, are provided for under other section and are not included in above figures, and no criticism is made of the provisions to encourage importations for public exhibition, or for educational purposes.

Under the provisions of paragraph 717 are imported in addition to Paintings and Sculptures, Tables, Chairs, Mirrors, Clocks, Candelabra and a long list of articles of luxury to the enormous amount mentioned previously—used in furnishing of palatial residences by those abundantly able to bear a share in the expenses of the government, while those less able are heavily taxed either directly or indirectly for about everything they possess.

In brief articles of necessity feel the effect of the existing high rates of duty, while costly articles of luxury are free of duty.

U. S. Senator O'Gorman has not overstated the facts when he said, "The present tariff imposes a tax of one hundred and fifteen dollars annually on every family in the country."

Who had Par. 717 made part of the revenue laws? To answer this is to ask who receives the benefit. It is only the comparatively few who have the means to buy these expensive articles.

A Congress, Republican in both houses, put this inequitable provision in the act of 1909, and it was a Republican President that at five minutes after five o'clock p. m., of the fifth day of August, approved and signed the bill.

Unless all indications fail on the fifth day of November next the President and the stand-patters in Congress will receive a fitting rebuke for their betrayal of true Republican principles.

The belief of the party in Abraham Lincoln's day of a government of the people, by the people, for the people, has been changed to a government of the people by the trusts, for the benefit of the billionaire.

The following words of President Taft at Cincinnati, after his election, were prophetic: "Unless we act in accordance with our promises * * * we shall be made accountable to the American peaple, and suffer such consequences as failure to keep faith has always been visited with."

For more than 50 years the writer has been a supporter of Republican measures and voted regularly for the candidates of the Republican party—but now intends with a host of others of like past affiliations for the first time to aid in the defeat of the party masquerading under a name of glorious memories.

Between Ourselves

Do you enjoy good vocal music?

The Phoenix Singing Society, the famous Newark organization which took a prize at the last National Saengerfest in Philadelphia, will appear forty-five strong in the Bamberger Auditorium next Wednesday at 2 o'clock sharp. This concert will be worth listening to.

A portion of the program will be in German, thus giving you an opportunity to hear the songs you know so well sung in the language of the Fatherland.

This is one of the most unique and pretentious programs ever presented in a department store, and one that will doubtless bring forth a great crowd.

Our Auditorium only holds about five hundred, so it might be well to get here early.

Remember, Wednesday afternoon on the stroke of two—Auditorium, Sixth Floor.

You are cordially invited.

Women's 59.50 to 125.00 Coats, 49.50

(Third Floor—Market Street)

This is an important sale. It is a remarkable sale. In the face of advancing fur prices, we make the above-named offer. And women with good business judgment who want fur coats of a high character are showing their appreciation of such an event by taking advantage of it. The coats are all 52 and 54 inches long. The collection consists of black Russian ponyskin, caracul, marmot, and coats lined with taupe squirrel. Not a one is worth less than 59.50. The majority would be considered excellent values at 79.50 and 89.50, while others are worth up to 125.00. Every one is dependable. The genuineness and quality of each skin is guaranteed by Bamberger's. You need not be told that the style and smartness is characteristic only of coats of the better grade. If you want a beautiful fur coat at a very low price—a sacrifice price—attend this sale. It was unlucky for a reliable furrier that certain business conditions caused the furs to be sold to us at a big loss, but it is lucky for you. It is not likely that such a sale will occur again. Now is the golden opportunity. Women's 59.50 to 125.00 fur coats, only..... 49.50

Select a Player-Piano Tuesday

And Let That Player Be a Behning

Come to the Bamberger store Tuesday and allow us to demonstrate the wonderfully human-like touch and control of the Behning player-piano. Come and observe the purity of its tone and the superiority and exquisiteness of its construction. The Behning is the queen of player-pianos. By means of the Behning you may enjoy the masterpieces of the world's greatest composers as rendered by the world's greatest artists. Music that would cost you hundreds of dollars to hear in concerts is now to be had at a nominal cost in the privacy of your home day after day, night after night, as often as your heart desires. The mother, father and children, down to the little tot of 6 or 7 summers, can render for his or herself the sweetest music of the ages. One of the most remarkable features of the Behning player-piano is its wonderful simplicity. A child of 6 can be taught to play it in a few minutes. The player mechanism is perfected to a degree that makes it practically impossible to get out of order. Prices, 750.00 and up. We are also agents for the Packard, Estey, Lester, Milton and Schindler & Son player-pianos, all of which are instruments of renown. Do not imagine that these delightful entertainers are priced beyond your means. Our extended payment plan brings any one of the instruments within easy reach of all. A Money-Saving Boiler Square Pot Boilers operate economically. Their fuel consumption is comparatively small, their heat-delivering power comparatively large. The reason of this superior economic efficiency lies in the firepot. This is square at bottom and round at top—a form that gives greatly increased radiating surface over the ordinary round pot. Here is a sectional view of the economical Square Pot Boilers.
Note the nearness of interior water-holding sections to fire—upward trend of surfaces and capacious feed door and square firepot.
This arrangement gives free steaming and develops high efficiency on little fuel.
Call on our nearest dealer and see the famous Square Pot Boilers.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

WHEN MAKING WAFFLES.

MOST cooks have struggled with the annoyance of having waffles stick to the irons. This may be remedied by treating the irons with salt. After these have been used and are washed and dried rub them with dry salt. Then set them on the back of the range after the salt has been brushed out. Let them stand there for a couple of hours.

The irons should be set on the range or in the oven to heat for about a half hour before they are to be used. After they are heated they should be greased thoroughly. A bit of fat pork wrapped in a rag or butter may be used for this purpose.

Tempting Waffles.

Sweet Milk Waffles.—Take two eggs, a pint of flour, one and a half cupfuls of milk, butter walnut size, a dash of salt and a small teaspoonful of baking powder. Mix the salt and baking powder into the flour, rub the butter in evenly, then the beaten eggs and stir all into the milk. Have the waffle irons hot and well greased, pour on the batter and bake quickly.

Old Fashioned Waffles.—Take a pint of flour and sift a couple of times with a teaspoonful of baking powder and an even teaspoonful of salt. Beat the yolks of three fresh eggs smooth, stir these into two cupfuls of sweet unskimmed milk and add two tablespoonfuls of melted butter or other shortening. Then with long, swift strokes mix in the flour alternately with the whites of the eggs whipped to a standing froth. As soon as the waffle batter is thoroughly mixed, drop by large spoonfuls into the heated and greased irons.

Novel Recipes.

Lemon Waffles.—Take one quart of flour, one-half a teaspoonful of salt, three tablespoonfuls of sugar, two large teaspoonfuls of baking powder, two tablespoonfuls of lard, rind of one lemon, grated; one teaspoonful extract cinnamon, four eggs and one pint thin cream. Sift together flour, sugar, salt and powder; rub in lard cold; add beaten eggs, lemon rind, extract and milk. Mix into smooth, rather thick batter. Bake in hot waffle iron and serve with sugar flavored with lemon.

Rice Waffles.—Take two eggs and beat the whites and yolks separately. Stir one cupful of flour with a teaspoonful of baking powder and a level teaspoonful of salt. Mix the beaten eggs with a pint of milk. Add a teaspoonful of sugar and a cupful of cold boiled rice. Beat for a minute before adding, alternately and quickly, the whites beaten stiff and the prepared flour. Lastly beat in with deep and long upward strokes a large tablespoonful of melted butter.

VOGUE POINTS.

Neutral Tones Not In the Picture For Gowns and Hats.

Soft neutral tones are most in favor, even for novelty tailored suits, the color being given by inlays of bright colored cloth or embroidery.

There is a tendency toward smaller hats, but the most important thing is not the size, but that it should be simple and becoming. The most successful hats are always simple.

Collars of rough material on plain are being much used for boys' suits this season, and the model pictured shows a collar of ratine on French serge, the color being nut brown. Both the material and style are very good.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for boys from two to six years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7472, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

MISS MARY L. READ.

She Is the Director of the School of Mothercraft In New York.

The School of Mothercraft in New York, providing information and practical instruction in the home care and training of children, in eugenics and in the problems of the family, is the only institution of its kind in the United States and probably in the world. Miss Mary L. Read is the director.

Class work in the school is arranged for young women, mothers, mothers' assistants, day nursery workers, trained nurses and kindergartners. Lectures and short practical courses are provided in the following subjects: Physical care of infants and young children, child hygiene and physical development, dietetics, children's cooking, laundry, sewing, home care of sick children, emergencies, hygiene for mothers, child psychology and mental hygiene, principles of child training and of the kindergarten, children's stories, games, songs, handwork, nature study, the family, its biology, psychology, sociology, ethics.

MISS MARY L. READ.

Miss Read started her study of mothercraft about eight years ago. She is a graduate of Clark university and has taken two postgraduate courses in other colleges.

MISS THEORA CARTER.

She Is Founder and President of the Society of Good Cheer.

Miss Theora Carter, a native of Seattle and a graduate of the University of Washington, is doing a great and noble work in New York city. She is furnishing the poor children with toothbrushes and instructing them in the use of the article.

Figures collected by Miss Carter show that 92 per cent of the children of the United States are not taught to care for their teeth, and she has undertaken to fight this evil, with its consequent diseases. She had founded the Society of Good Cheer, which is to further the work she has undertaken and which is to have branches in the larger cities of the country.

Miss Carter had some remarkable experiences when she first started out to distribute the toothbrushes. Some of the children thought the little articles were shoe brushes, others mistook them for scrubbing brushes, indicating that they never had known the use of a toothbrush. Her work has attracted attention in charitable circles, and her society is fast gaining in membership. She has been elected its president.

JAMES B. FURBER

CANDIDATE FOR ASSEMBLY
ON THE
NATIONAL PROGRESSIVE TICKET

Mr. Furber was a PROGRESSIVE

When he was elected Mayor of Rahway on the Republican ticket and insisted that the campaign pledges of the party should be fulfilled—

When he insisted that the city of Rahway should receive interest on its bank balances—

When he objected to the discharge of competent officials because of their political beliefs—

When he went as a Colby delegate to the County Convention during the "New Idea" movement—

When he preferred charges of malfeasance in office against a member of Common Council of his own party—

When he urged and secured for Rahway a "Sane Fourth" ordinance—

When he refused to vote for Taft in 1908 because of the character of the men with whom Taft had surrounded himself—

When he announced himself unreservedly in favor of woman suffrage—

When he declared unequivocally for a third party immediately following the Republican presidential convention where the nomination was stolen for Taft—

When he accepted and endorsed the National and State platform of the Progressive party and pledged himself if elected to the Assembly, to further every cause before the Legislature in which human rights are recognized as being above, beyond and superior to property or business rights—

He Pledges Himself if Elected

To favor payment of all election expenses by the State in order that all men may have equal chance to secure office—

To favor the Missouri plan of gradual tax reduction on personal property and improvements until taxes are assessed exclusively upon land values. This will mean a fair distribution of the unearned increment—

To favor the requirement of medical certificate from both contracting parties before marriage licenses are issued—

To favor remission of poll tax to all whom the records show to have voted at the last preceding election, to secure the full vote and thus an expression of the people's will—

To favor the use of school houses for social centers and all school auditoriums for public meetings of an educational nature, and especially for political meetings.

To favor and urge the election of Everett Colby to the United States Senate.

Mr. TAXPAYER:

A municipality is a corporation in which each taxpayer is a stockholder. A strictly business corporation shows no personal partiality—it employs men who best do their duty. And if experience proves that an employee is faithful and efficient, such is the final test.

The Mayor and Common Council, on November 27, 1907, appointed me as your Tax Collector to serve until the next election. In November, 1908, the taxpayers, having a vote, elected me to fill out the unexpired term. Again in November, 1909, they chose me for a full term until January 1, 1913. Now, I have been honored by the Republican party in my nomination for another term.

"Public office is a public trust" and without any spirit of vanity I refer you to my record as one of your servants. I have conscientiously tried to do my duty and I have always been at the command of the taxpayer in my line of duty. As to this, I ask you, even if a taxpayer without a vote, to bear testimony.

If you consider me worthy of the trust reposed in me, if you believe I have been a faithful public servant of a public corporation, I take this means to solicit your support at the poll on Tuesday, November 5, at the hours between 6 a. m. and 7 p. m.

WILSON ELECTED PRESIDENT

STEWART SWEEPS CITY FOR THE MAYORLTY

Edgar and Gunnison, Progressives, Calkins and Blatz, Republicans, Elected Councilmen -- Wilson, Who Carried This Stronghold For Governor, Follows up His Victory by Carrying it as Presidential Candidate.

Percy H. Stewart, Democrat, has been elected mayor of Plainfield. His plurality over W. R. Codington, Republican, is 505. George W. V. Moy, the present incumbent, running on the Progressive ticket, was third in the race.

All but four of the eighteen districts were swept by Stewart. Codington won out in three districts, the first, second and fourth districts of the First ward, and Moy in one district, the third of the First ward.

Stewart's total vote was 1,712 and the combined vote of all the mayoralty nominees totalled 3,648. Moy received 729 and Codington 1,207.

For the Common Council, A. D. Edgar and S. E. Gunnison, Progressives, and Leighton Calkins and Francis J. Blatz, Republicans, won in the four respective wards. Edgar and Gunnison were strongly supported by the Republicans. Gunnison defeated his Republican rival, Cornelius vanHerwerden, in the Second ward, by three votes.

William F. Arnold, Republican, was re-elected City Treasurer by a flattering majority, his majority being 1,561, as was W. R. Townsend, Republican, Tax Collector, whose majority was 1,486.

The tabulated vote for local nominees will be found elsewhere in this issue.

When the returns, although incomplete, indicated the election of Mr. Stewart, W. R. Codington, the defeated Republican candidate, had the following to say:

"I am satisfied that the citizens of Plainfield want Percy H. Stewart for their next Mayor. I made a clean fight, but he won out. Mr. Stewart, I feel sure, will make a good executive and serve the people well. I will probably make an extended statement later."

Mayor Moy, when told by a reporter of the Daily Press that Mr. Stewart was the successful candidate for the city's chief executive said, "I have no statement to make just now, but I congratulate Mr. Stewart on his election."

SMITH SEES SIGNS OF VICTORY--NEXT TIME

Frank H. Smith, chairman of the Union County Republican Committee, said early today: "The Republican party of Union county presented to the voters as good a set of candidates as was ever presented to a people for their suffrage. They were men of experience, ability and standing in the county. The issues of the campaign were presented in a fair and dignified manner, every effort was made to conduct a clean campaign, but the people did not see fit to elect our candidates.

"We feel that everything was done that could be done and we abide by the judgment of the people. The Republican party is not dead and we shall continue to work for those principles upon which it was founded. I believe the figures show that a majority of the people are still Republican and will in the future support the party under whose guidance this country has prospered beyond the dreams of man.

"Toward the successful candidates I have only the kindest of feelings, and congratulate them on the victory. Nothing more can be said, but I desire to thank personally and on behalf of the Union County Republican Committee those loyal Republicans who so ably and willingly assisted us in the campaign."

RECORD SNOWED UNDER.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Hoboken, Nov. 6.—George L. Record, noted Progressive leader, was snowed under in his attempt to secure election to Congress from the Twelfth District. Congressman Hamill, Dem., defeated him 2 to 1. The Democrats carried Hudson county by 28,000 over Roosevelt, with Taft third.

SULZER SWEEPS EMPIRE STATE

New York, Nov. 6.—Wilson has carried New York State by plurality of anywhere from 150,000 to 200,000. For the first time in years a Democratic presidential candidate has come down to the Harlam River with a plurality to add to his own plurality in the greater city of New York. At this hour Wilson and Marshall seem to have outrun both Roosevelt and Taft in the Republican strongholds beyond the Northern barriers of the Democratic city of New York.

But the Democrats this year have seemed to stop at nothing. Congressman William Sulzer has knocked the spots out of both Oscar Straus, his Progressive opponent and Jeb E. Hedges, the Republican standard bearer. Mr. Sulzer has a plurality of something like 140,000. Wilson has probably carried the greater city by not far from 125,000.

New York, in addition to choosing Democratic candidates in the State and nation, has put the Democrats in power, apparently, in both branches of the State Legislature. The lower branch of the State Legislature will be almost 2 to 1 Democratic.

TUTTLE SAYS VICTORY IS DEMOCRACY'S JUST REWARD

The following statement was made early today by Congressman William E. Tuttle, Jr., of Westfield, who won re-election in the Fifth district, defeating William N. Runyon, Republican:

"The result is mighty gratifying to us Democrats who have fought so many losing battles. But it comes to us because of the great record which our party has made in State and Nation. It is a great tribute to New Jersey's Governor, and Union county Democrats particularly take pride in the splendid majority which has ben rolled up here. I personally warmly appreciate the support which I have received, and I sincerely hope that the people of this district will not have cause to regret today's action. I also want to say that I appreciate the fairness and courtesy of the press of this county. I cannot remember a campaign when men and issues were more fairly discussed."

UNION CO. IS DEMOCRATIC

The Republican party suffered a crushing defeat in Union county, its time honored stronghold, according to latest advices. Though the returns are very incomplete it is conceded generally that not a single candidate on the Republican ticket was saved from the wreck. Woodrow Wilson carried the county for the Presidential choice.

At 6:30 o'clock this morning, it was certain that George T. Parrott, who has held the office of surrogate "since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary" was buried under the avalanche and that Kelly, his Democratic opponent had triumphed.

All the Democratic freeholders, seven in all, have won it appears. Among them are Thomas J. Hughe and James J. McCann, both of Plainfield. The G. O. P. Assembly nominees are also lost, according to the best information. Among them is Assemblyman George L. Babcock, of this city.

Congressman William E. Tuttle, of Westfield, won out in Union despite the assurance of the G. O. P. leaders that William N. Runyon of this city had a sure thing of it.

TAGGART SATISFIED WITH SHOWING OF PROGRESSIVES

Frederick S. Taggart, of Westfield, Progressive candidate for Surrogate, made the following statement:

"The Progressives of Union county are not discouraged by the result. For a new party we have done well Personally I am grateful for the support given me, and particularly do I wish to thank the Plainfield Daily Press for its cordial endorsement of my candidacy. The fight for Progressive principles has only begun."

PENNSYLVANIA FLIRTING WITH WILSON AND T. R.

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—At midnight the Pennsylvania electoral vote appeared to be swinging from the Roosevelt into the Wilson column.

With a little less than half of Philadelphia to hear from the Bull Moose seems to be losing ground and he may not lead Wilson by more than 8,000 in the city with President Taft leading his opponents by about 16,000 votes.

Taking these figures as a criterion, Governor Wilson will have to overcome a lead of about 28,000 votes in the State outside of Pittsburg and Philadelphia. He may be able to do it, but the count will be very close.

The Democratic State Committee which claimed the State by 60,000 for Governor Wilson, has revised its figures and now thinks the Democratic candidate may win by 20,000.

SCHOOLHOUSE FOR MEETINGS

At a meeting of the Plainfield Board of Education Monday night, it was decided to grant the request of the West End Civic Association to use the auditorium of Washington School for their monthly meetings. This is the first time that permission has been given to any organization to use the school buildings for a meeting place.

NEW JERSEY FOR WILSON

Woodrow Wilson carried his home State by from 25,000 to 30,000, and possibly more. That much is known, but the details of the victory will be many hours later in coming.

Never before in the history of the State has there been such trouble in compiling election returns. The big ballots, and heavy voting made it impossible for the election officers to complete their work and report to the county clerk in many instances before daylight this morning.

Wilson has carried most of the counties, and what he did not get are reported to have gone to Roosevelt. The Colonel's most notable victory was in Essex county which he carried by about 2,500 plurality over Wilson.

The Governor got Hudson by 28,300.

So far as the indefinite returns could be compiled Wilson has carried Burlington by 1,000; Hudson, 28,300; Hunterdon, 2,000; Mercer, 1,000; Middlesex, 2,000; Monmouth, 2,000; Sussex, 1,000, and Warren, 1,500.

Roosevelt apparently has Passaic county by 3,000; Essex by 2,500, Ocean and Camden by unknown pluralities, with the result in Atlantic, Bergen, Cape May, Cumberland, Gloucester, Morris, Salem and Somerset in doubt, but probably all for Wilson.

WILLIAM HUGHES WILL BE NEXT U. S. SENATOR

How Legislature Which Makes Choice Will Be Constituted.

Trenton, Nov. 5.—William Hughes will be the next United States Senator from New Jersey, to be chosen by the Legislature which meets the second Tuesday in January at the State House. That was determined by the selection of a Senate and House of Assembly which will be Democratic on joint ballot having a clear majority of the total eighty-one votes in the legislative body.

The Legislature will be divided as follows.

	Senate.	House.
Republican	8	8—16
Democrats	13	52—65

Democratic majority on joint ballot 49.

This means also the election of a Democratic State Treasurer to succeed Daniel S. Voorhees.

STATE SENATE IN CONTROL OF DEMOCRATS

Fight for Upper House Was Bitter Because of the Acting Governorship.

Trenton, Nov. 6.—Every State Senator chosen yesterday was a Democrat, so that party will have a big majority in the Senate, which means the election of a Democratic Governor to succeed Wilson on March 4, next.

The Senate will consist of 8 Republicans and 13 Democrats.

This is the first time since 1893 that the State Senate has been Democratic. At that time there were sixteen Democrats in that body.

Because of the entering into the

CONGRESS DEMOCRATIC

Washington, November 6.—At one o'clock this morning the new congress was still Democratic in both branches. The Senate will probably stand 52 Democrats and 44 Republicans and the House 292 Democrats, 129 Republicans and 14 Progressives.

Uncle Joe Cannon is among the defeated, but Col. Roosevelt's son-in-law, Nicholas Longworth, of Cincinnati, slipped in by a narrow margin as did also Sereno E. Payne, of New York, at present chairman of the minority of the House, and John Weeks, of Massachusetts.

The Democratic gain in Massachusetts was not anywhere nearly as great as the enthusiastic Bay State leaders imagined. In Ohio the indications are that the Republicans will have only two or three congressmen, while in the present House they have five. There will be 18 Republican congressmen from New York as against 14 in the present House.

In the Senate the Progressive leaders were smitten hip and thigh. George W. Norris and Joseph M. Dixon, the National Progressive chairman, are surely defeated as are probably Senator Jonathan Bourne, of Oregon, and William S. Kenyon, of Ohio. Governor Stubbs, of Kansas, will probably fail on the election.

In the Senate the Democratic gains are as follows:

One in Colorado, one in Iowa, where Senator Kenyon retires; one in Kansas, where Senator Curtis retires; one in Montana, where Senator Dixon goes out; one in Nebraska to take the place of Senator Norris Brown; one in New Jersey to take the place of Senator Briggs and probably one in Nevada, taking the place of Senator Bassel.

In Massachusetts it is expected that in joint ballot for United States Senator the Legislature will be very close. Of sixty candidates for the House of Representatives, so far known to be elected 32 are Republicans, 27 are Democrats, three are Progressives and one is a Socialist. This is a gain for the Democrats and there is a possibility that the Progressives may hold the balance of power.

The terms of thirty-one United States senators will expire in March 3, 1913. In addition to most of these, four seats now vacant were involved in today's elections. Fourteen were Democrats and 21 Republicans.

The Democrats, whose present terms will expire next March are A. C. Bacon, of Georgia; Joseph W. Bailey, of Texas; John H. Bankhead, of Alabama; Jeff Davis, of Arkansas; M. J. Foster, of Louisiana; Obadiah Gardner, of Maine; Thomas F. Martin, of Virginia; Robert M. Owen, of Oklahoma; Thomas H. Paynter, of Kentucky; Le Roy Percy, of Mississippi; F. M. Simmons, of North Carolina; Benjamin R. Hillman, of South Carolina, and Clarence W. Watson, of West Virginia.

The Republicans whose terms end next March are William E. Borah, of Idaho; Jonathan Bourne, Jr., of Oregon; Frank O. Briggs, of New Jersey; Norris Brown, of Nebraska; Henry E. Burnham, of New Hampshire; W. Murray Crane, of Massachusetts; Shelby M. Cullom, of Illinois; Charles Curtis, of Kansas; Joseph M. Dixon, of Montana; Robert J. Gamble, of South Dakota; Simon Guggenheim

TREMENDOUS PLURALITY FOR JERSEY'S GOVERNOR

Rock-Ribbed Republican States Carried by Democratic Nominee--The Newly-Born Progressive Party, Led by Col. Roosevelt, Annihilates the Stand-Patters Who Forced Taft on the G. O. P. Ticket.

Woodrow Wilson has been elected President of the United States.

Indications are that the Democratic majority in the electoral college will be overwhelming.

Governor Wilson has carried Maine, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New ersey, Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Maryland, Tennessee and Nebraska and Oregon, all Southern States and has probably carried Missouri, Iowa and the Dakotas.

Ex-President Roosevelt has carried Illinois, while the rockribbed Republican State of Vermont is in doubt between Taft and Roosevelt. That ancient bulwark of Republicanism, Pennsylvania, is in doubt between Wilson and Roosevelt. Michigan, equally strong in past years in its allegiance to the Republican party, has probably been carried by Roosevelt.

In 1908 Taft carried Illinois by 179,122, Indiana by 10,731, Maine by 31,584, Maryland by 805, Massachusetts by 110,425, Connecticut by 44,560, Michigan by 159,809, Missouri by 629, New Jersey by 82,760, New York by 202,602, Ohio by 65,591, Oregon by 24,481, Pennsylvania by 297,001, South Dakota by 27,270, North Dakota by 24,795, Iowa by 74,439, Wisconsin by 81,115 and Vermont by 28,056.

The Democratic victory in many of these rock-ribbed Republican States was due entirely to the split in the Republican party and to the candidacy of former President Roosevelt. In most of these States Roosevelt got the labor vote and the radical Republican vote which has been dissatisfied with the Taft administration and the Payne-Aldrich tariff law. In other words Col. Roosevelt has practically annihilated the Republican party in the States mentioned.

In all States where Roosevelt and the Progressive candidates for governor have run second to Wilson and the Democratic candidates for governor the Progressive party will have control of the election machinery over the Republicans beginning with next year's municipal campaigns. This control will extend to 1914 in the State elections for governor and members of the legislature.

In New York State, in all counties where Oscar S. Straus, the Progressive candidate for governor has run second to William Sulzer, the Progressives will have control of the election machinery over the Republicans beginning with next year's municipal elections. This control will also extend, according to law, to 1914, when a governor is to be elected and a legislature is also to be elected which will elect a United States Senator to succeed Elihu Root.

Wilson carries New York State by approximately 150,000 and Sulzer wins by nearly the same plurality.

Wilson carried the city of New York by a plurality of about 125,000 over Roosevelt, Taft running third. Sulzer's plurality is about 110,000 over Straus. Wilson and Sulzer carried all the boroughs. The combined vote of Rooseveelt and Taft in New York City approximately equals that of Wilson, indicating that Roosevelt drew many Democratic votes.

Maine has gone for Governor Wilson, his plurality, from indications at 11 o'clock being about three thousand over Roosevelt and 20,000 over Taft.

Connecticut went Democratic giving Wilson a plurality, re-electing Governor Baldwin and a majority of both branches of the legislature and giving the Democrats all five congressmen.

Pennsylvania with its thirty-eight electoral votes appeared at a late hour to have gone for Roosevelt. The Republican State ticket and most of the Progressive and Republican congressmen were elected.

Massachusetts gave Governor Wilson a substantial plurality with Taft second and re-elected Governor Foss. The Democrats made slight gains in the legislature.

The result in Rhode Island was not known, none of the six cities of the State having tabulated their returns.

New Hampshire was carried by Taft with the third party ticket far behind.

Delaware went for Wilson and elected its one congressman, a Democrat, but at midnight it looked as if Miller for governor and the Republican State ticket had won.

Vermont at midnight showed a close race between Taft and Roosevelt with Wilson far behind.

New Mexico which the Progressives thought was sure for Roosevelt has been carried by Wilson. California is in doubt but probably for Roosevelt.

Wilson carried Oregon by perhaps as much as 65,000 over Roosevelt and Taft. Taft was a poor third.

Taft may get the State of Washington where the polls closed at 11 p. m., New York time. Wilson was close to the president in the early count.

The Democrats won in Montana probably by 4,000 to 6,000. The Democrats have probably elected Stewart governor, but not with Wilson's plurality.

Arizona went for Wilson and Roosevelt was second. Colorado early in the count gave Wilson a slight lead over Roosevelt, which was maintained for several hours. In Idaho, which Taft appears to have carried. Progressives had Senator Borah's help and polled a good vote in spite of the fact that the name of Rooseevlt electors had to be written in pencil on the ballots.

New Mexico seems to have given Taft a plurality over both Wilson and Roosevelt.

Wilson has carried California by a majority of 30,000 to 40,000 figures percentages from partial returns. Los Angeles went heavily for Roosevelt.

Taft won in Utah by about 3,000 running behind the Republican State ticket.

But in spite of the lack of returns from the plains and mountain states of the west, there is no doubt that Woodrow Wilson with the solid south and almost the solid east behind him, will not only have an enormous plurality of the popular vote, but will have four hundred of the 531 votes in the electoral college.

As for Congress, it may be tomorrow night before it will be known how the Senate will stand. But it is sure that the House will be overwhelmingly Democratic. The Democrats would have a plurality of at least 165 in the House.

The Progressives may have elected 14 congressmen and it is certain that Victor Berger, the Socialist, has been defeated in his Wisconsin district. The Socialists also claim the three congressmen from Allegheny county, Pennsylvania, and they insist as stoutly as Socialists can insist that they will get the electoral vote of Nevada. At this hour no returns have been received from Nevada to indicate how the election has gone in that State.

"Uncle" Joe Cannon, who has represented the 18th Illinois District since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary, has gone down to defeat.

DEAN GESSNER'S LIFE ENDS AT EIGHTY-THREE

Distinguished Catholic Priest Succumbs to Bright's Disease in Elizabeth.

The very Reverend Dean Gessner, rector of Saint Patrick's church, Elizabeth, the oldest and most distinguished priest in Union county, died at the Parish House last night, after a three months illness of Bright's disease. He was 83 years old.

The late Dean Gessner was born in Bavaria in 1829, and came to this country when twenty years old.

He was graduated from Mt. St. Mary's College, Maryland, and after ordination went aboard for study at the University of Munich. Before coming to Elizabeth he was for ten years in charge of a Parish in Cape May county.

The late Dean Gessner built the St. Patrick's Parish, costing $500,000, and regarded as the finest building of its kind in the State. Through his labors, also, a High School, the Y. M. C. L. building and a convent were erected in his home city. He collected large funds for the building of a Catholic Orphan Asylum in the west. Thousands of children were baptized by him.

LIVELY WATCHUNG HUNT.

A field of thirty-two riders of the Watchung Hunt Club met the hounds at Dog Tavern at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning to join in what proved to be a most enjoyable run. Many stiff fences were met and successfully negotiated by a large majority of the field. The following finished: R. C. Finch, M. F. H.; Lawrence B. Smith, H. F. Hollis, H. L. Finch, J. Schuyler Casey, Mrs. Brown Rolston, Miss Gertrude Noe, F. D. French, Beverley Brown, Brown Rolston, J. J. O'Donohue, Mrs. J. J. O'Donohue, C. E. S. Bellows, Stanley Bellows, R H. Towner, C. W. Holland and Huntsman Harrison.

MAYOR-ELECT STEWART SAYS:

I'm perfectly delighted at the Democratic landslide in the nation, which gives to the people of New Jersey Gov. Woodrow Wilson as President of these United States. I am filled with the keenest appreciation of the duties and responsibilities which rest upon a Mayor's shoulders and it shall be my firm resolve to be the Mayor of the city of Plainfield as a whole and not of any particular section. While sincerely regretting the non-eelction of the Democratic candidates for Councilmen, it is my pleasure to enter upon the duties of Mayor of Plainfield with an open mind and a sincere desire to work in active cooperation and harmony with the Common Council of Plainfield in every matter affecting the city's welfare. I take this opportunity of thanking my friends and supporters in the Democratic party, and also the independent voters, realizing fully well without this support, my election would not have been possible.

"It is an honor to be the Mayor of the City of Plainfield and I shall endeavor at all times to be worthy of the trust that has been given in my hands."

"I'm so Glad John's Going to put in a Square Pot Boiler

—I'm more pleased than I can tell. Why! Mrs. Brown told Mrs. Archer—and I got it from her—that during all that bitter, bitter weather last winter their Square Pot boiler kept them absolutely comfortable. Indeed, some days, she said, they were almost too warm, and what's equally surprising, they burned quite a little less coal than we did, and didn't have to fuss with the boiler at all. I said to John, after I heard that—'John, if you put up with our old coal-eating, dust-making, cold-storage plant for another winter, you're foolish'—and John said he'd 'look into it' and now we're going to have one."

There's no getting away from "Square Pot Boilerfacts." They tell a story that's convincing. Square Pot Boilers are free steamers with little fire—or, you may run them to rated capacity and they will still keep a steady water line and furnish dry steam. They are economical, cleanly and easily cared for. Get the whole story from the dealer in your town.

WILSON WINS IN CALIFORNIA.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 5.—California polled the largest vote in her history today in spite of the fact that many Taft supporters stayed away from the polls. Those who voted cast their ballots for Wilson because of what they term the "theft of the State machinery," by the Roosevelt party. But in spite of this it seems evident from returns received up to midnight that Roosevelt has swept the State. Three hundred and seventy-two complete precincts located in twenty different portions of the State, including San Francisco, Sacramento and Los Angeles give Roosevelt 15,764; Wilson, 8,746; Taft, 685. These include, however, districts known to be strong for Roosevelt. Wilson's managers in various parts of the State, however, still claim that he will carry the State by 10,000 plurality. Roosevelt's supporters on the other hand claim the State by 50,000 plurality.

TEDDY WINS IN MICHIGAN.

Detroit, Nov. 5.—Judging from early returns from Michigan the vote cast in the State was the heaviest ever known, practically the entire registration going to the polls to vote. Returns show Roosevelt far in the lead.

SERVICE SR RELIABILITY

Since Caesar Trod The Roman Forum

Almost 2,000 years have come and gone

2,000 years is not a long time when you say it quickly.

But to the chap who is waiting for a rich relation to croak, it's an awful long wait.

At no time during those 2,000 years has man given the thought to his clothes as he does today.

Fitting an old Roman in a toga is a cinch as compared to fitting men in modern togas.

But at that, Rothberg has mastered the mysteries of fit and the

that you'll see here ranging from Twelve Simoleons to Twenty-five Dalodocci, is as perfect a lesson of how to drape cloth over a human's body as you ever want to see—my word for that!

BUNTS AND PUNTS

Manager "Kid" Elberfeld is signing new players in the hope of building up the Chattanooga team.

Rumors are noating about in Texas League circles that the Austin franchise is to be transferred to Oklahoma City.

John McGraw, manager of the Giants, has made such a hit in vaudeville, that his engagement has been extended a full season.

Handsome Harry McIntire says if Frank Chance will sign a $1,200 contract with the Cubs, he (Harry) will play for Murphy for nothing.

After a short hunting trip Jim Sheckard and Jim Archer, of the Cubs, will leave for Florida where they will spend the winter months.

Olaf Henrikson, of the Boston Red Sox, who played such a prominent part in winning the deciding game, is home talent. His home is in Canton, a suburb of Boston.

When Ray Collins and Larry Gardner, of the champion Red Sox, returned to their native State of Vermont, the University of Vermont and the city of Burlington tendered the two boys a great reception.

The Philadelphia Athletics, the New York Giants and the Pittsburg Pirates have stood pat on their managers for years, while most of the other major league clubs try a new pilot every season or so.

"Big Ed" Walsh, of the White Sox, was the pitcher oftenest called upon to go to the front, in the big leagues, during the past season. The records show that Ed took part in no less than 61 games.

Vanderbilt which beat Mississippi 24 to 0 this year, deefated the same team by 21 to 0 in 1911.

The Yale coaches think that Bomeisler will be able to play against Harvard, if not against Princeton.

The Carlisle Indians are winning everything in sight this season, even going over the border and scalping the Canadians.

Charley Brickley, the Harvard star, is a natural drop-kicker and by constant practice has developed a wonderful accuracy.

York, the Yale guard, probably will not play any more football this season. Harbinson, however, is believed to be a good man for this position.

Dan McGugin, the Vanderbilt coach, believes that his football warriors have a splendid chance to defeat Harvard when the two teams meet in Cambridge, Nov. 9.

There will be 30,680 tickets printed for this year's Army-Navy game, and of this number 10,000 will be sold through the University of Pennsylvania committee for three dollars a piece.

Coach "Hurry Up" Yost, of the Michigan squad, has beeen working his men to the limit since their defeat at the hands of Syracuse. The coming game with Pennsylvania is causing Yost to put the old "hurry up" method into practice.

Plainfield, N. J., November 6, 1912.

OUR CONGRATULATIONS.

By a plurality that must be most gratifying to the candidate and his friends, Percy H. Stewart, Democrat, was chosen Mayor of Plainfield at yesterday's election. His triumph over his opponents, G. W. V. Moy, Progressive, and W. R. Codington, Republican, was not entirely unexpected. Party lines were broken in the municipal campaign and Mr. Stewart was carried to victory in most all the districts. As we said when he was nominated for the office, the successful candidate is a man of much ability, lofty character and is fully conversant with the problems and needs of the city. He will make a good mayor, and the Daily Press takes this opportunity to extend to him its sincere congratulations and best wishes for a successful administration. It will give to him the same measure of support accorded to the present incumbent, Mr. Moy, and will look to him to do all in his power to assist in bringing about many improvements now under consideration. Again, we congratulate the winner.

The Daily Press impressed upon the voters of Plainfield that unless they voted for Thomas J. Hughes and James J. McCann, local nominees for County Freeholders, Plainfield would likely be denied representation in that most important body, though it is the second largest tax contributor. The returns showed that the people shared the same view and acted accordingly.

George Parrott, who was opposed to the so-called third term for a President, but was in favor of all the terms he could get for himself, has at last been retired from the surrogateship. After drawing the salary for more than twenty-five years, he can well afford to retire to private life. We congratulate the people of Union county on their decision.

Our friend, W. R. Codington has found to his sorrow that he was the victim of his friends who had an idea that a campaign of personalities, invective and abuse would win in this enlightened community. They were sadly mistaken.

The Government and the people of these United States should be proud of Woodrow Wilson as their chief magistrate.

And the "Schoolmaster" taught the experienced politicians a trick or two.

HAWTHORNE TRIAL POSTPONED.

New York, Nov. 6 (Special).—The trial of Julian Hawthorne, son of the famous novelist, and Josiah Quincy, mayor of Boston, which was on the docket for today in the United States District Court in this city, has been postponed until later in the month. Hawthorne and Quincy, with several associates, are accused of making fraudulent use of the mails in disposing of stock in the Hawthorne mining interests in Canada. Scores of alleged victims from all parts of the country are expected to testify at the trial.

ONLY ONE MAN IN CONGRESS FOR N. J. G. O. P.

Runyon Goes by Board With Eleven Other Republicans —No Progressives.

Trenton, Nov. 6.—Only one Republican will represent New Jersey in the next House of Representatives at Washington. That was conclusively determined by yesterday's election, when eleven Democrats were selected. The lone G. O. P. member is William J. Browning, of the First district.

William N. Runyon, of Plainfield, was defeated by William E. Tuttle, Jr., the present incumbent, who was re-elected by a big majority.

Although the Democrats claim the Eighth district for Eugene F. Kinkead, it was said in Jersey City early this morning that there is a possibility that Harold Bouton, Progressive, had won.

Because both Republicans and Progressives put up strong fights in each of the twelve Congressional districts it was hoped by the Democrats that the New Jersey delegation in the House of Representatives would be increased by the election from seven to ten, probably eleven, and possibly twelve. The Republicans had little or no hope of winning more than one or two, and the Progressive situation no one could hope to foretell. In every district the Democrats took advantage of the unusual conditions and worked hard, with every prospect of victory.

Those selected were as follows, the asterisk (*) indicating re-election:

First District—Camden, Gloucester and Salem counties.
D. Stewart Craven, D.

Second District—Atlantic, Burlington, Cape May and Cumberland counties.
J. Thompson Baker, D.

Third District—Middlesex, Monmouth and Ocean counties.
*Thomas J. Scully, D.

Fourth District—Somerset, Mercer and Hunterdon counties.
Allan B. Walsh, D.

Fifth District—Union and Morris counties.
*William E. Tuttle, D.

Sixth District—Part of Passaic, Bergen, Sussex and Warren counties.
Lewis J. Martin, D.

Seventh District—Part of Passaic county.
Robert G. Bremner, D.

Eighth District—Part of Essex and Hudson counties.
*Eugene F. Kinkead, D.

Ninth District—Part of Essex county.
*Walter I. McCoy, D.

Tenth District—Part of Essex county.
*Edward W. Townsend, D.

Eleventh District—Part of Hudson county.
John J. Egan, D.

Twelfth District—Part of Hudson county.
*James A. Hamill, D.

In the old Sixth District, which was represented by William Hughes until he recently resigned, there was a contest for the position to fill the unexpired term. This district retains the old Sixth District lines of Passaic, Bergen and Sussex counties. The successful candidate was:

David J. Harvey, D.
Archibald C. Hart, Wilson D.

DEMOCRATS GOBBLE UP EVERYTHING IN NEW YORK

Cincinnati, Nov. 5.—President Taft received news of his defeat at the home of his brother, C. P. Taft, on Pike street, shortly before dinner, tonight. A telegraph office was set apart in one of the rooms of the mansion and as soon as the wires were opened at 6 o'clock tonight bulletins telling of Governor Wilson's election and the Democratic landslide began pouring over the wires in rapid succession.

Among the first bulletins was a report from Achusnet, Mass., showing that the president had carried that town but by a considerably reduced majority over the figures of four years ago. A few minutes later came information that Wilson had carried New York and Massachusetts by large majorities. Next the announcement of State Chairman Barnes, of New York, conceding New York to Gov. Wilson ticked over the wires. After reading these bulletins Mr. Taft was practically convinced of the election of Gov. Wilson.

With the President were his brother, C. P. Taft and Mrs. C. P. Taft, Miss Louise Taft, Major Thomas L. Rhodes, the President's military aide and several personal friends. After reading the first batch of bulletins the President and the members of his party went down into the dining room for dinner about 7:30 o'clock. Mr. Taft spent a quiet day here. In the morning a number of personal friends called to pay their respects. Shortly after noon Mr. Taft motored to the polling place at 2,008 Madison road, where he cast his ballot.

STATE SENATE DEMOCRATIC

campaign of the Progressive party the Democrats hoped to be able to slip across in not less than four of the six Senatorial contests while the Repubicans and Progressives were battling. Such an advantage would be of great help because it carried with it for the Democrats a majority in the next State Senate meaning that a Democrat, probably Senator James F. Fielder, of Hudson county, will become acting Governor when Governor Wilson goes to the Presidency and to fill out the remaining one year of the term.

This plum was being bitterly contested for. The Republicans hoped to elect their senatorial candidates in Cape May, Burlington and Passaic counties and owing to what they regard as a serious split in the Democracy in Hunterdon county, though they had a chance there to win. If three Republican Senators were elected the party would retain its Senate majority and select the acting Governor and thus gain control of many important State appointments to be made during the next year. In ordinary times the Republicans would be sure of electing Senators in Burlington, Cape May and Passaic counties, and the Democrats in Hunterdon, Middlesex and Sussex counties. The Progressive candidates were the disturbing element this year and their presence in the fight fixed things so no one could be sure until the final tally of the vote was made.

of Colorado; William S. Kenyon, of Iowa; Knute Nelson, of Minnesota; Harry A. Richardson, of Delaware; William Alden Smith, of Michigan; Francis E. Warren, of Wyoming; George P. Welmore, of Rhode Island, and Albert B. Fall, of New Mexico.

The three vacancies in the present Senate which were filled at today's elections were caused by the deaths of William L. Hughes, Democrat, of Colorado, and William B. Heyburn, Republican, of Idaho, and the ousting of William Lorimer, of Illinois.

Several of the senators whose terms will expire next March already have been re-elected by the State Legislatures and were not therefore involved in today's balloting.

Several faces that have been familiar to visitors in the Senate galleries for many years will be missing after March 4, next, among them being Senator Bailey, of Texas.

New York, Nov. 6.—According to the midnight figures the National Congress will be Democratic in both branches. The House will probably stand 294 Democrats, 125 Republicans, 15 Progressives and one Socialist.

According to the same figures the Democrats, who had 43 in the Upper House of the last Congress, gained nine, which will bring their number up to 52 in the next Congress. The Republicans will have 44, leaving the Senate Democratic by a majority of eight.

The New York Legislature, so the midnight figures seem to show, will stand as follows:

Senate—33 Democrats and 18 Republicans; Assembly—101 Democrats, 57 Repubicans and two Progressives.

The Democratic party, therefore, will be in absolute control of the National government after the fourth of next March, President, Senate and House.

The State of New York is in line with the nation, Sulzer having been elected governor and the Democrats having control of both branches of the legislature.

WILSON CAPTURES BORO BY 175 VOTES

But Republicans Elect Two Councilmen—Anderson's Plurality Meagre 3.

The voters of North Plainfield came out strong for Woodrow Wilson yesterday giving him a plurality of 175 over Taft, who ran second. Theodore Roosevelt polled 275 votes, 218 behind the successful candidate.

This is the first time in many years that the borough has gone Democratic.

Edwin S. Boyer and Allen Cowperthwaite, running for members of the Common Council on the Republican ticket, were elected by comfortable majorities, the former being high man with 586 and his running mate securing 524 counts. Lewin and Perkins, the Democrats, polled 411 and 361 votes, respectively.

The borough's choice for the Congresman was Allan B. Walsh, Democratic, although he was pushed hard by William E. Blackman, the Republican, who was only 61 in the rear.

The Assembly choice proved to be William de la R. Anderson, who ran for re-election on the Republican ticket. He only secured a plurality of three over Beekman. Edward E. Cooper, running for Surrogate, polled 525 votes against 406 for Calvin D. McMurtry, the Democrat.

The voters were overwhelmingly in favor of taking the police department out of politics and placing it under Civil Service supervision. The Police Tenure of Office Act of 1911 was voted "Yes" 407 times, the "No" vote numbering only 69.

PROGRESSIVE CHAIRMAN ON NATIONAL RESULT

Spring Lake, Nov. 5.—Former Governor Fort, chairman of the Progressive State Committee, when interviewed at his home here tonight regarding the election said:

"There is no future for any party but the Democratic and Progressive parties. The Republicans are third all over the nation. The fraud at Chicago and the attempted dominance of the party by Penrose, Crane, Barnes and their like has been repudiated as they deserved to be by the American people.

"As we are to have a Democratic President I am delighted that it is to be Governor Wilson. I regard him as a progressive and I am sure his administration will be along Progressive lines, so far as he is able to control it. The Progressive party is here to stay and will at once organize for next year and we will carry this State for the next Governor. We have made a great showing in New Jersey in this election. We had the hardest fight of any State in the Union, as this was Governor Wilson's own State."

Helena, Mont., Nov. 5.—The National result in Montana is still in doubt two hours after the closing of the polls. All three parties are sure they have won.

It is possible that Wilson has carried the State as he seems to have a slight lead.

TO TRY LAST OF OUTLAWS.

Wytheville, Va., Nov. 6 (Special).—The last of the trials growing out of the Hillsville courthouse tragedy of last March, when the Allen gang of outlaws shot down and killed six court attaches and spectators, are scheduled to begin here tomorrow, when Sidney Allen and Wesley Edwards will be arraigned for trial before Judge Staples, of Roanoke. The two were captured in Des Moines, Iowa, some weeks ago, after a country-wide search. Edwards is to be tried first. Then will come the hearing of the case against Sidney Allen, who is regarded as the real leader of the gang. The prosecution entertains no doubt of the conviction of both, as the evidence against them is considered even stronger than against the others, two of whom have been sentenced to the electric chair and two others to long terms of imprisonment.

WILSON TO McCOMBS.

New York, Nov. 6.—Chairman McCombs received the following telegram from Gov. Wilson: "I wish to extend to you and the members of the Campaign Committee my warm congratulations on the part you have played. A great cause has triumphed."

WEST VIRGINIA DRY.

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 6.—Democrats concede the election of Dr. Hatfield as governor of West Virginia over W. R. Thompson, Democrat. The Socialist polled a large vote in the coal fields. Liquor men admit that the State has gone dry by a large majority.

ALBERT MONTEZINOS.

Abert Montezinos, aged nine years, who has been living at 313 Clinton avenue with relatives, died there Monday afternoon. The funeral was held at the above named residence last night Rev. C. C. Cain officiating. The burial will take place in Philadelphia today.

PLURALITY FOR WILSON

indicate that Wilson has carried the State by at least 20,000. Major has probably been elected the Democratic governor. The returns also indicate that both the upper and lower branches of the Missouri legislature will be controlled by the Democrats.

In California one of the interesting features of election day was the part taken by the women in their first presidential election. In Los Angeles the vote of the women was extraordinarily heavy and was heavily progressive. In San Francisco there were many women clerks of election and in one district 80 women did picket duty to prevent the election of Wolff for State Senator, and the constitutional amendment permitting the re-establishment of rae tracks, which Wolff espoused.

The few returns received in Louisiana have brought sore disappointment to the Progressives of that State. The strong anticipated Roosevelt sentiment seems to have eaten into normal Democratic plurality by less than 10 per cent. In many parts of the State Debs ran ahead of Taft.

A despatch from Denver at 10:45 tonight states that the vote in Colorado was unusually heavy all over the State but that because of the long ballot and the many constitutional amendments submitted to the people the result will not be known before tomorrow morning.

In Indiana the Democratic governor is probably elected. Beveridge has been defeated and the legislature is probably Democratic.

Roosevelt will carry Michigan by from 75,000 to 100,000. This is based upon official returns from half of the counties in the State. Ferris (Dem.) for governor will probably be elected by 25,000 plurality.

Princeton, Nov. 6.—Woodrow Wilson in a speech to the students last night said: "I have no feeling of triumph tonight but of solemn responsibility. I know the great task that is ahead of me and the men who are associated with me. I look almost with pleading to you, the young men of America, to stand behind me and to support me in the new administration, and the purest impulses are needed.

"Mistakes have been made, but they have not been done malevolently. We must have a quiet temper and quiet mind in what we are going to do. We must not let any man divert us. We must have quiet temper and yet be resolute of purpose. But let us hear all patiently and yet hearing all, let us not be diverted. I am sincerely glad to see you. I have a feeling that something has just happened in which you men will play a great part in carrying forward the work we have started today.

"The lesson of this election is the lesson of responsibility. I believe a great cause has triumphed for the American people."

Col. Roosevelt's telegram was received by the Governor at 12:25 o'clock this morning incomplete.

Gov. Wilson announced at 12:30 o'clock this morning that he was going to bed and he wouldn't get up until noon.

ILLINOIS IS ROOSEVELT'S BY HANDSOME PLURALITY

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Col. Roosevelt has carried Illinois by a handsome plurality, judging by the returns received.

Returns from more than half of the precincts of Chicago indicate that Dunne, Democratic candidate for governor, has carried the city over Deneen (Republican) by 60,000 to 70,000 plurality. Funk (Progressive) apparently has received about 40 per cent. of the Republican vote and is third in the race.

One ward of Rockford barely missed being unanimous in its support of Roosevelt and in another he was out of hailing distance. In complete figures from Galesburg give him twice the vote cast for Taft and Wilson combined.

These returns seem to show that no considerable portion of the Democratic vote has been cast for president and that if there was a serious break in the Democratic ranks by foreign born voters it was in favor of Roosevelt and not in favor of Taft.

WILSON WINS NEBRASKA BY UPWARDS OF 15,000

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 5.—Early returns indicate that on a lighter vote than 1908 Wilson has carried the State by upwards of 15,000. Stephens, Democrat, has been re-elected to Congress in the Third district. Sloan, Republican, probably elected in the Ninth. Wilson carries Lancaster, Bryan's home county. The race between Norris, Republican, and Shallenberg, Democrat, for United States Senator, is close.

At 10:30 William J. Bryan forwarded the following congratulatory message to Governor Wilson:

"I most heartily congratulate you and the country upon your election. Your splendid campaign has borne fruit in great victory. I am sure your administration will prove a blessing to the country and a source of strength to our party."

LOOKS LIKE A SWEEP FOR DEMOCRATS IN TAFT'S STATE

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 5.—It is believed that Wilson has carried the state by a plurality of perhaps 125,000 and that Cox, Democratic candidate for governor, is elected by an even greater plurality.

With this margin there is reason to believe that the Democrats have elected their state ticket complete and have re-elected 18 out of 21 old congressional districts and probably added one or two more besides carrying the new district at large.

They also have elected from surface indications a large majority in both houses of the Assembly.

The Best Furniture Values in the Metropolitan District

The New Bamberger Department Fills a Long Felt Want

When we tell you that we are offering the best furniture values in the metropolitan district we are making a statement that we can substantiate absolutely. The success of this great department is the logical outcome of a logical and well calculated business move. We made up our mind that Newark needed a store where good reliable makes of furniture—not too elaborate or yet too cheap—might b ebought at fair prices. We gave Newark such a department and the result is (the new store is less than three weeks old) we are doing more furniture business than we ever expected to do so early in the game. It seems as though Newark were waiting for just the kind of furniture department we have provided. We do not sell furniture on the installment plan, hence we do not have to exact installment profits. Our furniture is bought on a cash basis and sold on a cash basis. Of course, you may charge furniture here the same as you charge anything else, but this does not add a penny to the cost of what you buy. The Bamberger furniture store is a legitimate business, run on legitimate, business-like principles—it is in a class by itself—it is gaining new friends and good friends each day. We invite you to come and inspect our furniture, whether you wish to buy or not. We mean this sincerely.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

SAVOY CABBAGE.

SAVOY cabbage is the wrinkled leaved variety. It is the best kind to boil. It has a flavor which is particularly nice with meats.

These close leaf plants require plenty of washing and soaking in salt and water before boiling. The stems should be removed. Then they may be boiled in half a gallon of water, with two teaspoonfuls of salt and a little soda.

Cooking the Cabbage.

Stewed Savoy Cabbage.—Cut in thin slices, wash; then boil till tender. Drain free from water. Put into a clean pot two ounces of butter or fat and a little salt and pepper. When hot add the cabbage and stir it well until nearly dry; then throw in a tablespoonful of flour, keep stirring and add a cupful of either broth, milk or water. Let boil ten minutes and serve.

German Savoy Cabbage.—Take the outer leaves from a head of Savoy cabbage. Cut into small pieces, wash through several waters, put into saucepan, cover with boiling water and boil thirty minutes. Do not cover the saucepan. Drain, mix with the sauce and serve in a hot dish.

For the sauce take a tablespoonful each of butter, flour and lemon juice, a cup of stock or of water and salt and pepper to suit the taste.

Put the butter into a saucepan. When melted add the flour. Mix well; then add the cold stock or water, stirring constantly. Boil two minutes. Add the salt, pepper, lemon juice and grated onion. Boil a minute; then pour over the cabbage.

Highly Seasoned.

Boiled Savoy Cabbage.—Take a small head of Savoy cabbage, a tablespoonful of butter, a tablespoonful of flour, one-quarter cup of cold water, a teaspoonful of salt, a dash of white pepper, a tablespoonful of lemon juice or two tablespoonfuls tarragon vinegar, one-half teaspoonful grated onion.

Wash and cut the cabbage into small pieces, put on in boiling water enough to cover and boil forty-five minutes or until tender. Drain and pour over the sauce, mix well and cook three minutes.

To make the sauce put the butter into a saucepan, melt, add the flour and onion juice and add the cold water, salt, pepper and lemon juice. Stir until smooth and creamy and cook three minutes.

BLOUSE HINTS.

Separate Waists No Longer Match the Skirt With Which They Are Worn.

Blouses which match are no longer fashion's demand. In fact, word comes of the latest cry being in coral and silver changeable chiffon taffeta. Frills furnish the plaited elbow sleeves and the taffeta collar in fichu shape is veiled with filmiest lace. The high draped girdle of black satin is drawn through a silver buckle at the front.

Simple gowns in semi-princess style are greatly in vogue for all the informal occasions of life, and this one gives the prettiest possible lines. The material used is a striped novelty combining silk and wool. The chemisette and collar are of satin covered with lace.

Points for Mothers

The Rainy Day Closet.

It is almost time to lay away materials for the "rainy day closet," a device intended for the alleviation of the care of mothers. Interest is now centering in school, playthings are tossed aside for the more serious business of life, but they should not be tossed so far that they cannot be found again in case of need. Into the "rainy day closet" should go the toys from which the interest has temporarily departed, together with the accumulation of summer magazines, to be cut out and pasted in scrapbooks later, and specimens of rock and shells brought home from the seashore. This closet should contain story books for children of all ages, riddle books, old picture postals, clever advertisements which come to the house and many other things valueless to grown-ups, but dear to the heart of childhood.

Furniture catalogues appeal particularly to little people, and mismated decks of cards sorted over can absorb a good bit of time. A few good new games should be among the collections of this wonderful room. Rolls of colored crepe paper, a supply of paper napkins, costing almost nothing, with the assistance of pins, will make the grandest kind of fancy costumes and with their aid all kinds of dramatic performances are possible. Paper for making flowers, clay for molding purposes, bits of pretty wall paper for covering boxes and all medium sized firm boxes should find their way to this treasure house.

Envelopes from which the used stamps are to be cut will afford some boy amusement. All the odds and ends of lead pencils and crayons can go into the closet and some day find a use. There are sure to be "shut in" days, many of them, when all this apparent "trash" will be welcomed.

In families where the "rainy day closet" has become an institution the room is kept carefully locked, so that its opening on rainy days or sick days is looked upon as an event of great importance. The articles are carefully arranged on shelves or in drawers, and an older sister, or even an "old maid aunt"—for such there still be—is appointed custodian. Among the rules and regulations pasted on the inside of the door is one to the effect that no one must ask for a new article to play with inside an hour, though articles may be amicably interchanged among the group of little folks who have been cut off by the weather from their customary amusements.

Nervous Children.

If when parents notice the nervousness of a little girl they would give it just a little daily treatment besides the proper diet and rest it is more than likely that the trouble would be soon overcome.

In the first place, for a child under nine years very little if any meat is advised. Poultry is best, and not too much of that either. Do not have the old fashioned idea that sleeping on an empty stomach is best, because it is not. It may be all well enough for a dyspeptic, but with healthy, wholesome people it is different. If a child tells you it is hungry while preparing for bed and some time has elapsed since the last meal was partaken give her a cracker and half fill a glass with warm milk and allow her to drink it. If she is healthy it will not be long before she will be sound asleep.

And now a word about how she sleeps. If you wish to have your little girl grow up without nervousness you must see that she has nine or ten hours of comfortable, undisturbed sleep in a thoroughly well ventilated room.

By comfortable is not meant a soft and downy bedding, but rather it would be better to throw away all feather pillows and wool mattresses and substitute bolsters and beds of hay. This would mean real comfort and a sweet and clean bed, and the wonderful relief that would come to a weak, nervous or timid child one has no idea of. There is always a hayfield odor about it, and that in itself is better than the heavy odor the other bedding has, especially when it becomes damp with perspiration. The hay bedding is always cool and clean and, what is more, it can at any time be renewed at a trifling expense.

No Nicknames.

It's by far the best plan to choose an attractive baptismal name for a child, and, the name once given, stick to it. Elizabeth should never become Betty, Bet, Lizzie, Beth or Liz. Mary is far lovelier than Mamie. Caroline is a worthy and beautiful name, but Carrie is not. Jennie is a common diminutive of the stately and infinitely to be preferred Jane. Dolly for Dorothy, Lulu for Louise, Gertie for Gertrude, Nell for Helen, Mattie for Martha, Kitty or Katie for Katherine—oh, don't!

And don't let the children nickname each other. When Tommy begins to call little Margaret "Buttons" because she has a row of shiny buttons on her new coat discourage Tommy with earnestness. And when loving grandparents and uncles and aunts insist on calling Baby Rosamond by such names as Rosie-posie, Pet and Precious check them tactfully, lest there come a time when Rosamond rise up in wrath and denounce you for letting her be called out of her name.

DEMOCRATS WILL HAVE MAJORITY IN ASSEMBLY

Lead the Field in Lower Branch of Next State Legislature.

Trenton, Nov. 5.—The largest number of Democrats ever selected were chosen to the New Jersey State Senate at today's election, that party having won 52 out of the 60 Assemblymen. It was the cleanest victory the party has ever won.

In the matter of the Assembly tickets the United States Senatorship played an important part. In normal Democratic counties the Democrats were practically certain of winning. In the Republican strongholds there was the Progressive party to reckon with. This lessened the Republican chances and correspondingly enhanced the prospects of the Democrats electing Assemblymen in places where they would ordinarily have little or no chance. The Progressives had a full Assembly ticket in the field in every county except Salem, where only one member of the House is elected. There a paster campaign was started at the last minute. In several of the counties they made a lively fight. Whether Senator Frank O. Briggs or Judge William Hughes is to be the next United States Senator from New Jersey depended wholly upon the relative strength of the Republican and Democratic parties in the next House of Assembly those two bodies selecting the man, following the popular vote at the primaries in September.

The Assemblymen elected, so nearly as could be determined at 4 o'clock this morning were:

ATLANTIC COUNTY.
Republican—*E. L. Richards, Joseph W. Salus.
BERGEN COUNTY.
Democratic—Arthur M. Agnew, *C. O'C. Hennessy, John W. Zisgen.
BURLINGTON COUNTY.
Democratic—James D. Magee.
CAMDEN COUNTY.
Republican — *Albert DeUnger, *Isaac W. Coles, John B. Kates.
CAPE MAY COUNTY.
Republican—H. S. Rutherford.
CUMBERLAND COUNTY.
Democratic—John A .Ackley.
ESSEX COUNTY.
Democratic—Joseph B. Bloom, John J. Bracken, Simon L. Fisch, Bennett H. Fischler, Frank A. Foley, Louis Lewis, William E. Maguire, John A. Matthews, Lawrence McCabe, Jr., Charles A. Nutting, Joseph F. Papscoe and Hubert J. Rowe.
GLOUCESTER COUNTY.
Democratic—Clement R. Budd.
HUDSON COUNTY.

Oyster Bay For T. R.

Oyster Bay, N. Y.—Col. Roosevelt carried Oyster Bay, his home town, by a plurality of 292 over Wilson, the vote standing: Roosevelt, 510; Wilson, 218; Taft, 87. The colonel's own election district voted Roosevelt, 231; Wilson, 86; Taft, 28.

CONNECTICUT DRAWN BACK INTO DEMOCRATIC RANKS

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 6.—Connecticut swung back to the Democratic ranks yesterday. The vote of the State shows the choice of electors who will cast the seven votes of the State for Woodrow Wilson, that decision being adopted by a plurality of 10,000. Simeon E. Baldwin, the Democratic governor of the State, is re-elected by a plurality that threatens to exceed 15,000. The election of five Democratic congressmen is indicated.

The large plurality of Governor Baldwin is expected to carry the entire Democratic State ticket with it, something that has not happened in Connecticut in this generation of voters.

The Democrats will control the State Senate thus making certain the ability of the governor to secure confirmation of his appointments.

The House is close and the Progressives elected may have the balance of power. The State does not choose a United States Senator, however, this year.

The showing made by the third ticket is a disappointment. Taft's friends in this State rallied behind him as a Yale man and indications that his total vote will be nearly double that of Roosevelt. Herbert Knox Smith, the Progressive candidate for governor, apparently ran behind his chief. Connecticut will have five Democratic congressmen to take the place of the present Republicans and one Democrat.

MAYOR FROWNS ON TIPS IN KIELY'S TRAVEL BILL

Mayor G. W. V. Moy, at the meeting of the Common Council Monday night, voted Police Chief P. S. Kiely's bill for his trip to the police chief's convention at Buffalo. The Council appropriated $75, but when the bill was presented it showed a total of $125.75, which included $5 for tips. Mr. Moy took exception to this, saying that he did not believe the taxpayers would approve such a thing. It was later explained that the amount in excess of $75 showed what the chief had spent out of his pocket.

TWO HURT WHEN CAR CRASHES INTO CARRIAGE

Willard Vail, colored, of 613 South Second street, was removed to Muhlenberg Hospital, last night, with a broken leg above the ankle, and Sherman Tate, also colored, received bruises as the result of a rear end collision between a Netherwood trolley car and Vail's rig, which he was driving on Woodland avenue. Both men were thrown into the roadway and the wagon was wrecked. Dr. Albert Pittis gave "first aid" treatment, after which he sent Vail to the hospital.

MISS NELLIE ARNOLD IS BRIDE OF FRAZEE PUTNAM

Miss Nellie Arnold, daughter of James K. Arnold, of 21 Manning avenue, was married Monday night to Frazee Putman, of East Second street, at the bride's home, by Rev. John Y. Broek, pastor of Trinity Reformed church.

After a short honeymoon trip through New York State the newly married couple will reside on Johnston avenue, this city.

TO HOLD PUBLIC HEARING ON KENSINGTON AVE. OPENING

Business chiefly of a routine nature was transacted at the November meeting of the Common Council, Monday night. Only six members were present.

A pubic hearing was granted on the ordinance to open Kensington avenue, and the ordinance repealing a former ordinance, and discontinuing the old action was adopted, while the new ordinance was adopted on third reading.

W. R. Causebrook and others asked that sidewalks be laid on the east side of Netherwood avenue; R. H. Leveridge and others asked for a fire alarm box at West Eighth street and Monroe avenue; P. C. Thompson asked for permission to lay a sewer in Wallace place. All these matters were referred.

The ordinance granting the Public Service Railway Company permission to install a passing switch and "Y's" was adopted on third reading, and Mr. Holt's customary resolution contiuing the joint sewer proposition until the next meeting was passed.

CONSTANTINOPLE'S WATER SUPPLY CUT OFF BY BULGARS

London, Nov. 5.—A large Bulgarian force today seized Terkos and thereby got control of the most of the water supply of Constantinople, according to a despatch from Sofia, received here today. Terkos was also one of the bulwarks of the Turkish line of fense thrown from the Sea of Marmora to the Black Sea in a semi-circle 25 miles west of the capital, and its loss means that the Bulgars have broken through the last line of desperate stand which the Turks have made.

The situation confronting the Turkish capital is serious. While it is true that Constantinople draws some water East of Terkos it depended mostly on water from Lake Terkos.

DIXON DOESN'T FEEL BAD ABOUT IT.

New York, Nov. 5.—Joseph M. Dixon, chairman of the Progressive National Committee gave out the following statement tonight:

"The election returns tonight show that more than four million voters have enlisted under the banner of the Progressive party. They have enlisted for the war.

"Some of our most enthusiastic leaders have hoped that possibly this might have been 1860. It is evidently 1856.

"The result of today's ballot makes the Progressive party the dominant opponent of the Democratic party. Today the old Republican party becomes the 'third party' of American politics.

"The realignment of the voters of the nation has become an accomplished fact. We are going forward immediately with our plans to complete our organizattion for the Congressional election in two years from this time. I have issued a call to the Progressive National Committee to meet in Chicago Tuesday, December 10. We also have invited to this meeting of the Progressive National Committee all the chairmen of the State committees, the Progressive candidates for governor at today's election and every prominent Progressive leader.

"We expect to maintain permanent headquarters during the coming four years. The fight to drive special privilege from American politics has just begun."

RESULT IN MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 5.—As was predicted before the polls opened Wilson and Marshall carried Massachusetts by a substantial plurality today, the first time in the history of the Bay State that its electoral votes will be cast for Democratic candidates for president and vice president. Foss and Walsh, the Democratic candidates for governor and Lieut. Governor, were also successful at the polls, the third successive time the former has been elected and the first time for a great many years that a Democrat has been chosen for the second highest state office.

The presence of Col. Roosevelt's name on the ticket practically split the Republican vote in twain. The candidacy of Charles S. Bird, Progressive nominee for governor, pulled many thousands from Joseph Walker, the Republican nominee.

Returns from the Congressional districts so far tabulated do not indicate any change yet in the political complexion of the Congressional delegation.

The vote on candidates for the Legislature have not been sufficiently tabulated yet to indicate how it stands but if the Democrats control the Legislature, it means the election of John F. Fitzgerald, mayor of Boston, as United States senator to succeed W. Murray Crane. At this hour it is not known how the remainder of the Republican State ticket fared but the leaders are confident of every office except that of governor and lieutenant governor will be filled as usual with Republicans.

Georgia All Democratic.

Augusta, Ga.—Georgia has returned all of her Democratic Congressmen. The State House officials have all been elected and are Democratic. The Legislature is strictly Democratic, not a Republican or Progressive being returned. Indications are that Wilson will carry the State by 2 to 1 majority. Roosevelt will get more popular votes than President Taft due to the indifference of Tom Watson who deserted Wilson two weeks ago. Watson's following were thrown into the Progressive column by this means and caused the Republican vote given Taft four years ago of 41,692, to be cut nearly in half.

WISCONSIN GOES TO WILSON.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 6.—Wisconsin has gone Democratic. The Roosevelt vote will probably be under 50,000. Early estimates are that Wilson carried the State by 15,000 and Karel, Democratic candidate for governor, by at least 35,000.

In Milwaukee county the Socialists were swept out of office by a combination of Republicans and Democrats.

Wisconsin's representation in Congress will probably be unchanged in any important particular. The Democrats probably get two congressmen, two Republican congressmen are probably elected from Milwaukee county under a fusion.

NEW MARKET DEMOCRATIC.

New Market, which is in Middlesex county, went Democratic. The vote: Taft, 43; Roosevelt, 47; Wilson, 63. For assessor—George W. Coriell, Rep., 91; Frank O. Nelson, Dem., 62. For Collector—William B. LaRue, Rep., 64; Joseph E. Kelly, D., 92. For Township Committeeman—Frank E. Faulks, Rep., 59; Lewis D. Randolph, D., 79.

Millville, Nov. 5.—Edward H. Stokes, father of former Governor Edward C. Stokes, died here this morning. Mr. Stokes never fully recovered from an auto accident in which he was injured several weeks ago. Recently he went to Newark to visit Howard Stokes, a son, and while there caught a bad cold, which, added to the ailments resulting from the accident, brought on his death at nine o'clock this morning.

COMFORT FOR STRAUS.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, Nov. 6.—Oscar S. Straus, Progressive candidate for Governor of New York, commenting on his defeat, said: "This comes as a pleasant relief to me. I had rather be defeated than go to Albany without a Progressive Legislature."

GOV. FOSS A GRANDFATHER.

Eugene Noble Foss 2d Arrives as an Election Baby.

Boston, Nov. 5.—Governor Foss became a grandfather by the birth of Eugene Noble Foss 2d, weighing eight and a quarter pounds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Foss, the governor's son and daughter-in-law, at their home in Jamaica Plain. Mrs. Foss, the younger, was Miss Dorothy Chapman of San Francisco. It was also the birthday of the governor's wife.

The governor has received many congratulations over the arrival of the "election baby."

Mrs. McFadden St. Louis Fire Victim.

St. Louis, Nov. 5.—A charred body identified later as that of Mrs. Charles K. McFadden, a wealthy guest at the Hotel Berlin, who has been missing since the fire there early Saturday morning, was found in the ruins. E P. Curtis, a friend of the McFadden family, identified the body by the gold teeth and a diamond set bracelet.

CRUELTY CHARGED AGAINST HUSBAND

Divorce Ends Unhappy Married Life of Charters.

SHE BREAKS DOWN IN COURT

Mrs. Lillian Young Charters, Christian Science Healer, Granted Separation Solely Upon Grounds of Desertion. Delays Court Several Times to Regain Her Composure.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 5.—After narrating on the witness stand the tribulations of an unhappy married life, which terminated in a separation, Mrs. Lillian Young Charters, a Christian Science healer, of New York was awarded a divorce from her husband, Charles Charters, who is a Christian Scientist, by Vice Chancellor Lewis. The more serious charges of misconduct were abandoned in the proceedings, and the divorce was granted solely upon the ground of desertion, which was proved to the satisfaction of the court by Mrs. Charters and corroborative witnesses.

Mrs. Charters, who is a daughter of General Young of Washington, was accompanied to Trenton by her father. Several times during her narrative of her husband's cruelty she broke down, and the court had to wait until she regained her composure. Her testimony included, though indirectly, a complete denial of the allegations in which her husband had sought to involve her and T. L. L. Temple, a wealthy resident of Quogue, N. Y.

Although the suit for divorce had originally been instituted by Mr. Charters, his wife subsequently filing a cross bill, in which she alleged desertion, adultery and extreme cruelty, Mr. Charters abandoned his action. Through his counsel, Alexander Simpson, the court was informed that unless Mrs. Charters attempted to establish her allegation of adultery her husband would make no contest in her obtaining divorce upon the ground of desertion. Mr. Simpson asked leave to reserve the right to interpose a defense should the charge of misconduct be pressed.

With this preliminary understanding Mrs. Charters took the stand and told of her marriage career, which began in Texas fourteen years ago, when she and her husband were both actors. They played together and received a joint salary as man and wife. Mrs. Charters said that from the very first her husband had failed to contribute toward her support. While they were on the stage he regularly sent his part of their earnings to New York, informing her that it was to pay an old board bill. When they finally came to New York eleven years ago she suggested that they go to Mr. Charters' old boarding place and settle up his obligations once and for all. To this she said her husband replied that he could not recall the name of the boarding house keeper.

Six years ago the Charters removed to New Jersey, where the wife built a home at Palisade, Bergen county. Notwithstanding her efforts to reform her husband, Mrs. Charters declared that he persisted in his cruel and inhuman treatment toward her. In her capacity as a Christian Science practictioner she had been retained to care for the spiritual welfare of the children of Mr. Temple. The fact that she was frequently at the Temple home on Long Island, she said, gave her husband an excuse for charging her with improper conduct with Mr. Temple. She said he even went so far as to charge her with being the mother of the youngest child of Mr. Temple, who was born before she had even made the acquaintance of the family.

WILL ALSO TICK FOR WILSON

Instrument Which Told 1892 Result to Send Returns.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 5.—Governor Wilson will receive election returns at his home here over the same telegraph instrument which ticked out the victory of Grover Cleveland when he was chosen president in 1892.

The messenger who delivered the instrument to Governor Wilson was Commodore E. C. Benedict, lifelong friend of Cleveland, who was with the late president the night he was elected twenty years ago.

"It is an interesting gift," said Governor Wilson, "and I have asked the telegraph company to use it instead of the instrument already installed. Commodore Benedict says he and Mr. Cleveland spent election evening playing cribbage and that Mr. Cleveland was very much annoyed because the returns interrupted the game."

ELEVEN JUMP AS FIRE RAGES.

Bonfire Caused $8,000 Blaze In Newark Yesterday.

Newark, N. J., Nov. 5.—Sparks from a bonfire started a blaze in the wholesale grocery house of Max Weinberg, at 28 Mercer street. Before the flames were extinguished $8,000 damage had been done.

Eleven men who were at work on the second floor had to jump from windows as escape by way of the stairs was cut off by flames and smoke, but they were only slightly bruised.

CONWAY TELLS HOW HE KILLED SINGER GIRL

Says She Had Attacked Him With Razor.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Charles Conway and his wife, Beatrice Ryall Conway, were held by the coroner's jury on the charge of murdering Sophia Singer, a Baltimore heiress. They were bound over to the grand jury without bail.

Calmly and deliberately Conway told the coroner's jury how he killed the Baltimore heiress.

The details of the crime as he related them were substantially the same as he related to Police Captain Nootbar when he made his first confession Saturday. He said that he came to Chicago at the request of his wife, Beatrice Ryall Conway, who was living at the same address as Miss Singer. His wife was ill when he arrived, he said, and Miss Singer met him at the door and kissed him.

When he finished the recital of how he struck Miss Singer on the head when she attacked him with a razor and then bound her to prevent an outcry, Conway said:

"I am very sorry that I did it. Self defense is my only plea. I had to stand up for my wife when the Singer woman was trying to induce her to begin a life of shame. If a man will not do that he is not fit to be called a man. I am sorry for Miss Singer, for Bill Warthen, because I know he loved her, and I am most sorry for Miss Singer's mother, who does not deserve the pain which this has caused her."

MAC FARLAND TO STAND TRIAL

Man Acquitted of Wife Murder to Be Prosecuted For Coining.

New York, Nov. 5.—Judge Hough decreed that Allison M. MacFarland, who recently was acquitted of wife murder, shall stand trial on a charge of counterfeiting on Nov. 18.

In his room at 100 West One Hundred and Sixth street silver foil molds bearing the impress of the head of a fifty cent piece were found. MacFarland's captors say that the possession of these molds is a more serious offense in the eyes of the law than the possession of the counterfeit money itself.

MacFarland at the time of his arrest claimed that he was merely perfecting a scheme for duplicating silver ornaments of original design by wholesale and at low cost.

SON NAMED FOR PRESIDENT.

Texas Couple Make No Mistake Because It's Triplets.

Washington, Nov. 5.—Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Tyler of Denison, Tex., have named their son, born Oct. 29, after the next president of the United States.

They know they have not made a mistake in giving their son this distinguished name because triplet boys were born to them on that day and have been named respectively William Howard Taft, Theodore Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson Tyler.

The White House sent a message to the family congratulating William Howard Taft Tyler on being the first baby to be named after the next president.

NOISY THOUSANDS AT DAILY PRESS CORNER

Cheering Crowd Receives Returns—Flashlight Heralds Result Afar.

Fully six thousand people jammed themselves at North and Park avenues, last evening, to read the election bulletins flashed upon the canvas from the Daily Press office. The early returns, indicating a Wilson landslide, had the customary psychological effect upon the crowd and they wildly cheered the winner. There was applause for everybody, the vocal demonstration lasting until the last man with a voice was able to speak above a whisper. To be sure, the victorious Democrats led in the cheering, but the Bull Moosers' hurrah corps was not far behind.

In every direction over a radius of 20 miles the Press huge searchlight atop the Rushmore Dynamo Works heralded the result in nation and city to the uncounted thousands who, unable to join the throng on North avenue, watched eagerly for the broad ribbons of light in the sky. They began to get their news early, tidings of Wilson's election flashing forth shortly after 7:30 o'clock. From that time on beams of light carrying news of the election pierced the darkness at frequent intervals.

Many incidents occurred to prevent a lull in interest. There were torchlight processions, and occasionally some joyful booter rose up out of the throng to say, "I told you so"—with a few oratorical embellishments. There was also a demonstration by the St. Mary's T. A. B. Drum and Fife Corps, which jostled its way through the crowd about the Daily Press, playing tunes indicating Wilson affiliations. The tuting of many horns was heard.

The crowd was representative Men and women edged their way forward to get a look at the "latest slide." And the fair sex was by no means silently interested! If the womenfolk could not cheer, they assisted the males of the species with handclaps and waving handkerchiefs It was clearly evident that no matter who won, the suffrage movement had made a permanent dent on the general political consciousness.

When Taft's picture was thrown on the canvas the crowd gave a limp cheer, and one explosive Irishman, from a pedistal, moved his arms and shouted:

"I'm a dimicrat, an' I voted for Woodrow Wilson, but President Taft is not dishonored by defeat. He is still the President av the United States—Hurroo!"

Applause, blowing of horns and cheering greeted the picture of William N. Runyon. There was a touch of local sentiment in this—as evidenced in the substantial majority given the popular Plainfielder, in the three-cornered Congressional fight.

"They can't keep a good man down—in Plainfield!" shouted a loyal enthusiast. He declared that he was a Democrat, too!

FIELDER WILL SUCCEED WILSON

Hudson County Man Slated for Senate Presidency, Then Governor's Chair.

TUMULTY SECRETARY?

Gossip About Appointments For Jersey Wilson Men is Rife—Late Returns Emphasize Extent of Republican Rout in State.

Trenton, Nov. 7.—When Governor Wilson resigns his present office to become President of the United States it is practically assured that his mantle as Governor of New Jersey will fall upon Senator James F. Fielder, of Hudson county. This presupposes that in the meantime Senator Fielder will have been elected President of the Senate, a position which carries with it the acting Governorship in the event of the death, resignation, disability or absence of the Governor.

Should Gov. Wilson for any unforseen reason relinquish his position before the organization of the Legislature on January 14 next he would be succeeded by President John D. Prince of the Senate, a Republican, who has been sworn in as acting Governor fifteen times during the temporary absence of the Governor from the State. Eliminating all other considerations, therefore, there are ample political reasons for the Governor continuing to serve until the State shall have passed into full control of the Democrats as a result of Tuesday's election. It is the Governor's intention to serve not merely until the Legislature convenes but until a few days before his inauguration, which will cover about two-thirds of the probable legislative session. In that time the Governor is expected to make all the important appointments for the ensuing year so that his successor will have a comparatively easy time for the remainder of the unexpired term, which ends in January 1914.

Senator Fielder's claims to the presidency of the Senate are recognized without question by at least a majority of his Democratic colleagues. He has been the minority leader on the floor for the last two years and besides being the senior member among the Democrats he represents the county which gave Gov. Wilson more than half of his plurality at Tuesday's election as well as at the election of 1910, when he was chosen Governor.

There have been reports that in the event of Senator Fielder's becoming acting Governor he would seek the regular Democratic nomination next

ONLY ONE FREEHOLDER WILL BE REPUBLICAN

Otto Gets in For Year—Hughes High 2-Year Man.

A tribute was paid the personal popularity of George C. Otto, of Elizabeth, in the election of a new board of freeholders. He was the only Republican chosen to serve on the board, and his vote exceeded that of his successful Democratic rival, James J. McCann, of this city.

The new board of freeholders will take over all the duties of governing the county now imposed upon the large board. Fay, Hennessy and Pierson are members of the board now in existence. Otto was elected Assemblyman last year.

J. Logan Fay ran ahead of the ticket, as had beeen expected. His vote in Elizabeth went over the 5,000 mark.

The Bull Moose freeholder ticket did not prove a contender at any time. The total vote in the county follows:

BABY IS NAMED AFTER PRESIDENT-ELECT WILSON

Woodrow Wilson Burke is the name of a 3¼ pound son born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burke, of St. Mary's avenue, just after midnight Tuesday. The youngster was born at Muhlenburgh Hospital, and although unusually small, is perfectly formed and has every appearance of being a healthy child. Mr. Burke as well as his wife were so delighted over the advent of a son so closely following the election of Woodrow Wilson to the Presidency, that they at once decided to name him for the President-elect.

"SKINNY" WILSON IS LAID AWAY IN NEW BRUNSWICK

The funeral of William Wilson, colored, formerly of this city, was held at the late home in New Brunswick, yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the burial was in the Baptist cemetery, that city. Mr. Wileon, who was better known here as "Skinny" Wilson, had lived in Plainfield for twenty-four years, and for seventeen years was a partner of John Taylor in vaudeville, having appeared on numerous occasions in this city and elsewhere with much success. A number of friends from this city attended the funeral yesterday. Mr. Wilson was married last June and his wife survives him.

FRACTURED HER LEG.

The accident occurred early yesterday morning when, as the woman was leaving a fruit store on West Front street, she slipped on a banana peel and fell. Dr. Albert Pittis was summoned and had the woman removed to the hospital, where the bones were set.

WHAT BROUGHT VICTORY ABOUT

W. L. Saunders Analyzes the Conditions That Led to Wilson's Election.

MONEY POWER REBUKE

People Became Aware That Money Was Being Used to Put Men in Office and Favors Were Expected in Return.

Reasons for the overwhelming victory of the Democratic party at the polls on Tuesday were given today by William L. Saunders, who did yeoman service for the National ticket during the campaign as a member of the State Committee. In an interview, he said:

"After the battle of last Tuesday we naturally look backward to see what influences have brought about so overwhelming a victory. Of the many questions involved it seems to me that the single controlling influence was the feeling that special powerful influences have been in control of this government largely through money; that groups of men have dictated political nominations and have influenced the laws in the States and Nation; that this privileged class had carried their selfish desires so far that the people were now beginning to feel the burden of taxation in the cost of living.

"There is really nothing new about this, because since the Civil War the Republican party has been so strongly intrenched in power that it has done previsely what the Lords of England often do—make laws for their own benefit. No one doubts now that the moneyed power of this country has been with the Republican party; no one doubts now that money was deliberately used to elect men in office and that favors in return were expected and given; no one doubts now that the good American policy of protection which Alexander Hamilton started has been killed in the house of its friends by the glut and greed of power. It is one thing to use the government to nurse an infant industry and quite another thing to expect the government to feed a giant.

"Aldrich and Cannon were the arch representatives of this extreme situation, and of the many mistakes which President Taft has made none is so conspicuous as his apparent desire to stand by these men and these policies which the people plainly realized should come down.

"In the midst of all this confusion New Jersey put forward a strong man, with clean hands and a pure heart, with plenty of moral courage, full of human sympathy and a real Democrat. Democracy is the thing that was at stake, for while it is all well enough for nations like Russia and Germany to put men and laws in power through the will of a ruler or an oligarchy, yet we in America are trying the experiment of Democratic government; a government which if it means anything at all it means that the foundation stone of the arch is the common people. President Wilson first attracted me under his banner when he struck at privilege at Princeton, and in the dark days of his troubles there I noticed that he stood firmly upon his statement that 'worse things can happen to Princeton than to lose a half million dollars.' Here was a man who was not in politics, who was not seeking votes, he could not be personally benefited by taking a position antagonistic to the established policy of a university, yet knowing that his cause was just he threw himself into the fight and though defeated in the little circle of Princeton he has won a great battle under the same standard in the State of New Jersey, for no one can deny that the State has been taken from the hands of a few and placed under the control of the people.

"This great Governor was elected President because he of all others represented the true principles upon which this government was founded and the people believe that he has fidelity and courage enough to make them effective in the nation."

THANKSGIVING PROCLAMATION.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 7.—President Taft today issued his regular Thanksgiving Day proclamation. He departed from the usual text to write in a little paragraph which might refer to the elections and which specified how strong and steadfast the people were in conservation of the heritage of self-government bequeathed to us by the wisdom of our fathers and their firm resolve to transmit that heritage unimpaired.

C. W. HOLLAND IS HUNT CLUB'S HEAD

H. L. Finch Declines Another Term—Membership Mounting Steadily.

Officers were elected and reports presented at the annual meeting of the Watchung Hunt Club yesterday. Harry L. Finch, the retiring president, gave a report of the doings of the past year. The report of the treasurer, R. H. Towner, showed that the club is in an excellent condition. The applications of several prospective members were received and it is expected that they will be acted upon shortly by the board. Mr. Finch declined to serve longer as president, already having held that office for several years. These officers were chosen:

President, C. W. Holland; vice president, William Palmer Smith, Jr.; secretary-treasurer, Frank W. Thompson; Board of Stewards, to suceed E. S. Hooley, Thomas R. Van-Boskerck, H. L. Finch and H. F. Hollis, were Lawrence B. Smith, J. Schuyler Casey for three years to succeed E. S. Hooley and Thomas R. Van Boskerck and H. F. Hollis and H. L. Finch were re-elected for a term of three years to succeed themselves.

The full Board of Stewards is as follows: H. E. Butler, H. L. Finch, L. B. Smith, J. Schuyler Casey, J. J. O'Donohue, H. F. Hollis, C W. Holland, R. H. Towner, H. B. Coombe, William Palmer Smith, Jr., and Rufus C. Finch. The officers unanimously re-elected Rufus C. Finch, as master of the hounds.

HARRY M. JOHNS DIES AT THE AGE OF FORTY-FIVE

Harry M. Johns, forty-five years of age, died at his home, 208 Duer street, last night after a three week's illness with pneumonia. He is survived by his wife and six children, Mrs. Vincent Marsh, Arletta, Gertrude and Marie Johns, Lester and LeRoy Johns. He is also survived by two brothers, one of whom is in Australia and one sister.

The funeral service will be held from the house Saturday morning at 11 o'clock, Rev. C. C. Cain, pastor of the Grace M. E. church, of which he was a member, will officiate. Interment will be made in Hillside cemetery.

TWO PROBABLE WINNERS OF SANITARY SEWER CONTRACTS

Mobus Brothers, of this city, were the lowest bidders on one part of the work of building the proposed sanitary sewers, and Partridge & Burke, of Hohokus and Lodi, were the lowest bidders on another part. The estimated cost of the work on which Mobus Brothers were lowest bidders is $18,853, while that for the work bid for by Partridge & Burke is $25,147. The Common Council at its adjourned meeting Monday night will probably award the contract for this work to the above two-named firms.

The sewers are all sanitary, and with the exception of a relief sewer which is to extend from Richmond and East Seventh streets to Grant avenue and West Third street, chiefly cover the East End section of the city.

TRINITY MISSION BAND HOLDS SUCCESSFUL TEA

Under the auspices of the Young Women's Mission Band, of Trinity Reformed church, a missionary tea was given yesterday afternoon at the home of Miss Margaret Leggett on Madison avenue. The affair was attended by nearly fifty members and friends of the band. Miss Leggett, Mrs. Corra Ryno and Mrs. Harry Cooke received the guests; Mrs. Fred S. Cutter and Miss Lillian A. Force poured, and those who assisted in serving were the Misses Helen Smith, Winifred Rapalje, Edna Cole, Lillian Dun and Cora Gano.

Mr. and Mrs. James Clawson, of this city, celebrated the fifty-ninth anniversary of their wedding yesterday and last night they were guests at an anniversary dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Asa F. Randolph, of 521 Central avenue, where the children and grandchildren gathered to join with the couple in celebrating the event. There were many pleasing features to mark the affair.

"SEVEN HOURS IN N. Y." AT THEATRE TONIGHT

What would you do if you had only seven hours to spend in New York? Have a good time wouldn't you? That was Merrill Lee's intention. And he had a good time all right. The next day, however—but that would be telling. "Seven Hours in New York" is the name of a new comedy with music to be seen for the first time at the Plainfield theatre, tonight. The company is a very large one, including a chorus of pretty girls and handsome young men, all of whom can sing and dance. The performance has met with great favor, elsewhere, judging from reports that have reached us.

THE TEMPERATURE.

The temperature report from the State Trust Company today is as follows: 9 a. m., 64 degrees; 11 a. m., 63 degrees; 1 p. m., 62 degrees.

OPERATION TOO MUCH FOR MRS. CODDINGTON

Succumbs to Effects of Complications Following Use of the Knife.

Ida Wilson Coddington, wife of William A. Coddington, passed away this morning at six o'clock as a result of complications following a very severe operation which was performed at Mulhenberg Hospital last Saturday. Mrs. Coddington seemed at first to be recovering from the effects of the operation, but her system was not strong enough to withstand the shock. She lapsed into unconsciousness late Wednesday afternoon and passed away peacefully.

Mrs. Coddington was the daughter of William A. and Maria Wilson, and was born at Basking Ridge, Somerset county. She taught for several years in the North Plainfield schools, and will be lovingly remembered by many of her former pupils, who became greatly attached to their teacher. It was in 1885 that Mr. Coddington, then a teacher in the Bound Brook schools, became acquainted with his future wife, and they were married in 1890. Prior to this time Mr. Coddington gave up the profession of teaching largely at the suggestion of his future wife, and shortly before the marriage he was admitted to the Bar.

Mrs. Coddington was one whose sunny disposition, and many sterling traits of character endeared her to all with whom she came in contact. Her last illness was a most striking example of her fortitude. Not only did she assist in every way possible the doctors and nurses who were constantly at her side, but she really cheered them with her steadfast determination to fight the battle through to a successful issue. Her courage was greater than her physical powers of resistance, and the post-operative complications were such as to overcome the efforts made for her recovery.

Besides Mr. Coddington, her only living relative is her brother, Albert H. Wilson, principal of the Nassau School, East Orange.

The funeral will be held at her late residence, Truell Inn, Park avenue and Eighth street, on Saturday afternoon, at half past two o'clock. Friends are invited to attend. Interment will be at Hillside.

MISS MEEKER'S APRON SHOWER WAS SURPRISE

There were about twenty guests. The house was attractively decorated with cut flowers and ferns, the color scheme being pink and green.

During the evening games were played and vocal, piano and violin solos and duets by Mrs. Charles S. Day and Miss Irene Day were enjoyed. Miss Alice S. Pearce and Miss Ella B. Grieb won first and second prizes and Miss Minnie Weaver and Mrs. Ogden E. Meeker the booby prizes. After the games and music supper was served. The table was prettily decorated, pink ribbons extending from the chandelier to the corners of the table. Pink carnations and roses were also used. A feature was a large bell of pink roses, under which the bride-to-be sat, and at a given signal twenty dainty aprons dropped from the bell. The favors were pink butterflies. Miss Williams was assisted by Mrs. Ogden E. Meeker and Mrs. Richard C. Meeker, of this city.

VAN HERWERDEN ASKS A RECOUNT

Will Contest Bull Mooser's Right to a Seat in the Council.

HE NEEDS FOUR VOTES

Gunnison's Plurality on the Face of the Returns Is a Meagre Three—Van Herwerden Hears Mistakes Were Made.

His opponent, S. E. Gunnison, Bull Mooser, having been elected to the Common Council by three votes on the face of the returns made by the district election officers in the Second ward, Cornelius vanHerwerden, Republican, announced yesterday that he would ask for a recount. The contestant has retained Vincent W. Nash, Jr., as his counsel and the necessary proceedings will be begun tomorrow. The law provides that the petition must be filed within ten days and ordinarily the recount is begun about ten days after election.

Mr. Nash stated today that he had communicated with Justice J. J. Bergen, of the Supreme Court, notifying him that a recount would be requested. If the petition is granted, the Union County Board of Elections will sit in a court room in Elizabeth at a time to be designated by the Supreme Court. The ballot boxes will be unsealed in the presence of the lawyers representing both vanHerwerden and Gunnison.

When Mr. vanHerwerden was seen today he said that he had received information leading him to believe that mistakes had been made in the count and that property owners in his ward had virtually demanded that he make a contest.

"I have lived in the ward for thirty-seven years," said Mr. vanHerwerden, "and am a very large property owner. My opponent has only lived in Plainfield little over a year, owns no property and cast his first vote here at Tuesday's election."

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Madame Alla Nazimova comes to the Plainfield theatre, Saturday afternoon and evening, in the character, Bella Donna, that could not fit her more snugly had it been written for her. The play is all about Egyptians and Egyptian customs in conflict with the civilization of England. Its scenes and story are packed full of mystery, the detection of crime, a woman's thrist for power, and, having achieved power, her unscrupulous ambition to murder her husband in order that she may marry the one man whom she is certain can master her. Madame Nazimova will look, act and be Bella Donna to the very life. Of unflagging interest, there is no letup to the absorbing acount of the marriage, murderous intent and frightful downfall of Bella Donna, from first act to last. The piece will be given only one performance in this city.

FIELDER TO SUCCEED WILSON

fall. This was done in 1898 by Foster M. Voorhees, who became acting Governor when Gov. Griggs resigned to enter President McKinley's Cabinet. The New Jersey Constitution prohibits a Governor from succeeding himself and to avoid this inhibition Gov. Voorhees resigned the acting Governorship two weeks before election.

Assuranceswere given today by friends of Senator Fielder that in no circumstances will he attempt to repeat the performance of Gov. Voorhees by becoming a candidate for the nomination. So far as he is concerned the field will be left clear for Mayor H. Otto Wittpenn, of Jersey City, who seems assured of the solid organization suport of Hudson county.

There was an unconfirmed rumor about the State House today that Governor Wilson practically had decided to give Joseph P. Tumulty, his private secretary in New Jersey, the corresponding position in Washington. Mr. Tumulty qualified last week as clerk of the Supreme Court, but the Governor announced at the time that he would continue to act as private secretary, which gives some color to the report that he is to accompany the Governor to Washington.

Having retained control of the Legislature on joint ballot the Democrats will have the selection of a State Treasurer to succeed Daniel S. Voorhees next March. Friends of State Comptroller Edward I. Edwards, of Jersey City, believe that he will try to make a shift from the Comptrollership to the Treasurership. His term as Comptroller expires in 1914 and if he can bring about the change it will assure him three more years in office regardless of the political complexion of the next Legislature.

Chairman Edward E. Grosscup, of the Democratic State committee, who was appointed to the State Board of Education by Governor Wilson, is also said to be an isporant for another berth. He would like either the Treasurership or Comptrollership and failing to land one or the other will probably be a candidate for membership on the Board of Public Utility Commissioners to succeed President Robert Williams, of Passaic, whose term expires next May. There are few other important appointments to be made during the unexpired term of Governor Wilson.

The Department of Labor, which has assumed considerable proportions during recent years, will undoubtedly be turned over to a Democrat with the expiration of the term of Commissioner Lewis T. Bryant, of Atlantic City, next September. A similar result is expected in the case of the Bureau of Statistics of Labor and Industries, of which Winton C. Garrison, treasurer of the Republican State Committee, is the present chief. The term of Jurge G. D. W. Vroom, of the Court of Errors and Appeals, also will expire next year, and Governor Wilson will have the naming of his successor during the next session. Judge Vroom is a Democrat.

Late returns from Tuesday's election merely have served to emphasize the extent of the Democratic victory and the almost total rout of the Republican forces in every section of the State. Eleven of the twelve Congress districts were carried by the Democrats. Five of the six State Senators chosen are Democrats, and of the sixty members in the House the Republicans will not have more than nine, and some of the Assembly contests are so close that even this small minority may be cut down to six or seven.

In the Congressional contests William J. Browning, of Camden, was the only successful Republican. Among those defeated was Representative John J. Gardner, of Atlantic City, who is rouning out twenty years of service in Congress. "Old Brains," as Gardner is sometimes called, has been in public life almost without interruption since he was elected Mayor of Atlantic City in 1868.

The Congressmen chosen were as follows, the asterisk (*) indicates reelection:

First District—Camden, Gloucester and Salem counties.
William J. Browning, R.
Second District—Atlantic, Burlington, Cape May and Cumberland counties.
J. Thompson Baker, D.
Third District—Middlesex, Monmouth and Ocean counties.
*Thomas J. Scully, D.
Fourth District—Somerset, Mercer and Hunterdon counties.
Allan B. Walsh, D.
Fifth District—Union and Morris counties.
*William E. Tuttle, D.
Sixth District—Part of Passaic, Bergen, Sussex and Warren counties.
Lewis J. Martin, D.
Seventh District—Part of Passaic county.
Robert G. Bremner, D.
Eighth District—Part of Essex and Hudson counties.
*Eugene F. Kinkead, D.
Ninth District—Part of Essex county.
*Walter I. McCoy, D.
Tenth District—Part of Essex county.
*Edward W. Townsend, D.
Eleventh District—Part of Hudson county.
John J. Egan, D.
Twelfth District—Part of Hudson county.
*James A. Hamill, D.

In the old Sixth District, which was represented by William Hughes until he recently resigned, there was a contest for the position to fill the unexpired term. This district retains the old Sixth District lines of Passaic, Bergen and Sussex counties. The suceessful candidate was:

Archibald C. Hart, Wilson D.

The Six Senators chosen are:

BURLINGTON COUNTY.
Blanchard H. White, R.
CAPE MAY COUNTY.
Harry C. Wheaton, D.
HUNTERDON COUNTY.
George F. Martens, Jr., D.
MIDDLESEX COUNTY.
William E. Ramsey, D.
PASSAIC COUNTY.
Peter J. McGinnis, D.
SUSSEX COUNTY.
Samuel Munson, D.

Those selected above with the following, will constitute the members of the Senate of 1913:

Atlantic county, Walter E. Edge, R., 1913.
Bergen county, James A. C. Johnson, D., 1913.
Camden county, William T. Read, R., 1914.
Cumberland county, Isaac T. Nichols, R., 1913.
Essex county, Austen Colgate, R., 1914.
Gloucester county, George W. F. Gaunt, R., 1914.
Hudson county, James F. Fielder, D., 1913.
Mercer county, Harry D. Leavitt, R., 1913.
Monmouth county, John W. Slocum, D., 1914.
Morris county, Richard Fitzherbert, D. 1913.
Ocean county, George C. Low, D., 1913.
Salem county, J. Warren Davis, D., 1914.
Somerset county, William W. Smalley, R., 1914.
Union county, Carlton B. Pierce, R., 1914.
Warren county, Thomas Barber, D., 1914.

The year after the name indicates that the terms will expire at the end of the session of that year.

The nine Republican Assemblymen who appear to have been elected are: E. L. Richards and Joseph W. Salus, Atlantic county; Robert Peacock, Burlington; Isaac W. Coles and John B. Kates, Camden; Edward C. Leeds, Gloucester; George W. Adams and Harvey S. Moore, Mercer, and David G. Conrad, Ocean. The election of Peacock in Burlington and Conrad in Ocean are still in some doubt.

The Democrats elected J. R. Carrow in Camden and Erwin E. Marshall in Mercer. The Legislature will stand:

	House.	Senate.
Republican	9	9—18
Democrats	51	12—63

Democratic majority on joint ballot, 45.

Returns still incomplete indicate that Wilson carried New Jersey by a plurality of about 35,000 over Roosevelt. He carried seventeen counties and Roosevelt three and one doubtful. Governor Wilson's vote was much smaller than that by which he was elected two years ago, but the split between the Republicans and Progressives maintained for him a large plurality.

PROHIBITIONISTS WILL LEAD SUFFRAGIST BAND

Theodore Roosevelt was officially invited yesterday by the Executive Committee of the Men's League for Woman Suffrage to march down Fifth avenue from Fifty-eighth street to Union Square on November 9. The men are confident the Colonel will accept if his health permits.

There was a dreadful moment at the meeting of the central committee of the Woman Suffrage party in the morning when the question of which of the political parties which have indorsed votes for women should be acorded first place in the parade.

Some one suggested the party which had first come out for the feminine ballot should lead, and the Prohibitionists were accorded the honor, with the Socialists, the Bull Moose, the Republicans and the Democrats (the last three according to priority in convention) following.

Elizabeth, Nov. 7.—It was announced that in all probability the body of the Very Rev. Dean Martin Gessner, rector of St. Patrick's church, who died Tuesday night, would be buried in the ground owned by the church. The dean had often expressed a wish, it is said, to be buried on this spot.

FOUR CHILDREN ABANDONED.

Paterson, Nov. 7.—In the Passaic County Children's Home, in Market street, are two boys and two girls, brothers and sisters, ranging from five to nine years old, and, as they are unable to give any further information than their names, the police are inclined to believe that they have been deserted by their parents or guardians. Patrolman Venderbok found the quartet shivering at Hamburg and Union avenues. Two of the youngsters were crying. They told the policeman that they did not know where they lived. They gave their names as Samuel, Annie, David and Mary Menrisch. All were poorly clad.

WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

What is the meaning of the enormous vote cast for the Progressive party's Presidential candidate and what is the future of that movement? These are the questions being discussed by the newspapers today. That there is a difference of opinion is natural. Some few dyed-in-the-wool Republican organs are cocksure that with the momentary defeat, if such it can be called, the party has succumbed; that it has gone the way of the Greeley cause. Their mistake is founded on the false idea that the Progressive party is a one-man movement. Nothing, however, is farther from the fact. To claim it otherwise is a reflection on considerably more than one-half of the men who persistently voted the Republican ticket until the Republican National convention disaster. To these men, the Republican seccessionists, the new movement is little short of a religion.

While it is true Wilson swept the country, polling an almost unprecedented vote, the Progressives made a wonderful showing. They carried such mighty and steadfast Republican States as Pennsylvania and Michigan, and also the great State of Illinois, not to mention Washington and South Dakota. Moreover, they ran second to the Democrats in approximately thirty-eight States. To the Republicans was given the two borough States of Utah and Idaho, and Vermont,—only nine electoral votes. Does this mean anything? We think it does; we believe it isgnifies that the Progressive cause is founded on a firm foundation and will grow stronger instead of weaker. Hundreds of thousands who hesitated to join the cause will now have the courage to affiliate with it. They have learned that it is a party of the future.

As the Philadelphia North American, a former independent Republican paper, said this morning:

A new party has been established, its foundations laid on the bedrock of American life and cemented with the truest patriotic convictions. It is a nation-wide party, with like appeal to the citizens of all states and all sections and all parties. It is destined to be the instrument of all who believe that the paramount issues of this day are the re-establishment of genuine popular rule and the conservation of human rights.

It should be left to the sodden reactionary to say that the Progressives movement, because it did not elect a president last Tuesday, suffered a defeat. Let the followers of special privilege comfort themselves with that delusion.

Is it a defeat when a party, born only ninety days ago, at its first election springs into the place of the chief minority party of the nation? When it thrusts back into third place a party which had ruled the nation for forty out of the last fifty years? When it reduces Republicanism to the pitiable feat of carrying three states, with 12 electoral votes, as against thirty states, with 321 electoral votes, only four years ago? When it has carried Pennsylvania, proof against assault for a generation? When it has carried Illinois and Michigan and Kansas and Washington, boasted as impregnably Republican? When it has won the advantage of being the chief minority party in most of the counties in New York and in a score of other states?

If this be defeat, let the enemies of Progressivism make the most of it. Its followers know that in the space of a few months a great national party has been born, its standard planted firmly in every state in the Union, its aims supported by the ablest leaders of thought, its principles upheld by a militant army of patriotic Americans.

They know, and their opponents will learn, that the war has just begun, and that it will not end until the evil of special privilege has been destroyed, self-government restored and the rights of humanity under this flag established.

The same view is taken by the Newark Evening News, an Independent paper that gave encouragement to both the Democrats and the Progressives in their National campaigns:

The showing made by the Progressives Tuesday was a thing unprecedented in our history. All that was vital in the old Republican party discarded the husk in which it had been held rigid by forces stubbornly resisatnt to change and became a new political entity, alive with a new purpose and instinct with new promise. The outgrown shell was cast aside, and the spirit of progress was transferred to a political body in which its energies could find unhampered play.

Even more extraordinary, perhaps, than the event was the fact that it was not generally foreseen. It ought to have been possible at any time during the past decade to detect the new spirit which was stirring, the new spirit which guided Theodore Roosevelt when he gave to the reform movement in this country national scope and identified his administration with that movement.

The Progressive party begins with a defeat that is more than half a victory. Facing any other opponent than a man himself imbued with the spirit of progressive humanity, it would have triumphed. As it is, it comes from the battle with flags flying, and stands, powerful, sincere and clean, ready to do the nation's service and take up the work for human rights if the Democratic party slips on the path.

The Progressive party is here to stay; it has a mission to perform.

Armageddon stands pat.

Did the subscribers of the Daily Press realize that its election edition issued a t6 o'clock on Wednesday morning was the best election paper ever put out in this section of New Jersey? Let us tell you why. In the first place every line of every story on the results was telegraphed to this paper by the New York Sun bureau and was identical with the stories appearing in th eNew York Sun the same morning. The Sun's facilities for gathering news accurately and swiftly are unsurpassed in America and the Plainfield Daily Press, at no small cost, obtained for this section of the State its exclusive service of 20,000 words. In addition to all this, the Daily Press, presented to its readers the fullest and most correct results in New Jersey, in Union county and in Plainfield. Nothing of the like had been done here before and "the paper that originates and does not imitate" entertains no boastful spirit when it says that under the new management greater things are to b edone, for we will not be content until we become one of New Jersey's leading papers. And there is no reason why, in this intelligent community, there should not be a daily newspaper of State reputation.

KURDS SAID TO BE RALLYING TO DEFENSE OF THE CAPITOL

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

London, Nov. 7.—A cable from Sofia today said that the Bulgarian army had decisively defeated the Turks and driven them in panic from positions at the Tchatalja forts.

A message from Vienna said that 25,000 Kurds were marching through Asia toward Constantinople to aid in resisting Czar Ferdinands troops.

The Greeks were expected to occupy Salonica today. It was announced at Athens that 15,000 Turks had evacuated the city after destroying the bridges between it and the Greek force.

Constantza, Nov. 7.—Roumania refugees from Constantinople began arriving here today. They reported that every Christian who could possibly do so was leaving the Turkish capital.

London, Nov. 7.—A message from Constantinople says that 300 of Czar Ferdinand's troops were killed near the Tchatalja forts today when a mine exploded.

A MONEY LAUNDRY.

How Uncle Sam Keeps His Currency Clean.

"Dirty money" will be merely a catch phrase if the treasury department's new money washing machine meets with the success that is expected. Roberts G. Bailey, assistant secretary of the treasury, in charge of currency affairs, believes the day is not far distant when every big bank and store will have a money washing machine.

Two girls and a machinist have succeeded in washing 25,000 notes a day on a big machine built by Burgess W. Smith, superintendent of technical work of the bureau of engraving and printing. The notes are placed between two endless belts of porous cloth, carried through soapsuds and water, and turned out as good as new.

Mr. Bailey and J. E. Ralph, director of the bureau of engraving and printing, estimate that with these machines installed at every subtreasury the government will save $500,000 a year.

An Unexpected Exhibit.

When Mr. Charles S. Whitman, district attorney of New York county, recently went to Hot Springs, Ark., in search of evidence in connection with the famous Rosenthal case he found more "exhibits" than he had bargained for. It all occurred when Mr. Whitman visited an alligator farm near Hot Springs. One of the keepers at the farm took a small alligator and did stunts with it while the crowd kept at a respectful distance. Whitman said he would rather tackle a New York grafter than a Hot Springs alligator.

Deciding the Presidency.

More people are going to vote in the presidential election this year than ever voted before. The total vote for all candidates in 1908 was 14,888,442. This year it will exceed 15,000,000.

As the population increases the total vote increases, but there's another factor that contributes to the steady climb. A bigger percentage of the people are voting every year.

In 1820 only 3.7 per cent of the population voted. Ever since then the percentage has been going up as follows: 1840, 13.5 per cent; 1860, 14.3 per cent; 1892, 15.3 per cent; 1900, 15.4 per cent; 1908, 16.3 per cent.

MEXICO PLEASED WITH WILSON

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Mexico City, Nov. 7.—Special to to New York News Bureau.—The election of Woodrow Wilson is received with satisfaction in government circles where he is regarded as a conservative type of man who will continue the policy of non-intervention. Ernesto Madero, minister of finance, made the following comment: "Woodrow Wilson is regarded as one of your most conspicuous Democrats of strong convictions, culture and upright. It is natural to expect that his administration, inspired by the principles of the party he represents, will continue existing relations with all friendly nations, especially Mexico."

ILLINOIS IN DOUBT.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Chicago, Nov. 7.—Reports to Democratic National Headquarters this afternoon are that Wilson has a substantial plurality in Illinois. Returns from more than twenty counties, however, are still missing. It was declared today that Joseph G. Cannon had been defeated in the 18th district by F. J. O. Hair, Democrat, by 611 plurality.

A CORRECTION.

Emma Chapman, held in $1,500 bail for the Grand Jury, is charged with causing the death of Sadie Hankenson, who died October 27 in Muhlenberg Hospital, and not Emma Hankerson, as stated before.

"JIGGER DAY" NETTED KING'S DAUGHTERS $70

The Cup Bearers' Circle of The King's Daughters held a "Jigger Day" affair yesterday at the Watchung Pharmacy, when William L. Pratt, the proprietor, allowed the young women to take charge of his soda water fountain for the day and giving them the profits less the actual cost of the syrups and other materials used. The circle made about $70.

The affair was arranged by Miss Dorothy Burke, president of the circle. The young women wore white caps and aprons and proved experts in drawing soda water. There were two shifts in the morning, two in the afternoon and two in the evening, with five young women working in each shift. In addition to selling soda, cake and candy were sold, netting a substantial profit.

The officers of the circle are: President, Miss Dorothy Burke; vice president, Mrs. Leslie Hallock; treasurer, Miss Katharine Titus; secretary, Miss Emily Poucher; trustees, Miss Lucie Budlong and Miss May Faber. All the other members of the circle assisted in the enterprise.

WILSON WILL REST IN BERMUDA FOR TWO WEEKS

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

FOUR CHILDREN DEAD IN BLAZE

Woodbridge, Nov. 7.—While James Driscoll, of Chrome, near here, awaited election returns in town Tuesday night his three children burned to death in bed, his baby was fatally burned and his wife so badly scared by flames in trying to save the child that the doctors say she may die. The infant died yesterday. The fire destroyed the home.

Mr. Driscoll did not know of the fire until he returned, to find his home in ashes.

No satisfactory explanation has been made of the tragedy, as Mrs. Driscoll became unconscious before she was able to make a statement.

When neighbors discovered the blaze the house was enveloped. Most of the men in the vicinity were out for the election returns and the women of the households were in bed.

Mrs. Driscoll was found on the ground near the house, her baby beside her. The nightclothes of both were burned off. The infant was taken to a physician's house and the mother to the home of a neighbor.

Although a fire alarm was sounded, discovery of the blaze was so late that the task of the firemen was hopeless. As soon as the flames died down search was made for the bodies of the children. They were soon found.

The oldest child was a girl eleven years old. A boy was seven years old and another girl four were the other victim's beside the babe.

How the mother made her way out was only a matter of conjecture. It was not known whether or not she was forced to leap, but it was plain that she had made desperate efforts to protect her infant.

Dr. B. W. Hoagland, of this place, was summoned from Rahway. Mrs. Driscoll, still unconscious, was taken to a Perth Amboy Hospital yesterday morning in a critical condition.

It was suggested today that there may have been a gas stove explosion, but this idea was doubted, since it was plain that the fire occurred after Mrs. Driscoll and the children had gone to bed. The county authorities will investigate.

FAMILIES ROUTED BY $30,000 AMBOY FIRE

Perth Amboy, Nov. 7.—Two buildings were destroyed, twelve others were damaged, and many families rendered homeless in a $30,000 fire here Tuesday night. The heavy damage is laid in a great measure to the lack of water, owing to a dead end the bursting of hose.

The buildings destroyed are both icehouses and belonged to the Perth Amboy Coal and Ice Company. They were along the Pennsylvania rails and tracks, near William street, and were valued at $6,000. The buildings damaged are all residences, the most seriously burned being homes of Frank Tonghine, Michael Fitzpatrick, Mrs. Margaret Maloney, Henry Miller and Michael Sugan.

It is believed by the police that the blaze was started by boys, probably as an election prank. The flames were discovered in one of the icehouses.

During the blaze Frank Casty, twelve years old, of Hall avenue, was injured by falling timber.

After his resignation as head of Cornell he served successively as minister to Russia, member of the Venezuelan Commission, ambassador to Germany and head of the American delegation to the peace conference at The Hague. With his educational and diplomatic service Dr. White has combined much diplomatic labor and is the author of many valuable scientific works.

The injured player is staying at the residence of friends on Fairview avenue, his home being in South Carolina.

ONE DAY IN PARIS

An Experience During the Riotous Times of the Commune.

DEATH STALKED THE ROADS.

An Unarmed Procession Bearing Banners of Peace and Good Will Was Mowed Down by Cannon Planted in the Streets—A Woman's Adventure.

In Harper's Mme. de Hegermann-Lindencrone tells of her experiences in Paris during the commune. One day's adventures are typical. On March 20, 1871, she writes:

"Today there was a great demonstration in the streets.

"A young fellow named Henri de Pene thought if he could collect enough people to follow him he would lead them to the barricades in the Place Vendome in order to beg the communards in the name of le peuple to restore order and quiet in the city. He sent word beforehand that they would come there unarmed.

"I happened to go at 1 o'clock to Worth's, in the Rue de la Paix, and, finding the street barred, I left my coupe in the Rue des Petit Champs, telling Louis (my coachman) to wait for me in the Rue St. Arnaud (just behind the Rue de la Paix), and I walked to No. 7.

"I wondered why there were so few people in the street. The Place Vendome was barricaded with paving stones, and cannons were pointing down the Rue de la Paix. I walked quietly along to Worth's, and hardly had I reached his salon than we heard distant, confused sounds, and then the shouting in the street below made us all rush to the windows.

"What a sight met our eyes!

"This handsome young fellow De Pene, his hat in his outstretched hand, followed by a crowd of men, women and children, looked the picture of life, health and enthusiasm.

"The crowd bore banners on which were written 'Les Amis du Peuple,' 'Amis de l'Ordre,' 'Pour la Paix' and one with 'Nous ne sommes pas armes.'

"One can't imagine the horror we felt when we heard the roar of a cannon and looking down saw the street filled with smoke and frightened screams and terrified groans reached our ears. Some one dragged me inside the window and shut it down to drown the horrible noise outside. De Pene was the first who was killed. The street was filled with dead and wounded.

"I felt terribly agitated and, moreover, deathly sick. My one thought was to reach my carriage and get home as quickly as possible. But how was I to accomplish it? The Rue de la Paix was, of course, impossible. Worth had a courtyard, but no outlet into the Rue St. Arnaud. He suggested that I should go through his ateliers, which he had at the top of the house, and reach an adjoining apartment, from which I might descend to the Rue St. Arnaud, where I would find my carriage. He told one of his women to lead the way, and I followed. We toiled up many flights of wearisome steps until we arrived at the above mentioned ateliers. These communicated with another apartment, of which Worth's woman had the key. On her opening the door we found ourselves in a small bedroom (not in the tidiest condition), seeming to have just been occupied. We passed through this room and came out to a staircase, where the demoiselle said, 'You have only to go down here.'

"When at last I came to the porte-cochere I found it closed and locked, and the frightened concierge would not open for me. Fortunately I had a gold piece to make her yield to my demand. She reluctantly unfastened the door, and I went out. The street was filled with a terrified mob, howling and flying in every direction. I caught a glimpse of the carriage away up the street, and I saw a hand gesticulating above the heads of the crowd, which I recognized as Louis'. It was the only one with a glove on.

"I pushed my way through the mass of people, saying very politely 'Pardon' as I pushed and very politely 'Merci' after I had passed.

"My horse had been unharnessed, and a man was trying to lead him away in spite of Louis' remonstrances.

"The man holding the bridle opposite to Louis seemed a most formidable person to me. Still I tried to smile with placid calmness, and, though I was shaking all over, said, 'Pardon, monsieur, will you permit me to have my carriage harnessed?' I think he was completely taken off his guard, for, with the intuitive gallantry of a Frenchman, he answered most amiably, throwing back his coat and showing me his badge, 'I am the agent of the salut publique, and it is for the government that I take your horse.'

"I made him observe that it would be very difficult for me to walk to my home in the Rue de Courcelles and if his government wanted the horse it could come there and fetch it. He looked doubtfully at me as if weighing the situation, then said, very courteously, 'I understand, madame, and give you back your horse,' and he even helped Louis to rebarness the horse, who seemed happy to return to his shafts.

"When I arrived home I had to go to bed. I was so exhausted. Mlle. W. administered the infallible camomile tea, her remedy for every ill. She cannot conceive of any disease which is not cured by camomile tea unless in extreme, when fleurs d'oranger takes its place."

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

BEEF FOR INVALIDS.

MEAT for beef tea should be of good flavor, lean and juicy. It is a mistake to think that any beef will do for this purpose. All skin, fat and membrane should be taken off.

In choosing meat for tea remember that the top of the round and the back and the middle of the rump have the best flavor and will yield double the quantity of juice that other parts do.

When in a Hurry.

Broiling is the quickest way of preparing beef essence or tea in an emergency. The tea is made by adding water to the essence.

Broiled Beef Essence.—Broil a half pound of round steak until the juice will flow. Cut it into small pieces and squeeze the juice into a bowl placed over warm water.

Meat Juice.—Shred half a pound of raw beefsteak and free it from fat and skin. Pour on it a half pint of cold water. Stir well. Add a pinch of salt and let it stand for half an hour in a warm place. Stir again, then strain the liquor through muslin. Press it well to extract all the juice.

This may be drunk cold or before using the cup containing it may be warmed in a saucepan of hot water.

It may also be mixed with a little cream or a beaten egg.

Savory Broth.

Beef Broth.—Take one pound of lean beef, one pint of water, pepper and salt to taste. Cut the beef into pieces, remove fat and skin, put it into a saucepan with the cold water and let it simmer for two or three hours. Season and strain.

How to Make Tea.

Beef Tea.—Take steak from the top part of the round. Remove fat and divide the meat into small pieces, cutting across the grain. Put the meat in a dry saucepan and allow it to stand for five minutes over a slow fire. Stir occasionally to prevent sticking. After cooking for five minutes you will find the meat white in color and with a very rich gravy. Pour over the meat its weight in cold water, allowing a pint of water for a pound of beef. Stir until the water boils. It must not boil again, but simmer gently for five or ten minutes. Strain into a bowl. If there is any fat remove with a piece of unsized brown paper.

WHAT TO WEAR.

Hats the Motoring Maid Will Like. Popularity of Velvet Bows.

Stitched hats in cloth and leather are favored for motoring.

Wide black velvet ribbon in huge bows trims some dead white hats.

Many smart frocks owe much of their attractiveness to groups of little black velvet bows.

Ribbons with printed floral designs

CHARMING HOUSE DRESS.

like the French fabrics of the eighteenth century are lrgely employed.a

Some waists are made with plaited sections, not only on their fronts and backs, but also on their sleeves.

This charming indoor dress of broadcloth is trimmed with one of the new striped silks and the combination is an affective one. Curduroy for the entire dress with trimmings of broadcloth would be very good looking.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls of fourteen, sixteen and eighteen years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7272, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

VOTES FOR WOMEN

Conducted by the Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield.

On October 10 California celebrated its equal suffrage birthday, the women of the State having acquired citizenship October 10, 1911. The Los Angeles Tribune says: "The women have written a glorious report into the annals of equal suffrage. Their record is unstinted by any blot of inefficiency, partisanship, political uneconomy, indifference in citizenship, or lack of womanly dignity. It is written in the hearts of great men and women of the State that this has been a year made greater and richer for California because of the direct aid of women in civic fulfillments."

COLLEGE LEAGUE DESCRIBES PRACTICAL OUTCOME OF EQUAL SUFFRAGE—NO HARM, MUCH GOOD.

The proof of the pudding is in the eating. The College Equal Suffrage League of California has published for distribution in the campaign States a summary of conditions and results in California. It says:

Are Women Interested?

Are women interested in civic matters?

In Los Angeles, of a total registration of 175,000, there were 80,000 women registered during the first ten days after the suffrage amendment passed. All over the States, women who had been indifferent or opposed to the suffrage registered as a matter of course, and were among the first to organize for civic education and work.

Were Women Represented?

Were women represented before they had the suffrage?

In one precinct of California which gave 139 votes against suffrage to 88 for suffrage, there were 628 women who voted to 549 men, in the first city election after the passing of the suffrage amendment. In another precinct that went against suffrage (169 against to 113 for), at the city election following there were 962 votes cast by women and 843 by men. Is it not strange to insist that women were already represented by men when 169 men had voted to deny suffrage to women in a precincit where 962 women afterward voted at the very first opportunity?

Do Women Vote?

Of the women who registered for the very first election in Los Angeles, 95 per cent. voted. In some precincts in San Diego, 100 per cent. actually voted. In local elections throughout the State the average has been almost 90 per cent.

Polls In Better Places.

Are women contaminated by the surroundings of the polls?

Women do not have to vote in objectionable places in California. The polls are now located in tents in the open streets, in schools and churches, and in other innocuous places, vide the following card from one newly-enfranchised citizen to another:

"Voted at sun-up in a millinery shop! Came forth unsullied, with my interest in the home undiminished and my womanliness intact! What about you?

In many precincts women serve all day long at the polls as clerks of election, even those women who had formerly been anti-suffragists.

Homes Not Neglected.

Are women neglecting their home duties in order to vote?

Precincts are small and polling places are always in one's neighborhood, so that frequently the housewife needs only to cross the street or go round the corner, taking not more than five or ten minutes out of her busy day. The children play about the booths, and husband or neighbor cares for the baby while the mother votes.

Bad Women's Vote Small.

Does the "bad woman" vote swamp the good woman vote?

The registration of "bad women" in California has amounted to practically nothing. For instance, in one city precinct frequented by such women there were but two women's names registered. In none of such precincts in the same city were there more than ten womeen registered, all of whom may have been respectable wives of workingmen who lived in those districts.

Influence Versus Votes.

Is woman's "influence" better than her vote?

In San Francisco the inspector of buildings says that now he can say to the builders, when they violate the law about air, light and space: "There is one organization of voters (the San Francisco Civic Center, 220 Post street), numbering over a thousand public-spirited women, who are going to see whether you violate the law. A dozen of these women were out measuring up your new tenements, and if you don't put up the right sort of buildings you will have all these voters tor eckon with."

In California there is now a comparatively free leisure class able to look into the enforcement of the law. Pressure is put upon every city official to see that he does his work better. Officials are waked up to a sense of duty by fearless and watchful public opinion, and are giving better service since women have voted.

Added Respect for Women.

Do men treat women with less respect?

Since the granting of suffrage to women, the men of California in the minor courtesies of life are no less chivalrous than they were before, while in public life woman's advice is found to be valuable, and it is impossible to overestimate the added dignity and respect with which she is now regarded. Many men who had opposed woman suffrage after the recent elections honestly stated their mistake and said: "We are heartily ashamed that we voted against woman's enfranchisement, for we find women as keen of judgment and as thoroughly alive to public interests as any man."

At a special session of the State Legislature, called immediately after the suffrage amendment was carried, a law not asked for or lobbied for by any woman was passed, exempting all voters from giving their ages at registration, because it was feared some women would hesitate to do so.

Study Clubs Organized.

Do women make intelligent citizens?

All over the State, irrespective of occupation, color or race, the "new voters" (1) have organized clubs for the study of public questions, (2) have introduced civic sections into existing clubs, (3) and have transformed hitherto moribund or aimless associations into live centers for civic study.

The Northern California branch of the College Equal Suffrage League alone has organized twenty-three such centers with a membership of nearly 3,000. There are several other State Leagues for civic study, as well as many smaller local associations and informal unattached clubs. "Study and service" is the motto of the California Civic League. Normal classes have been formed to train teachers for the education of civic workers and lists and bulletins have beeen sent broadcaston registration, on voting, on primary election laws and on other subjects of particular interest to women.

Judge Lindsey says:

"Certainly equal suffrage has not made women any the less womanly or any the less motherly. It does not take any woman from her home duties to spend ten minutes in going to the polls, casting her vote and returning to her home; but during those ten minutes she wields a power which is doing more to protect that home and all other homes than any other power or influence in Colorado."

A little squib is going around the papers about a man who opposes equal suffrage because, if women could vote, he is afraid his wife would want him to explain the tariff to her. Almost every argument urged against woman's ballot is in reality an argument for it. When equal suffrage was granted in Colorado, something of this kind actually happened, and it proved to be a very good thing for the men. Ellis Meredith described it at the time. She said, in substance:

"Every wife likes to believe that her husband knows everything, and every husband likes to have his wife think so. When Colorado women were enfranchised they wanted to vote intelligently. They made the air blue with interrigation points, and the men had to brush up their own political knowledge to enable them to answer their wives' questions."

2387 Fashionable New DRESSES at $12.75

That Were Made to Sell for $25 and More

Ready for an Extraordinary Occasion in the Subway Store Tomorrow

Such an offering as this would seem incredible right at the beginning of the season if it were not for the fact that we purchased the entire stock of Rosenmeyer & Diamond, Inc., of New York City, when they dissolved partnership and wanted to divide real money instead of a stock of dresses.

This concern has been making the most delightful afternoon, party and evening Dresses for Women and Misses. Their dresses are found only in high-class stores, for they made nothing to retail for less than $25. Others ranged up to $50—we took them all. Hundreds of dresses are here that are selling today in other stores for $29.50 and $35. We've seen them—so probably have you. Women will be delighted to see how beautifully these Dresses are made—how charming in style—how refined and dainty.

The picture shows three representative styles. There are sixty-four different models to select from, in all sizes, for Women and Misses. The dresses will be DISPLAYED ON LIVING MODELS during the Sale, so that their full beauty may be realized. BROADWAY NEW YORK THIRTY-THIRD ST.

An Excellent Performance.

To say that the performance given last Saturday evening at the Lexington Avenue Opera House, New York City, for the benefit of the Employees' Mutual Aid Association of James McCreery & Company, was a great success, is putting it mildly. Not only did the attendance exceed the highest expectations of everyone, but the performance itself went through from start to finish without a break. From the rise of the curtain to its fall the performers accredited themselves remarkably well.

The performance took the form of a musical comedy. It was called "The Land of Light and Laughter," and consisted of a continuous performance of dances, songs and chorus numbers, held together by the merest thread of plot. The lyrics were the work of Van Barr, and Miss Morganroth, the playwright, wrote the words. The entire cast from stage manager to the littlest girl in the chorus was recruited from the store's ranks, and the performance spoke highly for the beauty and talent of the employees of both the 34th and 23rd Street stores.

Anybody who has ever shopped at McCreery's—and all of us do—have noted the high character of the employees. The high class trade which is attracted to this store demands that the salespeople shall be superior, and James McCreery & Company have not only succeeded in gathering together a splendid class of men and women, but the performance has proven that they are remarkably clever as well.

At the close of the match Lieutenant Davis, captain of Co. "M" team, acted as spokesman for the team, and presented Lieutenant A. R. Phillips, captain of Co. "K" team, with a ten dollar gold piece which had been put up for the winners of the shoot.

This is the second time that a team from Co. "K" has gone up to Somerville and defeated Co. "M" on their own range. The first time was about ten years ago and was the only time that Co. "M" ever met the local company up to the recent shoot.

Arrangements are to be made through the winter by the commissioned officers of the two companies to make the shoot an annual affair and put up a cup for the winners of two out of three matches to hold until the other team takes it away from them by defeating them.

The Company "K" team will be kept in trim throughout the winter on the indoor range in the armory and in the spring will be put on the range at Sea Girt to try for the State rifle team that will represent New Jersey in all the big rifle matches to be held nevt year in United States.

YALE-PRINCETON HISTORY.

Football Elevens Will Clash For Thirty-eighth Time Nov. 16.

Yale and Princeton will meet on the gridiron for the thirty-eighth time when they face each other on University field, in Princeton, N. J., Nov. 16. Of the thirty-seven games played Yale has won twenty and the Tigers ten. Seven games ended with the score tied and honors even. Meeting for the first time far back in 1873, the rivals played on Yale field, New Haven, and the Tigers jumped off to a flying start and won the game three goals to none.

Since that time, with the exception of 1874 and 1875, the teams have met each year. The Princeton eleven won at intervals, but was never able to win in successive seasons until 1898 and 1899. Yale has exacted a bitter revenge for this rupture of tradition, for since then, with the exception of 1903, when De Witt, the mighty Princeton guard, made his sensational run for a touchdown and later kicked a remarkable goal from the field which beat Yale 11 to 6, the men from New Haven have lost but one game, and that last year, when Sammy White picked up the ball and ran sixty-five yards, scoring a touchdown defeating the Ells by a score of 6 to 3.

The game of 1884 was called twenty minutes before the expiration of the second half on account of darkness, Yale having at the time 6 points and Princeton 4. The referee, R. M. Appleton of Harvard, under rule 20 of the intercollegiate constitution, requiring a championship game to consist of two full halves of forty-five minutes each, declared the contest no game and the score 0 to 0. Yale appealed this decision to the intercollegiate convention, but that body sustained the decision of Mr. Appleton. Like the game of 1884, the one in 1886 was terminated by darkness before ten minutes of the second half had expired, Yale having 6 points at the time and Princeton 0. The referee, T. H. Harris of Princeton, thereupon declared the contest "no game" and the score 0 to 0. The complete history of Yale-Princeton scores is as follows.

1877—Yale, 2 touchdowns; Princeton, 0.
1878—Princeton, 1 goal; Yale, 0.
1879—Yale, 2 safeties; Princeton, 5 safeties.
1880—Yale, 5 safeties; Princeton, 11 safeties.
1881—Yale, 0; Princeton, 0.
1882—Yale, 2 goals 1 safety; Princeton, 1 goal 1 safety.
1883—Yale, 1 goal; Princeton, 0.
1884—Yale, 1 goal; Princeton, 1 touchdown.
1885—Princeton, 1 goal from touchdown; Yale, 1 goal from field.
1886—Yale, 1 touchdown; Princeton, 0.
1887—Yale, 2 goals; Princeton, 0.
1888—Yale, 2 goals; Princeton, 0.
1889—Princeton, 1 goal 1 touchdown; Yale, 0.
1890—Yale, 32 points; Princeton, 0.
1891—Yale, 2 goals 2 touchdowns; Princeton, 0.
1892—Yale, 2 goals; Princeton, 0.
1893—Princeton, 1 goal; Yale, 0.
1894—Yale, 24; Princeton, 0.
1895—Yale, 20; Princeton, 10.
1896—Princeton, 24; Yale, 6.
1897—Yale, 6; Princeton, 0.
1898—Princeton, 6; Yale, 0.
1899—Princeton, 11; Yale, 10.
1900—Yale, 29; Princeton, 5.
1901—Yale, 12; Princeton, 0.
1902—Yale, 12; Princeton, 5.
1903—Princeton, 11; Yale, 6.
1904—Yale, 12; Princeton, 0.
1905—Yale, 23; Princeton, 4.
1906—Yale, 0; Princeton, 0.
1907—Yale, 12; Princeton, 10.
1908—Yale, 11; Princeton, 6.
1909—Yale, 17; Princeton, 0.
1910—Yale, 5; Princeton, 3.

The lineup of this year's game will probably be as follows:

RUGBY STRONG IN AUSTRALIA.

Over 3,865 Players Are Under Supervision of Sydney Officials.

T. J. Richards, vice captain of the Australian team now playing against college and club teams on the Pacific coast, says regarding Rugby union football in his country:

"The season opens in May and closes in September, and 2,325 schoolboys take part in the various grades of competition, one grade of boys having their weight limited to ninety-eight pounds. There also are 1,540 men playing in competition. The winners of each grade receive at the end of the season a permanent pennant. Ten teams comprise the first grade section. Of the above players 3,865 in all are under the direct supervision of the metropolitan union of Sydney, a city with a population of 600,000."

"INSIDE STUFF" IN FOOTBALL

Average Spectator Is Blind to Fine Points of Sport.

BASEBALL IS MUCH EASIER.

Almost Any One Can Follow Plays In National Game, but Coaches and Experts Only Understand Inner Workings of Gridiron Contest.

It is strange that the ordinary spectator of a football game never seems to see the inside workings of the teams.

Contrary to baseball, where everything can be seen, the inside workings of football are nearly always concealed, even to the students of the game, and only apparent to the coaches.

If the layman could see a blackboard talk of football men he would understand that every man has some specific duty to perform in every individual play, both offensively and defensively.

If the player starts off on the run with the ball in his arm the spectator will watch him and never seem to notice the men who have made the way clear for him.

In the defense as well the spectator sees only the man who tackles the runner, while the player who possibly broke up the play would never be noticed.

Baseball players of the old days, when they went to bat, were told to hit the ball, if possible, paying no attention to the hit and run game, the sacrifice hit, the squeeze play or the hit to right field.

The same may be said of old time football. The man was given the ball and told to run with it, and very little attention was given to the assistance received from his teammates.

There is by far more "inside work" in a game of football than in baseball for the reason that every single team, whether on the offensive or defensive, has some specific duty which each man on the team is coached to do.

There are also many instances of quick thinking where a man by doing something away out of the ordinary will pull off a great play.

The defensive man by shifting his position and in different little maneuvers may force the quarterback on the offensive team to put the play wherever he may desire, just the same as a baseball pitcher by throwing a certain curve can make the batsman hit in a certain direction.

Bob Torrey in the Harvard game in 1904 by his constant shifting and maneuvering forced the Harvard quarterback to put the play in almost any place he wished it to go.

Tom Bukiewitz used to watch for the starting signal or certain characteristics of the opposing team whereby he could tell exactly when the ball would be snapped almost the same as a coacher will watch for the signal of an offensive baseball team.

The unexpected is very often pulled on the opposing team, such as Princeton having Poe kick a field goal in preference to using its usual drop kicker or such things as Al Miller performed in the 1908 Penn-Cornell game.

The signal was given for a real forward pass, but Miller, finding his men covered, ran with it instead. In bluffing to pass the ball he had the Cornell men trying to block his pass and instantly would take the ball on his arm and run down the field with it.

Vincent Stevenson, the quarterback of the Penn team in 1904, was also a great inside football player. In the Harvard game in 1904 he would shoot plays at a certain spot in the line in order to draw in the tackle, even knowing that he could not gain any ground. After he succeeded in drawing these men in he would give the signal for his own fast end run.

His work in that game will never be forgotten by the spectators who were fortunate enough to see it, and his work was made possible by his quick thinking brain.

DAVIS TENNIS CUP PLAY.

English Tennis Stars Will Meet Australians at Melbourne.

The British Isles lawn tennis challengers will meet the Australasian defenders for the Davis international challenge cup on the courts at Melbourne, Australia, on Nov. 28, 29 and 30. It will be the eleventh challenge series for the world famous trophy, which was offered by Dwight L. Davis, an American, in 1900.

The British Isles team is composed of Charles P. Dixon, John C. Parke, F. G. Lowe and A. E. Beamish. All of these players have competed in America and have yielded to the foremost American players, notably Maurice E. McLoughlin and William A. Larned.

Dixon will act as captain of the team, as he did in September, 1911, at the time the British Isles met the Americans on the courts of the West Side Tennis club in New York. Following the internationals, the team will make a tour through Australia and New Zealand, competing in a number of specially arranged tournaments.

BILLIARD INVADER FROM AFAR

Koji Yamada, the Japanese expert, will play in the 18.2 balk line championship tournament which will begin in New York Nov. 11. Mr. Yamada is the only foreigner in the tournament and also probably the youngest of the eight entries. He is only twenty-four years old and has been playing billiards only five years, but his performances have been excellent, and good judges who have seen him in action think the Nipponese crack stands as good a chance as anybody of winning first prize.

KOJI YAMADA, JAPANESE BILLIARD EXPERT.

against Adorjan, Kerkau, Poensgen and Cassignol in Berlin and made an average of 25 for 2,000 points at 18.2.

"My father," said Yamada recently, "has a billiard room and restaurant in Tokyo, and I learned the game there, but on small tables with big balls and with four balls on the table. They don't play the three ball game there, although a good deal of billiards is played in Japan. I've been playing about five years, balk line for the last two years only, not taking up balk line until going to Berlin."

Yamada will be not only the youngest and the foreignest but the smallest player in the tourney. He is only five feet two and one-half inches. He brought with him three cues, very ornate affairs, but none the less capable of coaxing points from the ivory.

This is the furnace that makes the saving

Three Shovels of Coal Do the Work of Four

"Square Pot" Furnaces lessen living cost by cutting coal bills. The square firepot of this famous furnace always keeps a live fire. It never clogs with ash or cinder, but clears free with each turn of the grate. Hence the "Square Pot" Furnace is constantly giving out a full quota of heat for fuel consumed. More than that, this same square firepot increases radiating surface over ordinary round firepots 15 or more per cent. From all of which it is safe to deduce that the "Square Pot" heating system gives expected results on about one-fourth less coal than other systems. See this economical furnace at your dealer's and ask for a demonstration. "Square Pot" boilers have these same valuable features. "Square Pot" furnaces and boilers best solve all heating problems.

THIRD PARTY TO BE STRENGTHENED

Expect Second Place on the Official Ballot.

PLANNING FOR NEXT HOUSE

Republican Leaders Will Not Be Idle and Aim to Get Many Back Into the Fold—Outlook For Lively Campaigning.

Washington, Nov. 7.—The bull moose organization is here to stay. It became known here shortly before election that Colonel Roosevelt's managers, realizing that he could not be elected, had already begun laying plans to strengthen their party organization by keeping up an active propaganda for four years more.

In his statement given out in New York Senator Dixon, chairman of the Roosevelt campaign committee, makes clear that he and his associates in the Roosevelt movement intend to go to work at once to hold their supporters in various states and to try to bring in recruits. A literary bureau will probably be established, it is learned here, and a regular bulletin or newspaper organ issued periodically.

After the Next House.

It is learned here that satisfactory assurances have been given that the necessary money will be furnished by George W. Perkins and others to carry on the work for the next four years. The first aim of the bull moose party will be to capture a majority of the next house of representatives. They share the belief that is quite common among politicians that President Wilson's administration will have its troubles before it is many months old, due to attempted tariff legislation, internal strife among its leaders and disappointment over the distribution of federal patronage. It is quite generally expected that a political reaction will follow in two years which may even wipe out the Democratic majority in the house, although that would seem to be impossible in view of the overwhelming Democratic representation.

Senator Dixon's claim that the new party will be entitled to take second place on the official ballot in every state in the Union except five is accepted as rather significant. His contention also that in the congressional districts at the elections two years hence judges of elections and other officers at the polls will be controlled by the Democrats and the bull moose party jointly, to the exclusion of the Republicans, arouses some surprise. It is seriously doubted by some of the older politicians whether this claim can be maintained.

Republicans Will Fight.

It is not to be assumed for a minute that the Republican leaders will remain quiet while the bull moose managers are busy with their propaganda. It has been the rule of both the Democratic and Republican managers to suspend active campaigning following an election in order that business might have an opportunity to readjust itself and the people enjoy a period of freedom from political strife and excitement. The Republican leaders have apparently been basing their hopes for rebuilding their party on the prospect that Republicans who had gone off after the bull moose party in a period of national excitement and for a variety of reasons would gradually return and that within two years much of the defection that marked this election would disappear.

Undoubtedly the Republican leaders expected that a Democratic administration would turn out to be so unpopular that it would restore the Republican party to its former prestige, but in view of the fact that the bull moose leaders intend to keep up the agitation it is certain that the Republicans will take some steps to meet their activities.

It must not be assumed, politicians say, that the Progressive movement will be without its embarrassments. There are some jealousies in that political fold. It is well known that the chief promoters of that party are looking forward to making Colonel Roosevelt the presidential nominee in 1916, but in this they may meet with some opposition. Senator Beveridge of Indiana has long been an aspirant for presidential honors. Governor Hiram W. Johnson may feel that he is entitled to some recognition other than the vice presidency. Senator La Follette, who has not joined the new Progressive movement, will undoubtedly set in motion his own presidential campaign for four years hence. Altogether, there is an outlook for very lively campaigning.

Francis Joseph, Europe's Oldest Reigning Monarch

EMPEROR FRANCIS JOSEPH of Austria, who recently celebrated his eighty-second birthday, is the oldest reigning monarch in Europe. He has occupied the throne since December, 1848, or nearly sixty-four years.

The emperor of Austria rarely appears in public nowadays. But those who are privileged to see him frequently are surprised to find him stalwart and hearty. He is filled with the desire to do his duty in every way, to give sympathy where sympathy is due and, a very rare quality in persons of his age, wholly unselfish.

But what interests the general public most of all is perhaps the secret of his perfect health on the threshold of eighty-three. This he owes in a great measure to himself. Never was a man less given to dissipation of any kind than this venerated prince.

He has adhered all his life long to the rule of his mother—that boys, in order to have plenty of time before them for work, exercise and recreation, must rise with the sun and retire to rest when it gets dark. Most people refuse to believe that the emperor has all his life been awakened by his valet at 4 a. m., yet it is a fact to this day. The emperor sleeps in a narrow camp bed, which forms part of the bedroom furniture of every place where he resides during different parts of the year. The fittings and linen are taken along with the rest of the luggage. When the valet enters the bedroom the emperor is wide awake in a moment, ready to rise and refresh himself by a cold wash. The emperor insists upon shaving himself.

Both his daughters have repeatedly begged him to allow his hairdresser to perform this duty, fearing perhaps that as he grows older his hands might tremble, a danger all the more to be apprehended because the emperor will not use a safety razor, but to no avail.

Then his body physician, Dr. Kerzl, appears with the masseur, Herr Koch, who was thoroughly trained before he was allowed to bathe and massage the emperor, who, notwithstanding his great age, still enjoys his cold shower bath, summer and winter. Next the emperor dresses without any help, in his uniform always. All the aid the valet is allowed to give is to hold out the garments in the succession as they are put on.

A cup of tea and a slice of ham with a boiled egg is the morning meal, which the emperor can with difficulty be prevailed upon to take. After breakfast he takes an hour's exercise.

At 8 a. m. his work begins. His secretaries for military and civil affairs are waiting to be admitted to his presence, in evening dress always, even among the mountains of Tyrol. Nobody can be more attentive or conscientious than the emperor when at work. Before he takes a pen to put his signature to a document he goes through the matter three times to be quite sure that his decision is right and just. The dinner hour in Ischl is 2:30 o'clock, and this is the only meal of which the emperor partakes heartily.

A glass of beer is all the emperor drinks with his dinner. When the emperor rides through the park and forests of Ischl he mounts the Brat, an English double pony. The summer guests at Ischl are very proud of the emperor's prowess on horseback at the age of eighty-two, and they wait in hundreds for his return, when they know that he is out riding. When he goes out shooting, as he has done several times this season, the prettiest young women are appointed to see him pass on his way and wish him luck, and all old women are requested to stay home until he has passed. He is supposed to be as superstitious as all real sportsmen.

On his return from his walk or drive the emperor reads his newspaper, and then a supper is served which explains his sound and healthy sleep—a big glass of sour milk and a piece of bread and butter. Very rarely he asks for a slice of ham to add to it. At 8 o'clock the emperor invariably goes to rest.

—The man who says nothing,
And simply saws wood,
May use up the sawdust
To make breakfast food.

JAMES A. O'GORMAN.

Senator O'Gorman was one of the original Wilson men. It is regarded doubtful, however, that he would give up the senatorship for a place in the cabinet.

TAFT IS PHILOSOPHICAL.

Attributes Defeat to Split In Party and Popular Discontent.

Cincinnati, Nov. 7.—President Taft left here at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon to return to Washington, where he arrived early this morning. His private car Ideal was attached to a regular express train over the Pennsylvania railroad. Mr. Taft was not depressed or downcast over the result of the election and in discussing it with his personal friends accepted his defeat philosophically. He believes that the split in the Republican party and the widespread popular discontent are the two principal factors causing the Democratic landslide.

The president has made no definite plans for his future after the 4th of March next, when he will go out of office. He has repeatedly told his friends, however, that he intends to practice law in this city. Recently there has been a report that he will join the New York law firm which his brother, Henry W. Taft, is a member and with which Attorney General Wickersham was formerly associated. Mr. Taft, however, it is said, will not decide this question for several months.

Weather Forecast.

Rain today, colder in western portion; tomorrow colder and probably fair; moderate to brisk southwest, shifting to northwest winds.

WHO PAYS FOR TARIFF BENEFITS?

A. H. Atterbury Puts Query to Local Protagonists of Protection.

POINTED OPEN LETTER

In Communication Addressed to Messrs. Runyon, Stockton and Ackerman Democrat Asks Who Loses What Others Gain.

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I have sent the following open letter to Ernest R. Ackerman, Esqr., Harry M. Stockton, Esqr., and William N. Runyon, Esqr.

Gentlemen—I have read with interest Mr. Ackerman's arguments with Mr. Saunders, and your letter last week in the Press, Mr. Stockton, and the printed reports of your speeches, Mr. Runyon, during your recent campaign. I read them because I was looking for something which I have often sought from Protectionists but have never found—a clear-cut statement as to who pays the bills. You have all told us who benefit from the tariff. Sometimes it is one person, sometimes another, according to the exigencies of the campaign. Sometimes it is the workingman whose wages are raised, sometimes it is the farmer who is enriched by the duty on eggs, potatoes and barley. Sometimes it is the manufacturer, impoverished by his disinterested and philanthropic efforts to raise wages, and who naturally seeks some amelioration of his lot. You are agreed that someone gets a benefit from the tariff; someone is in pocket by the duties. Wont you tell us who is out of pocket by them? You must admit that if one man gains by the tariff someone else must lose. Please tell us who that someone else is, and why he should contribute to the other man. We hear so little about him from Protectionist speakers that he is apt to be overlooked, but he must be somewhere, he must exist. If A has his wages raised by the tariff, and if B has his profits raised to make up for the high wages paid to A, and if C gets a bonus because he cannot otherwise compete with other nations, if all these men get something out of the tariff, who are the others, (whom we will call X, Y and Z), who pay the money that A, B and C receive. And after you have identified X, Y and Z to our mutual satisfaction, will you not go one step further and explain why X, Y and Z should be compelled to give up of their substance to help out A, B and C? That is an interesting question and in view of the result of the election, it is bound to become a very practical question.

I had intended writing this letter before the election but decided to wait and see what happened on November 5. The result of the election means that the questions which I ask you will have to be answered soon after March 4, and answered fully and completely. I have no doubt our little world in Plainfield would be glad to get your views on this subject.

Yours very truly,
ALBERT H. ATTERBURY.

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL OF CONGRESSMAN UTTER

The funeral service of Congressman Herbert Utter, which was held at his late home on High street, Westerly, R. I., Wednesday afternoon, was very largely attended by relatives and friends; also Governor Aram J. Pothier and nearly all of the State officials. The display of floral tributes were beyond description.

Rev. Clayton A. Burdick, pastor of the Seventh Day Baptist church, of Westerly, of which Mr. Utter was a member and a deacon for fifteen years, officiated. His eulogy of the departed was most impressive. The burial took place in the River Bend cemtery, at Westerly, and among those who served as pall-bearers was Dr. Henry M. Maxson, superintendent of the Plainfield Public Schools, who was a schoolboy friend and college classmate of Mr. Utter at Amherst.

COLLEGE CLUB PLAY WAS GREAT SUCCESS

"Russian Honeymoon" Cast Makes a Hit in Delightful Play.

"A Russian Honeymoon," a delightful love story in three acts, was presented last night by the College Club, before a large and appreciative audience in Hartridge Auditorium. The principal parts were taken by Miss Edna Pierson Hopkins, as Count Woroffski, who later appears in the disguise of a journeyman shoemaker, or serf, and the part of Poleska, who becomes Countess Woroffski, was very ably impersonated by Miss Eva Gregg Browne.

Under the direction of Margaret Bradshaw and with Miss Roxana Love, as accompanist, the different parts of the playlet was interspersed with dances, these performers being costumed in the fashion of the old "court dancers."

The first act shown represented the cottage of Ivan the shoemaker, Ivan being enacted by Miss Margaret Townsend. Count Woroffski married a very pretty and spirited girl named Poleska, who, by reason of her natural temperament hides her love for him. To test her, he poses as a journeyman shoemaker, and by pre-arranged plan, his wife makes her appearance in the shop where he is supposed to be working. Thinking she had been fooled, and that she had really married a poor shoemaker, the Countess starts divorce proceedings but as the papers are about to be executed, her love for the supposed shoemaker, overcomes her and steps are immediately taken to have the divorce papers cancelled. The Count Woroffski then appears in his true role amid a large crowd of court attendants, dancers and peasants of his domain, who flock to the castle at the news of the ramonce.

The dramatic personae: Alexis Petrovitch, journeyman (later Gustave, Count Woroffski), Edna Pierson Hopkins; Poleska, his wife, Eva Gregg Browne; Baroness Vladmir, his sister, Fredericka R. Mead; Ivan, a master shoemaker, Margaret Townsend; Micheline, his daughter, Blanche Buttfield; Koulikoff Demetrovitch, intendant of Chateau Woroffski, Elizabeth Goddard, and Osip, a young peasant, Ellen D. Burke. Dancers—the Misses Ethel Titsworth, Isabel Ashwell, Harriet Goddard, Ellen Merrill, Faith Parmelee, Esther Edgerton, Miss Margaret Buttfield, Katherine Brown.

Persants—The Misses Elsie Harmen, Roxama Love, Mabelle Phillips, Katherine Beebe, Mrs. Moyer, Miss Katherine Ball and Miss Helen Brown. Guards—Mrs. Asa Randolph and Miss Katherine Beebe.

The chairman of the arrangements committees were Mrs. H. D. Corbusier, Miss Ruth Maxson, Mrs. Lindsey Best, Mrs. Morris Benton, Miss Mary Wells and Mrs. F. V. Lawrence. Much credit for the success of the performance is due John Meyers, who was coach.

PERFECT RECORD MADE OF BOY SOPRANO VOICE

In securing from Master Walter Lawrence, of All Angels church, New York, the only perfect graphophone record ever made by a boy soprano, the Columbia people have taken the first step in an important move of interest to many churchgoers. Usually, the graphophone authorities say the notes of a boy soprano do not carry with sufficient force to make clear records possible, but in the case of young Lawrence, it was the living voice that was recorded.

Following this success, the company conceived the novel idea of presenting to churches, particularly where large choirs are not posible, a special set of records of religious music. Inasmuch as New York schools and institutions all over the United States are adopting the graphophone and grafonola for teaching by imitation, the extension of the system to churches comes as a natural sequence.

In addition to the records made by Walter Lawrence, as soloist, full-choir records are being prepared, and also records of Walter leading and the choir joining in. Perhaps, later, there will even be sermons delivered by talking machines.

JOINS STAMP SOCIETY.

J. Hervey Buchanan has joined the Trenton Philatelic Society, of which former State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman and other notables are members. Mr. Ackerman, who has one of the finest stamp collections in existence, was among the eight winners of valuable prizes at the International Stamp Exhibition just closed in London. He received a gold medal.

DEMOCRATS AND COUNTY BERTHS

Elizabeth Man Slated to Succeed Codington as County Attorney.

KREIG FOR ENGINEER

James P. Kelly and Robert H. McAdams Mentioned for the County Collectorship — McCloud Meets With Some Opposition.

With the selection of a big Democratic majority for the new Board of Freeholders at Tuesday's election, a large group of aspirants for the extensive patronage that will be at the board's disposal has sprung up. From county collector down, the list is an alluring one for the Democrats, who have been patiently awaiting the return of their party to power for many years.

The most widely discussed name of a posible appointee for county collector was that of William J. McCloud, of the contracting firm of William J. McCloud & Co., and long recognized as a force in Elizabeth politics.

A more likely selection, should he want it, appears to be James P. Kelly, who lost the fight for surrogate by an unofficial majority of less than 100. Two freeholders have already gone on record as against Mr. McCloud's appointment, although they did so with the stipulation that their names should not be used for publication. Both of them would be agreeable to naming Mr. Kelly, it is understood. His name was originally proposed by a freeholder, acting without Mr. Kelly's knowledge.

Robert H. McAdams, of Elizabeth, in another who is being mentioned for county collector. Mr. McAdams is not figuring in discussions on the possible slate with as much prominence as the others. Those who would have him named believe that the complications that threaten to ensue over the appointment of two judges and a prosecutor next spring would be prevented, to a great extent.

They think appointing him collector would serve something in the nature of a consolation prize, and at the same time reduce the number of opponents other Democrats will have in seeking the Governor's patronage. Mr. McAdams is a candidate for prosecutor or judge.

For director of the board to succeed J. N. Cady, Freeholders Thomas J. Pierson and Dennis F. Hennessy are viewed as the possibilities. Both are members of the present board, and were elected to three-year terms. They are now the minority members of the following committees: Mr. Pierson, County Roads, Collector, Legislature and Elections; Mr. Hennessy, Collector's Bond, Publications, Elizabeth Drawbridges and Soldiers' Headstones.

Whichever one fails to be elected director will become chairman of the Roads Committee, it is believed. Freeholder J. Logan Fay, who received the highest vote of any candidate, will also receive some choice chairmanship, it is thought. Mr. Fay is now a member of the Bonnie Burn Sanatorium Committee, which will probably grow in importance when the satatorium is opened to the public. Mr. Fay is also connected with the Appropriations and Rahway Drawbridges Committee.

School Commissioner Martin P. O'Connor, of Elizabeth, is the leading candidate mentioned for county attorney to succeed William R. Codington, of Plainfield. Democrats realize that some of the appointments will have to go to Democrats in municipalities outside of Elizabeth, however, and LeRoy A. Gibby, of Summit, has been suggested for county attorney. Mr. Gibby was defeated for the nomination for Surrogate after he had twice run in years when the Democrats knew they had little real chance to win.

There is much speculation on the identity of the county engineer who will succeed Jacob L. Bauer. John Kreig, who is connected with Elizabeth City Engiiner's office, has been suggested.

Nathaniel K. Thompson, who was removed as street commissioner of Elizabeth last winter, is a possibility for county supervisor of roads to succeed J. W. Fink, of Westfield. There is also considerable talk of this appointment going to a Democrat outside of Elizabeth.

A custodian of the Courthouse will be at the disposition of the board, and there is said to be a strong sentiment among several prominent Democrats for the retention of the present incumbent, William H. Hulskamper. At least one of the present office-holders should be retained, they argue.

A clerk and an auditor are other positions to be filled by the new board, besides the staff of Courthouse attaches, the custodian and a few more comparatively minor offices.

REVILLE AFTER POSTMASTERSHIP

First to Announce Aspiration for the Job Bird Holds.

HAS FINE PARTY RECORD

Recognized as An Old-Line Constant and Consistent Fighter for Democratic Principles—Place Vacant in Year and a Half.

Patrick J. Reville, a member of the Common Council, is the first to formally announce his candidacy for the postmastership to succeed the present incumbent, Elias H. Bird.

Mr. Reville was at one time an employe at the local postoffice. He is known as one of the hardest workers for the Democratic party, its principles and its candidates. He is a Democrat in season and out of season, without regard to which way the political sun is shining.

Postmaster Bird's term expires a year and a half hence and his successor will be named by the then President Wilson. Already Reville's friends have started an active boom for him and they hope to land him the appointment.

ASKS FREEHOLDERS TO PAY FOR HIS HORSE

Animal Died Because Bridge Was Unrepaired—Money For Hospital.

Elizabeth, Nov. 8 (Special).—Muhlenberg Hospital, of Plainfield, will receive the sum of $5,250, as its share of the county hospital appropriation, according to the decision of the Board of Freeholders at its meeting this afternoon.

Chairman J. Hervey Doane, of the Bonnie Burn Sanatorium Committee, invited the board members to the formal opening of the institution at Scotch Plains on November 18, when it will be turned over to the Board of Governors.

R. P. Hayes Potter, a farmer of Stirling, wrote the board through his counsel asking $250 settlement as the result of an accident to his horse which broke its leg while walking over the Sycamore avenue bridge, from Plainfield to North Plainfield. The animal had to be shot. He claims that the planking of the bridge is defective. Freeholders Doane, Wilbur and Pierson, with the county attorney, will look into the matter.

The board will hold a special meeting on November 21 to pay election bills.

CARD FIEND IN AUDIENCE BESTS EXPERT ON STAGE

Variety is the life of vaudeville and Proctor's certainly have variety and life in the program they offer for the last three days of this week. J. K. Murray, Clare Lane and Co., in a novel and very pleasing Irish singing skit. These players are exceptionally popular in New York and Boston, and they will add Plainfield to that list. Personality counts for a heap in this world, and they possess a goodly share of the world's supply. James Kennedy & Co., in the farce "Looking for Fathers," is a mass of complications, explanations and fun. As harpists and violinists the De Steffano Brothers rank high in the musical world and they deserve every success. The Van Dalle Sisters dancers of hte higher order have a very pleasing act, that was well received. Claude Golden, the manipulator of cards, was worsted by a card fiend in the audience last night much to the delight of the people "in front."

M. E. DISTRICT MISSION AND EXTENSION MEETING

SEEKS A RECOUNT OF SURROGATESHIP VOTE

James P. Kelly Will Inaugurate Contest Over Parrot's Job.

Application for a recount of the vote of surrogate will be made within a day or two by James F. Kelly, defeated Democratic nominee, in response to the urging of his friends throughout the county. The unofficial returns show Surrogate George T. Parrot elected for his sixth term by unofficial majorities ranging from 50 to 165, as different ones who have compiled the vote present conflicting totals.

The official canvass of the vote started yesterday, and Mr. Kelly's supporters hope the result will place him within a good striking distance of Mr. Parrot when the recount commences. The recount will be made by the county board of elections, in the presence of the judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

Mr. Kelly originally intended to abide by the totals as announced election night by the election districts of the county. The manner in which the Parrot majority fluctuated encouraged Mr. Kelly's friends to approve of a recount, and it is said that during the last day they have heard of ballots rejected that they think will be allowed to count by the county board. Whether or not most of these ballots will favor Mr. Kelly is uncertain, although a number of them were in this city.

Mr. Kelly's failure to poll a larger Democratic vote was disappointing to his friends. After his showing in the primaries they believed he would triumph at the general election, although this same primary fight is now blamed by many for apparently giving Mr. Parrot the victory. Mr. Kelly had two opponents in the primaries and it is charged that friends of both the defeated men cut the successful candidate.

The election of a surrogate in Union county is still officially in doubt owing to the fact that the election officers in the Second district of the First ward in Plainfield locked the returns up in the ballot boz and the box cannot be opened without an order from Pustice Bergen. He is expected to give the necessary order today or tomorrow.

In the meantime County Clerk James C. Calvert has sent a representative to Plainfield to make an investigation and learn why the board went contrary to the law in locking up the returns. A report will be made to the court. According to information received from Elizabeth, today, the vote for surrogate is getting closer and closer.

BAPTIST YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD MERRY SOCIABLE

A "two-ringed circus" was the principal event at the social held by the Young People's Society at the First Baptist church last night. At the close of the circus Hallowe'en games were played. All those present came masked.

Those that took part in the circus were Harold Robbins, "Strong Man;" Ralph Armstrong, "the Wild Man of Borneo;" Egbert Fountain, "fat woman," and Sidney Mackey as "the Turk." Robbin Brown acted as ring master.

Refreshments were served during the evening by the refreshment committee which was composed of Miss Carrie Demler, chairman; Mrs. Ralph Armstrong, Miss Cora Linden, Harry Woodland, Ralph Armstrong and Sidney Mackey. Miss Lillian Teter was chairman of the committee that arranged and introduced the different games.

MAYOR DELIGHTED WITH RESULT OF THE ELECTION

Mayor G. W. V. Moy when asked today whether he had anything to say regarding the result of the election, made the following statement:

"I am delighted with the result. I gave all my time and energy toward establishing a new party and the fact that it is fairly established gives me the utmost satisfaction. So far as Percy H. Stewart, the Mayor-elect, is concerned, I am glad he is elected, and I told him so. I have received from him a most cordial letter in response to one I sent him congratulating him upon his election. WEBSTER HOME FOR AGED WOMEN

ESTATE WORTH $70,000

Court Passes on Construction of Testament as It Relates to Property of Miss Webster's Father—Executor Files Account.

Elizabeth, Nov. 8 (Special).—John H. VanWinkle, the executor of the estate of Miss Catherine Webster, of Plainfield, filed an account today in the Orphans' Court, Elizabeth, before Judge Atwater, and the same was passed by the court. The estate is valued at approximately $70,000 and the bulk of it will be used to purchase a suitable site and erect an old women's home, according to the terms of the will.

The trustees of the body which was incorporated sometime ago for that purpose, will now carry out the provisions of the will. The court was asked for a construction of Miss Catherine Webster's will as affecting the property of her father, Joseph Webster, who died many years before she did. J. H. VanWinkle, Jr., as administrator of the estate of Joseph Webster, appeared in court with his father, who is executor of Miss Webster's estate.

TAFT'S SWAN SONG WILL URGE ACTION

Last Messages to Congress will Include Several Legislative Recommendations.

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

Washington, Nov. 8.—It was declared today that President Taft's forthcoming message would emphasize the necessity of clearing up all legislation advocated by the Republicans. It was said that the President told department heads at today's Cabinet meeting that it was his purpose to follow his plan of last year in submitting one general message when Congress convenes and follow that by a number of special supplementary messages.

It is believed that the President will propose immediate cuts in the tariff on certain schedules. The President, it was said, had been informed that Democratic leaders in the House would not attempt tariff reform this winter.

Among the recommendations which it is believed President Taft will make in his annual message are the following:

Supplementary legislation to the Sherman anti-trust law and a federal incorporation law.

A new passport and trade treaty with Russia to replace that cancelled a year ago.

A workmen's compensation and industrial insurance act.

Adoption of a new code for the Federal judiciary to expedite justice and yet protect litigants.

Restoration of a non-partisan tariff commission.

Protection and extension of civil service to cover revnue and customs collectors, land and pension agents and more postmasters.

Commanders of the Salvation Army

BRAMWELL BOOTH, new general of the Salvation Army, is the eldest son of his father, General William Booth, its founder. He was born in Halifax in 1856 and has served through all grades of the army, rising to second in command, a position he held at the time of his father's death. Like his father, he has been on evangelical and inspection tours of various parts of the world.

His part in the development of the Salvation Army has been a most important one. He was the organizer who built into permanent institutions the groups of converted sinners who were won to a better life by his father's eloquence and popular methods.

The new general is depicted as a man of complete system in business administration. All his work is organized under secretaries immediately within call. His vast desk is covered with assorted papers. Reference books are close at hand. All his interviews are by appointment. His frugal midday meal is served on a swinging table by the side of his desk. In spite of his businesslike methods Bramwell Booth is a man of great human sympathy, to whom an appeal for help or for justice is never made in vain. His zeal is such that in his youth he risked imprisonment for his convictions.

The new general of the Salvation Army was married in 1882 to Captain Florence Soper. Captain Soper was the daughter of a west of England physician and was converted at a Whitechapel meeting she attended as a sightseer, the guest of Mrs. Catherine Booth. She served in the Salvation Army in France and is now in charge of the women's social work in England. This branch of the Salvation Army work has been a great factor not only in fighting the spread of the social evil, but in reducing drunkenness among Englishwomen of the lower classes.

Outlining the army's future fundamental object, Bramwell Booth said:

"It is my great hope to make men realize the value of citizenship and their relation and responsibility to the community, getting away from the pauper idea.

"Thus the social work of the Salvation Army is for the future its fundamental object. The difficulty of unemployment both in England and America is the most complicated problem of the communities. We have strongly urged for years the establishing of detention colonies for vagrants. We see in them safety for society and also the one hope of restoration for many vagrants who now are hopeless and whose habits menace society. But God forbid we should propose more prisons.

"The prisons also must be dominated by the spirit of human sympathy and religious influence. The inequalities of the law are gravely to blame for the wretched conditions in which the submerged criminal classes are found.

"How easy society finds it to lock up all sorts of undesirable, afflicted people! Society has to pay, but let us make sure the officials understand that the country is tired of the old costly methods and wants no new courses of penal medicine to add to the universal suffering, but is determined to have an entirely new treatment of every needy individual according to his requirements."

Miss Eva Booth, commander of the Salvation Army in America, was sent to this country by her father to assume the duties of that position after her brother, Ballington Booth, had disagreed with their father and broken away from the Salvation Army to found the rival organization known as the Volunteers of America.

Miss Booth is very popular and has put into practice many ingenious methods of advertising the work of the army. She went to London to attend the funeral of her father.

Mrs. E. C. McCay, of Cleveland, with her two children, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Patten, of East Seventh street.

REPUBLICANS SAVED BI-PARTISAN PLACES

The Republican party in New Jersey, as an organization, will lose much more in the way of political patronage as the result of the election than is indicated on the face of the returns. It has, however, saved something out of the wreck in the way of representation on State, county and city boards that it might have lost if the Progressives had put distinct tickets in the field for all city and county offices, and had given these nominees the same support given to Roosevelt.

One of the prizes to be taken away from the Republicans as a result of the election of a Democratic Legislature will be the State treasureship. Daniel W. Voorhees will be retired from that office, which is filled by the Legislature in joint session. His elimination will also make the State House Commission solidly Democratic.

The Republicans would have lost lost their representation on all of the county boards of election had the Progressive Assembly nominees run even with Roosevelt. But the returns to date show that in only Essex and Passaic did the Progressive candidates run ahead of the Republican nominees for Assemblymen, while in Hudson the Progressives and the Republicans fused.

The law provides that "the chairman of the State committee of each of the two political parties which at the last preceding general election had the largest and next largest number of votes in the State for members of the General Assembly" shall nominate the members of the county election boards. The Republican State chairman will retain this privilege, but by a comparatively narrow margin.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

Madame Alla Nazimova comes to Plainfield at the Plainfield theatre with an entire new company and a new play tomorrow afternoon and evening. The play is the absorbing detective narrative called "Bella Donna." It is the story of an over-sexed, homicidally inclined woman who for social position marries a fine type of Englishman and then wearied by his fineness tried to rid herself of him during a trip up the Nile. The play and the book are both by Robert Hichens. Everybody who has seen his "Garden of Allah" or read it in novel form can easily anticipate the scenic beauty, powerful story and breathlessly interesting plot behind a play that deals with poison and passion. "Bella Donna" as a novel is perfectly duplicated and made visible in "Bella Donna" the play.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

The Saturday evening suppers of the Association begin tomorrow evening, at 5:30 and continue until 7 o'clock. These suppers are not for the members only, but are for the convenience of all girls and women.

Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock the regular vesper services will be held. Rev. F. K. Mathiews, of Scotch Plains, will speak on "Prayer." Mrs. H. B. Downer, of First Methodist church choir, will sing. Tea will be served at the close of the meeting and all are asked to tsay and take a cup.

The "Week of Prayer" will be observed next week by the associations all over the world.

All young women and girls are invited to attend a "Foreign Feast" on Thursday evening. Miss Sarah Mathews, of New York, will be the guest of the evening and will introduce many things in the way of entertaining. All are cordially invited.

BUMPER CORN CROP.

Lima, O., Nov. 8.—A corn crop 27 per cent. larger than normal and of much better quality than last year is indicated in reports presented here today at a conference of the Tri-State Grain Producers and Dealers' Association. The association embraces the counties of northwestern Ohio, northern Indiana and southern Michigan.

Charles Green, of Madison, will speak at Trinity Reformed church Sunday morning.

The Young People's Society of the First Baptist church will conduct the services at the Rescue Mission tonight at 7:45 o'clock.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

The school eleven will play Chatham H. S., of Long Branch, tomorrow afternoon on Parker Field. A good game is expected as the visiting team has been playing good ball all the season, while it certainly looks as if our own eleven had "struck its stride" in its 13 to 7 victory over Princeton Preparatory School, last Tuesday.

The students have the fire-drill perfected now, and the school building can be vacated in short order. It has been remarked that if the students would re-enter the school with as much speed as they leave it, we would have a remarkable institution of learning.

The Netherwood eleven, practically a P. H. S. second team, is arranging a game with Pingry School, of Elizabeth. Although lacking a coach, Captain La Rue and Manager Blair are each doing his part for the good of the team.

The candidates for the school minstrel show are holding practice almost daily, and Manager Goldsmith and Faculty Coach Mr. Howe promise the world at large a better show than has ever been turned out by the school in former years.

N. P. H. S. NOTES.

The members of the junior class have at last decided on a class pin. The colors are dark brown and gold.

The junior play cast has been practicing at the home if Miss Marguerite Woolston the past week.

The junior play, which was scheduled for Friday, December 6, has been postponed to December 13. This will enable the play cast to go to New York to see the production of "The Rivals" and get some points. The play will be given at the Park Club.

The boys' basketball sweters have arrived and everyone is pleased with them. They are black with maroon trimmings and high collars. Those who received the sweaters are Captain Townley, Carroll Taylor, Ashley Burner, Duclos VanMater and Frank Dunning. There are still two to be won by the substitutes and all the fellows are working hard to get one. It is probable that "Newt" Spencer, who has developed into such a good player, may receive one after the first of next year. Newton is attracting much attention by his accurate shooting and the way in which he handles the ball. Manager Taylor announces that the first game will be played at Kearny, at that place, on the 18th of this month. The lineup will be the same as last year with the exception of VanMater, who will take William Taylor's place as forward.

The monthly report cards were given out today with a general improvement over last month. The first month is generally the hardest.

Since the trip to see "Macbeth," last Saturday was such a success, Mr. Mertz, the English teacher, is planning to take another party to see "Julius Caesar." Many have expressed a desire to go.

The sophomore class has raised the class dues from five to ten cents a month.

Baseball Manager Newton Spencer is having a hard time getting a good schedule for next season.

At a class meeting of the senior class yesterday, "The Scheme that Failed," was the play selected to be given at the Christmas entertainment. It was also decided that instead of having a "knock" committee each member of the senior class will receive a list of junior names and every one will have a chance to make up the "knocks."

The North Plainfield schools will be closed next Monday and Tuesday on account of the Somerset County Teachers' Institute, which will be held at Somerville on those days. Most of the borough teachers will attend.

The electric clocks have been repaired but they are running a few minutes fast. They are set back a few minutes every day. People should not depend on the large tower clock as it is not accurate. Until the clocks are regulated pupils who are late not more than five minutes will not be counted tardy.

ALL-DAY RALLY SERVICES.

There will be an all-day rally at the Mt. Zion A. M. E. church on Sunday, under the direction of the pastor, Rev. Littleton Sturgess. There will be services morning, afternoon and evening. Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will speak at 2:45 o'clock in the afternoon.

FUNERAL OF T. S. HUNN.

The funeral service of Townsend Sharpless Hunn, of Prospect avenue, this city, will be held at the home of his brother in Philadelphia, tomorrow ,and the remains will be brought to this city in the afternoon for burial in Hillside cemetery.

ASSUMED NAME PUT ON TOMBSTONE OF SUICIDE

Flemington, Nov. 8.—After fraternal lodges had placed a monument, suitably inscribed, over the grave of Thomas J. Airry, who took cyanide of potassium on a train a short time ago, it has been discovered that the man had been living under an assumed name and that his real name was Edward Jerome Doyle, formerly of Weehawken.

For several years, Airry, or Doyle, was superintendent of the Flemington Gas Light Company, associatinfi himself with the social life of the town. He joined the Knights of Pythias, the Junior Order of United American Mechanics and the Daughters of Liberty. Some months ago, he resigned his post with the gas company and had had no employment since.

Following the man's death, efforts were made to fin dhis relatives, but no connections could be traced. The lodge men continued the sarch after the funeral and have just learned of his assumed name. It has been learned that six brothers and a sister are living and that the father died seven years ago.

It is believed the man's suicide had to do with financial difficulties.

READY FOR TRIAL OF GANGMEN.

New York, Nov. 8.—Preparations for the trial of the four gangsters indicted with former Police Lieutenant Becker for the murder of Herman Rosenthal were considerably advanced today, when the drawing of a jury was commenced from a special panel of 200 talesmen. The four accused gang leaders are to be given spearate trials. Whitey Lewis will be the first to face prosecution. It is expected to have everything in readiness to begin his trial about the middle of next week. William Shapiro, driver of the "murder car," will be one of the leading witnesses for the prosecution.

WHY NOT BRYAN?

In some quarters there seems to be a disposition to adversely comment on the suggestion of William Jennings Bryan for a portfolio in the Wilson cabinet. Surely the Nebraskan is as able a statesman as the Democracy has within its folds and probably has as good a knowledge of statecraft as any single man in his party. Since approximately two decades ago, from the day he took his seat in Congress, he has given his life to the study and solution of the Nation's problems and during all this period he has been the most persistent contender for the supremacy of its principles. The American people have long since forgotten him as "The Boy Orator of the Platte" and the most grossly misrepresented politician of his day. No longer is he the object of villification, abuse and ridicule—no longer is he pictured as a demagogue. He has lived to see the day when the great mass of his fellow citizens in this great Republic have learned to admire him as a man and to give him credit for his honesty of purpose and his unrelenting advocacy of the political tenets he cherishes, notwithstanding how bitterly they oppose those same principles. And it would only be the courteous thing for Wilson to do to offer Bryan a place in his councils for had it not been for the influence and the power of the Nebraskan at the Baltimore convention, there would have been no chance whatever of the Jersey Governor's nomination.

Woodrow Wilson's quick rise to the highest office in the gift of the American people even surpasses the record of the late Grover Cleveland. In 1880, Mr. Cleveland carried a torchlight in a Hancock parade at Buffalo. Four years later he was made President. Considerably less than three years ago, Mr. Wilson had taken no active part in practical politics. On the fourth of March next he will go into the White House. Both Cleveland and Wilson were elevated to the Presidency through a Gubernatorial chair.

No other meaning can be taken from the Presidential election than that the American people are unalterably opposed to a government of special privilege; a government by the few for the few. The united Progressive Democrats won a glorious triumph and the courageous legion of Progressive Republicans fairly swept the Stnad-pat army off its feet. Surely "the world do move."

The contributing editor for tomorrow's issue will be Charles H. Hand. Mr. Hand is the second heaviest taxpayer in the city and for that reason if for no other he has constantly kept in touch with the municipality's problems. He will have some pertinent things to say and none who takes an interest in his home town should fail to read Mr. Hand's editorial.

Sixteen years ago, the Bryan platform was denounced as a menace to the American Republic and its builder was derided as a demagogue. Today the most of the 1896 planks form the framework of the platform approved by the people of this Republic, and the man who stood on the platform has been chosen chief magistrate of the Nation.

An exchange makes this prediction: "Women will vote in ten States next year; by 1916 the fair may give their fiat in forty." Yes, and right here in New Jersey we prophesy that the women will be given the ballot within the next five years.

In an advertisement a day or so ago, John Wanamaker very rightly said: "A newspaper that is really a newspaper is the best Progressive of the age." The Philadelphia Record says that it has never seen a statement better put.

When the big dailies get all through making Mr. Wilson's cabinet for him, probably the President-elect will be given some privileges in the matter.

Four-months-old child in Savannah has already begun to talk. Oh, yes, it's a girl.

PLAN A MONUMENT TO REV. GESSNER

St. Patrick's Church in Elizabeth Wants Body of Dean Interred Nearby.

Elizabeth, Nov. 8.—A movement has been started in the city among the parishioners of St. Patrick's church to erect a monument in memory of the Very Rev. Dean Martin Gessner., on the church grounds. The memorial will be in recognition of the splendid work accomplished by the dean during his pastorate of the church.

Beginning at 3 o'clock this afternoon, the body of the dean will lay in state in the church. It will remain in state until 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, when, with the recital of the divine office, the guard of honor, composed of members of the Holy Name Society and the Y. M. C. L. will be released and the funeral services begun.

Last night the members of the various church societies visited the church and paid honor to the dean. The Y. M. F. M. T. A. B. Society held a special meeting and marched to the church where they recited the rosary. The members of Bayley Council Knights of Columbus, met in the parish hall and marched to the church.

This morning at 9:30 o'clock the office for the dead was read and at 10 o'clock the Right Rev. John J. O'Connor, bishop of the diocese, celebrated a pontifical mass, assisted by a score of priests.

It is probable that the body of Dean Gessner wil have a final resting place beneath the altar of the church he loved so well. Although tomorrow he will be buried in Mount Olivet cemetery, a special effort will be made to have the body brought back and buried either beneath the altar or in a granite vault, constructed for the purpose. The members of the Holy Name Society, of the Y. M. C. L., and most of the men of the parish will be in the funeral procession. A committee has been appointed to confer with the bishop in regard to having the body buried in the church ground.

FREE TICKETS TO POULTRY SHOW FOR SCHOOL PUPILS

The New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement, which is planning for its first annual poultry show to be held at Sebring's Auditorium November 25-30, has decided to distribute free tickets to the public school children in the towns and cities between Westfield and Bound Brook, good for admission on either Wednesday or Friday, November 27 and 29.

Thomas Hardgreaves of Fanwood a member of the association, has made an attractive banner which has been suspended in front of Sebring's Auditorium. An unusually large number of entries have been received from all the eastern States, Pennsylvania and Delaware, and the committee in charge has found it necessary to lease a part of the second floor of the building to accommodate the poultry.

The committee has secured 125 gold medals and an equal number of silver and bronze medals to be awarded the winners at the show. There will also be door prizes, one a silk waist and the other a silk umbrella; also 105 special prizes. The association will hold an important meeting on Wednesday night, November 20, when all the details for the show will be completed.

BORO BOARD MEETS.

The Board of Education of North Plainfield will meet tonight in the Somerset School building to discuss the report of Supervising Principal Vossler, submitted at the last meeting. The report contains many suggestions for improvement in the borough schools and if Mr. Vossler's theories are placed in operation North Plainfield will be able to boast of a system of education used in the principal cities of New Jersey. One of the novel features of the report is an excellent plan to prevent tardiness in the classrooms.

BISHOP O'CONNOR EXECUTOR OF DEAN GESSNER'S WILL

Elizabeth, Nov. 8.—The Rt. Rev. John J. O'Connor, bishop of the Diocese of Newark, has been named executor of the will of Dean Gessner. The will was drawn by Timothy M. Kelly, of this city.

It was learned today that Dean Gessner had purchased bonds of the Elizabethtown Water Company valued at $7,000. These, it is said he left to Seton Hall College.

The property which Dean Gessner purchased a few years ago at Broadway and Second street, known as the old Kellogg estate, and on which he intended building an orphan asylum, goes to St. Patrick's parish. Dean Gessner had no other holdings. He had no relatives in this country so far as can be learned. An only brother died some years ago.

MOTORCARS COLLIDE.

A collision between a touring car bearing the license No. 41716 N. J. and the South Plainfield auto 'bus at the intersection of Somerset and Pearl streets, North Plainfield, this morning, caused slight damage to both vehicles. The 'bus sustained a wrenched crankshaft and the private machine had its running-board cracked. Witnesses of the accident say the touring car was traveling at excess speed and the driver could not stop his machine in time to avoid the collision as the 'bus turned into Somerset street from Pearl street. No one was injured and both vehicles continued on their way.

CHARGES VIOLATION OF BUILDING REGULATIONS

Wadley & Goodenough Served With Warrant at Inspector Doane's Request.

On a warrant issued by Building Inspector Doane, representatives of the firm of Wadley & Goodenough, coal and ice dealers, of 208 Madison avenue were brought before City Judge DeMeza, this morning charged with unlawfully erecting a building without securing a permit from the Building Department.

Inspector Doane alleges the firm built an ice house on their premises, which is within the city fire limits, without his knowledge, and upon inspection he found that the structure violates the building code in a number of instances. The building in question is built of brick to a certain height and continues to the roof of frame construction. According to the inspector he had received assurances from the coal and ice dealers that they would reconstruct the building in compliance with the building code, and secure a permit for the work, but up to the present time nothing had been done toward that end.

The Wadley & Goodenough Company filed a permit recently to erect a barn, but Inspector Doane says they have violated the building laws in this building also by erecting a wooden cornice. He says they promised to cover the cornice with metal, which would be satisfactory.

On the motion of counsel for the defendants, J. Henry Crane, the case was adjourned one week. Neither of the firm could be located this morning when an effort was made to get a statement from them.

THE FORUM.

HE IS A DEMOCRAT.

Editors, Daily Press:

As I am not a Democratic party man, but a Democrat or Independent, I am glad the people have opened their eyes to their best interests by electing Governor Wilson to the Presidency.

Let not the Democratic party flatter themselves that they as a party have won a great fight. I claim that men of all shades of politics have each contributed their share to put Wilson and the Democrats into power, and will keep them there as long as they honestly represent the people. When they don't represent those who put them in, that same power will put them out, and keep them out.

Respectfully,

MISS WHITNEY IS NOW MRS. STUTSMAN

Bride's Father Performs Ceremony—Bridegroom Secretary of Taft Club.

Surrounded by members of their families and numerous friends, Miss Helen M. Whitney, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. George H. Whitney, of 828 First place, and Martin Brown Stutsman, son of Mr. and Mrs. James S. Pray, were married last night at the home of the bride. The ceremony was performed amid profuse decorations of yellow and lavender chrysanthemums by the bride's father, who is president-emeritus of Hackettstown Seminary.

Miss Whitney was gowned in white charmeuse, trimmed with lace and pearl, and carried a bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by Mrs. G. Harold Whitney, of Westfield, as matron of honor, who wore yellow charmeuse and the Misses Mabel Stutsman, sister of the groom, and Marion Powers, of Phoenixville Pa., who as bridesmaids wore lavender charmeuse and carried chrysanthemums. Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., was best man. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, G. Harold Whitney.

Following the ceremony a wedding supper was served. The table decorations were roses, chrysanthemums and ferns.

The couple will reside in this city on their return from a wedding trip of several weks. The bridegroom is a young lawyer with offices in the Frost Building. He entered politics this year, taking an active part in the primary and general campaigns as secretary of the Taft Club.

DR. M. H. C. WOODRUFF.

Dr. Marietta H. C. Woodruff, a cousin of William A. Woodruff, of ast Second street, one of the first women to practise medicine in Northern New Jersey, died yesterday at her home, No. 206 Washington street, Boonton. Dr. Woodruff was seventy-five years old and the daughter of the late Judge Benjamin Crane, of Boonton. Soon after she was graduated from Pennington Seminary she married Christopher C. Woodruff, of Rahway. An inclination toward healing led her later to enter the New York Medical College for Women, from which she was graduated in 1874. Dr. Woodruff was a widow, her husband having died three years ago.

Wm. J. Flynn, A Detective With a Record

WILLIAM J. FLYNN, who has been lent to the city of New York by the United States government to assist America's greatest city in solving its police problem, is a detective with a record. Born in New York forty-four years ago, Flynn has lived in that city all his life. He has a wife and eight children.

For fifteen years Flynn has been one of the valued men of the United States secret service. He was entrusted by the government with the delicate work of safeguarding the Russian and Japanese commissioners at the peace conference at Portsmouth, N. H., and he has been called upon many times by the state department to undertake commissions for foreign governments seeking escaped criminals in this country.

Flynn has caused more fear in the hearts of the Black Hand gangsters than any man in the federal police history. He ran down their leaders and sent a gang away to the federal prison in Atlanta with the heaviest list of penalties for many years past. His work in the sugar trust trials was of a high order of merit. His activities resulted in the confession of several men who were given prison sentences.

Among Flynn's earlier exploits was his work in the forgery of $500,000 worth of notes of the Bank of England. That took him abroad to testify, and he then had the opportunity to study the methods of Scotland Yard and the French secret police.

One of the few stories that Flynn is willing to tell himself is this:

"About ten years ago I was on the trail of the Henderson band of counterfeiters, which made its headquarters in the wilds of western Pennsylvania, a region filled with horse thieves and all kinds of criminals. It is a mountainous, little occupied country that gives ideal refuge to crooks and fugitives. The Hendersons, led by a desperate old man of that name who had been a shooter of oil wells—that is, he followed the trade of exploding nitroglycerin in wells to start the flow of oil—had been coining and passing silver money. I went into the region posing as the agent for a new handy typewriter which had just been put on the market. I 'demonstrated' the machine to the mountaineers, having studied the literature of salesmanship, and delighted them so much with the novelty of an invention they had never seen before that I did not have much trouble in gaining information of my quarry. Another source of information, as in all such cases, was the local postmaster and the railroad agent. To them I confided my errand, scaring them enough so that they would not gossip, and learned all they knew of the countryside. The upshot was that within a short time, aided by my conferees, I captured six men and one woman, all the members of the gang except old man Henderson himself. He had escaped."

One of Flynn's good jobs was to run down a penny maker who was issuing spurious coins by the bushel. He began by getting an assay of the copper in the cent. Then he searched the country until he found a dealer in Connecticut who sold that very quality of copper. He examined the books of that dealer, who had 416 customers in different parts of the country. He canvassed those customers and finally found one in New York who sold sheet copper to a peddler. Flynn trailed the peddler to his room, and a little later when he broke in he found the old man stamping out his pennies.

Flynn resigned his secret service post two years ago to become New York's deputy police commissioner, but quit after a year and was given back his former place. He takes up his new work in New York under a leave of absence from the federal government. He is to act as chief investigator for an aldermanic committee which is to inquire into the graft scandals in the police department. And there are reports that he may become New York's police commissioner.

MAY GET REBATE FOR ATTENDING MEETINGS

Plan to Lure Members out to Commerce Chamber Sessions.

Although the attendance was not large, owing to the weather, the November meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, last night, proved both interesting and helpful, especially along the lines of "boosting Plainfield." Every one present was anxious to enlarge the membership of the Chamber, and to do something that will prove of advantage to Plainfield.

Paul J. Burns presented a scheme to advertise the city, and this will be announced in detail at a special meeting to be held Wednesday night, November 13, when it is hoped that there will be a full attendance of members.

Lloyd Osborn, an enthusiastic member, suggested that the 2,200 commuters in Plainfield do their individual duty in boosting the city by word of mouth and tell of its advantages wherever an opportunity offers. Mr. Burns suggested that each member of the chamber and each commuter try to bring one new resident to Plainfield each year. Captain Curtis, D. W. Littell, C. W. Krausse and Charles H. Hand also offered excellent suggestions.

The question of dues was discussed. It was suggested that the dues be made $8 a year and that each member be allowed fifty cents for each meeting attended, making the minimum dues for the year, $3. This idea seemed to meet with much favor. It will be taken up at greater length at a future meeting.

It seemed to be the general opinion that before a systematic plan to advertise the city is adopted, there should be the proper civic interest on the part of the citizens and merchants and efforts will be made to bring about this condition. The chamber is in excellent financial condition, having paid its bills this year and having a balance in the treasury.

MILL GASHOUSE BLOWS UP; MAN BADLY HURT

Somerville, Nov. 8 (Special).—An explosion, the cause of which is unknown, wrecked the big gas house of the Raritan Woolen Mills yesterday. John Smith, who had charge of the building, was found in an unconscious condition on the floor of the building, with his clothes burned from his body. He was taken to the Somerset Hospital, and it was at first thought that he would die, but his condition this morning was somewhat improved.

Frank Lorenzo, who was passing the building at the time of the explosion, had a miraculous escape. He entered the building soon after the explosion, and rescued Smith, who was lying on the floor in the path of the flames which started immediately after the explosion, and raged for an hour, but were finally got under control by the mill's fire brigade, which played two streams on the flames for an hour.

Nickerson, who resigned this year on account of ill health has been given a call to the pastorate of the local church, and he is expected to accept. Mr. Wilson is a graduate of the Theological Seminary at Cambridge, Mass.

TALES OF GHOSTS

Lord Brougham's Curious Experience With a "Spook."

A COMPACT AND ITS SEQUEL.

The Creepy Story as It Was Told In the English Statesman's Autobiography—Goethe Once Saw a Specter of Himself—A "Ghost" Cuvier Saw.

There was a certain Pisander whose name has been preserved in one of the proverbial sayings of the Greeks because he lived in continual fear of seeing his own ghost. Just that thing happened to the German poet Goethe. One day, when he was out riding in a spot somewhat removed from the usual haunts of men, he saw a horseman approaching him, and as it drew near he saw that the rider was no less a person than himself—his other self—though dressed differently. Twenty years after he found himself quite without forethought of the matter in the same place on horseback and dressed just as was the apparition of himself which he had met there two decades before.

Lord Brougham (pronounced Broom), the English statesman, orator and author, after whom the well known species of vehicles was named, had a remarkable experience with a "spook." He tells the story in his autobiography published in 1871.

"A most remarkable thing happened to me," he says, "so remarkable that I must tell the story from the beginning. After I left the high school (in Edinburgh) I went with G., my most intimate friend, to attend the classes in the university. We frequently in our walks discussed and speculated upon man's grave subjects, among others on the immortality of the soul and a future state. This question and the possibility, I will not say of ghosts walking, but of the dead appearing to the living, were subjects of much speculation, and we actually committed the folly of drawing up an agreement, written with our blood, to the effect that whichever of us died first should appear to the other and thus solve any doubt we had entertained of the life after death.'

"After we had finished classes at college G. went to India, having got an appointment there in the civil service. He seldom wrote me, and after a lapse of a few years I had almost forgotten him. Moreover, his family having little connection with Edinburgh, I seldom saw or heard anything of them, so that all the old schoolboy intimacy had died out and I had nearly forgotten his existence. I had taken, as I have said, a warm bath, and while in it and enjoying the comfort of the heat after the late freezing I had undergone I turned my head round toward the chair on which I had deposited my clothes as I was about to get out of the bath. On the chair sat G. calmly looking at me. How I got out of the bath I know not, but on recovering my senses I found myself sprawling on the floor. The apparition or whatever it was that had taken the likeness of G. had disappeared." It was afterward ascertained that G. had died in India on the very day his apparition was seen by Lord Brougham.

Very similar is an incident related by Sir Walter Scott under date of 1818. A certain Mr. Bullock had been employed by Sir Walter to make improvements at Abbotsford. Mr. Bullock was called to London, and during his absence the incident narrated in the following letter took place. Scott, writing to a Mr. Terry, says:

"The night before last we were awakened by a violent noise like the drawing of new boards along the new part of the house. I fancied something had fallen and thought no more of it. This was about 2 in the morning. Last night at the same witching hour the same noise ocurred. Mrs. S., as you know, is rather timersome, so I got up with Beardy's broadsword under my arm—

"Sat bolt upright
And ready to fight.

"But nothing was out of order. Neither could I discover what occasioned the disturbance." The strange thing about this is that Bullock died in London on the very day and as near as could be ascertained at the very hour that Sir Walter heard the "spooks" at Abbotsford. In writing later to the same correspondent he said: "Were you not struck with the fantastical coincidence of our nocturnal disturbance at Abbotsford with the melancholy event that followed? I protest to you that the noise resembled half a dozen men hard at work pulling up boards and furniture, and nothing could be more certain than that nobody was on the premises at the time."

These are instances of what may be termed successful ghosts. The ghosts that have failed are perhaps entitled to a brief notice. A "ghost" once undertook to frighten the great naturalist, Cuvier. This ghost appeared with an ox's head. Cuvier awoke and found the fearful thing glaring and grinning at his bedside.

"What do you want?"

"To devour you," growled the ghost.

"Devour me," quoth the great Frenchman, "hoofs, horns, graminivorous? You can't do it. Clear out!"

And clear out the discomfited ghost did.—Kansas City Star.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

FRIBBLES OF FASHION.

Evening Dresses Have Fuller Skirts. New Raincoats.

There is no radical change in the general lines of the evening gown. The skirts are a trifle fuller, but not enough so as to alter the familiar straight effect. Even the waist line, which was lowered during the summer, is as often seen high as low and practically of any height that the designer happens to fancy.

The new English raincoats for girls have a porous "sweatband" inside across the shoulders.

Afternoon and evening dresses are much longer than hitherto and have that much added grace.

There are a great many new features combined in this blouse. The fronts are overlapped in surplice fashion, the neck is finished with a big collar that terminates in points, and the sleeves are plain and close fitting.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes from 34 to 42 inches bust measure. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7619, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

WHEN SERVING PARTRIDGE.

PARTRIDGE is roasted about the same as chicken. The birds should roast about forty minutes and be basted often.

When broiled the birds should be brushed inside and out with olive oil or melted butter. The fire should be a moderate one and the birds browned over it.

How to Cook.

Some special methods of preparing the birds are given here.

Broiled Partridge.—Halve the birds and flatten with a knife. Season with salt and pepper or cayenne. Dip into clarified butter, then into very fine breadcrumbs. Place over a very clear fire and broil gently from twenty to thirty minutes. Send it to table with brown mushroom sauce or a slice of butter put on when taken off the grill.

The Favorite Method.

Roast Partridge.—Choose plump, tender young partridges for roasting, put a lump of fresh butter in each one and, after tying thin slices of larding bacon over the breasts, roast the birds for eighteen or twenty minutes. They can be roasted in a paper bag or in a fireproof earthenware casserole, with the addition of butter and bacon fat only.

When cooked the birds may be carved into two or at most three pieces and should be served on croutons of crumb of bread that have been fried in butter.

Pour off the fat from the dripping pan, add a little boiling water or some stock made from partridge bones and trimmings and serve the gravy separately in a sauce boat. On no account add any flavoring to the gravy or the delicate aroma of the partridge will be lost.

Using Cold Birds.

Scalloped Partridge.—The cold cooked birds may be used for this. Cut off all meat from the bones of the birds and put the bones into a saucepan with enough cold water to cover them and a little salt. Let them simmer gently for three-quarters of an hour. Then the bones must be taken out and the stock strained. Add two teaspoonfuls of red currant jelly, a few grains of nutmeg and salt and pepper to taste.

While the bones are cooking finely chop the meat.

Now brush the scallop shells with butter. You use china ones or even the natural shells.

When the stock has been nicely seasoned, add the chopped partridge, mix it well and pour some into each of the shells. Then sprinkle a layer of browned crumbs over each and put them in the oven to get hot through.

SMART EFFECTS FOR WEDDINGS

How to Make a Success of the Reception and Other Social Events That Precede and Follow the Ceremony.

EVERY girl wants her wedding to be a pretty and successful one, but much thought and a good deal of personal effort must go into the preparation where means are somewhat narrow.

The old fashioned "breakfast" offered much more formidable difficulties than the modern reception. Light refreshments may be delicious as well as inexpensive if made at home, to say nothing of the fact that three times the number can be entertained in a small house that would be possible to a "sit down" meal.

Often rooms communicate by folding doors, and so one large reception room can be obtained, or by taking in a balcony or porch sufficient room to entertain the prospective guests may be made.

The brilliant tints of autumn foliage are peculiarly charming for wedding decorations. A beautiful decorative scheme was the result of a combination of gold and scarlet autumn leaves with white lilies. Trails of gorgeous Virginia creeper wreathed balustrades, drooped from mantelpiece and trailed over the buffet, and here and there (in silver bases on the table) were placed stately white lilies.

Some form of liquid refreshment must be provided for every guest, together with sandwiches, patties, small cakes, creams, jellies and salad.

A satisfactory and inexpensive menu for an early autumn wedding would be:

Egg and Cress and Ham and Tongue Sandwiches.
Lobster Salad in Finger Rolls.
Fruit Salad. Lemon Cream.
Trifle
Small Cakes. Claret Cup.
Lemonade. Coffee.

The day preceding the wedding the bride and bridegroom bid formal farewell to their unmarried friends—the bridegroom by a dinner for the best man and ushers and the bride by a luncheon or tea for her maid or matron of honor and for the bridesmaids. Then the wedding souvenirs are bestowed upon the attendants, a simple and acceptable gift for each being a little gold pin.

If the bride gives a tea for the bridesmaids she may write a note to the bridegroom and his best man and the ushers to join the little party and have a cup of tea about 5 o'clock.

The bride's trousseau is not the elaborate thing that it was some years ago. Even wealthy brides are not provided with so many changes of raiment as in the past. The reason is that the variations in fashion are so marked from season to season that she would not have an opportunity to get a reasonable amount of wear out of the gowns before they should be out of fashion.

The bridal gown should be white, if possible. Fashion this season favors gowns of net trimmed with lace and made over a satin foundation. One such is illustrated here. It has a rather high waist, over which the net is draped and bordered with bands of venise lace and knotted with orange blossoms. The sleeves are elbow length and of net and lace. The veil is draped closely on the head in an effect that suggests the Marie Stuart cap and is knotted with sprays of orange blossoms and falls well over the court train of the gown. A satin covered prayer book, from which depends a floral marker, was carried by the bride in this case instead of a bouquet.

The going away gown should be a simple tailored affair, accompanied by a handsome hat to match it. Brown or blue is the favorite color for fall.

MOTHERS' WORK

Conducted by the Plainfield Mothers' Association.
Every Thursday

Contributing Staff.
Mrs. G. Stuart Simons, Mrs. Jos. Smith, Mrs. Wm. M. Sandford, Jr.

The Daily Press for Thursdays containing the column on Mother's Work will be sent by mail for one dollar a year, in advance.

The following is the list of delegates who went to Riverton from Plainfield today to attend the meeting of State Congress of Mothers, which met in Plainfield last year:

Mrs. Wm. M. Sandford, Jr., Mrs. Frank L. Holt, Mrs. H. G. Philips, Mrs. George B. Wean, Mrs. W. H. P. Veysey, Mrs. Benton and Mrs. H. D. Corbusier, from Mothers' Association; Mrs. G. S. Simons, Mrs. S. H. Voorhees, Mrs. L. M. Booth, Mrs. Edward McCarthy, Miss Day, Miss Bullock, Miss Lansing and Miss Barber, from Stillman-Franklin-Whittier Association; Mrs. Geo. O. Stevens, from the Irving, and Mrs. O. H. Smith, from Bryant-Lincoln Association. A few others will go to Riverton on Saturday.

Some of the speakers are Dr. Calvin N. Kendall, N. J. Commissioner of Education; M. O. Eldredge, U. S. Office of Public Roads, Washington; Prof. Wm. S. Monroe, principal of State Normal School, Montclair; Mrs. L. M. Johnson, principal School of Organic Education, Alabama; Rev. Franklin K. Mathiews, Scotch Plains, N. J. Children's Home Society, Trenton.

The Australian Parliment has voted to grant a prize to the parents of each child born in Austria. The native blacks and Asiastic residents will not benefit by the law.

The mothers of the suspended High School girls of Chicago appeared before the Board of Education anti-sorority committee and begged that the girls be not compelled to retract their sorority pledges.

They said the pledges were too solemn to be withdrawn at the behest of the board as they had taken an oath as life members under circumstances calculated to fill a school girl with awe. The board took the case under adisement but gave notice that secret societies will be suppressed. Should mothers allow young girls to take such a solemn oath?

Twenty-five Mothers' Clubs of New Jersey have been invited to contribute items of interest and reports of meetings for our column.

The New York Herald has begun a campaign against roller-skating in the street. Lawyers connected with action for damages against automobilists have proven in court that the only one to blame for injuries sustained by children on roller-skates is the careless mother who allowed the child to skate in the street.

One of the attorneys for an insurance company is emphatic in his praise of the work don by the Herald. He says: "I have conducted many cases where children have been killed outright or crippled for life and wonder that steps have not been taken to stop this pastime before. It is certain that many such accidents occur and equally certain that the chauffeurs are not to be blamed. Parents who allow their children to roller-skate in the city streets are alone responsible for accidents which happen to them."

An advance step in behalf of children who are classed for school work as "defectives" will soon be taken at Brooklyn Training School for Teachers, where a special training class will be formed for teachers who will devote themselves to the blind, deaf dumb and backward children. The new course received impetus by an appeal made in a pageant play "The Spirit of Progress," given last week for Supt. Maxwell, of New York City.

The pageant showed in a dramatic way the progress of education during the last twenty-five years. The "defective" members were grouped below the platform until one symbolic character is asked by "Progress" to regard these children "so different from the others." "Education" does not see them. "Progress" says they may be raised to a higher level and descends to get them. "Old Time" interrups with "What good? What can Education do for the mentally defective?" Progress replies, "Many can be taught to be useful and even self-supporting and all can be made happier." "Progress" takes charge of the children while Pessimism, who has been sitting idly by sneering, begins to cheer up and take notice.

The Parent-Teacher Association of Bryant-Lincoln Schools met in the Lincoln School yesterday and found the mothers there so enthusiastic in numbers and for the work that it was decided to have a branch association with Miss Lee as first vice president, to hold meetings in that school each month. The next meeting will be held on Thursday, December 5.

The first and third grade pupils sang every day class songs and was roundly applauded. Miss Helen Boice gave a practical helpful talk on breakfasts and told how mothers err in allowing children to go to school with a breakfast of coffee and bread. Any breakfast would be good, she said, that was prepared with love and care and the children would be sure to eat it if these qualities were not wanting. She recommended milk or coicoa, cereal, eggs, toast and creamed dried beef. None of the cereals was as good as oatmeal during the winter and that cooked for one-half hour fresh each morning was best. A fried egg was better than no egg and corn bread was nutritious if the child could digest it. Some could not. If children were up some time before breakfast they would have a better appetite for the meal than if they came direct from dressing to the table.

Mrs. William Sandford, who slipped in late hoping she might be unobserved and allowed to listen, was asked for a few words and responded by aproving the new branch. "For wherever there is a group of children there should be a group of parents who by association with one another are studying children's needs" he said. "The parents scoop of work will be naturally along the physical welfare of the child while the teacher will make clear the methods of modern teaching and the great need of good physical condition."

The new Refreshment Committee under the leadership of Mrs. Pearce deserves commendation for efficient services.

—No, Maude dear; a chorus of milkmaids isn't essential to a musical comedy in order to exhibit the calves.

Philosophical Phelix Says:

JOE WOOD CHAMPION WHITEWASH ARTIST

He Blanked Five of the Seven Teams He Faced.

Joe Wood, of the Boston Red Sox, who was the American League's greatest distributer of goose-eggs last season, blanked five of the seven teams that faced him, Cleveland and Philadelphia alone escaping. Smoky Joe whitewashed the Highlanders thrice, the Nationals, Browns and White Sox each twice and the Tigers once. Three of the Bostonian's wins were marked by the narrowest possible deciding score—1 to 0—the pitchers he conquered being Walter Johnson, who, like Wood, stood well up in the voting for the Chalmers trophy; Edgar Willett and George McConnell. When Wood kept the Tigers from the plate he had to toil for eleven innings and then a fumble by Jim Delahanty was of great assistance to the Red Sox in getting their one run.

Wood was the lone American Leagner to reach double-figures in whitewashes. Walter Johnson, of the Nationals, was the runner up to Wood in using the brush; Ed Walsh, of Chicago, reached third, another Eddie—the left handed Plank, of Philadelphia—being No. 4.

Boston was the hardest team to whitewash and Chicago the easiest. All told there were 79 games in which one team was kalsomined and one contest in which both drew ciphers.

Below will be found the pitchers' records in shut-outs for 1912:

SOCCER TEAM HOPES TO WIN IN NEWARK

Have the O'Keefes Picked as Their Victims Tomorrow Afternoon.

The Plainfield Soccer team hope to recover from their slump tomorrow at the sacrifice of eleven sons of East Newark when they journey to that place to do battle with the O'Keefes. The locals started off at the beginning of the season in true championship form, winning three games straight before a defeat was administered. But the strain of filling the role of victors was too much for them it seems, as the last three games resulted in a like number of defeats. In each contest they were soundly trounced by their opponents.

The team work, so much in evidence at the beginning of the season is now sadly lacking, and unless a brace is taken they ared ue for another loss at the hands of the O'Keefes, who at present are playing at a fast clip.

The Plainfielders will lineup as follows: McNice, goal; Craig, right back; Buckland, left back; Henderson, right half back; Kenney, center half back; J. Gardner, left half back; Carberry and Spaulding, right wings; Hendry, center forward, and Heaume and Y. Gardner, left wings.

P. H. S. ELEVEN VS. LONG BRANCH TEAM

Another Good Football Bill For Parker Field Tomorrow Afternoon.

Another good game of football is carded to take place on Parker Field tomorrow afternoon when the local High School eleven stacks up against the strong Long Branch High School team in their first athletic meeting. Long Branch always turns out superior teams in every line of sport and the opening of athletic relationship between these to schools will be welcomed by many. The game tomorrow should be a corker as the visitors have been putting up a fast game against all of the oMnmouth county aggregations and are invading Union with the object of making a double county cleanup.

Captain Van Zant and his warriors have gained a lot of confidence over their last two wins which hae both been of the top notch kind and this together with the experience gained should stand them in good stead for tomorrow's game. Owing to inclement weather no outdoor practice has been called since the game with Princeton Prep on Tuesday and the same lineup which was used at that time will probably be pitted against the Long Branch team.

STIFF PRACTISES FOR AJAX QUINTET

Hard Tussle Expected at Y. M. C. A. Tomorrow Night Against Union H. S.

Under the direction of Coach C. William Bingeman, the Ajax, who will play in the game against Union High School tomorrow night, had a stiff practice in the Y. M. C. A. gym yesterday afternoon and will hold another one this afternoon. The Y. M. C. A. team is looking forward to a hard struggle tomorrow night and the coach has been kept busy polishing off the rough spots, which were brought out in the game against the Crescent A. C. last Saturday night. A new code of signals which will be entirely different from anything ever tried in this city have been worked out and the team is pulling together like so much clock work.

In tomorrow night's game the Y. M. C. A. quintet will be somewhat crippled by the absence of Nash and Peacock who are both out of the game because of football injuries, but their places will be ably filled by Hetfield and Dunning.

GOOD FOOTBALL IN NORTH PLAINFIELD

Holy Cross Eleven Will Line up Against the Strong Metuchen Field Club.

After their brilliant defeat of the U. S. S. Hancock football team on Cricket Field Election Day afternoon, the Holy Cross warriors have the idea that they can beat anything that comes along and from now on until the end of the season they will play with their main object to keep their record clean. Out-weighed almost ten pounds to the man the plucky little church eleven put up a winning game of ball against the naval men and the victory was one of the most noteworthy ever fought in this city.

Cricket Field will again be the scene of a fast game tomorrow afternoon, when the Metuchen Field Club will compose the opposition. Holy Cross will probably be without the services of its star half back, James Nash, for the rest of the season, as he sustained a broken toe in Tuesday's game, but his place will be ably taken care of by Tom Ricketts, the old P. H. S. half back, who carried the pigskin to victory after he had relieved Nash in the Hancock game. Otherwise the lineup will be the same as it has been throughout the season and that has surely been sufficient to clean up a goodly number of scalps.

BASKETBALL GAME TOMORROW NIGHT

Good Contest Scheduled to Take Place in the Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium.

Another fast game of basketball is promised the lovers of the greatest of all indoor games at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow evening when the Ajax team, representing the association, will take the floor against the formidable Union High School quintet. Those who attended the opening game at the Y. M. C. A. last Saturday night witnessed a contest the equal of which has seldom been seen and tomorrow night's game will without doubt be just such a hair raiser. The Union team has been playing for nearly two months and are well seasoned while the locals have just opened the season, this being the second game, and they are coming here with a reputation gathered both on the scholastic and athletic club courts.

William Peacock will still be cut of the game as he is nursing an injured ankle but his place will be filled by Andrew Hetfield, who played such a fine game against the Crescent A. C. in the initial struggle. The Ajax will be further crippled for at least two games to come by the absence of James Nash, who broke a toe in the Holy Cross football game last Tuesday afternoon, and his place will be filled in by Frank Dunning, the N. P. H. S. sta. Dunning will play center, Clover and Brynarski guards, and McNamee and Hetfield forwards.

HARVARD AND VANDERBILT.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 8 (Special).—North and South will battle at the Stadium gridiron tomorrow, when the elevens of Vanderbilt University and Harvard University will engage in what is regarded as one of the most notable of the intersectional football contests of the present season. It will be Vanderbilt's first invasion of this section of the country. Her eleven is regarded as the strongest aggregation among the big Southern colleges and close critics of the game are of the opinion that the Crimson will have to play her best against the Commodores.

CARTY'S ALL-STARS.

Carty's All-Star basketball team will meet the Somerville team tonight on their court in Germania Hall, Somerville. The players on Carty's team are Joseph Gavatt, Jacob Abrams, James McNamee, Jack Ricketts and Joseph Carty.

SECOND PLACE POSSIBLE FOR LOCAL SOCCER ELEVEN

By a glance at the following standing of the Intercity Soccer League, it can be seen that with their half of the games on the schedule played, the champion Eureka team, which has only met defeat once in three years, is again likely to capture the flag for the fourth consecutive tive. A little spurt on the part of the locals, accompanied by a slump on the part of the Alley Boys, would place the Plainfield aggregation in second place.

P. H. S. GIRLS HAVE CHANCE TO SHINE AT FIELD HOCKEY

Field hockey will receive its first tryout at Parker Field tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, when the feminine stick-wielders representing the Plainfield High School will take the field against the Plainfield Hockey Club team. The sport was introduced into P. H. S. this year, as far as outside competition goes, but a number of the girl athletes played together in former years.

Regular practises have been held during the past two months under the supervision of Faculty Director of Girls' Athletics Miss Edgerton, who is serving as coach, and she has had an abundance of material to pick from.

THEY WANT GAMES.

Manager Conger, of the Temple Athletic Association football team, would like to hear from the managers of teams that average about 150 pounds weight for the purpose of arranging games. Manager Lord, of the Temple Athletic Association basketball team, would like to hear from managers of teams in this vicinity for the purpose of arranging games.

The offender was arrested by Patrolman Hendershot at the intersection of Somerset and Front streets.

ELECTORAL VOTE OF 442 FOR WILSON; T. R. HAS 77

Taft, With 3 States, Gets 12.

T. R. LOSES ILLINOIS.

Also Kansas, but He Gains Vote of Minnesota.

U. S. SENATE IS VERY CLOSE

Congressmen Uncle Joe Cannon, W. B. McKinley and Nicholas Longworth Go Down to Defeat.

MRS. EDWARD F. DUNNE.

She Is the Wife of the New Governor of Illinois.

It appears that former mayor of Chicago George F. Dunne, Democrat, carried Illinois for governor by 90,000, of which 52,000 plurality over Charles S. Deneen, Republican, comes from Cook county and 38,000 from down state. All the other Democratic state candidates are elected by generous margins. Mr. Dunne says that he owes a great deal of his success in life to his wife.

New York, Nov. 8.—That Woodrow Wilson carried forty states and will have 442 electoral votes in indicated by fuller returns received today. This leaves Roosevelt second, with five states and 77 electoral votes, while President Taft has but three states, with 12 votes to be cast for him.

More complete returns took Illinois from Roosevelt and added its 27 votes to the Wilson column, while Minnesota's cornfield voters were found to have gone for Roosevelt, which took the 12 electoral votes out of the Wilson column and gave them to Roosevelt. Dispatches from Cheyenne, Wyo., sent early today declared that Wilson has carried Wyoming by a small plurality. He was leading then by 450 votes over Taft, and several Democratic precincts were to be heard from.

The Democrats appear reasonably certain of controlling the United States senate, although it will be very close as figures stood today. The Republicans had a majority of seven in the present session, with three vacancies. While the Democrats have held their own in their states, the indications are that they have taken two seats away from the Republicans in Colorado, one in Delaware, one in New Jersey, one in Kansas and one in Montana.

May Get One In Nevada.

They may win one in Nevada, while Democrats believed there are chances in Oregon, Tennessee, Iowa and South Dakota. In Illinois the United States senator will have to be elected by coalition, as the Progressives and three Socialist members of the lower house will hold the balance between the two parties.

The day developed the defeat of three very well known Republican congressmen—Joseph G. Cannon, William B McKinley and Nicholas Longworth, son-in-law of Colonel Roosevelt, but a Taft supporter.

Early today, with 300 districts to hear from in Illinois, Wilson led Roosevelt by 7,000.

The Democratic leaders anticipate 10,000 on complete returns. Dunne, the successful Democratic candidate for governor, will have 100,000 at least. Of the twenty-seven congressmen from Illinois, eighteen will be Democrats, three Progressives and six Republicans. It is likely that the present Illinois legislature will claim the right of electing a successor to Lorimer and efforts are being made to get all factions to agree on some Republican, preferably Lawrence Y. Sherman, who defeated Shelby M. Cullom in the preferential primaries.

California For Wilson.

In California, with 200 precincts yet to be heard from, Wilson's plurality today was 1,000, but it was expected to increase to between 3,000 and 4,000. In Kansas revised returns give the state to Wilson by about 12,000, while Governor Stubbs for the United States senate has been defeated by Thompson (Dem.) by the same figures.

The day developed that the New Hampshire legislature will be Republican on joint ballot.

It is conceded unofficially that the next Delaware legislature will have twenty-nine Democrats and twenty-three Republicans.

In Massachusetts the Democrats have added the secretary of state to their winning list, the post being won by Frank J. Donoghue, a young newspaper man. The legislature will be Republican on joint ballot by fifty-four plurality.

There are indications that Nebraska will send a Republican senator to Washington. Late returns indicated the success of Norris. The legislature will be Republican on joint ballot, but nothing has been received to change the result of the national election or of the victory of Moorehead (Dem.) for governor.

Ernest Lister (Dem.) is probably elected governor of Washington, but a complete count may be necessary to decide.

Switches Were Unexpected.

The switch in Illinois, as well as in Kansas, was unexpected and in both instances was entirely due to the farming vote. The rural districts swung in behind Wilson so effectively that the big Roosevelt vote of the cities was overcome.

Wilson did not receive a majority vote of the nation, being elected in the present unusual triangular contest by an actual minority, but his plurality over the nearest rival will be in excess of 2,500,000 and is record breaking.

The exact figures will not be available for several days. In fact, today's reports show that the count in many states had not been reported to the various county clerks in hundreds of instances, and it seemed likely that it would be the middle of next week at least before authentic official totals would be obtainable.

The Socialists, although they lost their national asset, Congressman Victor Berger, nevertheless made great gains in the popular vote. In Illinois they elected three members of the legislature, and owing to the peculiar complexion of that body, where the Democrats lack twelve votes of a majority and the Republicans lack twenty, with the Progressives holding twenty-eight members, the Socialists may be able to make trades that will help their party materially. The Socialist leaders are claiming that they had cast upward of 800,000 votes and there was no doubt that they had made a good showing.

New York's Big Vote.

New York state gave Wilson the record breaking plurality of 263,014, of which New York city contributed 103,186. It gave Sulzer 214,609, of which New York city contributed 48,075 President Taft ran second in the state, beating Roosevelt by 15,177 votes.

Job E. Hedges beat Oscar Straus by some 42,915 votes.

The total vote as obtainable today was: Wilson, 690,893; Taft, 427,879, and Roosevelt, 412,702. For governor Sulzer received 647,720, Hedges 433,111 and Straus 390,196.

The next state legislature will be overwhelmingly Democratic, both assembly and senate. Manhattan and the Bronx send to the assembly thirty-four Democrats and one Progressive. M Schaap, from the Thirty-first. Of the twenty-three assemblymen from Kings two are Republicans, Naylor in the Seventeenth and Hoff in the Eighteenth. The twelve senators from Manhattan and the Bronx are all Democrats.

In adjacent states New Jersey elected a Democratic legislature, which means a Democratic president of the senate after Jan. 1, who will succeed Governor Wilson when he resigns. Connecticut, which returned Governor Baldwin handsomely, also re-elected a Democratic legislature, but Massachusetts sent back a Republican state legislature, which would mean the re-election of W. Murray Crane if he wanted it. Pennsylvania has a Republican legislature by a plurality, but the Democrats and the Progressives could control by combination, it was said last night.

Woman Suffrage Gains.

The cause of woman suffrage made significant advances. According to reports received at the headquarters of the National Woman Suffrage association, Arizona, Oregon and Kansas voted to accord votes to women, while Michigan was said still to be in doubt Wisconsin returned an adverse verdict.

The Socialists found great consolation in their estimate that 800,000 votes were cast for their party throughout the country. Schenectady and Milwaukee, however, repudiated their votes of other years whereby they had elected Socialist mayors.

TURKS' LAST LINE OF DEFENSE GONE

Victorious Bulgars at Gates of Constantinople.

RENEW APPEAL TO POWERS

Fourteen Warships at Anchorage Near Doomed City Prepared to Protect the Foreign Residents—Siege of Rioting and Massacre Is Feared.

London, Nov. 8.—According to a dispatch from Sofia, the Bulgarian army is at the gate of Constantinople. It has broken the last defense of Constantinople, captured the famous Tchataldja forts in front of the Turkish capital and driven the Turks before them in disorder after a battle that lasted two days.

The Turkish garrison in Saloniki, the second city of the Turkish empire, has been withdrawn without firing a shot, according to a news agency dispatch from Athens. That the Greek army will occupy the city within a few hours is the general belief.

Should these dispatches prove authentic, they would indicate that Constantinople is now at the mercy of the Balkan allies with the last faint hope lost of offering any resistance to their victorious entrance into the capital.

Already crowded with fugitives from the defeated army, its hospitals thronged with wounded and the Mussulman population awaiting only a spark to inaugurate an outbreak of rioting and massacre, the condition of the capital is critical.

The only hope of the foreign residents lies in the presence of fourteen warships of the great powers, which are gathering at and near the apparently doomed city.

In the five days' fighting along the line between Lule Burgas and Bunarlitsar the Bulgarians, it was officially announced, lost 15,000 killed or wounded. The Turkish casualties exceeded 40,000. It was also officially announced in Sofia that the port of Rodosto, on the Sea of Marmora, and the city of Visa, to the southeast of Adrianople, were occupied by the Bulgarian troops on Nov. 5.

Turkey Gives Full Powers.

Paris, Nov. 8.—Turkey has decided to give the powers complete liberty of action in arranging conditions of peace, according to a dispatch from Constantinople to the Journal des Debats.

The Balkan allies will ask for the partition of European Turkey, leaving the fate of Constantinople to the decision of the European powers, according to Premier Pachitch of Servia, who said:

"Servia wants the ports of St. Giovanni di Medina, Alessio and Durazzo, on the Adriatic sea, which the Servian empire possessed in the middle ages and by which she was territorially related to the rest of Europe."

Servia has not received any proposal from Austria, but assuming that Austria has no territorial designs, Servia is quite willing to favor economic and commercial expansion for Austria.

The premier concluded by saying that the Balkan allies desired Turkey to treat directly with them concerning peace and not through the powers.

TO RECALL MAYOR COTTRELL.

Petition Asserts That Washington Executive Lacks Courage and Ability.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 8.—A petition for the recall of Mayor George F. Cottrell containing nearly 24,000 names was filed in the comptroller's office.

It is alleged in the petition that Mayor Cottrell has shown himself lacking in executive ability and moral courage, that he suffers certain persons and certain institutions to interfere on political matters; that he has failed apparently because of obligations to "certain politicians and Socialist agitators" to protect citizens of Seattle in their constitutional rights and to enforce proper respect for the American flag.

LOFTY LEAP FOR TAFT MAN.

Said He'd Jump Off House if President Lost—Keeps Promise.

Woodbury, N. J., Nov. 8.—Thomas Taylor, a negro, recklessly announced some days ago that if Governor Wilson beat Mr. Taft for the presidency he would jump off a house. He has made good. Those with whom he had made the agreement offered to let him off, but he would have none of that.

He selected the eaves of his own home to jump from and in the presence of a hundred persons he dropped twenty-five feet to a grass plot. He was pretty well bruised up, but no bones were broken.

VOTE IN NEW JERSEY.

Unofficial Returns Give Wilson Plurality of 39,241 in Home State.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 8.—Until the official returns are received and compiled it cannot be known exactly what was Governor Wilson's total vote or real majority in New Jersey last Tuesday.

His total vote is now estimated at 190,000, as against 253,082 cast for him for governor in 1910.

According to the best figures obtainable, the Wilson pluralities over Roosevelt, who ran second, were:

	Wilson.	Roosevelt.
Atlantic	523	....
Bergen	1,377	....
Burlington	80	....
Camden	2,086	....
Cape May	377	....

Sussex	1,300	....
Union	1,207	....
Warren	2,051	....
Totals	46,900	7,659
Wilson's plurality	39241

The returns of the election on Tuesday will be officially canvassed by the state board of canvassers at the state house on Tuesday, Nov. 26. The board will be composed of five senators to be appointed by Governor Wilson. The date of the canvassing is fixed by the election law at twenty-one days after the election. The state board will canvass the returns for all officers who ran in a political division larger than a single county. The statement by this board will be the authority upon which the secretary of state will issue certificates of election.

T. R.'S VOTE IN MICHIGAN.

Has State by 23,000—Ferris (Dem.) Governor by 10,000.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 8.—Michigan is still counting her votes which were cast Tuesday. Up to the present time the count shows the election of Ferris (Dem.) as governor of the state by a plurality of 10,000, that Roosevelt carried the state by 23,000 and the election of Patrick Kelley as congressman at large by 2,000. The Republicans have elected eight congressmen, the Democrats two and the Progressives two, while woman suffrage has apparently carried by 7,000 majority. It is probable that a Progressive will occupy the lieutenant governor's chair. The state officers are still in doubt, but the Democrats will probably be well represented among them. The state legislature will probaby have a scant Republican majority on joint ballot, which will return William Alden Smith to the United States senate.

WILSON RESENTS GOSSIP.

Says He Is Able to Make Selection of Departmental Advisers.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 8.—Those who have been making cabinets for President Elect Wilson were jolted when the president elect told the newspaper correspondents that he was perfectly capable of selecting his own family of departmental advisers and intended to do so

"Such speculations," he said, referring to the list of cabinet officials that had been prepared in every town where the wiseacres could get the ear of the reporter, "are perfectly fruitless. I mean to keep my mind entirely open with regard to appointments of the first consequence until a future announcement is possible. It will be perfectly useless to resort to me for corroboration of any report, because I shall have absolutely nothing to announce. No announcement will have the least authority which is not made over my own signature. These are matters which must be determined by very deliberate counsel and not by gossip."

The rain kept away from Princeton yesterday all visitors except a delegation from the governor's birthplace in Staunton, Va., who came to tell him that there is going to be a jubilee down there next month and that the towns people would much appreciate his presence. The governor promised to attend.

The weather gave the governor an opportunity to do a great deal in answering some of the letters and telegrams that still continue to pile into his home. When he gets through this task he expects to be let alone.

MINNESOTA FOR T. R.

Colonel Will Carry State by Between 15,000 and 20,000.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 8.—Roosevelt has carried Minnesota. The returns from 2,037 precincts give the colonel a lead of 11,000 votes. There are still 800 precincts to be heard from.

The following count was announced early today: Roosevelt 98,525, Wilson 87,141, Taft 53,406. The precincts still to be heard from are country districts where Roosevelt has been running strong. Roosevelt will carry the state by between 15,000 and 20,000, according to estimates given on all sides.

Georgia Vote Complete.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 8.—Complete official returns shows that Georgia cast a total of 120,769 votes for the presidential candidates, divided as follows: Wilson, 92,804; Roosevelt, 21,147; Taft, 5,505; Debs, 637; Chapin, 42. The 1908 totals were: Bryan, 72,731; Taft, 41,614; Watson, 17,112; Chapin, 1,509.

GUNMEN ON TRIAL FOR ROSENTHAL'S MURDER

Owner of Auto May Contradict William Shapiro.

New York, Nov. 8.—The four gunmen accused of directly murdering Herman Rosenthal were placed on trial together before Justice Goff today. It was originally intended to try the men separately, but Attorney Charles F Wahle, who, with H. F. Kringle, represents the gunmen, notified District Attorney Whitman that he would move for the trial of his four clients together.

District Attorney Whitman received this word from Mr. Wahle's office at 5 o'clock last evening and said that he would interpose no objection. He has expressed himself all along as rather preferring to try the men together. In the formal announcement of the motion which Mr. Wahle will present to the court he names his clients in the following order: Frank Muller ("Whitey Lewis"), Frank Cirofici ("Dago Frank"), Louis Rosenberg ("Lefty Louie") and Harry Horowitz ("Gyp the Blood").

What his line of defense will be Mr. Wahle did not disclose. Louis Libbey, the owner of the gray car in which the men accused of the killing made their escape, was in conference with Mr. Wahle for several hours. It is supposed that Wahle intends to put him on the stand to contradict statements made by Shapiro, the man who drove the automobile.

District Attorney Whitman will use many of the witnesses who appeared at Becker's trial, and probably all the informers will be called to testify.

The gunmen will probably take the stand. That any of them will turn "informer" the district attorney regards as unlikely. If they go to the electric chair he believes they will take whatever secrets they have with them

JACK JOHNSON INDICTED.

Required to Furnish $50,000 Cash Bond For Violating Mann Act.

Chicago, Nov. 8.—Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, was indicted by the federal grand jury for violation of the Mann act, and he at once was arrested and held in bonds of $30,000 in real estate or $50,000 cash.

Johnson was unable to furnish the real estate bond, and as the banks were closed he could not get the $50,000 in cash.

Judge Landis, who had left court after having fixed the bonds, telephoned that Johnson could leave the money with court officials and allowed him until midnight to raise the amount of the bond.

Accompanied by deputies Johnson scurried over the city endeavoring to raise the money and finally succeeded in obtaining the necessary bondsmen.

The indictment against Johnson charges him with transporting Belle Schreiber of Pittsburgh from that city to Chicago for immoral purposes and causing her to be known as "Mrs. Jack Johnson."

TRY TO BLOW UP CHURCH.

Pastor's Crusade Against Gamblers Leads to Dynamiting In Ohio.

Canton, O., Nov. 8.—An attempt was made to blow up Calvary Presbyterian church with dynamite. Revenge is undoubtedly the motive, as the pastor, the Rev. Mr. Townsend, has been active for a year or more in a crusade against gamblers and keepers of dens of vice in the city.

Mr. Townsend has caused many arrests in his crusade, and numerous threats have been made against him.

The dynamite was discharged under a corner of the church and destroyed a small portion of the foundation, smashed all the windows in the residence of W. A. McKee, a wealthy manufacturer, adjoining the church, and some windows of the church

IN BALKAN WAR.

Bulgarian Army Nurses Are Proving Themselves Real Heroines.

Bulgarian nurses have proved themselves the real heroines of the war with Turkey. The terrible list of wounded has kept them overburdened with work for the hospitals have been crowded. The army nurses serve with trained branch of the Bulgarian army service. This picture was taken of a group of the nurses just before the war broke out.

ROOSEVELT STILL SILENT.

Defers Promised Statement Until Returns Are All In.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Colonel Roosevelt declared that he still had nothing to say for publication. He hopes to escape the necessity of making any more public utterances after giving out the promised statement, whose appearance was again deferred because of the incompleteness of the returns. In this statement Colonel Roosevelt purposes to review the whole field of Progressive endeavor in the various states. He will point out just what has been accomplished and indicate the lines along which future efforts are to be made.

When that is done it is his intention to get at least a temporary rest from politics in an effort to regain his former physical strength, which he has not attained since the shooting.

Yesterday he conferred with Senator Dixon upon the general outlook. Dr. Lyman Abbott was also a visitor. Today the ex-president went to the Outlook office for the first time in many weeks.

Every Vote In County For Taft.

Austin, Tex., Nov. 8.—It is believed that Zapata county, situated far down in the Rio Grande border region of Texas, is the champion Taft county of the United States. There were 375 votes cast in the county at the election Tuesday, and every one of them was for Taft presidential electors. Four years ago the same county cast a solid vote for Taft. All but five voters in Zapata county are Mexican American citizens.

Weather Forecast.

Rain today, followed by fair; colder; brisk to high west and northwest winds; tomorrow fair.

G. WASHINGTON, HIS POCKETBOOK

Highly Interesting Relic of the Immortal George Leaves Plainfield.

GIFT TO ASSOCIATION

Mr. and Mrs. Tygard Send Venerated Wallet, Which Came to Them With Jumel Claim, to Washington Headquarters in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Tygard, of South avenue, heirs of the famous Jumel estate, who have been in possession of a pocketbook which was owned and carried by George Washington, today presented it to the Washington Headquarters Association, of New York, and William H. Shelton, curator of that association, came to Plainfield and received the pocketbook on behalf of the association. Despits its age it is in an excellent state of preservation.

The story of how it came into possession of Mr. Tygard is interesting as told by the latter. He says that Washington gave it to Major General Reuben Ballou, who acted as father to the general's son, George Washington Bowen, of Providence, R. I. Bowen gave the pocketbook at the time of selling his property to his nephew, John Reuben Vandervoort, now deceased, who at one time lived on Richmond street, this city. Vandervoort upon selling his property to James W. Tygard, gave him the relic.

Mr. Tygard wrote to Mr. Shelton about the book and received a letter informing him that he would come to Plainfield today to receive it. He also stated that "Theodore Roosevelt will now have time to listen to my explanation of the way the pocketbook came into Mr. Tygard's possession and how the bowl came from Washington through Ballou, Bowen and Vandervoort to you. I think he will loan us the bowl."

The bowl referred to, Washington carried through the Revolution and he gave it to his son. Mrs. Tillie Ulrick, formerly of New Market and later of this city, and a sister of Reuben Vandervoort, came into possession of the bowl and she forwarded it to Roosevelt during his last term as President, and received from him a letter thanking her for the gift. It is this bowl which Mr. Shelton hopes to secure for the Washington Headquarters Association.

CHAMPIONS OF FLOOR AS WELL AS FIELD

Plainfield Baseball Club Members Shine as Devotees of Terpsichore.

Agility on the bases and in the field was transferred last night to the dance floor, to the tune of popular airs, played by Suhr's Band, in Sebring's Auditorium. The occasion was the annual reception and dance of the Plainfield Baseball Club, who made such an admirable record in the season recently closed.

The hall was beautifully decorated with autumn foliage and American flags, and at one end o fthe room was hung a large pennant bearing the inscription "Plainfield Central New Jersey Baseball League Champions 1911."

Dancing continued until early this morning, and refreshments, donated by Geo. Johnson, an honorary member of the club, were served.

The guests included many loyal supporters of the team during the baseball season, as well as friends from various teams in Bound Brook, Westfield, Dunellen, Scotch Plains, Elizabeth and Newark.

The arrangement committee was composed of William O'Laughlin, James Scott, Louis Dixon, Alfred Peck, Charles Thompson, Harry Dorflinger, James Steele, William Dorflinger and Ernest Dorflinger.

Thompson Auto Co., the local representatives will be pleased to give further details, catalogues, etc. ***

Charles A. Coburn, of Newark, state secretary of the Y. M. C. A., will occupy the pulpit of the Park Avenue Baptist church, tomorrow morning, and in the evening Rev. Gabriel Reid Maguire will preach on the subject, "The Greatest Question Before the World."

FEW PERSONS CAN LOOK WELL IN GRAY

This and Other Illuminating Points Disclosed in Lecture on Dress.

"Dres" was the topic selected by Frank Alvah Parsons for the third and last of his series of lectures in Plainfield, which was given yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. A. Conner, on Hillside avenue. There were a large number present.

Mr. Parsons began his talk by stating that education is not all confined to schoolhouses or the home, but also means the adjusting of the individual to modern circumstances, modern of course meaning the immediate present, and no other time. Some try to create the impression that art means feeling only, said the speaker, and he was glad to bring thought to the fact that art is by no means reveling in beautiful pictures, but that it is just as important, in order to be truly artistic that clothes harmonize and have the right relationship. Private schools should teach young children how to dress well, for right clothes are as essential as right language, and there is now a tendency to think too much of self. Clothes are a legitimate setting for personality, and should be selected with the individual who is to wear them first in mind, as a frame is selected for a picture.

Color is the most important thing in dress. A vivacious person is not fittingly dressed in gray, or a phlegmatic one in red or orange. Every woman can wear two things, her color, and her opposite color. Black and white very one can wear, and white can be worn next to the face by all, while but very few can wear black there. Neutralizing colors are good to wear. The speaker said that Lady Duff Gordon (Lucille) made her great reputation by being able to successfully neutralize or veil intense colors. Few persons can wear gray, as it is verytrying.

The lines of clothes are most important, for both men and women. The mode of the season at present requires a high waist line, Mr. Parsons said, and the lines of the clothes and the person should harmjonize. The direction of the lines depends entirely upon the figure, and it is the duty of all to make themselves look as well as they can. Vertical lines accentuate height, and horizontal lines width. With most people the lines of the hat are the last things which are considered in connection with the lines of the figure, when the hat should really be considered as part of the head. The wearing of the hair is a great problem, but the securing of proper lines between the wearer and the hat is an art.

A white waist and a dark skirt, said the speaker, are most dangerous things, as few persons can stand the cutting of the figure which they bring about. The one piece gown is the only proper thing. A thing which not enough attention is paid to is the texture of a gown. In Vienna schools the children are blindfolded and then made to feel of textures, in order to determine what can best be combined. A feeling of textural fitness should be held by all.

At the conclusion of his talk Mr Parsons thanked those present for the interest and attention they had given him during the series. He also answered a number of questions propounded by his hearers.

GAVE TEA IN HONOR OF MISS GARRIGUES

Mrs. Brown Rolston and Mrs. Edward P. Sharrets Entertain Delightfully.

Mrs. Brown Rolston and her sister, Mrs. Edward P. Sharretts, gave a delightful tea yesterday afternoon at the home of their mother, Mrs. E. S. Hooley on Rockview avenue, for Miss Anna Garrigues, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Garrigues, of Watchung avenue, whose marriage to Benson Wigton, of Boston, will occur on Thursday of next week.

The affair was attended by about one hundred guests, comprising the younger society set and intimate friends of Miss Garrigues. The home was attractively decorated for the occasion, chrysanthemums being used chiefly throughout the specious home.

Mrs. Rolston and Mrs. Sharretts were assisted by Mrs. Clifford Baker, Mrs. Charles Loomis Dana, Mrs. Lewis A. Williams, Jr., and Mrs. E. Maxwell Perkins, who poured in the dining-room. Other young women assisted in serving. The social features were greatly enjoyed by the young people and Miss Garrigues was showered with good wishes.

STORY AND SCENES OF BELLA DONNA COLORFUL

Madame Alla Nazimova comes to the Plainfield theatre today in the character, Bella Donna, that could not fit her more anugly had it been written for her. The play is all about Egyptians and Egyptian costoms in conflict with the civilization of England. Its scenes and story are packed full of mystery, the detection of crime, a woman's thirst for power, and, having achieved power, her unscrupulous ambition to murder her husband in order that she may marry the one man whom she is certain can master her. Madame Nazimova will look, act and be Bella Donna to the very life. Of unflagging interest, there is no let to the absorbing account of the marriage, murderous intent and frightful downfall of Bella Donna, from first act to last. The piece will be given this afternoon and tonight.

BROUGHT ALL HIS FAMILY TO COURT

And Humphreys, Transgressor or Not, Finds His Way Hard.

William Humphreys, his wife and his five little children trooped into the County Court room in New Brunswick yesterday after Judge Daly had adjourned court. The husband and wife were there to answer a charge of keeping a speakeasy at their home on Rock avenue, over the city line.

Constable Blaine, of Dunellen, had notified them to be on hand at 10 o'clock. Prosecutor Silzer asked them why they had brought their five little children with them.

"We didn't have anyone to leave them with," spoke up Mrs. Humphreys. "The neighborhood wouldn't look after them."

It looked for a time as if they would either have to furnish bail for their appearance next Friday, or else go to jail. Humphreys said with vigor that he would rather go to jail than come all the way to New Brunswick again next week.

Then he explained how they had started out at 7 o'clock yesterday morning in their wagon. The old horse had become tired and the wagon had broken down. Rather than go through all that again he preferred jail.

A court officer brought forth the information that Judge Daly was still in his room and the judge consented to take the pleas there. Both pleaded not guilty to the speakeasy charge and their own bail was taken for trial.

PLURALITY OF 75 ELECTED PARROT

Slim Lead Over Kelly Disclosed By Special Official Count.

RECOUNT IS CERTAIN

Democratic Candidate for Surrogate Determined to Contest the Election—Locked up Plainfield Tally Sheet Delayed Official Tabulation.

Elizabeth, Nov. 9. (Special)—George T. Parrot, Republican, has been apparently elected Surrogate over James P. Kelly, Democrat, by 72 votes. This was the result of the official count by County Clerk James C. Calvert yesterday afternoon. The tabulating of the votes for Surrogate could not be completed up to that time because of the absence of the tally sheet of the Second district of the First ward of Plainfield.

Through an apparent misunderstanding the election officers in that district placed one of the tally shees in the ballot box and forwarded the other to the City Clerk of Plainfield. The sheet inclosed in the ballot box should have been forwarded to County Clerk Calvert. Constable Fred Teipel went to Plainfield yesterday and procured a copy of the tally sheet in the city clerk's office. The other cannot be removed from the ballot box except by an order from Supreme Court Justice James J. Bergen.

Despite the fact that the official results show Parrot a winner Kelly is determined to have a recount and will take steps immediately to bring this about.

Norman D. Loughlin, of this city, on motion of W. D. Wolfskeil, solicitor of the complainant, The Morey-LaRue Laundry Company, of this city, was served with papers from the Court of Chancery, yesterday, forbidding him to take a position with another laundry or soliciting customers for another laundry within the city of Plainfield and suburbs and borough of Metuchen, and requiring him to appear before Chancellor Walker at Newark, on Tuesday, November 19, to show cause why he should not be enjoined for a period of ninety days, according to the petition of the complainant.

Mr. Loughlin, who was employed by the Morey-LaRue Laundry Company, says he was discharged by that concern within the past two weeks, and thereupon took a position with the Queen City Laundry, which was contrary to the terms of the contract which he signed when he took the first position. Unless he is able to secure another position, outside the laundry business. Mr. Loughlin is likely to remain idle for three months. The contract states he shall do nothing that will interfere with the business of his former employer.

It was impossible to find any member of the firm of the Morey-LaRue Laundry Company, today, and secure a statement from the concern regarding the action taken against its former employe.

DECIDE $270,000 IS PROPER FIGURE

Board of Estimate Agrees on Amount for High School Addition.

MAYOR IS OVERRIDDEN

He Refuses to Consider Any Total Appropriation Above $240,000—His Vote the Only Negative One On Sum Fixed.

The Board of School Estimate, composed of three members of the Board of Education and the Mayor and two councilmen, at a meeting held at the High School building last night, agreed upon $270,000 as the total appropriation for the erection of a big addition to the present High School structure, including furnishing and all other incidental expenses in connection therewith. There was only one negative vote, that of Mayor Moy, who stated that he would favor no amount above $240,000 as a total. Already $40,000 has been appropriated.

According to the plans and specifications of the archiect, Harry Keith White, $300,000 would be needed for the enlargement which would mean a thirty-room building besides an enlarge auditorium. A bond issue of $40,000 of the foregoing was authorized sometime ago and this would bring the new stated amount down to $260,000. But it was decided to lop off $30,000 from the total aggregate of $300,000, and this signifies that the additional appropriation is $230,000. From this, to ascertain the exact cost of construction, must be deducted some fixed charges. These include some essential preliminary expenses, such as advertising, legal fees etc., footing up to about $6,400; regulation fees, those of the architect and engineer, aggregating about $16,000, and grading of grounds which means an outlay of about $1,300. The cost of furnishings would amount to $20,000, and so the available amount for actual construction would be a trifle over $200,000.

Originally it was intended to build a six-room extension but after mature thought and figuring it was found that it would be poor policy to expend but $40,000 for only very temporary needs. In less than six years it was found there would be over 1,000 pupils to be accommodated and to provide for them forty-eight rooms at least would be needed. In the final result it was shown that it would be more profitable and serve more satisfactorily to do the whole thing at once building a composite school, holding its utmost capacity. For such purpose $300,000 would be needed.

It is expected that when the fall term is begun next September the huge addition will be completed. It will house not only the High School grades, but will also accommodate the grammar school pupils from Stillman School, who will be transferred to the new High School and thereby the vacated Stillman School will be used to relieve the overcrowded conditions in other schools, including the Franklin, Lincoln and Washington. This means that instead of pupils be on half time they will all receive instructions for the full school day.

To use the original appropriation, $40,000, or some amount in the neighborhood, would simply mean that further additions would have to be made from time to time in one year. Taking the costs of all these various temporary makeshifts from time to time, the expense would be less economical to do the whole job at once. There is also another benefit to be derived from building the structure to its final capacity now for by such means half-time for pupils, a very unfortunate condition, would be ended and all pupils would receive instruction for the full period each and every school day.

Two bond issues will provide the necessary funds for the needed $270,000, one of which has already been made.

27 HENS SO EXCITED BY THEFT THAT THEY CROWED

A man giving his name as Frank Cythern, was arrested in Newark this morning with two bags full of chickens, numbering twenty-seven in all. According to a Newark policeman, the chickens crowed just like Plainfield hens, and his arrest on a charge of stealing followed. Under cross-examination he admitted stealing the chickens from this city last night. Anyone missing feathered property, kindly communicate with Chief Kiely, of the local police department. Crowing hens shouldn't be hard to identify.

IDAHO IN DOUBT

T. R. May Lose Former, Taft the Latter.

VOTE VERY CLOSE IN BOTH

Complete, Although Unofficial, Returns From Illinois Show Wilson Led Roosevelt by 13,855—Roosevelt's Plurality In Pennsylvania May Reach 50,000.

New York, Nov. 9.—Another day day brought more changes in the count of the presidential electoral vote. Idaho and California now are in doubt. President Taft, who since Wednesday had rested secure in his total of 12 votes from three states furnishing four each, was reported to have lost Idaho to Wilson.

California's 13 votes, on latest returns, appeared likely to be put back into the Wilson column, although the figures may be so close that an official recount of the entire state may ultimately be necessary to decide the issue Wilson took the lead again, with a plurality of 75 over Roosevelt, with the filing of complete returns from Los Angeles county. The three precincts missing showed a Wilson gain of 210 instead of the expected Roosevelt gain.

The twenty-nine votes of Illinois, on complete though unofficial returns, are given to Wilson. The complete unofficial figures give Wilson a plurality there of 13,855.

The count in Minnesota continues to increase the Roosevelt lead.

Figures from Idaho:

Taft, 30,241; Wilson, 29,700; Roosevelt, 14,628. The Taft plurality has thus been reduced from the 8,000 originally reported to 541. It is said that the precincts yet to be heard from will show a heavy Democratic vote.

Wilson Sure In Illinois.

Figures from Illinois showed that Wilson's plurality continued to mount as returns from the precincts missing came in. Twenty-four scattered returns gave a gain of 1,831 votes to the president elect and increased his known lead over Roosevelt to 16,873. Only seventeen precincts then remained in the uncounted column.

The vote for governor in Illinois is given as follows: Dunne (Dem.), 406,293; Deneen (Rep.), 295,639; Funk (Prog.), 277,886. The Prohibitionists polled about 50,000.

Sufficient Democratic strength in the Illinois legislature to enable that party to elect two senators appeared as a possibility with the increase of Democratic votes in the southern part of the state, though returns in so far as they determine the political complexion of a joint ballot in the state legislature were so slow in appearing that a conclusive prediction was not attempted by any of the parties. Democrats were hopeful that the new returns would give them 77 members in the house and 27 in the senate—a total of 104 on joint ballot. A majority on a joint ballot is 103.

If this result is attained the Democrats will be able to name a successor to Shelby M. Cullom and to fill the place forfeited by William Lorimer. Failing short of this number, the Democrats may find themselves compelled to appeal to the Progressives for consideration, which might give the Progressives an opportunity to name a United States senator for the short term.

Talk of Medill McCormick.

Who the Progressive would be is not clear, although political experts in Chicago point to the fact that Medill McCormick, manager of the western headquarters for Colonel Roosevelt, might be the most promising candidate. At the same time Frank H Funk, defeated for governor on the Progressive ticket, has announced his candidacy for United States senator.

Complete returns from all but one county in Utah give Taft 35,756, Wilson 28,418, Roosevelt 21,030, Debs 5,025.

Vote a Surprise.

One of the most surprising things about the Wilson vote recorded throughout the country is that it was considerably behind what must be regarded as the normal Democratic vote. Careful analysis of the returns, it is declared, show that Wilson is not only a minority choice, but was not the choice of a solid Democracy.

In 1906 Bryan, running against McKinley, polled, in round numbers, 6,502,000 votes; in 1908 Bryan's popular vote was 6,358,000, and in 1908 it was 6,409,000. Wilson's popular vote, according to the best estimates, was 6,191,000.

In the recent election there were almost 1,000,000 fewer votes cast for the three leading candidates than for Taft and Bryan in 1908. A large proportion of these have gone to make up the increase in the Socialist vote and that of other parties.

DEMOCRATS HAVE SENATE.

They Have Gained Seven Seats and Bare Majority Is Likely.

Washington, Nov. 9.—While there has been considerable talk that the Democrats might fall down in their expectation of controlling the next senate, this view does not appear warranted here. They have certainly gained seven seats as follows: Colorado, 1; Montana, 1; New Jersey, 1; Kansas, 1; Nevada, 1; Delaware, 1.

This is a total of seven. But they have lost Senator Watson of West Virginia. Allowing for the defeat of Senator Gardner in Maine in September, this insures them forty-eight. With the aid of the vice president this will enable them to organize the senate. They will probably also gain two or three more. They will apparently elect a senator in Tenessee, though there may may be a deadlock there. However, a deadlock would reduce the senate total to ninety-five, and thus forty-eight senators would control without the vice president.

—He—"I am afraid you are growing cold. You used to say you loved every hair on my head." She—"I still do, but you haven't as many as you used to have."

Winner and Loser In Hot Congressional Fight In Ohio.

Above, Stanley E. Bowdle; below, Nicholas Longworth, son-in-law of Colonel Roosevelt. Mr. Longworth was assured that his return to congress was a certainty, but Bowdle, from a statement made public by the board of elections, has about 100 more votes than Longworth in the district where the latter has been given majorities of from 3,000 to 6,000 in several past elections.

TAFT CABINET WILL STICK.

Will Remain Intact Until President Goes Out of Office.

Washington, Nov. 9.—President Taft's cabinet will remain intact until he goes out of office March 4, according to information obtained at the White House. It was stated that the president has received personal assurances from each member of the cabinet that he desires to remain in office until his term expires.

It is known that Postmaster General Hitchcock is anxious to enter business at the earliest possible opportunity, but he is also greatly interested in the establishment of the new parcels post in January and will remain postmaster general to see that branch of the postal service started.

The president has no desire to change any of his present staff of advisers.

COMPLETE ILLINOIS FIGURES

Wilson Led Roosevelt by 13,855. Dunne's Plurality, 100,654.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—Complete, although not official, figures from Illinois give President Elect Wilson a plurality of 13,855 in the state. The total vote was :Wilson, 403,416; Roosevelt, 389,561; Taft, 255,095.

The total vote for governor was: Dunne (Dem.), 406,293; Deneen (Rep.), 295,639; Fung (Prog.), 277,886.

The complexion of the next legislature, which will elect one United States senator, changes almost every hour with the arrival of belated returns from down state counties.

Penn For T. R. by 50,000.

Philadelphia, Nov. 9.—Roosevelt's plurality over Wilson in Pennsylvania took another jump last night upon the completion of the count in a number of additional counties.

Including estimates from 116 missing districts in Allegheny county, which are unavailable, Roosevelt's plurality now stands at 44,311. The official count, it is believed, will send the Roosevelt plurality to about 50,000.

The complete vote so far as computed stands: Roosevelt, 428,570; Wilson, 414,259; Taft, 269,166.

Wilson Has Wyoming.

Cheyenne, Wyo., Nov. 9.—Indications from approximately three-fourths of the precincts of the state indicate that Wilson carried Wyoming by a plurality of 1,000 over Taft. Incomplete returns from nineteen out of twenty-one counties give Taft 11,589, Wilson 12,414 and Roosevelt 5,700.

Blobbs—"Guzzler is rather shallow; don't you think so?" Slobbs—"Well, it's mighty hard to get him full."

TARIFF CHANGES

Won't Discuss Calling of Extra Congress Session.

ADAMANT TO INTERVIEWERS

Discussing Extra Session, Says, "Very Interesting; I Have Also Seen a Number of Editorials Urging It." That's All He'd Say.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 9.—When President Elect Wilson was told that Democrats in congress and business men throughout the country are industriously speculating and giving their opinions on the matter of an immediate revision of the tariff, he declared that the discussion was interesting, but beyond that he gave no indication of any attitude other than that of the careful listener.

"Have you seen the statements of Mr. Underwood and other leaders in the party who favor the calling of an extra session immediately after you take office?" the governor was asked.

"Yes," he said. "It is very interesting. I have also seen a number of editorials urging it." And this was all that he would say.

The governor spent yesterday answering telegrams. One from John Wanamaker was typical of the rest. He said:

"There is a citizenship above party and an old personal friendship for you that calls out this expression of good will with the assurance of my earnest support for all good work you do as president of our great country."

Prohibitionist Congratulates.

Another telegram was from Eugene Chapin, Prohibition candidate for president, who said: "I move we make it unanimous."

As visitors the governor had Seymour Thomas, the artist who painted his campaign portrait, and Joseph E. Davies, who was secretary of the Chicago campaign committee. Mr. Davies came on to congratulate the governor and to tell him that the county that saved Illinois to him was called Jo Davies county. He disclaimed any credit for that name, however, because it has been called that since 1832.

In the afternoon the governor and Dudley Field Malone took a long walk and as an ancient bridge was passed the governor turned about and explained to the newspaper man that it was called Stonybrook bridge and was the same one over which Washington passed on his way to Trenton after the battle of Princeton. He pointed out the site of the latter engagement, the spot where General Mercer fell and the weather beaten house where he died.

The governor expects to see the football game between Princeton and New York university today.

PLAINFIELD, NEW JERSEY, NOVEMBER 9, 1912.

The editorial columns of this paper are conducted on Saturdays by representative citizens who are free to express their own views. Charles H. Hand, a large taxpayer in Plainfield, is the contributing editor for today.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH PLAINFIELD?

Repeatedly I have heard the question asked: "What's the matter with Plainfield?" It is a very important question to my way of thinking and yet I do not recall ever having heard the query being answered as it should. That there is something the trouble here, I am morally certain and so are many responsible men who are really interested in the community and its advancement and growth.

Three factors contribute to our detriment as I see it. First, our transportation facilities between here and New York are not what they should be. Second, our community is divided for we have two local municipal governments where we should have but one. Third, we are in sad need of municipal improvements. This is what I propose to discuss.

I have been living here for fifty-six years and have taken an interest in the place particularly because my own personal welfare has depended largely on the welfare of the community. During this long period, Plainfield has grown by spurts; it has not been a steady and persistent growth in any sense of the word. From 1870 to 1875, I recall, we went ahead fast. Homes were in great demand and prices were high. Real estate was then a gilt edged investment. Then, just about 1875, New York got what was known as the Gilbert elevated railroad and real estate here took a downward move. This was but what might be expected for the New York business man or clerk in search of a home found one easier to reach up in Harlem. The Jersey Central railroad soon discovered that something must be done to upbuild the towns along its line and this they did by reducing the running time of the trains and by lowering the fares. Again, Plainfield real estate responded and desirable property went up by leaps and bounds.

But it was not long before there was another set-back for us. The great bridge over the East river was built connecting Manhattan with Brooklyn. This meant that Brooklyn could be reached from New York in quicker time than Plainfield could. Consequently a halt was called for the local builders found little demand for their new houses. Once again, we went ahead rapidly for Brooklyn was soon overcrowded and the outskirts of the City of Churches were too far from Broadway. The Jersey Central improved its service. Our real estate was in demand and the population grew very fast. But our prosperity did not last long for the subway was cut through along Manhattan island and the Bronx soon was filled with huge apartments and flats, where great undeveloped tracts were formerly to be found. That was surely a hard blow for us, but a more staggering one was dealt when the tubes were bored under the Hudson and East rivers. That gave all the railroads running into New York from New Jersey, except our own, superb facilities for the speedy transportation of commuters. Towns along the other lines are going ahead of us; we are standing still. Standing still is going backwards. That's our predicament. We must compete with the other roads and the only thing to be done is to give us a tube under the Hudson river.

Now we have the best, cleanest and most attractive residential place within fifty miles of Broadway. But we must have a tube if we are to go ahead and get along. Therefore, I suggest that the Plainfield Daily Press let the Jersey Central officials know how loud and how general is the clamor here for it to get on the job and give us tube service. Those who see the need of a tube, say so and those who believe that its absence is not the cause of most of our trouble let their opinion be known too.

There is another matter which should be taken into the reckoning. As I have said we are one community and yet two. It is a very peculiar and a very illogical situation. North Plainfield is simply the overgrowth of Plainfield. It there wasn't any Plainfield, there probably never would have been any North Plainfield. Unfortunately, the dividing line between Somerset and Union county follows a line along the middle of Green brook. That makes it necessary for North Plainfield to have an independent municipal government, with an entirely separate set of officials and departments. The problems of the two are identical. There is no excuse for the geographical and political division. What business man would have two stores along side of each other to carry on his business? The sane man would merge them and thus reduce expenses and get better results from a systematized plant. That's the way it should be with the community; it should be one government and not two.

The only way to solve this vital problem is to get the consent of the Legislature and the approval of the people of North Plainfield and Plainfield to annex North Plainfield's territory to Union county and then to consolidate the two municipalities, or vice versa. I suggest that this be taken up as soon as possible and that practical politics and selfish political schemers keep their hands off. The interests of the people are above the interests of any party. Let us get right to work on this matter.

Other things occur to me regarding the needs of Plainfield. Let us keep down our bonded indebtedness. Don't try the experiment of a municipal water plant when we can't get water any cheaper by that plan. We want a sewerage disposal system and want it bad. Why spend more money investigating this subject. We know what we want. Let's have it. Don't go six miles with the pipes when it is just as well to go only three and get the same results and cheaper, too. We should have better street lighting and especially in the business section. The present condition is a disgrace. The garbage and ashes collection method and practise is another disgrace. We have been talking long enough about it and should get down to work; we ought to have had a satisfactory system for collection and disposal in running order long ago. Divide the city up into districts and let the work be done by contract.

Now, here is just one more suggestion. If we are going to get along we must have harmonious government. The Mayor and the Common Council and all our officials should work together and not "back-bite" and quarrel. Let's do something and do it now.

CROSSING BILL CASE

Senator Pierce's Petition for Rehearing Denied by Supreme Court.

Trenton, Nov. 9.—The Supreme Court has refused the application of Senator Carlton B. Pierce for a reargument of the proceedings under which the Pierce grade crossing bill of last winter was recently declared null and void.

Announcement of the decision was made by Chief Justice Gummere at the conclusion of a conference, in which all the members of the court participated.

The chief justice said that the court had found no reasons advonced in the petition for reargument which had not been fully considered in the proceedings instituted by Attorney General Wilson at the instance of the Governor to test the validity of the measure. This being the case, the court ragarded further debate upon the questions at issue as futile. The decision of the Supreme Court is final and there is no possibility of an appeal.

The Pierce bill for the abolition of grade crossings, was vetoed by Governor Wilson after the original measure had been supplanted by a House committee substitute for the Senate committee substitute, for the bill prepared by Senator Pierce.

The House questioned whether the Governor's veto was affective, and after the Senate had refused to concur with the House in passing it over the Governor's veto, the bill was returned to the House and filed with the secretary of State, upon the theory that it was in fact a law.

The Supreme Court held that, with the expiration of five days after the adjournment, or recess of the Legislature, the bill was dead without the formality of a veto, and could not have been revived by any legislative action.

Senator Pierce declined to concur in this view and by his petition for a reargument, made a final effort to save the bill. He was subsequently joined in the petition by several members of the Legislature.

MUCH ROUTINE FOR BORO SCHOOL BOARD

Slowness of Heating Plant Installation Comes in for Criticism.

The regular list of routine matters presented themselves last night at the meeting of the Board of Education of North Plainfield. Speaking of the request for police duty in front of the schools while the pupils are coming to and fro from school, which was refused by the Common Council Supervising Principal Vossler, said:

"If the janitors are to do police duty, as decided by the Common Council, they should have uniforms to demand the attention of the passing automobilists, as well as the children. In ordinary citizens clothes a man would be useless to perform the duties he was stationed there for."

The matter was dropped when one of the Board members said Councilman Milne had promised police protection at the first of the year.

The slow progress of the installation of the plumbing and steam heating plant in the Somerset building again came up for discussion. Much dissatisfaction was expressed that the contractor will not be able to fulfill the terms of his contract, which calls for the work to be completed and in good working order by November 10.

A resolution was adopted giving the junior class of the High School permission to use the building at night for rehearsals for a play they will give before the public in the near future.

The undertiling of the small grass plots in front of the school building was referred to the building and grounds committee with power. Mr. Vossler claimed that with the present lack of a draining system, the school walls at the base of the structure is kept in a damp and unsanitary condition.

The poor ventilation of several class rooms was also brought up for discussion, but this defect will be attended to when the ventilating system, now in the course of installation, is completed.

The sum of $50 was appropriated for a lecture course to be arranged by Principal Vossler, which will be held during the winter months for the benefit of the school children and their parents.

The establishment of separate class rooms for backward and deficient pupils was discussed and this matter was referred to the teachers' committee with power. Mr. Vossler said he had received the report that there were fifteen "deficient" and twenty-six "backward" pupils in Somerset School, and four "deficient" and twenty "backward" students in the Watchung Avenue institution.

Debele's Hall was mentioned as a likely addition to be used for this work, as well as for gymnasium purposes.

A letter was read, received from the American Civic Alliance, who have offices at 165 Broadway New York, and in which Thomas A. Edison, the inventor, is interested, asking for the use of the North Plainfield schools to give lectures. It was claimed in the letter that these lectures were highly educational and that the aims of the alliance was to properly train the young people who are about to enter public life. Dr. Cooley appointed a committee of two composed of Messrs. Sill and Lee, to investigate this matter, as well as the advisability of forming a Parent-Teacher Association.

A special meeting will be held tonight at 7:30 in the Somerset building, when several uncompleted matters will come up before the Board.

AGRICULTURE BOARD HOLDS FIRST MEETING OF AUTUMN

The Union County Board of Agriculture held the first meeting of the fall season at the Courthouse in Elizabeth, Thursday. During the summer months the meetings were discontinued and if the weather had not been so inclement Thursday there would doubtless have been a large attendance, as several matters of importance were to have come up for consideration.

Among these was the question of a State experimental farm to be located in this county. This matter has been before the Board in the past and is now in the hands of a committee which has taken some important steps during the summer. Several sites are under consideration and it is now deemed advisable to make a selection at as early a date as possible so that the work will not be retarded in the spring.

Another subject in which there is a lively interest manifested is the position to be held in connection with the poultry show in the Armory in December. While the board as a whole has not appeared prominently in this movement as yet the committee appointed some time ago is holding weekly meetings.

TWO BOYS ARRESTED FOR STONING TRAINS

Central Railroad Detective Charles J. Laveratt, after several weeks' effort, arrested yesterday two boys, said to be members of a gang of hoodlums who have been stoning passing passenger trains at Cottage place. The arrest of Richard Craft, colored, 9 years old, of 413 Cottage place, and Joseph Mango, 8 years old, of 417 Cottage place, and their appearance in court before City Judge De Meza this morning, followed. The Craft boy was accompanied by his mother, who disclaimed any responsibility for his act. Vienna, Nov. 9.—The early surrender of Constantinople is expected. After the capitulation of the Turkish capital there may be difficulties between the Powers over the terms which the Balkan allies will try to dictate. Servia's demand for an outlet to the Adriatic Sea is the chief disturbing factor.

Vienna, Nov. 9.—The Austrian minister to Servia has left Budapest, where the Emperor and Count Berchtold are staying, for Belgrade. He is instructed to declare to the Servian Premier that Austria is earnestly desirous of maintaining with Servia the excellent and friendly relations which existed fifty-five years ago. This policy, if Servia resumes those relations, gives guarantees of their stability. Both the German and Italian ministers in Belgrade have likewise been instructed to intimate to the Servian government that the Powers forming the triple alliance are acting in solid unanimity in the matter of regulating Servia's future relations and that they will consider Servia's appearance on the Adriatic as opposed to their interests. If Servia insists on occupying Durazzo the situation may become serious.

London, Nov. 9.—A cable from Sofia says Premier Gueehoff, of Bulgaria, announced today that the rumor that the Turkish government had submitted to Bulgaria a proposal of peace without mediation of the Powers was baseless.

Solemn Farces That Have Been Enacted in the British Navy.

It is a rule in the British navy that when a ship is cast away or otherwise lost a court martial must sit in order to apportion the blame. Sometimes these courts really try and condemn those that are held to be responsible. At other times their duties are, from the very nature of the catastrophe, more or less nominal.

Thus, when the Serpent was lost off the Spanish coast, a court martial assembled and solemnly "tried" three ordinary bluejackets, the sole survivors, although they of course had no more to do with the error in navigation which led up to the catastrophe than the man in the moon.

A similar solemn farce was enacted after the loss of the Captain in the bay of Biscay, when 483 officers and men lost their lives. In this case a gunner named James May, one of the eighteen who escaped from the wreck, was the nominal "culprit." The verdict was that the loss of the ship was due to instability and faulty construction. This really amounted to a vote of censure on Cowper Coles, the designer, but as he went down with the ungainly monster he had created he was beyond the reach of either blame or praise.

On another occasion a small "middy" of thirteen years of age was put upon trial, and once, it is said, a court martial assembled on a cat, which chanced to be the sole living thing found aboard a derelict frigate.

Murger's Last Words.

In the diary of Baron d'Ambes, published as "The Intimate Memoirs of Napoleon III.," is this entry for January, 1891:

"I was with Aime Millet (the sculptor), who was the last that spoke to him (Murger, the writer). And what do you think he said to Millet? 'Mind you * * * there are only three things in life—friendship, love and'— He could not finish, he was choking * * * The man fell silent awhile, then went on again, fascinated. 'Friendship—love — I wish I knew what the third thing was."

One Universal Symbol.

"Scientists at work on a universal language have one symbol to start with that already has the same meaning the world over," a traveler said. "That is the skull and crossbones. Its speech is even more universal than music or money. Musical values differ in different countries, as does money, but from one end of the earth to the other a skull and crossbones means poison."—New York Times.

Real Merit.

Real merit of any kind cannot be long concealed. It will be discovered, and nothing can depreciate it but a man's exhibiting it himself. It may not always be rewarded as it ought, but it will always be known.—Chesterfield.

Instinctive Playing is Delightful Because Natural

When a player-piano sounds mechanical, it is because it is built to get expression by artificial, instead of natural means.

Expressive, beautiful, natural music is instinctive. It does not come from "thinking" or reason—it springs from feeling and Instinct. Any pianist can make it, once his fingers are trained to the point where they obey his will without obstinacy. His Instinct for expression then has full sway.

So a player-piano that is built to make you play by "thinking it out" is opposed fundamentally to natural music. The

VIRTUOLO

is an invention different from all other player-pianos. It is constructed so that you get beautifull lifelike music with hardly any thinking of how you are getting it. The Acsolo buttons give you absolute control over the air of the piece, enabling you to emphasize it above the accompaniment, in any part of the piano.

VOSSLER HAS PLANS TO BETTER SCHOOLS

Outlines Them in Report to Board—2 Session Plan Praised.

The report of Supervising Principal A. B. Vossler, of North Plainfield public schools, submitted to the Board of Education at a recent meeting, was considered in detail last night at the meeting of that body in the Somerset School Building. All members of the board were present. Dr. J. H. Cooley presided.

The report contained many suggestions for improvement and the borough pupils are due to receive the benefits of one of the best educational systems employed in schools in this State. A scheme to stop tardiness and absence in the classrooms was included in the report, which gave a few very interesting suggestions to act as preventatives. The board could not make a decision in the matter and it was finally referred to Mr. Vossler, who will put his personal views into operation and make a report at the next meeting of the board November 25.

Prof. Vossler said:

"We trust that the parents will cooperate with us in breaking up habitual tardiness, as there is nothing more important to teach children than promptness in all school duties."

Another matter of great interest to the borough parents was the recommendation in the report, that the school be fumigated once a month as a preventative against the spreading of diseases. "It should emphasized," said Mr. Vossler, in discussing this feature, "that if such precaution is taken, it is merely a safeguard against on outbreak of contagious disease and should cause no anxiety or fear that there is any danger of an epidemic or that disease really does exist among the children. As a matter of fact many public buildings as well as schools in the large cities of the United States, are now disinfected regularly and purely as a preventative against the spread of infectious diseases."

The report states that a marked improvement had been noticed in the work of the Sixth grade since the two-session school day had been placed in force. This was the opening for a debate among several citizens, who were present, either to support or talk against this change.

F. J. Pettengill, formerly of Bound Brook, where he had taken an active interest in school affairs there, said his daughter had shown a decided benefit by the change. He said the two-session plan had been highly recommended by all with whom he has discussed it.

"Regardless of all criticism, if there is any," he continued, "this suggestion of Principal Vossler should be given a long trial. He is new in our midst, and has already shown himself highly capable." In fairness to Mr. Vossler this suggestion of his should be given a lengthy trial regardless of all protests or petitions, but I feel sure that in time everyone will recognize its benefits and undoubted superiority over the one-session plan."

S. S. Swackhamer was again present and spoke in favor of the change. He said the double session was praised on all sides among the borough parents. He held that these matters should be left entirely to the judgment of experienced persons and in this case, he said Mr. Vossler and the Board of Education were representing the people of North Plainfield in school affairs, and their decision should be supreme, in view of the fact that they were experienced and more capable to pass judgemt on such matters than the average parent.

Charles Lee, a member of the Board, said his child's standing in the various studies was higher than ever since the change and T. E. Currin, another member said his son, who had long been subjected to headaches, has been free from this ailment since the new arrangement.

Edmund Rushmore, a member of the Common Council, and the only one who has appeared before the Board of Education in support of the one-session school day, was again present. He said the petition he had circulated had been returned to him with the signatures of over 50 per cent. of the parents of the pupils enrolled in the sixth grade, all of whom were in favor of the one-session. He asserted the Board were in their positions to do the bdiding of the citizens and taxpayers, and that their opinions should be listened to.

Dr. Cooley responded, saying he had investigated the matter himself, and found that the pupils had made decidedly better progress since the change.

C. V. CONOVER.

C. V. Conover, of North Branch, formerly of Somerville, died at his home Thursday night of heart trouble. He was a member of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M. The funeral will be private at the home on Monday.

CLAN MACKENZIE.

Clan Mackenzie, 204, O. S. C., will hold its regular meeting next Monday at 104 Park avenue. All members are requested to be present as important business will come before the meeting.

DAVIS BECOMING BETTER KNOWN AS AN ORGANIST

The seventh of the series of organ recitals at Holy Cross Episcopal church will take place at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night. The recitals that have been held have brought together congregations of considerable size and growing appreciation of the excellence of the programs rendered and of the beauty of the tones of the Kimball organ but recently installed in the church. The organist, Charles Davis, is as yet not very well known in Plainfield, but his capabilities are coming to be recognized. He is a seasoned player of over a score of years in England. Added to this is a rapt devotion to the instrument.

Mr. Davis' program for tomorrow evening is as follows: "Marche Namaan," Costo; "Andantino in D Flat," D. Welton; "Berceuse," Guilmant; "Paraphrase" and "Hymn of Praise," Mendelssohn. At the close of the recital a shortened form of evening prayer will be said, and the rector, Rev. William S. McCoy, will preach a brief sermon on some practical theme of the christian life

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES Y. M. C. A. TOMORROW

J. M. Clinton, General Secretary of Tokio Students' Assn., a Speaker.

The Plainfield Y. M. C. A. is fortunate in securing as one of the speakers at its anniversary service tomorrow, J. M. Clinton, general secretary of the Student Association at Tokio, Japan. After seven years of service in China and Japan, Mr. Clinton is spending his year of furlough in this country lecturing at Columbia University and before the association of the east. He has recently taken up his residence in Plainfield for the winter. He will speak at the morning service in the First Methodist church.

After graduation from the University of Indiana, from which institution Mr. Clinton received the degree of bachelor of arts, master of arts and bachelor of laws, Mr. Clinton volunteered for the foreign mission field. His first post was Hankow, China, later the seat of the Chinese Revolution. From that city he was called to Tokio to direct the work of the association among the thousands of Chinese and Korean students in the Imperial University. This great enterprise has been managed by him with consummate ability. Hundreds of students, members of the official clan, have been converted to Christianity. The undertaking led by Mr Clinton means as much for the Christianization of China as any other opportunity before the Christian Church.

While conducting a movement aggressively Christian, Mr. Clinton has won the respect and co-operation of influential Oriental statesmen, including Count O'Kumea and the Chinese minister in Tokio. Two buildings in Tokio are now given wholly to this piece of Christian strategy and two others are in course of erection.

The other speakers at the anniversary service of the local Y. M. C. A will be: Seventh-Day Baptist church, C. W. Bingeman; Park Avenue Baptist church, C. A. Coburn, of Newark; Congregational church, G. H. Roebling, of Trenton; Trinity Reformed church, S. L. Smith, of Newark; Warren chapel (morning) and First Presbyterian (evening), H. E. Parker.

These services are held in celebration of the association's forty-fifth anniversary. It was organized in 1867. Alexander Albert was president and H. O. Newman recording secretary of the first Board of Directors. One of the oldest, the Plainfield association is also one of the most vigorous of the associations in the State. It has a present membership of 550, three hundred and eighty-two men and one hundred and sixty-eight boys.

Besides carrying on a many-sided work for its members in the building, the association maintains many successful features of extension work among the men and boys of the community. These include a club for street boys enrolling fifty now in the fourth year, weekly noon-hour shop meetings and co-operation with the City Playground Commission.

Of the many new features of work that has been added to the association's program during the past five years none has been of greater service than the educational motion picture entertainments given every Saturday afternoon and evening. Nearly seven hundred persons attend these exhibitions every week. The enterprise has been commended by parents, teachers, pastors and all interested in the promotion of child welfare.

During the past year special emphasis has been laid on definite religious work. This effort reached its climax in the campaign recently conducted by Charles R. Drum during which eighty-three young men decided for the Christian life.

W. L. SAUNDERS SPEAKS AT SUFFRAGE CONVENTION

William L. Saunders, former mayor of Plainfield, made a short address at the evening session of the State convention of the New Jersey Woman Suffrage Association in Trenton yesterday. He said that he noticed from the program that he was sandwiched in between the mayor and a collection, but as the mayor had made his address and the collection had been taken, it was very evident to him that money can do more good in this fight than hot air. There were two questions that he asked when he first heard of the movement; First, has it ever been tried? He found that it had been tried in three different sections of the world and that the adjoining territory was adopting it. To vote is woman's duty, said Mr. Saunders. I am not concerned about woman's rights. Government enters into every part of our life. In closing he addressed himself to the women, advising them that they shirk their duty when they do not use everything in their power to give them not their rights but their duty.

Ten new leagues were welcomed into the association, they having been formed since the last annual meeting.

Among the older suffragettes who were present, and who have attained a statewide reputation were: Mrs. Phoebe C. Wright, of Sea Girt, and Mrs. Mary P. South, of Trenton.

The nominating committee presented the following names, which were voted on at this morn's session: For president, Mrs. L. F. Feickert, of Plainfield; first vice president, Mrs. Mary L. Colvin, of East Orange; second vice president, Miss Helen Lippincott, of Riverton; Miss Eleanor Gerhardt, of Clinton; corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. P. Bowne, of Newark; recording secretary, Mrs. Ellen N. Penrose, of Montclair; treasurer, Mrs. Anna B. Jeffrey, of South Orange.

REMEMBERS BIG FIRE.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 9 (Special)—Today was the fortieth anniversary of the great Boston fire, and to commemorate the event a tablet was unveiled this afternoon on the site where the great conflagration started, at Summer and Kingston streets. The fire raged two days and wiped out almost the whole of the business section of the city. Eight hundred buildings were destroyed and a dozen lives lost in the catastrophe. The property loss amounted to $70,000,000.

AUTO-SHOE THIEVES.

Alexander and Edward Kirchner, of Lincoln, were arrested in Newark yesterday, on suspicion of having stolen five automobile shoes, which they had in their possession. They admitted, it is said, that they stole the shoes from autos in this city. They are being held by the Newark authorities pending the arrival of a representative of the local police department, who will make examination.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

PIG'S FEET.

IN the fall, when pork is at its best, then is the time to secure tender young pig's feet.

There are several ways of serving them. Recipes for some of the most popular methods are given here:

An Inexpensive Food.

Pickled Pig's Feet.—The pig's feet should be allowed to stand in cold water for about twelve hours or over night. Then the toes should be taken off and the feet well scraped. Place on the fire and boil them till they are tender, salting the water just before they are done. Then they should be placed in a large jar or crock and covered with hot vinegar which has been spiced with whole cloves, pepper and allspice. They may be served without further cooking or may be cut in two, rolled in flour and fried in hot fat until brown.

A Novel Relish.

Pig's Feet Salad.—The pig's feet should be cooked in salted water and cleaned the day before they are needed. When boiled until tender drop them in vinegar. Next day pick out the meat, shred it finely and chop, using the bits of jelly sticking to it. Chop the white and tender stalks of celery to make a large teacupful and mix this with the meat. Chopped white cabbage or cold boiled potatoes may be used instead of the celery if you prefer. Use a French dressing on the salad.

Pork and Beans.

Pig's Feet With Beans.—Take two nice pig's feet, cook for an hour and scrape and clean well. Put the feet into a covered vessel and stew gently for two hours, just covered with water and seasoned with pepper and salt. Add a quart of hot parboiled beans and see that all are well covered by adding more water and put back into the oven. Let the contents of the vessel cook very slowly for three hours and serve hot.

Halved and Broiled.

Grilled Pig's Feet.—Scrape the pig's feet and wash them. Then soak in cold water two hours and wash and scrape again. Split each in half lengthwise. Tie the halves in pieces of cheese cloth. Place in a deep saucepan, cover with boiling water, add one tablespoonful of salt and simmer slowly until the feet are tender. Take them from the liquor and set aside until cold. Remove the cloths. Into two tablespoonfuls of thick cream stir well one tablespoonful of lemon juice, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-half tablespoonful of finely chopped parsley and a dash of tabasco sauce. Having removed the cloths from the pig's feet brush each piece with good olive oil and dust lightly with salt and pepper, using one-half teaspoonful of salt and one-half saltspoonful of pepper for all the pieces. Broil over a clear fire for several minutes. Serve on a hot platter and spread the prepared butter.

Good Form

Well Trained Servants.

If it be your fortune to hire servants, it would be well to remember that you are entering into a business contract, each side of which should be observed to the letter. The servant problem is not only a result of industrial conditions, but of the home conditions, and if a mistress remembers that a servant is a human being, and treats the worker considerately, perhaps the call of the mill, with its regular hours, will not be so alluring.

It frequently falls to a woman's lot to train a willing servant into the ways of her home and sometimes into the ways of serving. The important thing is not to attempt too much at once. Take one setting of the table and the serving, and by repetition and frequent lessons have the maid master this. Impress on her mind the importance of the mechanics of serving. The most inexperienced will soon acquire efficiency in placing the silver, glasses, etc., correctly.

Generally speaking, the knives and spoons are placed at the right of the plate, the forks at the left. That on the right, which is to be used first, such as the oyster fork, should be the outer one, the next would be the bouillon spoon, and so on. The dessert and the coffee spoons are last. Forks are easily disposed of, for the salad fork, the smaller one, is last to be used and therefore nearest the plate. The method is to work from the outside in toward the center.

Butter plates are placed at the left, in front of the plate; glasses for water at the right.

A good servant keeps glasses always filled and places fresh butter on the plates. Serving should be done from the left, except coffee, which should be placed at the right of the diner.

The proper form of addressing a mistress is, "Yes, madam," or "Yes, Mrs. Brown." If there are any doubts about a mistress' inclination to see guests a polite "I will inquire" after receiving the card of callers should be given. A polite, quiet demeanor is a requisite of a good servant. Neatness is another factor, and it were well to suggest that these two factors are demanded.

As the relations between the mistress and the servants are business relations, there should not be undue familiarity between them. It often breeds contempt. This must not be construed, however, to mean that a mistress should forget her politeness when addressing servants.

When asking one to pass a dish, etc., the little word "please" need not be dispensed with, and an amiable "thank you" should be given.

Women servants are addressed by their first names. Men servants are usually addressed by their surnames.

A considerate mistress never reprimands her servants before strangers and should ask that any questions in the mind of the servant be solved by presenting them to her. The equipoise of a mistress is reflected in the manner of her servant, and fairness in treatment is usually reciprocated. A clear understanding of the duties to be performed, regular remuneration and a kind business relationship will make the household wheels go smoothly on their way.

Don't overwork your servant. If she be a quick, good worker the time saved belongs to her. In this way you will get the best service and the most willing attitude toward you and your home.

Postcard Invitations.

Although it is not the best taste in the world to use picture postals for invitations, they may pass between friends at the time of some impromptu social happening or other, the sender of the invite apologizing, however, for her use of one. Thus she would write in this case: "Excuse postal, but we are getting up a dance and long for you. Tomorrow night. Write you will make us happy by coming.

"Indeed, yes," with her signature below, would be quite enough for the card of the invited girl if she herself is pressed for time, but it would be pretty to add a word more—"How good of you to remember me!"

A verbal response to invitations requires, as I have said, some good feeling behind it, and if it comes from quite an old lady or gentleman here is truly the time for a gush of enthusiastic pleasure. Old people love to feel that they are still of importance, as treated

The Week End Desk Case.

Dear week end girls dare not rely upon your busy hostess for writing materials. There may not be even a desk in your bedroom, and some other guest may be writing in the library at the very moment when you wish to send out a note. So be sure to pack into your suit case one of the conveniences of flexible leather of book shape which has several pages of blotting paper and compartments for stationery as well as for a bottle of ink so firmly encased that there is no danger to the wardrobe belongings with which it may be packed. The cases come in black or colored morocco, in pigskin and in sealskin.

Mrs. Thomas Marshall Sure of Democratic Success This Fall.

MRS. THOMAS R. MARSHALL, WIFE OF THE DEMOCRATIC NOMINEE FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

Mrs. Thomas R. Marshall, wife of the Democratic nominee for vice president, is sure that the Democratic ticket will win this fall because, as she explains, "I've never been in a losing fight." So much for feminine logic. But should this charming woman ever become the "second lady in the land" the role will be in mighty capable hands.

Along in the early nineties Mr. Marshell while acting as special judge in the circuit court of Angola, Ind., met Miss Lois Kinsey, who was serving as a deputy for her father, who was clerk of the court. It was not long before the special judge began to turn his attentions to that branch of the law under the general head of "domestic relations," and in 1895 he submitted his brief to Miss Kinsey. His presentation of the case was so able that she was induced to become Mrs. Marshall of Columbia City.

Governor Marshall recently referred to his matrimonial life "as one long honeymoon." He and his wife are chums in the very best sense of the word, and to use Mrs. Marshall's own words: "My profession is being the wife of Thomas R. Marshall. This is my business, my pleasure and my work in life, my vocation and my avocation."

The wife of Indiana's governor has a charming personality and is rather above the medium height, slender and graceful, with a frank manner that must have been of inestimable value to her husband during his fledgling days in Indiana politics. She presides over the gubernatorial mansion in Indianapolis with ease and excellent poise. She is fond of reading, and her library is the one room which she disarranged in her Columbia City home when her husband became governor. Neither she nor Mr. Marshall could endure the thought of leaving their books out of reach. So the favorite ones fill a big corner in the library of the Hoosier white house.

As for fads, Mrs. Marshall disclaims any unless it is her devotion to her home. She makes a study of artistic surroundings and is to be counted among the women who have ever loved their thimble and needlecase, and all the higher education and the distinctive talent for politics have not lured her from this early attachment. Although Mrs. Marshall is of decided literary tastes, her friends say that few housewives can mix a better cake or turn out more wholesome pie and bread. And should the goddess of the frying pan fail to appear or get obstreperous the governor's lady can don an apron and dish up a banquet fit for a king.

The Marshalls, although comfortably endowed as to income, are not rich people and are entirely unobtrusive and modest in their amenities. They have never posed as social leaders, and they rather dread such a distinction, but Mrs. Marshall is "sure that she will like official life in Washington."

The following very characteristic note was sent by Mrs. Marshall to Mrs. Wilson before it was known that her husband had been nominated for vice president.

There are three daughters in the Wilson family, and Mrs. Marshall had that fact in mind when she wrote:

"I am not unmindful of the fact that there are four women rejoicing where there would have been only one had your good fortune been mine." As every one knows, Governor Marshall was one of the Democratic possibilities of the recent campaign.

WOMAN BUILDS

She May Not Know Much About Architecture, but She Has Made Up Her Mind What She Wants and Gets It.

WOMEN who are interested in building are usually well informed. In fact, if one may rely on the word of the average contractor the woman who builds a house is often too well informed to suit him.

When a man decides that the old house in which the family has been living shall be replaced by a new one he seeks his favorite among the local builders and, after looking over plans, makes up his mind what he wants. Then when the preliminaries in regard to expense have been settled he tells the contractor to go ahead and put it up.

That isn't a woman's way if her husband leaves the matter to her or if she happens to be a widow or a spinster.

Before she considers bids or plans she has decided just how much she will pay for the house. Circumstances usually have jurisdiction where the matter of cost is concerned.

As to location, circumstances again come into play, for a woman will not fare far from friends or relatives if she can help it. She is more apt to consider the neighbors than the quality of the investment. It is more important to her that her mother lives around the corner or that she is near the church or the schoolhouse than that lots in that locality are likely to go up in value in a year or two.

As to plans, she doesn't consider them until she has decided whether she will have a Queen Anne, a colonial, a Dutch or a Swiss chalet house. Then she scours the neighborhood to glean acceptable features from all the new houses which she is able to find.

These ideas must be carried out in her own new house or the builder will have a dissatisfied patron.

"I don't want to put up any more houses for women," said one contractor, who had been unlucky in regard to the women patrons he had dealt with. "The idea that a woman may not be safely trusted to look after her own interests is an old fashioned notion. So far as building is concerned, it does not hold good. Many women are a great deal sharper than men even if they can't call a piece of lumber by its right name.

"To begin with, it's harder to satisfy a woman than it is a man. There are, of course, some women who are never satisfied.

"A woman will preface her dealings with you by declaring her ignorance of every detail connected with house building, but before you have the cellar walls cemented together you discover that she is better informed than her husband, who struts about bossing the carpenters and trying to make the masons believe that he has forgotten more about stonework than they ever knew.

"A woman may not be able to distinguish putty from paint when she starts to think about her house, but by the time work begins she has acquired a wonderful assortment of information. Try to fool her on one tiny detail of the specifications and she will quickly show you what a mistake you are making. She simply commits those specifications to memory, for, no matter how honorable your intentions may have been, she has started out with the notion that because she is a woman you are deliberately planning to cheat her at every point. She will vigilantly measure the outlines of the windows and doors, gauge the capacity of skeleton closets, inspect the mortar box and question the quality of the best of lumber. Even though she may not know as much as she thinks she does it will take some one other than her builder to show her she is in error. Indeed, sometimes she will go to law rather than concede a point.

"If she brings suit against him it is all up with the contractor. The judge will say the poor woman didn't understand, and the jury will chivalrously bring in a verdict in her favor.

"In one house I built owing to a foreman's oversight a pantry window was put in with two panes of glass instead of four, as the contract called for. I explained to my fair patroness that the two panes of glass were really more expensive for me than four panes would be, while she was not paying a cent more. She always harped back to her original contention that she had wanted four panes of glass in her pantry window and I had meanly and doubtless with malice aforethought given her two. She sued me about it, too, and I not only had to take out the two panes and put in four, but I had to pay her damages because the trouble had caused her delay in taking possession of her house.

"In another case after I had begun work on it the woman for whom I was building asked for trifling changes in the kitchen. I willingly obliged her in the matter, only to be astounded when the house was finished to have her decline to pay for the house because I hadn't followed the plans. She denied all recollection of asking for the alterations from the plans which were in dispute, and rather than go to law about it I gave her the house for $500 less than the contract called for."

[A postal addressed to O'Flaherty's New York Suburban Shopping Guide, 150 Nassau Street, New York City, will supply information as to where the articles mentioned in this column may be obtained.]

The Robespierre collar has necessitated the wearing of a lace pin, and one of the stores is offering a set of three delicately enameled pins at 25 cents.

A celluloid hatpin holder, shaped much like an hour glass, is 50 cents.

At one of the department stores you will find for $1 six coasters and a tray in nickel and enamel.

Plush hats in a variety of small shapes in black and white or all black are $1.98.

One of the stores is offering knitted woolen caps for boys for 25 cents. The sizes range all the way from two year olds to caps for small schoolboys. They come in a variety of colors.

The most fascinating children's handkerchiefs come in a box of seven for 77 cents, one handkerchief for every day in the week, and each handkerchief has a corner illustration with the name of the day and the work engaged in during that day. For instance, Monday is wash day, Tuesday ironing day, and so on.

Fine handkerchiefs large enough for use yet small enough to be tucked inside of the glove are 29 cents each.

Most of the popular song hits of the day will be found at one of the stores at 10 cents a copy.

Twenty-five cents is all that is asked for a very attractive picture in a mission frame, showing the ruins of the Coliseum, and a second picture of the ruins of one of the Roman temples, the two being separated by a narrow strip of finished wood.

Amber is so popular and so beautiful that anyone would enjoy wearing one of the dainty pins composed of five cut amber balls which one of the stores is selling for $1.

With one of the new brush mops which one of the stores is selling, any woman could mop or scrub her own floors with little effort. The handle, which is adjustable to any attachment, is 25 cents. The brushes vary in price according to their size and use. The medium-sized attachment for mopping is 75 cents, that for merely dusting is $1, and a scrub brush attachment is 30 cents. The action obtained with the use of this mop is exactly that which is given by the hand movement without the wearisome bending.

An excellent window lock which is absolutely burglar proof, is offered at 75 cents. This is easily adjusted on the inside, and is so constructed as to prevent the window from being opened from the outside.

One of the department stores is selling smart vestees in plaids for $1.50.

VESPER SERVICE FOR SOMERVILLE KNIGHTS

Somerville, Nov. 9 (Special).—A solemn vesper service will be rendered at the Church of the Immaculate Conception tomorrow evening, under the auspices of Somerset Council, No. 1432, Knights of Columbus. The choir has been under a course of instruction in the Gregorian chant and ancient plain song of the church for several weeks by Miss Mary A. Smith, organist and leader of St. Mary's church choir, of Plainfield. Delegations of knights will be present from New Brunswick, Plainfield and other towns. The local assembly of the Fourth Degree Corps will act as ushers. In the afternoon at Columbia Hall, a number of candidates will be instructed in the first degree.

BRILLIANT OPERA SEASON.

New York, Nov. 9.—With every prospect of eclipsing all records for variety and brilliancy, New York's annual season of grand opera will open Monday night at the Metropolitan Opera House. The season will last twenty-three weeks, one week longer than usual. The chief feature of the season will be the opera in English by W. J. Henderson and Walter Damrosch. The opera bears the title "Cyrano," and is based on the famous play by Edmond Rostand. An afternoon cycle of "Der Ring des Nibelungen" will be given during the season, and there will also be several performances of "Parsifal."

AGED AUTHOR TAKES TRIP.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 9.—Appearing as youthful and vigorous as most men of half his years, John T. Trowbridge, the veteran story writer, sailed today for Italy, to spend the winter abroad. Mr. Trowbridge is eighty-five years old and is the last survivor of New England's famous group of authors and poets, which included Longfellow, Whittier, Emerson, Holmes and Lowell.

J. Rademsky, a St. Louis dentist, is the latest "white hope" to throw his hat into the ring.

A number of theatrical managers of the West have agreed to put on no more boxers at their theatres.

Bert Keyes and Harry Trendall have been signed for a quarrel to take place in St. Louis on November 14.

Tommy Murphy, the New York lightweight, will meet Fred Delaney, of Ireland, in a six-round bout in Philadelphia, November 10.

Young Jack O'Brien will not meet Packey McFarland, as the best weight that McFarland will make for Jack is 145 pounds.

Young Mike Donovan, a son of the famous Mike Donovan, has entered the professional ranks and will fight in the welterweight class.

Once more Tommy Ryan has come to life by declaring that he has quit the boxing game because Jack Johnson has put the sport on the blink.

SCHOOL "STRIKERS" NOW REPENT OF THEIR ACTION

Westfield, Nov. 9.—Old "Mother English" has come out victorious in her battle with football and the students of the Westfield High School who loved football more than they did "Mother" have apologetically acknowledged that they were wrong in "striking" against a ruling of the Board of Education, and have reduced themselves to a state of submissiveness.

The Board had ruled that no student was eligible to any athletic team if his average in any study fell below the eighty per cent. mark. The pupils rebelled and placarded the town with denunciations of the educational body. Parents of the rebels refused to be enlisted in their cause and the apology of the students followed.

Rather than have basketball meet the fate of football it has been decided by the players to get in touch with English lexicons and qualify for athletic work by first qualifying for English.

SWIFT BASKETBALL AT Y. M. C. A. GYMNASIUM

Good Attraction Scheduled at the Association Tonight for the Ajax.

Another good basketball game is carded to take place in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium tonight when the Ajax basketball team will play the Union High School, of Elizabeth. The team from the county seat has been playing all of the Newark and Elizabeth scholastic fives and the Ajax will have to go the limit in order to come out ahead. After the exciting contest that the Y. M. C. A. team won by the score of 45 to 42 last Saturday, they have gained a great deal of confidence and are out to win another tonight.

Nash will be out of the lineup because of injuries received in football but otherwise the lineup will be the same as in the initial contest. Union High School has promised to send its strongest lineup to Plainfield and as this has been enough to put it over Newark High School teams, it ought to be enough to at least make the Ajax hustle.

C. William Bingeman has been coaching the association team in the fine points of the game and the three stiff practices held during the past week ought to be beneficial.

FOR 18.2 BILLIARD TITLE.

New York, Nov. 9 (Special).—The leading billiard experts of the country are about to engage in a tussle to decide the world's championship at the 18.2 balkline game. Willie Hoppe, George Slosson and Harry Cline, of New York; Orlando Morningstar, of Pittsburgh; George Sutton and Calvin Demarest, of Chicago, and Albert Taylor, of Milwaukee, are the entries for the tournament, which will be gin Monday night at the Hotel Astor, which has been the scene of several notable battles with the ivory globes in recent years. Koji Yamada, the Japanese expert who is said to be a wonder with the cue, is the foreign entry in the tournament. The contest will be for 500 points, subject to the playing rules at present governing the 18.2 balkline game. Twenty-eight games will be required to make each player compete against every other entrant. The prizes are a challenge trophy and $3,000 in cash. The net gate receipts, if any, will be added to the prize money. Without considering box office proceeds the winner is assured of $2,000, the second $1,500, the third $1,000, and the fourth $500. It has been many years since such a notable array of experts were entered in a billiard tournament in this city. Slosson is the veteran of the company. He is the old war horse and in his time has held the championship titles at every style of the game. Hoppe, the youngest of the company, is probably the foremost player of the present day. Like Slosson he has pulled down all of the titles and can be counted upon to finish at the front in the coming tournament if he is in good condition. Morningstar, for many years the pool champion, has played in many billiard tournaments and at times has displayed wonderful skill. Cline also is an attractive player and has a taking style. He has a clean swinging wrist stroke of the old Sexton and Vignaux school. Demarest is another pyrotechnic performer. He is chock full of confidence, and is a wonderful masse player, one of the best of them all. Sutton is a seasoned player, though not as long in harness as Slosson. He is the best nurser of them and on this account is likely at any time to make a decisive run. Taylor, of Milwaukee, is of a younger school of players, but has had considerable tournament and match play experience. Koji Yamada is an unknown quantity so far as American tournaments are concerned. Will Foss, the former amateur champion, witnessed his performances in the Berlin tournament some time ago and declares him to be well up in the game.

"Rube" Marquard, star twirler of the New York Giants, was caught with Blossom Seely (Mrs. Joseph Kane), an actress, in a beach front hotel in Atlantic City by the woman's husband and two detectives, who smashed in the door of their apartment. He and the woman escaped by a rear fire escape. He is charged in a warrant sworn out by the husband before Magistrate Jagmetty with "alienation of affections" and is a fugitive from justice.

POTPOURRI DEFEATED BY SOMERVILLE FIVE

Plainfield Gleanings Took a 32 to 14 Count on Opponent's Court.

A basketball quintet which savored well of the famous "57" varieties journeyed to Somerville last night in an attempt to hold up their end as opponents to the fast Somerville B. B. five. The aggregation from this city supplied plenty of excitement for the three-quarters of an hour that the game was in progress and although they came out on the smaller end of a 32 to 14 score, the final count does not indicate how closely the battle was waged.

Playing on a court which could be used to slide from one end to the other on, and as a combination that had never played together before, the Plainfield aggregation under these difficulties put up a wonferul game and same good shooting was done on the part of Coyle and Ricketts, who each caged three field goals and the former a brace of fouls.

The lineup and summary:

Ricketts	forward	Dugan

LOCAL RACQUET WIELDERS IN COLLEGE TOURNAMENT

One of the most successful of annual fall tennis tournaments has just been completed at Rutgers College, with Paul Haney, '16, of Princeton, the winner. The main object of the yearly tournament is to get a line on material for the varsity tennis team and Haney is considered an intercollegiate tennis championship contender.

Among the large array of expert racquet wielders who entered the tournament were Stanley Robins, Cornelius F. Schenck and Harold W. Schenck, of this city. Robins was eliminated in the first round by Malmar, who took two straight sets 6-2, 6-2. Cornelius Schenck was also beaten in this round by D. B. VanDyke, 2-6, 6-3, 6-1, and Harold Schenck defeated G. J. Smith 6-4, 6-3. He was defeated by Wells in his next set, 6-2, 3-6, 8-6, in three of the most exciting sets of the tournament.

EVERYBODY INVITED TO SEE AUTO FIRE ENGINE TEST

The Nott triple combination automobile fire engine, which is being tested at New Brunswick this afternoon, will be brought to Plainfield tomorrow and exhibited at fire headquarters until 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, when it will be officially tested by Chief T. O. Doane, Mayor G. W. V. Moy and members of the Common Council. A cordial invitation is extended by Chief Doane to all interested to witness the test.

The engine is considered remarkable, having beaten the world's record for this class of apparatus. The test will be spectacular in that lines of hose from 300 to 1,000 feet long will be laid and fire streamss under pressure of 100 pounds at the nozzle will be shown. This is something, it is claimed that has never been witnessed here. Robert C. Woodhouse, the eastern representative of the Nott Fire Engine Company, of Minneapolis, is enthusiastic over the work of this apparatus.

DOZEN NEW FEATURES ON THE 1913 INDIAN

NEWEST MOTORCYCLE.

Following the "14 Important Improvements" of 1912, The Hendee Mfg. Company announce no less than a dozen additional new features in their 1913 model of the Indian Matocycle.

By far the most significant feature of the new machine is the Cradle Spring Frame. It is something entirely new, a radical departure from the conventional bicycle and recent motorcycle systems of "springing." Briefly, the new device consists of the application to the rear wheel of the Indian Cradle Spring device as used on the front fork for the past three years.

Extending back horizontally from the frame joint cluster under the saddle, flanking the rear mud guard, are two 7-leaf Chrome Vanadium steel springs. The "C" shaped curls at the rear end of these springs are connected by stays to bell-cranks on which the rear axel is hung. The forward end of the rear fork has a hinge joint which enables the rear wheel to yield to imperfections of road surface. All shocks are completely absorbed by the leaf springs. The rear wheel can go through almost any vertical motion without affecting the body of the machine. There is no "bottom" to this spring deice. The life of the machine is greatly increased.

The Engineering Department of The Hendee Mfg. Co. devoted 18 months of exhaustive test to the Cradle Spring Frame before finally deciding on its adoption for all models of the 1913 Indian.

In addition to the Cradle Spring Frame, the 1913 Indian embodies 10 other important improvements which will be appreciated by motorcycle riders in general. Prices remain the same as last year.

New style, single clinch rims; larger tires; wider mud guards front and erar with larger splashers; causing for upper stretch of transmission chain and curve of sprocket; larger luggage carrier in rear, fitted to all models; foot rests, as well as pedals, fitted to regular 4 h. p. and 7 h. p. models; foot brake lever fitted on left side now operates band brake as well as the pedal action; larger size multiple disc clutch now fitted to all models alike; improved Indian type saddle.

All 1913 Indians will be chain driven and finished in Indian red only.

Here, fans, is what appears to be a new one—at least it is new to us. When two clubs in Canfield, Colo., took the field recently it was discovered that one side was a man short. In spite of the fact that Albert Billings supported himself by one genuine and one cork leg, he gallantly volunteered to substitute for the missing man. In the ninth inning, with the score 5 to 5, the cork leg bobbed up—as cork will—and the last Canfield game of the season broke up in a row. Billings came up and, turning on the live pedal, whaled out a two bagger. He stole third and started home when one of his teammates hit to shortstop. The shortstop tossed the ball to the catcher ten feet ahead of the runner, the cork leg flew off and crossed the plate, while the owner of the leg dropped to the ground.

The catcher stepped out and tagged the prone figure, but the umpire was watching closely and ruled that the foot at the end of the cork leg touched the plate. The opposing team claimed that Billings was out because the catcher tagged him before he crossed the plate. We rise to state that we consider this some story.

GILLETTE, STAR QUARTERBACK

Wisconsin's Little Field General Has Done Some Great Playing.

Western football critics are of the opinion that if Eddie Gillette, the Badgers' star quarterback, keeps up his brilliant work he will surely be the selection for the position on the mythical All American eleven. No quarterback in the east or west has performed as well as Wisconsin's signal giver. In the game with Northwestern, which the Badgers won by a score of 56 to 0, Gillette was the bright star. His ninety yard run in the last period of the game through the entire purple team was the most brilliant play of the game. Near the close of the first quarter Gillette broke away for a fifty yard run, carrying the ball to Northwestern's twenty yard line. Wisconsin plugged the line and sent Van Riper over left tackle for the first touchdown. Gillette kicked the goal.

In the game with Purdue Gillette was the individual star. His most brilliant accomplishment was a sixty-five yard run for a touchdown at the opening of the second quarter. Wisconsin made six touchdowns, and Gillette kicked every goal. Wisconsin won, 42 to 0.

BUCKLE CURVE GOOD ONE.

Pittsburgh Pitcher Shows Fans the Old John Clarkson Trick.

Ball scientists have burned midnight oil to discover a substitute for the spitball, the "turkey" trot, the fadeaway and the double shoot. Wilbur Cooper, the Columbus recruit to the Pittsburgh club, has beaten them all to it with the shining "buckle curve." It is a deceiving thing, this buckle shoot. It buckles and it bends. At least that is what the batter thinks.

On the back of his glove Cooper has a shining silver buckle. The master of the "buckle curve" just assumes a pitching pose and wiggles his thumb and four flugers in the sunlight. Old Sol does the rest. The gleam from the buckle gets to the batter's eyes, and he is as helpless as a handcuffed man.

Griffith Signs Cuban Player.

Clarke Griffith has a fondness for Cuban players and has just signed one for his Washington team. Jacinto Calce is the man. He is one of the stars of the island and is said to be a better player than Almeida or Marsans, the Cincinnati stars.

LOSE THEIR JOBS

Baseball Fans Surprised by Wholesale Dismissals.

SOME MORE MAY GO.

Several Other Big League Clubs Likely to Have New Pilots Next Year. Owners Hamper Men In Charge of Teams.

The free handed manner in which the baseball leaders are fired nowadays, especially by clubs which seem to need managers about as much as anything else, is causing considerable astonishment in baseball circles. So far about half a dozen managers have been given the good old raus, with several precincts which are normally "agin" second terms for any leader yet to be heard from.

While Roger Bresnahan's dismissal as manager of the St. Louis Cardinals was not wholly unexpected, in view of the numerous reports of the past year, it has aroused almost as much comment as the discharge of Frank Chance by Charles W. Murphy.

Bresnahan's record with the Cardinals compares very favorably with the achievements of numerous other managers who are considered fairly successful. While he had a poor season in 1912, he was gradually getting together a pretty good ball club, and he was always a strong road attraction.

Roger is quite naturally uttering shrill, flutelike notes over his summary dismissal at St. Louis, but it is said that the Great Hen Pecked has been offered several jobs as a leader and so has Chance.

It is said that ever since Mrs. Britton became head of the St. Louis club she has constantly interfered in the management of the team, something which even as astute an owner as John T. Brush has hesitated to do with his manager.

Horace Fogel and John I. Taylor are among the owners credited with injuring the chances of their clubs in years gone by. Charley Murphy has entered the same class. It is known that Mack and McGraw are unhampered, and it is generally supposed that Callahan, Jennings and a few others do as they please, and their records will stand inspection against the unfortunate managers afflicted with magnates who want to assist in the team management.

George Stallings has eased himself into a situation without any great disturbance, although it is said Johnny Kling went away from Boston muttering under his breath. Joe Birmingham gets another crack at Cleveland, unless they've thought of some one else very recently.

Jimmy Callahan, Harry Wolverton, Connie Mack and Hughey Jennings of the American league have been uncontaminated by rumor to date.

Harry Wolverton is sure of his job, because F. Farrell will not stand for his leaving the Yanks in their present state of mind and standing of the clubs. J. Garland Stahl is another American league manager who doesn't have to worry.

In the National league it is believed that the rumored sale of the Philadelphia club presages another new leader, although Charley Dooin did mighty well with the team under the circumstances.

With changes at Boston, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis and possibly Philadelphia and Brooklyn, John J. McGraw of vaudeville fame and Fred Clarke, the Pirate leader, will be about the sole survivors. There was some talk a few months ago of ousting Clarke, but it has apparently died out, and Fred will be in there managing next year.

It's a gay life, this managing baseball teams, and if you don't believe it address Billy Murray, Hal Chase, Jim McGuire, Roddy Wallace, Harry Davis, Pasy Donovan, Fred Lake, Hugh Duffy, etc.

Johnny Evers' appointment as manager of the Cubs has developed an apparently general verdict that the Trojan hasn't the right temperament for a leader, but the responsibility may work a complete change in the great second baseman. Evers' greatest difficulty will be in handling Murphy and getting together a ball club that will possess even first division possibilities next year now that the once wonderful machine is so thoroughly wrecked.

His pitching staff is a wreck, and he has only one good catcher. His outfield needs rejuvenation. All in all, Johnny has undertaken no enviable task, but the best wishes of the baseball world will go with him.

Here is one case of it:

C. L. Treat, painter and paperhanger, 411 East Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "I suffered for a long time from kidney trouble and for years could not find anything that would give me relief. My back ached constantly and there was pain across my kidneys. My kidneys were in bad shape and I became all run down, in fact, was almost a physical wreck. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply and they made a different man out of me. I got this remedy at Randolph's Drug Store and my experienced was so satisfactory that I cannot make my endorsement of it too strong. I simply would not be without a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills on hand."

5 JURORS OBTAINED IN TRIAL OF GUNMEN

All Profess Confidence of Ultimate Acquittal.

New York, Nov. 9.—The work of selecting the jurymen who are to decide whether or not "Dago Frank" Cirofici, "Lefty Louie" Rosenberg, "Whitey Lewis" (Frank Muller), and "Gyp the Blood" (Harry Horowitz) jointly are guilty of the actual killing of Herman Rosenthal went forward speedily when the four gunmen were placed on trial before Justice Goff in the supreme court, and by the time court was adjourned at 5:30 o'clock yesterday until Monday five jurors had been sworn in.

The story persisted throughout the day that the four gunmen at the last minute before going to trial wished to change their plea to murder in the second degree and so escape the electric chair with a sentence of not less than twenty years. It was said that the court and prosecution did not look upon the last minute offer kindly and that the gunmen's only hope lies with a jury.

When the five accepted jurymen had been told by Justice Goff that they might go to their homes until the trial is resumed on Monday, former Magistrate C. G. F. Wahle denied positively that his clients contemplated a change of plea. The gunmen themselves, especially "Gyp the Blood," just before being led back to the Tombs for the night, continued to express their confidence that they "will be out here in two weeks."

"I'll buy you a drink on Thanksgiving day any place you say," laughed "Gyp the Blood" to a reporter as the gunmen were about to start back for their cells.

Crowning the Mikado

THE coronation, or rather the induction into the royal office of rulers of Japan, differs greatly from the ceremonies of western nations when a king or emperor is to be crowned. To begin with, the Japanese emperor is not crowned, but there is a very solemn religious festival. Even today, when Japan has grown so democratic, the common people regard the emperor as a sacred person and so cast down their eyes when he passes, it being considered unseemly to look at him.

Instead of being crowned the emperor goes in state to the wonderful old castle of Nijo. Here he takes a solemn oath that he will maintain the laws and do all he can to aid his people.

Then he salutes three sacred emblems of authority which are kept hidden from the sight of man from the inauguration of one emperor to that of his successor.

These wonderful objects rest upon a sacred shrine. They consist of a keen, double edged sword, a peculiar star shaped mirror and a crystal globe.

The value of these three objects is beyond computation, for it is a well recorded fact that they have been handed down for hundreds upon hundreds of years.

Certain it is that the Japanese emperor belongs to the most ancient monarchy in the world. The Emperor

YOSHIHITO IN THE PICTURESQUE ROBES OF THE ANCIENT RULERS OF HIS NATION.

Haru is the one hundred and twenty-second monarch to occupy the sacred throne. This throne is a very solid, antique chair, at the feet of which are two massive lions made of pure gold. It has existed for countless ages.

Until comparatively recent years the imperial capital of Japan was Kioto. It was the Emperor Mutsuhito, about 1869, who made Jeddo his capital.

By this act Jeddo became a Kio, and so its name was changed to that of the eastern capital, or Tokio. It will be seen that the syllables are exactly the same as Kioto, but reversed.

The Japanese have adopted English as the official language, as their own is so difficult. Thus, take the Emperor Haru's full name. It is Yoshihito—Haru no miya.

According to Japanese custom one-half of this name was taken from his father, Yoshihito means laudable man, while Haru no miya means palace of the spring.

The old emperor was inducted in the wonderfully picturesque national costume. Nowadays the Japanese costume has dropped out, western attire taking its place. The gentlemen of the country look to London for their clothes and the ladies to Paris.

Even in stature and appearance the Japanese are gradually changing. The empress wears a crown or coronet, however—a notion borrowed from Europe.

Everything is changed now in Japan. Even the old name of mikado has gone, as the Japanese consider it not to be sufficiently worthy name for the head of a great nation, the title emperor being chosen in its place.

The sailors wear dress modeled upon that of the jack tars of western civilization, and the soldiers are clothed on the models in use in the German army.

At his induction the new emperor may wear the picturesque uniform of the regiment in which he has served—the imperial bodyguard. This is the crack body of the whole army, numbering in its ranks only men of blameless character and great attainments.

The new emperor has received a magnificent education, paying particular attention to the learning of the west. Hence it is highly probable that the advance Japan has made within recent years will be exceeded in the next few.

—"What must a man do before he can live at peace with all the world?" demanded the exhorter. "He must be dead," came a voice from the outskirts of the crowd.

OUSTS RIVES AS VESTRYMAN

Action of Church Follows Divorce—He and His Sisters Withdraw.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 9.—Reginald W. Rives, the whip, who recently obtained a Reno divorce, has been ousted as a vestryman in Zion Episcopal church at Wappingers Falls, but in thus rebuking Mr. Rives the members have led their church into financial straits. Not only has he quitted the church, but his sisters, Mrs. John Borland and Mrs. Walter Smith, both very wealthy, have ceased to worship there and are driving to Fishkill village, seven miles away, to attend service.

Mr. Rives was preparing to make a vigorous fight against his expulsion from the vestry when friends, who knew of the strong sentiment of the members against him, induced him to retire without contest. Mr. Rives had demanded reinstatement. He withdrew this demand after a few days.

John Bogle, a manufacturer, was elected in his place, but he did not qualify and the post is still vacant.

WOMEN CRITICISE WILSON.

Want Him to State His Views on Suffrage Movement.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 9.—Governor Wilson's refusal to state his position on the subject of woman's suffrage or to recognize the movement to make it effective in this state was sharply criticised at the twenty-second annual convention of the New Jersey Woman's Suffrage association, which was held in the senate chamber. It appeared that two letters had been written to the governor, one asking him for an expression of his views on the subject and the other inviting him to recognize them at the convention. The governor replied to neither of the letters, and the suffragists were disposed to be resentful.

RUSH CRUISERS TO TURKISH WATERS

Fears For Americans' Safety In War Zone.

MISSIONARIES IN PERIL

Desperate Condition In Constantinople Described In Wireless Dispatches. Roads For Miles Are Filled With Dying Women and Children.

Washington, Nov. 9.—For the purpose of protecting American citizens in Constantinople and American missionaries and educators at Beirut and Smyrna, President Taft has ordered the armored cruisers Tennessee and Montana to sail at once to the Mediterranean. The American ambassador at Constantinople has been ordered to confer with his European colleagues and to take any measures that may be necessary in case conditions of turbulence affecting the safety of foreigners in Turkey should arise.

Both the armored cruisers are now at the Philadelphia navy yard and will sail tonight.

The decision to send American war vessels to the scene of the Balkan troubles was made at a conference between the president and his cabinet.

The dispatch of the cruisers marks a complete change of the attitude of the United States toward the Turkish situation. Heretofore the state department had relied entirely on the six great European powers, parties to the agreement for the maintenance of the status quo in the Balkans, for the protection of Americans.

Seek Revenge on Foreigners.

Recent reports received here, however, indicated that the infuriated Moslems, stirred by successive defeats at the hands of their Christian enemies, may seek revenge by massacring all foreigners.

The situation has become so acute that the president does not care to risk reliance on the European powers to protect Americans. Moreover, the general view among diplomats was that there might be a general scramble for Turkish territory as an aftermath of the war in which the European powers might not protect the citizens of other nations.

It is greatly feared that riots will break out in Constantinople. Reports from Beirut and Smyrna are daily more apprehensive. Uncle Sam, as represented by the Tennessee and Montana, will be given another opportunity in this cruise to the Mediterranean to demonstrate, as the Oregon did in 1898, the navy's fitness. Both vessels will travel under rush orders.

To Destroy Constantinople.

London, Nov. 9.—A dispatch from Constantinople to the Daily Mirror, which came in a roundabout way, tells of the bad conditions at the Turkish capital. This dispatch was sent by wireless to Kustendje on Nov. 8 and from there was sent by steamer to the Black sea. It says that the "foreign warships, although they have produced a slight moral effect, are totally inadequate to meet the perilous situation here. It is most doubtful if the famished remnants of the Ottoman army will be able to furnish much resistance at Tchataldja. The fall of these lines will mean the destruction of Constantinople by the fleeing Turkish soldiery."

The dispatch continues: "The Turkish government, recognizing the danger, has taken the precaution of intrenching 1,500 trustworthy regulars throughout the city with a view of arresting the expected stampede. Day and night civilian refugees are coming in from Kirk Kilise, Viza and Chortlu and the neighborhood. The roads for several miles are filled with endless columns of bullock carts filled with old men, women and children. Many of the latter are in rags, and their feet are bare and bleeding. All of them look half dead from hunger and exposure.

"I saw three babies tied to a donkey's back. One of them was dead, but the mother refused to part them, even when told of this. Many others were left to die on the roadside. All the roads are knee deep in mud, and it is doubtful if many of the refugees will ever get here."

RUMOR OF NEW MASSACRE.

Fleeing Turks Said to Have Slain Inhabitants of Silivri.

Constantinople, Nov. 9.—Fugitive Turkish soldiers are reported to have massacred many inhabitants of the village of Silivri, on the sea of Marmora, southwest of the Tchataija forts.

The fleeing soldiers, who were in a state of semistarvation and utterly demoralized, are said to have set fire to all the houses in the village.

According to Turkish official reports, Mussulman villages in the Palass and Kirdjare districts have been burned by Bulgarian troops and Daoud and Topuklu and surrounding villages have been destroyed.

West Virginia Goes Dry.

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 9.—Official returns from every county in the state show the prohibition amendment to have carried by 84,834. Only two counties, Ohio and McDowell, gave wet majorities, and the dry majorities in every other county ran from 500 up to 7,631 in Harrison, in which the town of Clarksburg is located.

—"Do you think the automobile will displace the horse?" "No," replied the reckless driver. "We can't even get the pedestrains off the roads."—New York American.

WOODROW WILSON

On October 21st, 1911, in one of my advertisements I prophesied that Governor Wilson would be our next President. Is it true? Here is another. In October, 1913, and from then on during his administration, Real Estate will be better than this generation has ever seen it. Why? Because all the tricks in the stock business will then be shown up and the people will see how little they have used their brains and fall back to the old reliable Real Estate. Good, honest dirt always has been and always will be worth more than mere paper.

FOR WELFARE OF THE CHILD

Mothers' Congress and Parent-Teacher Assns. Meet at Riverton.

THIS CITY REPRESENTED

Interesting and Helpful Addresses and Interchange of Ideas—Franklin K. Mathiews, of Scotch Plains, One of the Speakers.

The twelfth annual assemblage of the New Jersey Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Asociations, which closed at Riverton Saturday after a two-days' meeting, presented a program of great interest to more than three hundred delegates.

It was at Riverton twelve years ago that the New Jersey Congress was formed by the Porch Club members calling together delegates from the clubs of the State interested in child welfare. The Congress now has a membership of more than 3,000, having doubled its membership in the past two years and is a part of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Association.

Some of the aims and purposes are to raise the standard of home life, to develop wiser and better trained parenthood, to bring into closer relationship the home and school, that parent and teacher may co-operate intelligently in the education of the child and to surround the childhood of the whole world with that loving wise care in the impressionable years of life, that will develop good citizenship instead of law breakers and criminals. Plainfield was represented by thirteen delegates from the Mothers' Association and Parent-Teacher Associations, each one bringing back information and enthusiasm for the work in this city.

Telephone-Telegraph Workers Rejoice Over Pension, Casualty and Death Plan.

TEN MILLIONS A YEAR

Scheme Comprehensive and Ideal—Beneficiaries Not Assessed—No Distinctions, and No Pension Less Than $20 a Month.

Employes of the telephone company and the Western Nnion Telegraph Company in this city are rejoicing today over the announcement of a plan to provide old age, casualty and death benefits for every worker of the vast Bell system and associated interests. There are approximately 100 employes connected with the local telephone exchange. There are perhaps three of the local workers who will be eligible for pensions on January 1, when the plan is to go into effect, but none of them expects to take advantage of it. They are still hale, and will continue in active service. Their future, however, is provided for.

Ten million dollars is to be distributed annually among the 175,000 employes of the Bell organization. Combined benefits for superannuation, illness, accident and death for an industrial army more than twice as large as the standing army of the United States, is provided, and the scheme for the distribution of this fund is characterized by persons conversant with the subject as the most liberal, comprehensive and ideal even inaugurated.

This fund of $10,000,000 will be made from year to year by annual appropriations on the part of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company and associated companies,

ON THE PRACTICAL SIDE OF SCRIPTURE

Dr. Strong Shows How Inspiration on Homely Lines May Be Obtained.

Rev. Dr. Philip B. Strong, of the First Baptist church, exchanged pulpits with Rev. Dr. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, yesterday morning. Dr. Herring gave a helpful discourse on the subject of "Prayer" and its place in the life of every follower of Christ, in whose life prayer played so large a part.

Dr. Strong occupied his own pulpit in the evening, his theme being "Good tools for good work, in the hands of good workman." He based his sermon upon one of the quaint and characteristic sayings of Solomon: "If the iron be blunt, and one do not whet the edge, then must he put to more strength, but wisdom is profitable to direct."

"The tendency among Bible readers," said Dr. Strong, "is to read the more devotional parts of the Book and neglect the strictly practical parts. It is marvelous how many statements one can find in Scripture which have direct bearing upon modern topics of interest, such as art, inventions, music and common every-day living.

"This particular passage suggests how the strength of the workman may be economized by the whetting of the edge of the tool. God abhors waste; he is the greatest economist of the universe. In how many ways is the world learning means of conserving time, labor and material, yet how much more there is to learn along these lines. For instance, the crop of apples in this country this year was 6,500,000 bushels—more than there are barrels to put them into, yet how many of our people in the great cities and elsewhere are hungry, while food products are actually rotting on the ground.

"Every year $25,000 worth of timber is burned, while men struggle to purchase materials with which to build a cottage. Instances might be multiplied of similar shameful waste in the world of industry. The most deplorable waste, however, is the waste of material in the church of Jesus Christ. Worse that the waste in the case of the youth who drops out of school when he might have an education; worse than the waste of millions of dollars by improper management in business life, is the waste of splendid talent, time and interest, among those whose business and privilege it is, as disciples of Christ, to extend and embellish His kingdom. Blessed is the poor workman who having poor tools, does something. What might he do if he had with his consecration, training and education. And if the many, with talent and education, had the consecration to devote it to the highest ends, what a tremendous force would be at the Lord's disposal."

BOY SCOUTS DRILL ON A CHURCH LAWN

Then With Two Other Troops They Go in to Special Service.

Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church, and William D. Murray, of the Editorial Board of the Boy Scouts publications, addressed the union meeting of the Boy Scouts of America held at the Congregational church yesterday afternoon.

Three local troops attended the service Wetumpka Sentinels, McCready's Troop and a colored troop.

Mr. Goodrich spoke on the subject "Be Prepared," the scout's motto.

Mr. Murray gave a short talk on religion in the scout movement. He made special mention of a twelve-year-old New Jersey boy who attended the Scout Camp at Cos-Cob, Conn., last summer. That boy was in the habit of saying his prayers at his mother's knee every night. He had promised her before going to camp that he would say them and go to bed at 9 o'clock every night. In the evening of his first day in camp the boy went to the man in charge and told him he wanted to say his prayers. After a second's thought the man went out in the woods with the boy and knelt with him while he prayed.

The next day when Ernest Thompson Seton, the chief scout, returned he was told of the incident by his assistant, who said that he had not prayed in thirty years but the prayer of the boy had reached his heart. He wanted a tepee erected for the boys to worship in every night. It was erected and the results of the meetings held were such that in the future more time will be given to the religious side of the mavement.

Before going into the church the Wetumpka Sentinels gave an exhibition drill on the lawn.

COUNSELS MODERATION IN CIVIC CRITICISM

Clergyman Says Officials Shoudn't Be Nagged by Petty Fault Finding.

Services at Holy Cross Episcopal church yesterday were well attended. In the morning the rector, Rev. William S. McCoy, preached from St. Matthew 22:21, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's." That Jesus Christ urged His followers to uphold order and government was clearly shown by the text. New officers for the national and State government, for the city and likewise for the borough require a re-organization of things and the necessity of becoming accustomed to new men and new policies. But the speaker urged a sympathetic attitude towards the new officers.

"They should not be subjected to petty criticism," he said. "All men make mistakes. Public men have a right to expect honest criticism. By accepting public place they invite remarks regarding their policies.. But in all decency and honor they ought to be criticised fairly and without personal prejudice. They ought to have a chance to work out their policies. Constructive government is very much needed today."

The preacher also emphasized the special claims of God, which are love and service.

At the evening service, the organist, Charles Davis presented a half-hour program of organ numbers before the regular service. Among his selections that were very much enjoyed were the "Berceuse" of Guilmant and the "Paraphrase" and "Hymn of Praise," Mendelssohn. The recital was attended by a large and attentive congregation.

ASSN.'S 45TH BIRTHDAY

Prominent Workers Bring the Power and the Scope of Their Organization Vividly to the Attention of Plainfield Churchgoers.

Many of the prominent churches of this city devoted a part of yesterday's services to the forty-fifth anniversary celebration of the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. The speakers at each church were prominent Y. M. C. A. workers, and included J. M. Clinton, general secretary of the Student Association in Tokio, Japan, and noted organized of associations in China. He spoke at the morning service in the First Methodist Episcopal church.

The work will be started this week.

CONGREGATION THRILLED BY MASTER 'CELLIST'S POWER

That power which sacred music, properly played, has to quicken the religious spirit was felt in full effect by the worshippers at the morning service at Grace Episcopal church yesterday. Udo C. Gossweiner, of East Orange, a 'cellist who recently became a fixture of the church musical organization, played with a spirit and feeling at yesterday's service that was nothing short of compelling. His playing created a profound impression and members of the congregation spoke of it afterward as ones who had enjoyed a memorable experience.

Mr. Gossweiner is a master of his instrument andthe experience through which the congregation passed yesterday is not likely to be unique. He will play at the morning service at Grace on the second Sunday every month, and the power of his artistry, it is safe to assume, will be felt as often as he comes to the church.

POLICE RAID LIVELY SUNDAY POKER GAME

Six Players and Spectator Caught—Fines for all But Latter.

Responding to a telephone message said to have come from the Central Livery Company, a detail of police yesterday swooped down on a poker game in the company stables, six of whom were sentenced to pay a fine of $8 or spend forty days in jail, by City Judge DeMeza this morning.

The offenders were Gustave Sutterline, Charles Nicols, John Creger, John Hogan, Lynus Walpole, Tony Paretti and George Margentino. All said they had been arrested on similar charges before, except Walpole, who had a clean record, and told the Judge he was merely a spectator. On the strength of this evidence sentence was suspended.

The testimony given by the gamblers brought out the fact that the Central Livery stables had been a mecca for Sunday gambling whenever the proprietor was away, as was the case yesterday. It was said that the owner learned of the game through a friend, and he immediately notified Chief Kiely.

IN MEMORY OF LATE DR. BLISS

Tablet to Early Pastor Unveiled at Crescent Avenue Church.

BUILT PRESENT EDIFICE

Rev. Dr. Zelie Recalls in Connection With Unveiling, Features of Dr. Bliss' Ministry and Faith—Mrs. Bliss Present.

At the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday morning there was unveiled in the presence of a large congregation a handsome bronze tablet commemorating the Rev. Dr. John C. Bliss, who was pastor of the church from 1867 to 1883. Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, the present pastor, in the course of his morning discourse, recalled the more marked features of Dr. Bliss and of his ministry in the faith, which forty years ago ventured the building of a church of this character in a locality then unbuilt upon and yet of dimensions which have met the needs of more than a generation and of a beauty which has been an unceasing joy.

"Greater than the outward achievements," said Dr. Zelie, "were the generous habits of mind and heart which Dr. Bliss and those who labored with him, engrafted into this congregation and which have remained ever since."

The tablet was unveiled in the presence of Mrs. John C. Bliss and her son, Prof. Collins Bliss and his wife. The inscription on the tablet reads as follows:

"In Loving Memory of John Collins Bliss, D. D., Pastor of this Church, 1867-1883. He that loveth is born of God and knoweth God."

The tablet occupies a prominent position on the left-hand side of the pulpit arch.

NEW WALK TO BE LAID AT NORTH AVENUE STATION

Through the efforts of Robert M. Meeker, of this city, a passenger shelter is to be erected on the west bound side of the Netherwood station. Assistant State Road Commissioner Meeker recently had a conference with the Jersey Central's officials and pointed out how necessary some sort of shelter is for patrons of the road boarding or alighting from trains at that point.

It is reported that the shelter will be about the same size and appearance as the one on the west bound side of the Grane Avenue station. Work will be begun in the near future.

The agitation for this needed improvement was begun some two years ago by this paper.

Is there a home or club in Plainfield and vicinity in which a piano, secured absolutely without cost, would not be acceptable, especially if that piano is one of the self-playing kind?

The Daily Press is going to give such a piano to some individual, club or society in Plainfield as a Christmas present, and it is going to give a second piano, not an automatic player, as another prize to someone who may be a degree less successful in the effort to win the player-piano. All told merchandise amounting in value to over $800 will be given away by this newspaper.

This will provide a fund for Christmas presents and other purposes which will amply repay all who take part in the contest for their time, whether they win the piano or not, so that there can be no feeling of disappointment for those who fail to win one of the pianos. In other words, all who engage in the contest will be paid for striving to increase the circulation of this newspaper.

3 GAG MAN AND THEN TAKE $109

Found Senseless Along Car Track Near Camden.

ARMED POSSE IS ON TRAIL

Citizens Begin Search For Suspicious Characters—Highwaymen Take Victim and Hurl Him Down Embankment, but Small Tree Saves Him From Death.

Camden, N. J., Nov. 11.—In the glare of the headlight of a trolley car, a man, gagged and bound, was seen in the bushes by the roadside near Oaklyn, this county.

The car was backed, and the crew found Harry Jarman of 610 North Thirteenth street, Philadelphia. He was unconscious. Rope was wrapped many times about his legs and arms. A leather gag had been forced into his mouth and the string tied so tight around the neck that he had nearly strangled.

When he regained consciousness Jarman was unable to talk, as his tongue had swollen. He wrote his name on a piece of paper and said he had been held up and robbed of $109 by three men. Then he lapsed into unconsciousness again, and the car was started at full speed to the Cooper hospital in this city.

At Oaklyn station the authorities were notified and a crowd of citizens armed themselves and began a search for suspicious characters.

Jarman at the hospital gave further details of the holdup to the Camden police. He said he was connected with the Provident Lumber company of Philadelphia. He intended to purchase some property near Oaklyn and had placed the cash in the inside vest pocket to make a payment.

He was waiting for the car, having failed to enter into the real estate deal, when three men chatting with each other approached. They walked by without paying special attention to him, but in a few minutes he saw them returning.

When opposite all three turned on him, and before he could utter a word one clasped him from the rear, using an arm around his throat to prevent any outcry. It was so dark he could not distinguish the features of any of his assailants.

A gag was forced into his mouth, though not before he was struck a blow in the face. Then one of the men produced a new rope, which was wrapped around him many times.

Jarman said the men acted as though they knew he had the $109, for when they had searched his trousers and coat pockets one, with an oath, said, "I can't find it." A little later the searcher seemed to recollect he had not looked into the inside vest pocket, and exclaiming, "Here it is!" he pulled out the wallet containing the money.

Picking Jarman up and carrying him on their shoulders, the men took him to where there is a steep embankment. They tossed him over, but in the darkness did not see that he hit a small tree. This prevented him rolling out of sight and resulted in his being found.

In conjunction with Thanksgiving Sales and other special features.

This is a fixed annual event that occurs regularlly about the middle of November. The headline clearly states its purport—room-making. That's very vital to us and very important to you. FEDERATION OF LABOR.

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 11 (Special).—The thirty-third annual convention of the American Federation of Labor, which was opened in this city today, and which will continue probably for two weeks or longer, got into working order before an adjournment was taken this afternoon. After the exchange of greetings and the appointment of committees the convention listened to the annual reports of the several officers and the executive committee, which reviewed the activities of organized labor for the entire year and delat specifically with the great textile strike at Lawrence, the propaganda of the Industrial Workers of the World, the relation of the national political campaign to the interests of the working classes and numerous legislative matters of interest to labor.

SOME RICH PRIZES.

Something unique in the way of a newspaper voting contest is inaugurated today by the Daily Press. Encouraged by the splendid results of the competition this spring when six young women were given absolutely free a two months' first class trip through Europe, the editors and managers propose to launch another enterprise somewhat on similar lines but greatly improved. These improvements are due to the experience gained in the European tours contest and chief among them is a stipulation to equitably reward all who play a part in the competition.

Newspapers as a rule, when starting an enterprise of this sort, engage an expensive campaign manager. We did so ourselves, but we made it our business to learn all "the tricks of the trade" and now we can get along just as well without paying a high price for a specially engaged manager. Instead, therefore, we are going to treat handsomely all those actively helping us to increase our circulation. It is a form of the profit-sharing plan if you choose to call it so. Everyone who brings in five or more yearly subscribers will be given ten per cent. of the subscription price and the money will be paid when the contest comes to a close. This entirely eliminates the one bad feature of the ordinary contest, for there is a reward coming to all active participants, whether they win or lose the prizes for which they struggle.

One of the primary objects of this campaign for circulation is to give still better results to the local advertiser and therefore we have introduced another novel idea in this connection. It is this; No subscription will be counted for votes in the contest unless the paper is to be delivered within a radius of fifteen miles of Plainfield. Still another unusual and more equitable condition is that no bonuses of any sort whatever will be given during the progress of the campaign, that is, the votes will count exactly as represented on their face and there will be no double or triple votes or anything of the sort awarded as special inducements.

The prizes are suitable for the church, the Sunday-school, the lodge, the club and the home. They are equally useful in each instance and there should be a lively scramble for them. For more particulars read the explanation given in the news columns in this issue.

NEWS IS NEWS.

When the recent campaign was fairly started we took occasion to state that while the Daily Press held opinions of its own on platforms and candidates, such expressions would be confined to the editorial column, where they rightly belong in a real newspaper, and that there would be no bias or prejudice shown in the news columns. News is news and should be reported exactly as it happens, particularly when it concerns politics. Throughout the campaign, this paper adhered to that policy and as a result no favorites were played in the news columns; there was fairness to all. Both from a moral and a business standpoint, the results were gratifying. The readers of a newspaper hold widely different views and they have a right to and expect to be given honest treatment. They want to know what is going on in the enemies' quarters as well as in their own and they will not stand for a newspaper that garbles, distorts, exaggerates or suppresses the news.

As the Bucks County, Pa., Gazette says:

The suppression of political news is just as great a mistake as the suppression of any other kind of news. If a man is a Republican, and takes a Republican paper, he has a desire, if he is broad-minded, to know what is happening in the camps of the other political parties. If his own newspaper does not gives this information, he must read another newspaper.

The mere printing of a piece of news concerning another party does not imply that the paper endorses what is said or done. A newspaper should be the forum in which political questions are discussed fairly and intelligently. This does not prevent the paper voicing its own views in the editorial columns or pouring hot shot into those whom it regards as enemies. The news columns, however, should be impartial.

The hide-bound, rabid newspaper has no place in the world of today. The source of all wisdom does not lie in editorial sanctums alone, as was formerly believed. The people are studying political problems for themselves. They are doing their own thinking and do not blindly follow party leaders. This is a hopeful sign, and indicates that the world is growing better. The millenium is not here yet, but its approach is indicated by the increased interest shown by intelligent voters in the political affairs of the nation.

The election of Mrs. Lillian F. Feickert to the presidency of the New Jersey Women's Suffrage Assciation is a well deserved honor. If all the advocates of "votes for women" were so enthused with the spirit and the work, the day when the ballot is given the so-called "weaker-sex" would be much nearer.

DON'T WAIT FOR DEATHBED REPENTANCE, WARNS PASTOR

Taking for his text, "What Must I do to be Saved," from Acts 16-30, the Rev. Dr. Gabriel Reid Maguire, the pastor, spoke before a large congregation in the Park Avenue Baptist church yesterday morning, for more than an hour. His sermon delivered with great force included many word pictures and illustrations of every day life. In closing he said: "The man is a fool who adjourns repentance until the death hour. Are you adjourning it to the last hour of your life? What a fatal mistake. It is possible that a man may repent in the last hour of his life, but it is improbable. The chances are 1,000 chances to one against him. Have you ever seen a man after living a life of sin trying to repent in the last hour? I have seen that spectacle and if you have ever seen it, you would not try to repeat it."

Dr. Vosburg has travelled extensively in the Far East and his pictures are among the finest that have ever been shown on Japan. Many of the slides were made by Japanese artists and are as near nature as it is possible to get them.

Admission to the lecture will be by ticket only. Tickets can be secured by applying to the Sunday-school superintendent, George E. Hall, the deacons of the church or from Rev. Dr. Gabriel Reid Maguire, pastor of the church.

OSCAR F. G. DAY.

He Is Credited With Having Originated the Direct Primary Law.

The direct primary plan of making nominations to public office is fast superseding political conventions. It is predicted that by the time of another presidential election the direct primary plan will be used in every state for the purpose of selecting the nominees.

Oscar F. G. Day of Minneapolis is credited with having originated the direct primary plan. He has been in newspaper work for twenty-five years.

OSCAR F. G. DAY.

Mr. Day suggested his plan to the Minnesota state legislature thirteen years ago. The politicians objected that it sought to disrupt a fundamental principle of American government by representation. Mr. Day contended that the convention system was unfair, inasmuch as the delegates frequently did not carry out the wishes of the voters. The plan was finally tried out in Minneapolis and has spread to other states.

LIBERALS DEFEATED BUT ASQUITH MAY NOT QUIT

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press)

London, Nov. 11.—In the House of Commons today the government was defeated on the home rule bill by a majority of twenty-two. As a result of this, it was at first believed that Premier Asquith would resign.

The defeat of the Liberal Government on the financial provisions of the home rule bill was at first regarded in political circles as so serious as to necessitate the resignation of the Asquith ministry. The vote naturally caused considerable consternation in ranks of the Liberal party, the chiefs of which immediately met in consultation and it is believed that Mr. Asquith will attempt to compromise in respect to financial provisions of the bill, and if he is successful, the ministry will not resign.

The general topic of the Congress was "Construction" and was opened by an invocation by Rev. John Rigg of Riverton. Mrs. R. T. Corry, president of the Riverton Mothers' Circle, extended the words of welcome to which Mrs. Augustus H. Reese, president of the Congress, responded. Greetings were read from the National Congress of Mothers also from the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs. Mrs. E. C. Grice, first president of the Congress, spoke on Constructive Activities, reviewing the works of the Congress since its first meeting in Riverton. Mrs. Grice has always emphasized the spiritual part of the work and impressed her listeners with their personal responsibility. She urged the opening of schoolhouses as social centres, the furnishing of school lunches and the cooperation of men and women in bringing God's love to all children.

Mrs. M. L. Johnson, principal of School of Organic Education, Fairhope, Alabama, spoke on Character Construction. The subject gives no idea of Mrs. John's wonderful address. Believing that a marriage certificate is not the only birthright of a child, she told of the constructive and creative work they should have to become spiritually creative themselves. Youth also demands recreation if we do not give it to them in the form of clean decent excitement, the devil will provide it in the streets at pernicious moving picture shows and other places. Mrs. Johnson also believes the time will come when our educational system will train our boys and girls for better parenthood and that one reason we now fail in that direction is because the men have not known how to provide such instruction and would not allow enough women on school boards to help. Education should be along sensible lines, children, not subjects, should be taught. No certain efficiency should be required, no home work given, no memory tests made, examinations should be given with open books so the children could find out what they do not know. Children should grow and not be marred in the training, the whole test is how he is at the end of the year in body, mind and spirit, not how much he has acquired from books. True education enlists the whole being and there should be joy in the doing of everything, one present system tends to make the child insincere in his life because he must learn much just to please educators. There should be an establishment of a rational educator. Mrs. Johnson has given a practical demonstration of her ideas in her school in Alabama.

The Franklin-Whittier-Stillman Association has been most fortunate in engaging Mrs. Johnson to speak to them December 3, an opportunity will be given to all who are interested in the education of their children to hear her.

Friday afternoon the Porch Club entertained delegates and visitors at tea in their beautiful clubhouse. An informal reception was held and subjects of interest discussed. Miss Dorothy Pierce, of Riverton, one of the Camp Fire Girls dressed in Indian costume, explained the details of the organization in a most attractive manner.

Friday evening Prof. William S. Monroe, of Montclair, gave an excellent address on Systems of Moral Education, followed by an illustrated lecture on the Public Road in relation to child welfare. It was startling to hear the real condition of our New Jersey roads and to learn that they are so sadly in need of repair, facts were substantiated by government pictures taken throughout the State.

Delegates were entertained in the homes and the social part was one of the most enjoyable features, as Riverton rivaled even Plainfield, which entertained last year, in hospitality.

Saturday morning was given to committee meetings and reports of officers and delegates, so much interest was shown in Mrs. Johnson's subject that she kindly consented to tell about her school of Organic Education in Alabama. Many parents and teachers took away practical hints and knowledge of how to help children become sound in body, intelligent in mind and beautiful in spirit. Dr. Calvin W. Kendall, commissioner of Education, conducted the afternoon session, and addressed the Congress on Constructive Education in the School.

Dr. Franklin K. Mathiews, of Scotch Plains, spoke most helpfully on Constructive Education in the Home. Many have heard Dr. Mathiews with interest in Plainfield, he excelled himself at this time and the large audince listened with interest and appreciation. C. V. Williams' subject was Constructive Education in the Community.

A resolution to send Mrs. Woodrow Wilson a telegram of congratulation was passed by the Congress of which Mrs. Wilson is an active member.

The following officers were elected: Honorary president, Mrs. Edwin C. Grice, Philadelphia; president, Mrs. Augustus H. Reese, Morristown; first vice president, Mrs. Alexander Marcy, Riverton; second vice president, Mrs. Howard R. Sharp, Riverton; third vice president, Mrs. Wellington Beehtel, Haddenfield; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. L. Engel; recording secretary, Mrs. Harry Leeds, Atlantic City; treasurer, Mrs. Arthur J. Collins, Moorestown; auditor, Mrs. Mary Bell, Haddenfield.

The next meeting will be held in New Brunswick in 1913.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSN. WILL MEET TOMORROW

The Franklin, Whittier and Stillman Parent-Teacher Association meeting will be held in the assembly room of the Stillman School tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

It will be an informal meeting and the mothers are requested to bring their sewing.

Dr. Clara Krans is to speak on "The questions that our children ask us and how we answer them."

A brief report of the State Congress will be read. Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

TEST OF AUTO FIRE ENGINE POSTPONED BY AN ACCIDENT

The test of the Nott triple combination pumping engine which was to have taken place today, has been postponed owing to an accident in New Brunswick on Saturday. Mr. Wilkinson, of the fire engine company, was running the machine at the time of the accident, ran into a telegraph pole on the edge of the dock. A large block of wood on the side of the pole jammed against the pump mechanism and put one section of the pump out of commission.

In spite of this handicap the test was made and a large volume of water pumped. The engine is now being overhauled and will be tested again at 2 o'clock next Saturday at New Brunswick and will be brought to Plainfield later. Robert C. Woolhouse, who was assisting Mr. Wilkinson, said that while the accident was unfortunate, it was lucky that no one was injured. Otherwise the test was a success. The engine returned to the fire house under its own power.

"LADIES' NIGHT AT TRINITY.

Former State Senator Ernest R. Ackerman will give an illustrated lecture on "Rambles North and South of the Equator," at Trinity Reformed Church, tonight, under the auspices of the Dutch Arms. This will be a "ladies' night" affair and the entire congregation is invited to attend and bring friends.

WOMAN SLAIN BY WHITE SLAVERS

Thought She Held Some of Band's Secrets.

BODY STILL UNIDENTIFIED

Federal Authorities and Score of Detectives Seek Murderer of Woman Found With Eight Stiletto Wounds Near Georgetown, Conn.

Georgetown, Conn., Nov. 11.—Federal secret service men and a number of local detectives today are at work trying to solve the murder of a woman whose body was found floating in a mill pond on the outskirts of this village. It is the theory of the police that she was killed to prevent her from being a witness in the white slave case soon to come up for trial at Bridgeport.

The dozen or more policemen and detectives who have worked on this case are absolutely without a lead upon which they may work except a bed sheet on which are embroidered the initials G. C. Two weeks' exposure to water, preceded by at least three days in the air after death and eight distinct stiletto wounds, make it impossible for them to send out an adequate description of the woman's face and little more than a vague description of her appearance.

Eight Stab Wounds Found.

They know that she was about thirty years of age, probably unmarried, weighed about 130 pounds, had blue eyes, small feet and well kept hands, perfect teeth with three molars missing and a well kept, well nourished body. There are no discernible scars, and a preliminary autopsy does not disclose any evidence of poison. Of the eight stab wounds, any one of three or four would have caused death.

The Bennett & Gilbert wire mill on the outskirts of Georgetown is run by water power supplied by a mill pond that lies along the main traveled road, a highway from New York city up into the interior of Connecticut. This road goes on through Bridgeport, about ten miles distant.

Three men going to work saw a human foot sticking out of the water, and as soon as they had made sure it was a body they notified the mill superintendent, Lewis P. Miller, and others. They had the body hauled to the shore, a distance of about six feet, after which they notified Dr. E. H. Smith, medical examiner of the town of Redding near by.

Dr. Smith arrived and had the body removed to a neighboring barn, where, in company with Dr. W. J. Stephenson and Dr. C. F. Scanlon, he made an examination and declared the woman had been murdered.

AMBASSADOR BRYCE RESIGNS

Reason Given That He Is Tired of Absence From Own Country.

Washington, Nov. 11.—James Bryce, Great Britain's ambassador to the United States since 1907, has resigned. It was learned that he has sent his resignation to the British foreign office and has asked to be relieved as soon as possible. Ambassador Bryce has asked to be relieved merely because he has become tired of being absent from his own country and desires to spend the closing years of his life there. The ambassador called at the White House yesterday and had a long hour's talk with President Taft. It is assumed that he notified the president at that interview informally of his intention.

Ambassador Bryce's resignation comes also before any settlement has been brought about of the differences between the United States and Great Britain in regard to the Panama canal tolls. Mr. Bryce's friends denied that there was any dissatisfaction on the part of the British government with his conduct of the Panama canal tolls case.

CLEMENT A. GRISCOM DEAD.

President of International Navigation Company Passes Away at Home.

Philadelphia, Nov. 11.—Clement A. Griscom, president of the International Navigation company and chairman of the board of directors of the International Mercantile Marine company, died suddenly at his Haverford home here of congestion of the brain.

For the past two weeks Mr. Griscom had been ill, but while his illness was regarded with some apprehension because of his advanced age, seventy-two, it was not believed that it was serious. Yesterday he grew worse and lapsed into unconsciousness with only intervals through the day when he was able to recognize those about him.

Stated That He'll Resign Seat In the United States Senate.

Senator Joseph W. Bailey's resignation is expected to reach Governor Colquitt of Texas within the next few days. The governor is authority for the statement that Bailey will resign. He said that he had been informed of the junior senator's contemplated action by some of Mr. Bailey's friends. Governor Colquitt authorized the announcement that he will appoint R. M. Johnston, editor of the Houston Post, to the vacancy.

GIBSON PLANS LONG FIGHT FOR LIBERTY

To Examine Ten Witnesses in New Jersey.

Goshen, N. Y., Nov. 11.—Evidence that Burton W. Gibson, the lawyer accused of the murder of Mrs. Rose Meuschik Szabo in Greenwood lake, intends to make a long, drawn out, persistent fight to escape the electric chair is presented by the announcement that his legal representatives have obtained permission from Justice Tompkins to examine during the week ten witnesses residing in New Jersey. Upon their testimony the accused lawyer will pin much of his faith for an acquittal.

While his lawyers were obtaining the signature of Justice Tompkins to the necessary papers for the examination of the witnesses, Mrs. Gibson was engaged in a long conversation with her husband regarding his case. Mrs. Gibson has been of invaluable assistance to him and his attorneys, Robert H. Elder, formerly assistant district attorney of Brooklyn, and Jacob J. Simer of 76 Montgomery street, Jersey City. Mrs. Gibson, on the suggestion of her husband, has been working in his interests both in New Jersey and New York.

Mr. Elder and Mr. Simer appeared before Justice Tompkins when he held a special term of the supreme court here. They presented an order for permission to examine ten witnesses they named living outside of the jurisdiction of New York state. They argued that the testimony of the witnesses was necessary to the Gibson defense.

The witnesses whose testimony will be taken are Dr. George W. King, Dr. Arthur P. Haskins, Dr. H. K. Walhouser, Dr. Arthur Dougherty, Thomas Hughes, Walter Miller, Mrs. John Snyder, Miss Mary Snyder and William Riley. Subpoenas will be served on them to appear in the office of Mr. Simer at 76 Montgomery street Wednesday morning.

LOSES $60,000 IN RUM TRADE

Nebraska Farmer, Penniless, Sleeps In Chicago Police Station.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Patrick Carrarher, thirty-three, came from the simple life in Nebraska eight months ago with $60,000 to go into the liquor business. Now he is going back to Nebraska, but he is going penniless. The $60,000 fled through the devious channels organized in Chicago to separate money from its owners. Carrarher slept in the East Chicago avenue police station last night because he had no other place to sleep.

Carrarher made his money in Nebraska in farming and cattle raising. He intended to enter the wholesale liquor business in Chicago. Instead he met James Crowley, and the pair opened a saloon at 701 North Clark street. Crowley is now under indictment charged with swindling Carrarher out of $30,000.

SOCIALIST MAYOR IN CANTON.

Court Decides That Schilling Wins by Two Votes.

Youngstown, O., Nov. 11.—Judge W. Pharman of the court of common pleas handed down a decision declaring that Harry Schilling, Socialist, is executive mayor of Canton. Schilling won by the slender margin of two votes over Arthur R. Trumbull, Democrat.

Should Trumbull appeal to the circuit court, which seems certain, the act will operate as a stay in the execution of the court's order and Trumbull will continue to hold his position until a final decision is given.

EUROPE FEARFUL OF A GREAT WAR

News of Constantinople's Fall Hourly Expected.

ENGLAND SERVES NOTICE.

Ready to Uphold Victors In Division of Territory—Bulgars Gain Fresh Victories—News of Repulses by the Turks Is Discredited.

London, Nov. 11.—The Bulgarian third army, it is reported from Sofia, has penetrated the Tchataija defenses far into the forest region south of Dergos lake preparatory to an advance on the capital, while the first army is desperately attacking the main Turkish position at Tchataija. The battle has been raging for several days, and the Bulgarians have made much headway, although they have suffered heavy losses. News of the fall of Constantinople is hourly expected.

The fall of Tchataija appears to be in sight, despite the fact that the Sheik-ul-Islam, on the initiative of the military council, has ordered 100 eloquent and influential ulems to start at once for Tchataija to preach a holy war and exhort the troops to resist the Bulgarians to the death.

Conflicting reports have been received regarding the progress of the battle now being waged at Adrianople. From Sofia, reports from which are usually authentic, comes a dispatch saying that the Bulgarians captured two important forts there on Thursday night amid a hail of projectiles which did much execution and that the fall of the city is imminent. Constantinople, on the other hand, reports that the Turks inflicted a severe defeat on the Bulgarians. Reports of victories from Constantinople, however, have not generally been borne out by the facts.

All Eyes on Powers.

With all the allies making headway against the Turks, interest in European capitals now centers on the attitude of the powers. It is announced that England is ready to uphold the victors in a division of territory and has given Austria notice that she is ready for war if an attempt is made to prevent Servia from being coerced. Russia and France will back her, it is said.

The Bulgarian newspaper, Mir, declares that all the great financial interests of the European powers in Turkey have been guaranteed by the allies on terms offering greater security than those given by Turkey.

Third Army Attack.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 11.—The Bulgarian third army attacking the line of forts guarding Constantinople that extend across the peninsula and known as the Tchataija defenses has penetrated far into the forest region south of Derkos lake preparatory to the advance on Constantinople, while the first army is attacking the main Turkish position east of Tchataija. This position has not yet been completely pierced, but the Bulgarians expect to capture it very soon.

Raw recruits sent out from Constantinople after the Turkish army was driven back from Lule Burgas are bearing the brunt of the Bulgarian attack, the veterans, exhausted by earlier battles, offering but feeble resistance.

The Bulgarian army besieging Adrianople has captured two important forts on the lower line defending the city. They are Kartaltepe and Papaztepe and were taken only after a desperate artillery duel between the besiegers and defenders. The Bulgarians attacked bravely and suffered severely. A brigade of infantry followed up a terrific cannonade and stormed the forts amid a hail of projectiles while searchlights of the enemy were playing, thus making the soldiers fair targets.

The captured positions were fortified for the purpose of repelling counter attacks. Kartaltepe is a very strong position, dominating the city of Adrianople and outlying forts, and it is expected that its possession by the Bulgarians will mean an end to Turkish resistance at any moment. In this attack the Bulgarians lost more men than the Turks.

Another Bulgarian army has captured Gumurdjing and Kavala, on the Sea of Marmora, the Turks offering but slight resistance. Flight being impossible, they laid down their arms to avoid extermination.

HOODLUM KILLS POLICEMAN.

Chicago Officer Had Broken Up a Gathering of Gangsters.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Charles Jones, a policeman, was shot and killed here in attempting to break up a gathering of west side hoodlums, among whom the police say were a number of former associates of the murderers of Fred Gueizow, a truck gardener, beaten and stabbed to death by young Highwaymen a year ago.

The boys ran away when the policeman ordered them to disperse, but one of them shot Jones twice in the right side, and he died on the way to a hospital. Eight arrests have been made, and the police are searching for the other members of the gang.

JOHN SCHRANK.

Trial of Assassin of Mr. Roosevelt Awaits Colonel's Pleasure.

© 1912, by American Press Association.

Colonel Roosevelt was notified by the district attorney of Milwaukee that he could appear if he wished as a witness against John Schrank, who shot him recently. The trial, which had been slated for Saturday, was postponed until the latter part of this week. It is not thought that Colonel Roosevelt will care to make the trip, as his evidence is not necessary. The state plans to keep the date of trial secret, rush the proceedings and have Schrank on his way to prison before the general public knows the trial has been started.

SPLENDID FUTURE FOR CHINA

the organization of Young Men Christian Associations has proven one of the most noble institutions in the world and that Plainfield's association was a strong example of the great good being accomplished the world over.

Mr. Clinton's opening remarks recalled the organization of the first Y. M. C. A. about half a century ago in London, inaugurated by a body of store clerks and workingmen with George Williams as their leader.

"From this small band of noble men," the speaker continued, "the organization which they named the Young Men's Christian Association, with spiritual welfare as their purpose, grew to an organization with nearly the whole population of men and boys of London enrolled. And in a few years we found similar associations forming in Boston, Philadelphia, New York and all of the large cities of the United States. And recently as I passed through the principal cities of Europe and Asia, I found few places that could not boast of a Y. M. C. A.

"Today the Y. M. C. A. is recognized as one of the strong arms of the church and in response to the appeals of the foreign missionaries sent out by the churches of this country we find over [illegible] hundred Y. M. C. A. secretaries scattered throughout the world, serving the purpose of the church, in organizing branches of this organization in all mission fields."

Mr. Clinton then told of his first trip to China eight years ago and of the changes which have taken place since that time.

He had great praise for the Chinese and said they would soon be one of the greatest three powers of the world.

"When China threw off the yoke of anarchy," he said, "and made herself a republic with a constitution based on that of the United States, a new day dawned in that great country. Today she stands out as the most progressive nation of the earth, and this was accomplished mainly through the efforts of the young men, the majority of whom had been students in this country. There are 5,000 college graduates in China today and the Chinese Senate is composed nine-tenths of men who have received their education abroad. Nearly all of these Senators are connected with the Y. M. C. A. and are Christians.

"During the revolution it was a noted Chinese Y. M. C. A. worker who prevented the destroying of foreign property. When I asked him what prompted him in taking this stand, he said because it was against all the principles of Christianity. So you can see, that great things are being accomplished toward bringing China side by side with the Christian nations of the world. Today China stands out as the greatest mission opportunity of the world."

A liberal collection which was taken will be devoted to the local Y. M. C. A.

GUNMEN WILL TRY TO PROVE AN ALIBI

Defence of Alleged Rosenthal Slayers Became Known When Trial Opened

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)

New York, Nov. 11.—That the defense of the four gunmen charged with the actual murder of Herman Rosenthal will be that they can prove an alibi, became known shortly before court opened for their trial today. The defense of Whitey Jack Lewis will be that he went to the beach near Rockaway one day last July, becoming so intoxicated that he lay on the beach scantily clothed until he was fearfully sunburned. His sunburn was so severe it is declared that he had to go to a hospital until July 14. He left there, according to the outline of his defense, against the advice of the physicians and subsequently had to go to a friend's house for further treatment. He will declare that he was not in the gray auto the night of the murder and could not have been owing to his condition. It was announced that all four will take the stand in their own defense.

When court opened Dago Frank sat next to the prisoner's counsel and he was the one consulted whenever a prospective juror was challenged. Arthur H. Hill was the first talesman called and as he had a prejudice he was excused. W. W. Sharp, a broker, and Gilmore Clark, a florist, were excused on the same ground.

the Western Union Telegraph Company and the Western Electric Company. The initial amount will be available on January 1 for the 175,000 employes and their families, who in their totality represent more than a quarter of a million persons.

None of the employes is expected to contribute any portion of this sum, which is entirely at the expense of the various companies interested. It is stated that the application of these varied benefits will be strictly democratic, for the benefit of employes of every rank, providing for free change of employment from one company to another, with full credit for combined terms of service. The total yearly pay for their army amounts to $115,000,000, more than $80,000,000 being paid out in wages by the Bell telephone system alone.

It is provided that male employes who have reached the age of sixty years and who have been twenty years or more in service, may retire on pensions. They may be retired at the option of the company when they have reached the age of fifty-five years and have been twenty-five years or more in service. The pension age of female employes is in each case five years younger than that of male employe. Any employe who has been thirty years in service, regardless of age, may be pensioned on the approval of the president of the company.

The amount of the pension is automatically based on the years of service and the amount of pay, and will be 1 per cent. of the average annual pay for ten years, multiplied by the number of years of service. Therefore, a man who had been thirty years in service would get 30 per cent. of the average salary which he had been receiving during his last ten years of service. No pension will be less than $20 a month.

In the case of accidents occurring in and due to the performance of work for the company, the employe will receive for total disability, full pay for thirteen weeks and half pay for the remainder of disability, up to six years.

If the disability is temporary, he will receive full pay for thirteen weeks and half pay until able to earn a livelihood, not exceeding six years.

Employes who are disabled by sickness or accident outside of the regular course of duty after ten years or more in service, will receive full pay for thirteen weeks and half pay for thirty-nine weeks; if from five to ten years in service, full pay for thirteen weeks and half pay for thirteen weeks; if from two to five years in service, full pay for four weeks and half pay for nine weeks. In the case of employes who have not been two years in service, heads of departments will be permitted the same discretion as heretofore, in continuing pay during temporary illness.

In the case of death resulting from accident in and due to performance of work for the company, an insurance amounting to three years' pay will be paid to the dependents of the employe, the maximum payment being $5,000.

In the case of death resulting from sickness or from accident outside of business, the payment will be one year's pay for employes who have been ten years or more in service, and one-half of one year's pay for employes who have been from five to ten years in service, the maximum payment being $2,000.

If any State statutes provide for more liberal compensation than is provided under the benefit plan, the statutory provision will prevail. Where the employes have legal rights, as in some accident cases, they will have the option of exercising such rights or accepting the company's benefits.

The American Telephone and Telegraph Company has set aside from its surplus a fund which provides for those whom it directly employs, and also provides a reserve, upon which, under certain conditions, the associated companies may draw. This fund is supplemented by funds set aside by each company. The total appropriations will aggregate something more than $10,000,000. The benefits, it is estimated, will cost annually about 1,000,000 more than the present payments on this account.

The administration of the funds will be in the hands of the Employes' Benefit Committees of five, to be appointed by the Board of Directors of each company. The committee of each associated company will have jurisdiction over the benefits for employes of that company.

The Employes' Benefit Committee of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company will have general jurisdiction over the plan for the entire system and specific authority as to the American Telephone and Telegraph Company's employes' benefits.

LYDIA CHAPTER AND TWO MASONIC LODGES AT CHURCH

Lydia Chapter, O. E. S., Anchor and Jerusalem Lodges, F. & A. M., and the Master Masons of Somerville attended service at the Dunellen Methodist church last night. Rev. Dr. William A. Knox, the pastor, preached from the epistle of St. John 13:34-35.

The Masons and the Eastern Stars formed in separate bodies outside the church and then marched in to the tune of "Onward Christian Soldiers," played on the organ.

The pulpit was decorated with Masonic emblems and with a large silver star. Palms and chrysanthemums bedecked the rest of the platform while American flags hung about the walls of the church.

Lydia Chapter and the Plainfield lodges made the journey to and from Dunellen by special trolley car.

Get all the Heat in Your Coal

A PRACTICAL way to clip the ever-climbing cost of living is to stop heat waste in the house furnace. And—the way to save furnace heat is to install a furnace that delivers heat to the house instead of to the chimney.

Square Pot Furnaces develop 100 per cent. efficiency from fuel consumed and keep the chimney cool.

They embody a great improvement over other furnaces—a square firepot which, because it has more surface, radiates more heat. This means an actual increase of efficiency at no increase of fuel cost. This firepot is non-clogging, and maintains a live fire because it clears easily.

If you would like value received for dollars spent for coal, install a Square Pot Furnace.

IN WOMAN'S REALM

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

LUSCIOUS APPLE DESSERTS.

APPLES supply an economical way of providing fall and winter desserts. The more we use apples the more we appreciate their possibilities. They may be made up as the simplest of viands or they may be the ingredients in desserts as elaborate and attractive as anything that may be served.

Simple, Yet Attractive.

Sugared Apples.—Take seven or eight apples, core, peel and cut in halves and set in a baking pan cored side up. Pour over them one and one-half cupfuls of cold water and three small cupfuls of sugar, cover closely and let boil gently for half an hour. Remove cover, set in oven and bake brown. Serve cold.

Apple Custard.—Beat the whites of two eggs until dry, then add a cupful of sweetened apple sauce and mix. From the yolks of the eggs make a custard by putting the milk in top of double boiler, beating the yolks with two tablespoonfuls of sugar and a pinch of salt and adding to the boiling milk. When cold pour into a glass dish and add the apple and white of egg.

Elaborate Desserts.

Apple Pralines.—Take six apples. Pour four ounces of granulated sugar and a pint and a half of water in a saucepan and as soon as it boils add the fruit and cook it for fifteen miutes very gently, so that the apples will not break. Turn with a skimmer occasionally, so that they will cook evenly on all sides. On removing them drain upon a cloth and let them cool off. Blanch two ounces of almonds. Drain, peel and mince them and put them into a earthenware bowl with three ounces of granulated sugar, half a gill of water and a teaspoonful of vanilla essence. Stir the mixture with a wooden spoon for half a minute. Place it on a brisk fire and stir until it is a golden color, then take from the fire. Lay the apples on a deep plate, fill their cavities with currant jelly and spread the almond preparation over them, then serve.

Apple Gateau.—Take a pound and a half granulated sugar and boil it in a half pint of water. Then put into the sirup two pounds of cooking apples. Boil together until the mixture is tolerably stiff. Before removing from the fire grate in the rind of a lemon. Press into molds that have been previously dipped in cold water, but not wiped. When the same is turned out on a dish it can be ornamented with blanched almonds. Serve with cream or a thin custard.

Long, Straight Coats Not In Favor This Year.

The very long straight coat in favor a few years ago will not be popular this winter. The fashionable coat is generally cutaway in front, with very long back.

Purple and blue—the blue in very small quantities—is one of the season's new combinations. In fact, purple will be one of the prevailing colors this winter.

For a school frock nothing could be better than this little dress which adapts itself to all of the light weight materials of the season. In the cut it is developed in dark red cashmere. The guimpe is separate from the dress and may be made of lace or lawn.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls from six to ten years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 7271, and it will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage. When ordering use coupon.

Milady's Mirror

The New Complexion.

"What a splendid color you have!" said one of the girls who met at a fashionable soda fountain after not having seen each other for a month or so, "Have you been away on your vacation?"

"Oh, no," the other replied. "I've been at home right along."

"It certainly agrees with you. You're not rouged?" the other asked tentatively.

The second girl laughed. "Not a suspicion," she replied, rubbing her cheek with her handkerchief, under which the blood came mantling to the spot in a charming color. "It's all the new way I wash my face. I wash my face in ice."

"Ice? You mean ice water?" the envious one said.

"No, I mean ice, and I'll tell you how I do it. One reason so many of us have no color in our faces is because our circulation is bad. In spite of what the critics say of us, women seldom do anything to bring the blood to their cheeks, so I studied out the following plan: Every morning, after I have had my morning exercise to wake me up, I take a small piece of ice and wash my face with it. I go over every spot of my face and neck with it until the piece is entirely gone. As I begin with a piece about half the size of my fist you can see I get a nice chilling. When the ice is melted I rub my face briskly with a Turkish towel until it is quite dry.

"My dear, you feel fine. It is awfully cooling in the first place, and it makes you feel very lively. For a minute or two you are red, like a frost bitten apple; then that fades away into the nicest color. You see, the ice not only helps the circulation, but it acts like a tonic on the muscles and takes away that distrssing sagging of the face that so many of us have."

"Well," said the other girl, "I've been paying $2 a bottle for a face tonic, as it is called, and it hasn't done for me what your humble piece of ice has for you. After this I'm going to look for my cosmetic in the refrigerator."

To Whiten the Teeth.

To whiten the teeth an excellent powder is made by mixing one ounce of chloride of lime, ten ounces of prepared chalk, a half ounce of Peruvian bark and one teaspoonful of myrrh. This should be used once a day until the teeth are sufficiently white, when it is best to discontinue it for an ordinary tooth paste.

To remove tartar, the disfiguring and obstinate yellow discoloration which forms at the base of the teeth, try dipping the brush in powdered magnesia and rubbing it up and down over the teeth as well as across. Dental floss should be drawn between the teeth at least twice a week to keep them free from food obstructions, such as bits of meat gristle or the seeds of berries.

One of the most satisfactory and beneficial mouth washes is peroxide of hydrogen. Many object to its use because of the peculiar sensation known as "spitting cotton," present only when peroxide is particularly active. To counteract this effect neutralize the wash with another made by dissolving common baking soda in water. Peroxide of hydrogen is both a deodorant and an antiseptic and is one of the indispensable remedies to be included in every medicine chest.

Sleep and Beauty.

Sleep is the generator of energy. It is the coaling station of time, where we store enough fuel to take us through the hours to come. When the supply of fuel runs low we are compelled to trundle along at half speed. Our limbs feel as if they were chained to prevent free action, our mind is sluggish, slow to grasp a situation and slower to respond. Lethargy is the foe of beauty of the radiant type.

The real beauty sleep comes before midnight and ends when the day is young. This is as nature intended. If work prevents following the natural hours for rest things should be so arranged that sleep will be undisturbed by the noise and activity of the day. If eight hours' sleep are impossible make up for the lost rest by sleeping ten hours the next night. Insomnia is often the result of irregularity of sleeping hours.

Do not neglect to have plenty of fresh air in the room devoted to rest and sleep.

Skin Beauty.

For the yellowish skin nothing is so satisfactory as fruit juices, and the woman who pins her faith to this delightful remedy will surely reap the reward of her trust in nature.

Fruit juices are beneficial principally in that they stimulate the sluggish liver to renewed activity, thus throwing off the poisons which accumulate, and are distributed along the surface of the skin.

Orange juice poured into a cup of hot water and taken before breakfast each morning brings almost immediate results. Grapefruit has much the same effect, but should be taken more sparingly, the juice of half a fruit to one-fourth of a cup of hot water being the correct proportion.

Peaches, plums, grapes, raspberries, blackberries, cherries, lemons, limes, all offer excellent opportunities to pursue the fruit juice cure.

HOLY CROSS WINS ON EXTRA DOWNS

Metuchen Field Club Collides With the Kalsomine Brush This Time.

WIN ON TECHNICALITY

Score 6 to 0—400 Gridiron Followers Crowd the Sidelines—Playing Was Loose and Fumbles Frequent at Critical Moments.

Holy Cross took another good game of football on Cricket Field Saturday afternoon by the close score of 6 to 0. The Metuchen Field Club was the victim this time and although they fought a game battle, Holy Cross just managed to nose out a win in the final quarter, the game being called at the end of the third period because of darkness.

In the first quarter the visitors kicked off to Holy Cross and on the first play Clarke took 25 yards on a beautifully executed forward pass. In this period it looked like a sure score for the church boys but Coyle fumbled the ball at a critical moment and a Metuchen sweater surrounded it.

In the second quarter Jack Ricketts reeled off one of his long end runs and the Borough team was within three yards of the goal line; but the visitors held like iron and Holy Cross was forced to give up the ball on downs. Metuchen then began a steady march up the field and went 45 yards before they were checked after being penalized 15 yards for hurdling.

The final quarter began with Holy Cross booting to Metuchen. The Boroughites took the ball on downs and Wilson got a spectacular 25 yard run. Coyle tried and failed at a drop kick from the 22 yard line. In this quarter Tom Ricketts got in his regular spurt of sensationalism when he caught a punt and made a neat gain. Two forward passes failed in sucession and Coyle took the ball around the end for 15 yards. When the ball was placed within 3 yards of the goal line Jack Ricketts plunged through for a touchdown, but the score was not allowed as the timers claimed that they had previously called time. After much dispute Holy Cross was given the ball for another down and Jack Ricketts plunged through the same hole for 6 points. Coyle failed to kick the goal.

MEETING OF MINOR LEAGUERS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 11 (Special).—Representatives of baseball clubs from the Atlantic to the Pacific are rounding up in Milwaukee for the annual meeting to be held tomorrow by the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, which is the governing body for all of the minor organizations. The meeting promises to be one of far more than ordinary importance. The magnates will thoroughly discuss the new national agreement, which must be sent to the National Commission by March 1 for ratification. Salary limits and post-season games will come in for much attention. An element of the minor league representatives, headed by President Neal, of the Bluegrass league, will enter a protest against the proposal to tax the draft money in order to provide money for the necessary running expenses of the association. As a side feature of the meeting the managers and clubs are expected to engage in numerous trades. The heads of the twelve clubs comprised in the Central league last year will take advantage of the meeting to complete the organization of the two new leagues into which the old Central is to be divided.

ONE TEAM CANCELS, OTHER IS TOO WEAK

This is the Reason the Ajax Had to Play Crimson A. C.

A little forethought on the part of the Y. M. C. A. Ajax basketball manager saved the association quintet the embarrassment of having to face a gallery full of basketball enthusiasts Saturday night, without an opponent. The Union High School, which had been scheduled to take the floor, was defeated by Hope Chapel the previous week and a large audience turned out to see what the Ajax could do against the same team.

One of those feelings of discontent came over the Ajax manager Saturday afternoon and he took occasion to call the High School manager on the 'Phone in order to be sure of a game. When asked if he would be on hand with his team the Union manager said that he had no intention of coming to Plainfield because of the crippled condition of his team. This is the course the manager of an Elizabeth scholastic team in good standing took in calling the game off, having no intentions of notifying the Ajax manager and with every intention of promoting a "stand-up." It now seems that it would be better for local basketball managers to avoid the Union High School team in preference to be subjected to criticism by their followers.

The Company M cadets, of Somerville, called up on the 'Phone Saturday and asked the Ajax manager to send some team to Somerville Saturday night, as they were without a game. The local leader took this as a good opportunity to sign up an attraction in place of the Union five and asked for the game. He was informed that "the Ajax were entirely too strong for the cadets and they had received orders to avoid the Y. M. C. A. quintet." This comes from a team that has a schedule of games mapped out, including contests with Hope Chapel, Somerville A. A. and the like. An acknowledgement of this nature flatters the Y. M. C. A. team to a point that is unbearable.

GOOD PRELIMINARY GAME WON BY MOHAWK QUINTET

As a preliminary appetizer to the Ajax A. C., the Mohawk A. C. engaged in a tight struggle with the Monroe Avenue quintet. The former won out by the score of 11 to 9, after the two teams had gone along neck and neck in both halves. Both fives displayed lack of practice in their shooting and passing and the game resolved itself into a game of chance rather than ability.

For the winners Moulton and D. Berse were the shining lights, making nine of their teams 11 points between them. Captain Gingleman carried away the Monroe honors, getting a field goal and two fouls.

SOCCER TEAM DROPS ITS FOURTH STRAIGHT GAME

Playing in a spiritless manner, the Plainfield Soccer Club aggregation went down to their fourth consecutive defeat of the season Saturday, before the lowly O'Keefe A. A. team, in an Intercity Soccer League contest played on the battle grounds of the victors in East Newark. The score was 2 to 1, the local scoring their lone tally in the second half on a penalty kick. The two goals for the winners were scored by Murphy and Coburn, who played brilliantly throughout the game.

While the locals were being defeated the champion Eureka A. A. team received their first setback of the season yesterday, being outplayed by the Nairn eleven by the score of 2 to 0. This is only the second contest the champions have lost in three years. They have made the brailliant record of being returned winners of the Intercity League championship for three years straight. The champs attribute their loss to the absence from the game of three of their regular players.

The lineup of the Plainfielders: McNiece, goal; Craig, right back; Buckland, left back; Henderson, right halfback; Kenney, centre halfback; J. Gardner, left halfback; Carberry, and Spalding, right wings; Hendry, centre forward, and Heaume and Y. Gardner, left wings.

AJAX WIN AGAIN IN SWIFT FINISH

Another Exciting Basketball Game Played at Y. M. C. A. Saturday Night.

END ALWAYS IN DOUBT

Teams Are Neck and Neck Until the the Association Quintet Invokes Its Famous Final Spurt in the Last Minute of Play—Score 18 to 14.

After the Union High School basketball team had cancelled their scheduled engagement with the Y. M. C. A. Ajax the local manager signed up the Crimson A. C. at the last moment and the Saturday night attraction at the Y. M. C. A. was another hair-raising battle in which the outcome was in doubt until the final whistle blew. It would have been impossible for the Union quintet to have put up any better article of ball than did the substituted team, who lost to the Ajax by the score of 18 to 14.

Playing with a badly crippled lineup the Ajax displayed the same versatile form that brought them victory the previous week and their passing and shooting were speedy and accurate. The Crimson A. C. was composed of exactly the same players who represented N. J. H. S. on the court last season and these were the same five basketball tossers who brought the Somerset county and Interscholastic title to the Borough High school. In order to defeat this quintet possessing a double title for superior basketball the Ajax had to extend themselves to the limit and although the score was tied up the greater part of the game, the association players were right on deck with the needed spurt at the crutial moment, which brought their victory in their initial set-to.

A large part of the credit for the glorious victory is due to the efforts of Captain Brynarski, who shot and guarded in excellent style; while the lion's share of the boroughites' honors must be divided among the Taylor brothers, who appeared to be everywhere on the floor at once. The work of the visiting guards was also commendable for they allowed the Ajax's forwards but one field goal and this was the first of the contest. Buckle, playing his first game as an Ajax, put up a brilliant game both in guarding and passing, and as a side show, he held George Townley, this year's N. P. H. S. captain, without a field goal. Hetfield and Glover also played good guarding games against formidable opponents.

The game was entirely free from all forms of foul tactics and so clean was the playing that not a single protest was entered over Referee Stine's decisions. As a official, Herbert Stine, the old N. P. H. S. player, proved entirely satisfactory and he will probably officiate at future Ajax games.

CROSS-COUNTRY BOY STAR.

The seventh annual interscholastic cross country run given under the auspices of the Princeton University Track Athletic Assocation at Princeton, Saturday, was won by Joseph Meyer, captain of the Newark Central High School hill-and-dale squad. His charges also finished well behind him and succeeded in winning the meet by the close margin of four points from the Central High School, of Philadelphia, who are considered without a peer in the cross-country game among the High Schools of the East. By his splendid victory Meyers is being hailed as the likely winner of the meet to be held in Philadelphia in a few weeks. In the event of his coming in first he will be the champion schoolboy harrier of the East.

HAMILTONS WANT GAMES.

The Hamilton Five, of Union Hill, will be seen on the courts for their fifth season and are ready to arrange games with all first-class teams whose managers wish a good attraction. Manager Weyland has practically a new lineup compared to that of previous seasons. Benzinger and Weyland are the only old players left and Weyland will not play unless it becomes necessary. The new men are star performers and with this new combination, the Hamiltons ought to establish a good record this season. They will travel any distance within 100 miles from New York City. Managers of first-class teams wishing to book the Hamiltons should write to William Weyland, 110 Blum street, Union Hill, N. J.

TEACHERS MUST EXPLAIN STRIKE TO THE BOARD

Phillipsburg, Nov. 77.—The badly muddled local public school situation is the all-absorbing topic of conversation here today. Two "strikes," one of High School teachers and the other of about fifty High School pupils on election day, together with the contention of Superintendent L. C. Beers that the High School faculty is in conspiracy against him have greatly stirred the city.

A special meeting of the Board of Education has been called for tomorrow night, at which the six teachers who went on "strike" last Tuesday, because they said the law did not require them to work on a legal holiday, will be haled before the Board.

Some pretty tall explaining will have to be done, not alone by these teachers, but by the superintendent as well, who will be asked to give his reasons for locking some of the pupils in when they started to leave the building on the non-appearance of six of the seven teachers. At that fifty youngsters got away.

Mr. Beers openly says that the faculty is "working against" him to the detriment of the schools. He hired two substitute teachers election day out of his own pocket, and the Board has refused to reimburse him, holding that it would be illegal for that body to pay substitutes for work on a legal holiday.

The trouble started when the teachers held a vote to determine whether they would take election day or the Friday after Thanksgiving as a legal holiday. By a vote of fifty-five to seven, they decided on the day following Thanksgiving, but the High School teachers refused to be bound by this action and "walked out" Tuesday. It is said that the solitary male teacher who remained on duty is having anything but a pleasant time.

Mr. Beers says that he is a physical wreck, made so by the High School teachers and some members of the School Board, who are siding with them and against him, to the point that discipline and respect for the properly constituted authority is sadly lacking.

FEW APPEAL TAXES.

Elizabeth, Nov. 11.—The Union County Board of Equalization of Taxes has received so far only thirteen appeals from the apportionments which have been sent out, and no date has been set for the hearings on the appeals. As appeals can be filed in the office until December 20, it is expected that there will be many more sent in. As soon as they are all in the board will fix dates for the hearings.

CANADA HAS ICE HOCKEY WAR

Magnates Wage Fight to Corral Noted Rink Stars.

NEW BODY CAUSES FUSS.

Easterners Angry Because of Western Invaders' Raids—Pacific Coast Men Have Plenty of Money With Which to Pay Big Salaries.

In Canada they are having quite a little war in the fight to secure the talented puck chasers. In opposition to the National Hockey association another league has been formed on the Pacific coast. These two bodies are fighting tooth and nail to grab in the stars. The Patrick brothers, who are at the head of the Pacific Coast Hockey league, are now said to be raiding the eastern part of Canada, offering the stars big inducements to go west and display their skill in that organization.

In the past the National Hockey association has had the pick of the talent, but now that another big professional league is in the field some doings are likely to culminate before the season opens. Many players already signed up with clubs affiliated with the old league, it is said, may jump to the coast if the inducements are large enough. The Patrick brothers have the field to themselves on the coast, and it is reported that they have a lot of money to spend to get the more prominent players in their league. The magnates who own and operate rinks where National Hockey association games are played are said to be in a panic over the Patrick brothers' raiding. The Wanderers already have lost four of their best men, these having been won over by the Pacific coast promoters.

On account of this fuss, it is said, there is very little chance of a national governing body being formed this year to control all hockey in Canada. President T. Emmet Quinn of the National Hockey association was working to this end, but is said to have given up the job since President Lichtenhein and the Patricks have severed relations. Lichtenhein, who controls the Wanderers, declares that he will get back all the players the Patricks have taken away from him. He declared recently that he has offered the players big sums and feels sure that they will not turn him down.

The Pacific coast magnates have one great point in their favor, that of owning their own rinks. It is necessary to have hockey to keep these rinks in operation, and when there is a million dollars in assets at stake it will be readily seen that Sammy Lichtenhein cannot make a great impression upon the coast league with all his threats.

FIGHTING A BISON

Exciting Battle With a Savage Bull In India.

A WILD SCRAMBLE FOR LIFE.

There Were Several Narrow Escapes For the Hunter That Was Hunted Before an Unexpected Climax Ended the Rather One Sided Engagement.

In her book, "Roughing It In Southern India," Mrs. M. A. Handley presents a graphic description of a thrilling adventure in which a member of her party played one of the star parts. It was a brilliant but unwilling engagement, and it was too serious while it lasted either for comfort or for the enjoyment of the grimly humorous phases of his enforced battle and wild scramble for his life. Mrs. Handley says:

"Although as a forest officer F. had frequently looked death in the face, he never felt so utterly helpless at the critical moment as he did in a certain adventure that he had with a bull bison. The animal took the aggressive as soon as he was discovered. F. had time only to jump behind a buttress tree.

"The bison began by chasing him round the tree till his head swam. The animal gave him not a moment's leisure in which to take aim. The buttress tree is not easy to climb, for the trunk throws out walls or buttresses all round, between which are deep recesses. To be caught in one of them would certainly mean being pinned to the tree and gored to death.

"Half an hour of this exercise did not tire the bison in the least, whereas from moment to moment F. grew dizzier. Knowing that he could not keep it up much longer and that a fall would be fatal, he started to run in another direction. Quick as he was, the bull was quicker. Suddenly F. felt a touch on his back. Then he felt himself caught up by the belt and tossed high into the air.

"Luckily the belt gave way, for otherwise he would have been brought down again, to be either tossed once more or gored. As it was, he was thrown to a distance, while his rifle, flying out of his hand, struck with a metallic ring on a rock. From where he lay, jarred almost into a stupor, F. saw the angry bull go up to the rifle and trample it into a ruin of splintered wood and twisted iron.

"The bison then turned his angry eyes about and advanced toward F., who thought himself powerless to stir. At the last moment, however, he managed to scramble up from under the creature's very nose.

"Near at hand were his men, one of whom carried his spare rifle. This man watched his opportunity, darted sidewise, dropped the gun into the grass and placed a stick upright beside it to mark the spot where it lay. Meanwhile all the others danced and shouted in order to distract the bull's attention.

"Running his best, F. must now needs stumble, but he picked himself up and turned round to see what was in store for him. Before he could slip to one side the bull plunged at him, knocking him down, and stood over him, with the foam from his mouth dropping into his face.

"The huge brown head bent lower and lower till the bloodshot eyes were turned downward.

"F. had no time to think. He had to do whatever the moment suggested. He grasped the horns, was raised up by them and balanced for an age long second in the air; then, partly thrown, partly springing to earth, he tore ahead without stopping to look behind him.

"As he ran toward the rifle placed ready for him the pounding of hoofs behind suddenly ceased, although the bellowing and snorting were redoubled. He turned to look, and at the same instant the men's cries turned from despair to joy. The bull had trapped himself.

"In his blind fury, heedless of his own steps, he had fallen nearly chest deep into a wedge shaped crevice in the rock, with all his feet in a bunch, and the more he struggled the tighter he stuck. It was the work of a moment for F. to seize the rifle and fire the shot that put the bison out of his misery."

Chinese Similes.

Some of the ordinary expressions of the Chinese are pointedly sarcastic enough. A blustering, harmless fellow they call "a paper tiger." When a man values himself overmuch they compare him to "a rat falling into a scale and weighing itself." Overdoing a thing they call "a hunchback making a bow." A spendthrift they compare to "a rocket" which goes off at once. Those who expend their charity on remote objects, but neglect their families, are said to "hang a lantern on a pole, which is seen afar, but gives no light below."

Her Line.

"Now our cook has gone away I don't know what we shall do."

"I thought you told me your wife was such a good cook?"

"Not a bit of it. I told you my wife was an expert in broils, roasts and stews."—Baltimore American.

The Potent Factor.

"Can't I get a steak here and catch the 1 o'clock train?"

"It depends on your teeth, sir."—Meggendorfer Blatter.

UNPRECEDENTED OFFER

ity, and local people can be referred to as to their merits. The two which will be given as prizes will be on exhibition at Mt. Sattels' warerooms, opposite the Daily Press office, later this week, and will remain there until the contest is over, when they will be delivered to the winners' home free of charge.

The contest method of increasing circulation has become recognized by leading newspapers all over the country. At present two of the greatest circulation building plans of the kind ever run in the United States are being conducted in Washington, D. C., and Pittsburgh, Pa., by prominent newspapers in those cities. Many others are in progress in smaller cities. In none of them, however, are cash commissions as large as ten per cent. being paid, in addition to the prizes.

The player-piano offered is an 88-note mechanism, with the latest attachments to enable to player to obtain a diminished volume of sound in all registers, each acting independently of the other. The entire mechanism is constructed on simple lines, with durability, effectiveness and expression the principal features. The case is finished in antique mahogany, double veneered and has a hardwood, varnished back. The machine is fully warranted. It has seven and one-third octaves; overstring bass; three strings to each note, except in the wound bass strings; a new and patented upright grand scale; full composite metal plate, extending over pin block to the top of the piano; tuning pins especially gtted with hardwood bushings; patent metal key bottom support; ivory keys; full length music desk; revolving fall board; nickleplated hinges; handsome mouldings, elaborate carvings; carved trusses and pilasters and an empire top. It is as easy to play the instrument with the hands as it is to operate it with the playing attachment. Ten dollars' worth of rolls, a stool and cover are included with the piano, so that it will be ready to play the minute it is delivered to the successful contestant.

The second prize, an upright grand piano, has the same features, with the exception of the self-playing attachment, and has the same finish and the same guarantee which is given the player-piano.

Subscriptions will only be received for terms of six months and one year, at the regular rates of $2.50 and $5.00, and no subscription to count in the contest will be accepted for delivery to an address outside of Union, Somerset and Middlesex counties or more than fifteen miles from Plainfield. The object of the contest is not to make money, but to add to the rapidly growing family of Press readers within its immediate territory, where the circulation will be of most value to the enterprising merchants and others who use the columns of the Daily Press to attract attention to their business.

The Daily Press can afford to pay cash commissions because heretofore when contests have been held high priced managers have been employed by the newspapers. The Press will conduct this contest with its own office force and give the money which the manager would get to those who do the hustling for new subscribers.

At no time during the contest will bonus votes be given to anyone, working a hardship to certain contestants who may turn in their business in other weeks than those during which such bonus votes are awarded. No subscription will be accepted where it is shown conclusively to the publishers of the Press that the money was procured as a result of a raffle or other gambling scheme. No extensions of existing paid subscriptions will be accepted, unless those subscriptions expire not later than six months after November first, 1912, and no subscription will be counted as a new one if the person or a member of his or her immediate household to whom the paper is ordered sent is listed as a subscriber to the Press at the time this announcement is made public.

The contest is being conducted strictly to increase the circulation of the Press, and like the European tour contest, which this paper so successfully completed last April, is being run with no thought of profit. Everything which the publishers can do to make the contest fair will be done, and any favoritism on the part of any employe which may be shown any contestant, which can be proven to exist will result in the instant dismissal of that person by the Press. Irresponsible hearsay statements will have no weight in deciding charges of favoritism, but a proven case will result in immediate discharge of the offender.

No relative of any member of the Daily Press business, reportorial or take any part in the contest whatsoever.

In each issue of the paper from today until December 16 will be printed a coupon good for one vote. Subscriptions turned in to count in the contest must be accompanied by the money, and it is emphasized that all must come from addresses in Union, Somerset and Middlesex counties not more than fifteen miles from Plainfield. These will be credited with votes as follows:

	Old Sub.	New Sub.
Six months	100	200
One year	250	500

The rules of the contest will appear in the Daily Press tomorrow.

An Oriental Rug Purchase of Great Importance

The Entire Stock of the "Oriental Rug Shop," No. 501 Fifth Ave. New York

The new Bamberger store is the scene of the greatest oriental rug buying ever witnessed in Newark. The "Oriental Rug Shop," which has for some time conducted a retail business at 501 Fifth Avenue, New York, failed to secure the right kind of a lease on its premises, and rather than locate disadvantageously elsewhere, decided to dispose of its entire stock. Knowing the Bamberger store's reputation for spot cash transactions the proprietors came to us. Many offers were made and rejected before we finally got the price down to the right figure. The deal was at last consummated, however, much to our advantage and yours, and we are ready with a sale the like of which has never before been known hereabouts. This stock consists of many rare and beautiful specimens of Kermanshah, Serape, Bulluk Persians, small Kermans, Saraouks, Luristans and Moussoulls, and the selection is broad enough to please the most exacting connoisseur. In addition to the "Oriental Rug Shop's" stock we have included many lines of our own which we have reduced expressly for the occasion. The sale continues for the remainder of the week. OPERATORS DENOUNCE RAISE IN COAL PRICES

New York, Nov. 11.—That there is no excuse for the increased prices charged by some dealers for anthracite coal is declared by the big operators themselves, the men who, with the railroads, form the hard coal trust and fix prices.

These operators issued a formal statement today blaming the independents and retailers for the raise in prices. They say:

"In view of the uneasiness about the supply of anthracite, and the fact that some consumers are complaining that an abnormally high price is asked for coal at this time, the operators desire to make a positive statement as to their course of action in the present situation.

"The larger mining companies are holding absolutely to their circular prices. They have not advanced these to the dealers to whom they sell, and have no intention of doing so. By far the greater part of the total anthracite output is being sold by the original producers at the circular prices.

"Some of the 'independent' operators are selling their output at a premium—that is, at a price above the circular. The retail dealers who advance the price to their customers do so, in many cases, because they are paying a premium to such operators for some part of the coal they handle. But for whatever reason the retail price may be advanced to consumers it is not due to any increase of prices on the part of the larger operators.

"The operators are convinced that though this year's production is behind last year's consumers, will not suffer for want of coal if they will content themselves with moderate purchases for the time, and not attempt to lay in a large store in advance and thus create an artificial scarcity. In the ordinary course of business, that is, in the absence of stress or other abnormal happenings, there will be no lack of coal to meet the demands of every market."

VOTE OF THE CONGREGATION CHANGES HOUR OF SERVICE

The congregation of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, yesterday, expressed by vote is desire to change the Sunday evening service to an afternoon service at 5 o'clock, which change will go in effect next Sunday.

An interesting feature of the day at the church was the organ recital given by Mr. Davis, the organist, in the afternoon for the Bethel chapel Sunday-school, who to the number of about 150 marched from the chapel to the church, under the leadership of the new superintendent, James Everett Kimball, and the teachers.

FRIENDS CONCLUDE THEIR HALF-YEARLY MEETING

At the Saturday afternoon session of the Friends' Half Yearly Meeting several who attended the Friends' General Conference in Chautauqua last summer gave an interesting review of it. Mention was made of the purchase by some English Friends of Swarthmore Hall, England (from which the college takes its name), three hundred years ago the home of George Fox, who was the founder of the religious body known as Friends.

In the evening a well-filled house enjoyed the Dutch and Swiss pictures shown by Miss Mabel H. Vail.

At the closing session yesterday morning, Joel Borton and Robert Barnes preached and William D. Williams offered prayer. The meetings were interesting and the attendance larger than usual.

YOUNG ASTOR TO GET $100,000,000 FRIDAY

Will Then Be Richest Young Man In World.

New York, Nov. 11.—When William Vincent Astor becomes of age next Friday the immense Astor estate, valed at $100,000,000, will automatically fall into his possession, to do with it as he pleases. The millions have been held in trust for him since the death of his father, Colonel John Jacob Astor, in the Titanic disaster last April. The fortune is the largest a man of Mr. Astor's youth controls anywhere in the world.

Much of the estate consists of real estate in West Twenty-sixth street. There are large parcels of land in the central part of Manhattan, especially in the neighborhood of Broadway, Fifth avenue and Forty-second street. The estate also owns a group of business and tenement buildings on the middle west side and one on the lower east side. It also owns a large tract in the Bronx near the old Morris Park race track, the immense country estate at Rhinebeck, a villa and grounds in Newport, several less important properties and a collection of jewels, paintings and sculptures.

Many famous jewels, including uncut diamonds and pearls, are included among the collection. Colonel Astor had a fondness for collecting rare stones and gems. Four yachts owned by Colonel Astor will also go to his son. They are the Noma, the Xylophone, the Progreso and the Skirmisher.

When the heir becomes of age the guardianship of Lewis Cass Ledyard ceases. Then Mr. Astor will become one of the executors of the estate of Mrs. Madeleine Force Astor. The other executors are James Roosevelt Douglas Robinson and Nicholas Biddle

CRANE'S HEART RETIRES HIM

Senator Told Strain of a Campaign Probably Would Kill Him.

Boston, Nov. 11.—The real reason why Winthrop Murray Crane decided to retire from the United States senate has become known. Senator Crane was told by his physician that the strain of a campaign to retain his position probably would prove fatal. He has been in poor health for some time. His health is not strong.

When it became apparent there would be a contest Senator Crane conferred with his physician and decided life was sweeter than a re-election. He hopes that a long rest at his home in Dalton will restore his health.

BARBER WIFE ON STRIKE.

Shaves Husband For Four Years. Seeks Divorce.

Elgin, Ill., Nov. 11.—Unwillingness to serve as "lady barber" for her husband caused Mrs. Emma Miller to sue for divorce.

She said that for four years after their marriage Miller never patronized a barber shop. At first he flattered her into cutting his hair and wielding a razor, she declares. Later he ordered her to do it. Awhile ago she picked up a broom and announced she was through with her tonsorial career and Miller left.

BAER BARS RISE IN COAL PRICES

Warns That Reading Company Will Cut Off Supply of Greedy Dealers.

EXPLAINS THE SCARCITY

Numerous Small Strikes Blame for Shortage of Fuel in Domestic Sizes—Sure of Ample Supply if People Will be Rational.

Philadelphia, Nov. 12.—Scarcity of coal for household use, and talk of increased prices as a result, were responsible for the air being filled with official statements yesterday, the latest authority to jump into the ring with an explanation is George F. Baer, president of the Reading Coal and Iron Company, one of the largest mine operators. At the same time there was much doing also in the statement line in view of the hearing on before the Railroad Commission in this city next Monday on excessive freight rates on coal charged by the Philadelphia and Reading Railway and other carriers.

That any attempt of coal dealers to advance prices will be followed by the cutting off of their supplies is the declaration made by Mr. Baer, who blames strikes for the present scarcity of the fuel. In his statement he advises patience on the part of the people. He says:

"The difficulties in the way of increasing the output of coal are, primarily, due to the action of the miners in the Upper Region. At quite a number of collieries in that region strikes have been maintained to try to force all men into the the union. I am advised this morning by the vice president of the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal Company that the employes of the South Wilkes-Barre Colliery, who have been out on a strike for a week or more decided to return to work this morning. There was a strike at the Maxwell Colliery, but it lasted for only a day.

"The men in the Schuylkill region have, as a rule, stood by the agreement made with the miners' organization last spring. There was a long strike in the collieries of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, and this morning I am further advised that the Dorrance Colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company is out on a strike. All these strikes are solely because they want to force all the men to wear the union button.

"I do not know what supplies the other companies have on hand. The Reading had 467,000 tons at Port Richmond and storage yards and 128,000 tons at its various depots throughout the United States on November 7. If the people are patient I see no reason why the public cannot be fully supplied with coal without any suffering. Our company has made an honest effort to supply the public and to keep down the price of coal.

"The temptation of individual operators (as in all other kinds of business) to take advantage of the scarcity of coal and to raise the price has been very great, and, in some instances, I have no doubt that the price of coal has been advanced by speculators and traders who want to take natural advantage of the scarcity of the market. Of course this is made possible through the urgency of impatient consumers. So far as I know, none of the large producing companies have sold coal above circular prices, and in a number of instances they have warned the dealers who buy coal from them that any attempt to advance prices would result in cutting off their supply. As far as the Reading is concerned this policy will be maintained."

HURRYING THE WORK ON MUHLENBERG ADDITION

The Board of Governors of Muhlenberg Hospital held its monthly meeting last night, most of the evening being devoted to a discussion of the details of the contract for the extensive building and improvements to be made at the hospital. Alexander Milne, the contractor, was present, to talk the matter over with the governors. The work has already been started, a portion of the foundation for the main building being up. The plan is to get as much of the construction work as possible under cover before bad weather arrives.

DEPARTMENTAL SALARY MEASURES INTRODUCED

Police Sure to Get Their Raise—Firemen's to Be Considered.

The ordinance providing for an increase in salaries and defining the duties of the members of the police department was introduced by Councilman C. C. Randolph, of the police board, at the adjourned meeting of the Council last night, and adopted on two readings and ordered engrossed and advertised. The revised salary list gives each member of the department an increase of $100, and is effective January 1, 1913. The new salary list will be as follows:

Chief, $1,800; captain, $1,350; sergeant, $1,350; detective-sergeant, $1,300; roundsmen, $1,200; Class A men $1,100; Class B, $1,080; Class C, $1,024; Class D, $964; Class E, $850.

Following the above action, Councilman Duncan W. Taylor, chairman of the fire committee, offered a similar ordinance covering his department, and giving each member an increase of $100. This ordinance was passed on first reading and will be taken up later for further action. The proposed salary list is as follows:

Chief, $1,650; first assistant chief, $1,350; captains, $1,200; engineer, $90 a year; drivers tillermen, etc., are divided into five classes as follows: A, $1,100; B, $1,060; C, $1,024; D, $964; E, $892. Call men are to receive $55 per year.

MEASUBE RAISING LIQUOR LICENSES GOES THROUGH

The ordinance raising the liquor license fees in the city was called up on third reading at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council last night, by Mr. Holt, and adopted, and the ordinance providing that in the future all applications for liquor and inn and tavern licenses shall be made on January 1 of each year, was passed on two readings and ordered advertised. The ordinance regulating the license fee, increases the retail fee from $1,000 to $1,200 and the wholesale fee from $750 to $1,000. Councilman Reville voted against the increase.

Mr. Holt in calling up the ordinance to change the time for filing applications for licenses, explained that heretofore they were presented in February and being acted upon before March 1, it left too little time for consideration and investigation. There was no objection to making the change and all the members voted for the adoption of the ordinance.

Forty-eight Dollars of Myers' Fine Remitted—Kiely's Buffalo Bill Approved $75 Worth; He Will Bear All Expense Over That.

Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett reported to the Common Council at its adjourned meeting, last night, that two property-owners, one at 1176 Gresham road and the other at 1221-1227 West Fifth street, had allowed encroachments on the street after being warned, and on motion of Councilman Gloak the matter was referred to Corporation Counsel W. M. Stillman, with instructions to bring suit against the offending owners or take such steps as thought best to correct the evil.

Tax appeals of Charles Caffrey, Louis Rosenthal and Cormick McDonough were referred to the corporation counsel, as was also a communication from Street Commissioner Gavett relative to the failure of certain people to properly number their houses after being advised on the subject.

Dr. J. F. Runnels, superintendent of Bonnie Burn Sanitorium, extended an invitation to the Council to attend the dedication of the county institution, November 18, and the same was accepted.

TWO PATROLMEN MADE ROUNDSMEN

Council Unanimously Confirmed the Promotion of Flynn and Saffron.

Patrolman Charles A. Flynn and Andrew L. Saffron were confined as roundsmen at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night, without objection. These appointments were made by Mayor G. W. V. Moy recently, but at the time they were held up, for the reason it was claimed that they had not been considered by the police board and further that Mr. Randolph was under the impression that the ordinance only called for one roundsman.

Mr. Randolph in moving confirmation of the appointments last night explained that the rules of the department provide for one roundsman, but he had since learned that the ordinance does not restrict the number. All the members voted for confirmation.

FREEHOLDER-ELECT THANKS DAILY PRESS

Thos. J. Hughes Says Success Largely Due to Support Given by This Paper.

The following self-explanatory letter was received today:

Editors, Plainfield Daily Press:

I wish to thank the voters of Plainfield for their loyal support given me as a candidate for Union County Freeholder. My success is largely due to their efforts. In this connection I want to give the Daily Press credit for its work on my behalf. As an Independent newspaper, it advocated my election on the ground that Plainfield should have representation on the Board. The results in the various polling districts of our city give ample evidence that the efforts of the Daily Press were not in vain and I feel that I owe my large vote here to a great extent to the excellent support given me by your newspaper.

Yours very truly,
THOS. J. HUGHES.

H. E. SYKES' AUTO HITS A NEWARKER

Victim, Apparently Seriously Hurt, Taken to Muhlenberg—Had Been Drinking.

H. E. Sykes, of 1211 Prospect avenue, this city, driving his automobile from Bound Brook to Plainfield shortly after 6 o'clock last night, struck Thomas Rogers, of 109 Bergen street, Newark, at Lincoln.

Rogers was knocked to the ground by the auto as he was crossing a road. He was picked up by Mr. Sykes in an unconscious condition and hurried to the office of Dr. Norman H. Probasco in this city, who ordered his removal to Muhlenberg Hospital, where it was said he sustained injuries about the back and probably internally.

Acording to Sykes, Rogers stepped directly in front of his car from a standing position and although he steered his car almost completely around to avoid a collision, one of the lamps hit the victim. The police and hospital authorities say Rogers had been drinking.

WANTS CITY TO BOARD HIM; DOCTORS SAY HE CAN WORK

Julius Tetcleff, who has been an inmate of the Poor House for some time, and who was arrested several weeks ago for being intoxicated and attacking a fellow inmate with a cane, was discharged from the institution a week ago, upon the advice of several physicians who said he was able to work, providing he left liquor alone. Yesterday he appeared at the Industrial Home under the influence of liquor, it is said, and upon the complaint of Overseer of the Poor Henry L. DeForest he was placed under arrest. City Judge De Meza this morning ordered him to appear tomorrow, when Mr. DeForest will be in court to give testimony.

Tetcleff, since being forced out of the Home, where it is said he has caused trouble at various times, has been trying to secure a position, but without success because of his alleged feebleness. He has asked Judge De Meza to take steps to compel the Overseer of the Poor take him into the Home again.

FOREIGNERS BEAR TARIFF'S BURDEN

Henry M. Stockton Tells Mr. Atterbury Who X Y and Z Are.

THEY ARE BARRED OUT

It is Not Apparent, Letter Writer Says, That They Give of Their Substance, But They Can't Get at Our Market.

Editors, Daily Press:

In reply to the open letter in your paper of November 8, from Mr. A. H. Atterbury, addressed to Senator Ackermann, W. N. Runyon, Esq., and myself, I had hoped that now the election was over and your side had won, that we would not hear any more politics until Congress had met.

Mr. Atterbury states that he delayed writing until the result of election should be known.

Well, it is known. It is a matter of history that Woodrow Wilson has won a record-breaking victory (in electoral votes) but it is interesting to note that notwithstanding this tremendous vicory, he has been elected by a minority and not a majority of the popular vote which I should like to remind Mr. Atterbury, if it means anything, means that while approximately 6,700,000 voters are willing to trust the apostles of free trade, tariff for revenue only or extrame revisionists, call them what you will, to revise the tariff, 7,700,000 votes were not willing to so trust them and I think that even Mr. Atterbury will admit that this is significant.

Under the present system of tariff, X, Y and Z are not resident in this country, and for that reason we are not especially interested in them. For

MISSION SOCIETIES COMPLETE FEDERATION

Church Women Elect Mrs. H. R. Halloway Head of New Organization.

The Plainfield Federation of Missionary Societies, which is the official title for the recently organized body of women from the churches of the city and borough, met yesterday afternoon at the First Baptist church, and completed the organization by electing officers and deciding upon other details of the work. Simple resolutions were adopted, in place of a constitution, which will govern the new organization. Meetings will be held as the need requires, but the annual meeting will be held on the second Monday in March of each year. The object is to stimulate interest among the women in mission work, both foreign and home.

It was announced that the "Week of Prayer" will be observed during the week of November 17, and on Friday afternoon, November 22, at the First Baptist church, Hans Freece, a converted Mormon, will address the women concerning his work. This will be in the nature of a mass meeting.

These officers were elected yesterday: President, Mrs. H. R. Halloway; first vice president, Mrs. Martin I. Cooley; second vice president, Mrs. Daniey Rapalje; third vice president, Mrs. John M. Whiton; fourth vice president, Miss Julia J. Noll; secretary, Mrs. J. S. Hanson; assistant, Miss Mary Steiner; treasurer, Mrs. Morris A. Zook; chairman home mission committee, Mrs. Edgar Williams; chairman foreign mission committee, Mrs. F. St. John Fitch.

GLOEKLER REVIVES PLAN TO IMPROVE HIS CORNER

When seen today, Mr. Gloekler appeared to be much pleased with the outcome of the matter, but said that he did not care to say anything about his future plans at present, other than to admit that something will be done with his property.

SEWER ASSESSMENT DRAWS A PROTEST

Report of Commission Approved by Council Notwithstanding the Complaint.

Notwithstanding the protest of Eugene Vincent Daly, representing the Plainfield Construction Company, the Common Council at its adjourned meeting last night, approved the report of Howard C. Tracy, Edward A. Laing and H. B. MacDonald, on the sewer assessments. After listening to Mr. Daly's arguments, Councilman Gloak, chairman of the sewer committee, said that he thought the commissioners had been fair in their work and he would vote to approve the report.

The company represented by Mr. Daly has been developing land in the vicinity of Pemberton and Stillman avenues, and Mr. Daly protested against an addition assessment of $2,450, claiming that it had cost the company $1,600 to lay 1,800 feet of sewer, and beside the city had located a pumping station on one of the company lots. He said that he failed to see how the commissioners arrived at the extra assessment, believing that it was the result of sharp figuring and with the idea of "getting" the company.

Mr. Daly said he thought the company was entitled to fair play, and he did not believe that the Council would want to go on record as obstructionists in the development of the city. He declared that the company had spent about $60,000 in developing a tract of land and should be encouraged rather than hindered in the work.

HIT BY TRUCK, BOY IS PAINFULLY INJURED

While returning home from school this noon, William Bremble, of East Seventh street, was painfully injured by being hit in the thigh with the hub of a "pony" truck which was attached to one of the Telephone Company's wagons.

In turning the corner of East Seventh and Richmond streets the truck swerved around and struck Bremble, who was crossing the street at the time. With the aid of several companions Bremble was able to proceed to his home, where a doctor was called. It was found that he had escaped broken bones but was badly bruised. He will be detained at home for several days.

COUNCIL REJECTS WIDENING PLAN

Somerset Street Not to Be Broadened, at Least at Present.

ENDRESS DOESN'T VOTE

Excused From Casting Ballot for Personal Reasons—Five Councilmen Favor Widening, Four Oppose It—Boro's Benefit?

The plan to widen Somerset street, between Front street and Green brook, was defeated for the present, at least, at the adjourned meeting of the Common Council, last night. Ten members of the Council were present and the vote to adopt the ordinance was five to four, Mr. Endress being excused from voting for personal reasons. A majority vote of the whole Council is required to pass an ordinance. Councilmen Clay, Holt, C. C. Randolph and Taylor voted against the ordinance and Councilmen Tolles, Dunn, Gloak, Reville and Wilson in the affirmative.

Councilman Holt first opposed the passage of the ordinance on the ground that he was not sure in his own mind that it would be a wise thing. He said that a majority of the property-owners and merchants on East and West Front street opposed the widening, and he thought it would mean a great expense chiefly for the benefit of North Plainfield.

Councilman Randolph favored the establishment of the belt line trolley service through Madison avenue, preferring that that improvement be made before anything was done with Somerset street. Councilman Taylor thought steps should be taken to widen Park avenue, between Second and Front streets. Councilman Tolles said that Somerset street should be widened now as the work could never be done any cheaper. Councilman Endress asked to be excused from voting on the ground that he was personally interested. Councilman Reville was one of those who strongly favored the improvement.

GREAT RECEPTION FOR OFFER OF DAILY PRESS

Enthusiastic Response Accorded Announcement of This Paper to Award a Player-Piano and a Piano to Successful Competitors in Campaign for Added Circulation.

No announcement ever made by a local newspaper has created such general interest as the offer of a splendid player-piano and a piano to the persons or organizations securing the most subscriptions to the Daily Press which was first made public in this newspaper last night. The contest conducted by the Press last spring caused more talk than anything of the kind ever attempted before in Plainfield, when six young women were offered a trip to Europe, but yesterday's announcement created greater surprise than ever. Two handsome instruments, both the latest examples of the piano maker's art, to be given away, and in addition every person who enters the contest to receive a cash commission for all business they turn in, is something entirely new for this city, and many were the inquiries made at the Press office about the contest. The rules and all information which may be desired will be found in an advertisement appearing elsewhere in today's paper.

In the past it has usually been the rule of newspapers conducting such contests to limit them to young women. The piano contest is open to individuals, lodges, churches or anyone else, and even if the contestants do not win one of the two principal prizes they have the consolation of receiving a cash commission for every subscription they turn in, if they have the hustle and ambition to get five new readers for the paper. The reason that commissions will not be paid on less than five subscriptions is that this offer is only made to bona fide contestants, who are really willing to work to secure new readers to the Daily Press, and is not made with an idea of allowing a reduction to those who turn in one or two subscriptions with the idea of saving on their paper by paying in advance.

Among those who have already signified their intention of taking part in the contest are the members of several local organizations. They say that the great improvements made in the Daily Press since January first last have made it an easy matter to get subscriptions, as the paper is now printing all the local news in a concise, well-edited manner, and that the make-up of the paper for local news excels anything else ever before attempted by a Plainfield newspaper.

Nothing appeals to a person more than the thought of a splendid musical instrument in the home. Many have hoped to have such a thing, but have not felt that they could afford it. Now one is in reach of anyone who will do a little hustling. The Daily Press will be pleased to answer any questions regarding the contest, furnish information to all who inquire, and will aid those who wish to compete in any legitimate way in which it can. The first vote will not be printed for nearly a week, and that gives all a chance to hustle. Names of contestants will be made public as soon as a suitable number have been secured.

The player-piano and piano arrived at Joseph Sattels' warerooms on North avenue, opposite the Daily Press office, yesterday afternoon, and are now on exhibition in his window. As explained in the advertisement of the contest elsewhere both instruments are made by the Braumiller Piano Company, of New York, and that they are of the very best grade can be attested to by local people who have purchased similar instruments from Mr. Sattels in the past, and which are now in use in Plainfield homes. Both can be tried by any one who wishes to visit Mr. Sattels' store.

Somerville.

Notwithstanding the filing of a number of protests against the assessments proposed for the construction of the new storm drains on Eastern and North Gaston avenues, the Borough Council, at its meeting at the engine house last night, unanimously decided to construct the drains. The proposed improvements will consist of a storm drain from the corner of Eastern avenue and East High street to East Main street, with an intake opposite the property of J. T. Stryker; also a storm drain on Gaston avenue, from opposite the residence of Jacob Hyler, to East Main street. When these are constructed the intention is to close up a ditch running through the properties from Eastern to Gaston avenues, and also the open wasteway through the old Keys property, now owned by the Somerville Realty Company.

Assessments on property for the construction of the proposed drains amounted to $1,435, and owners of property to the amount of $515 objected to the assessments. The construction of the drain will cost $2,532.70, and Mayor Steele was authorized to sign the contract with William Hardgrove. The work will be started at once. Pending the settlement of the storm drains the work of macadamizing Eastern avenue has been held up. This was started last year and users of that street have been considerably annoyed over its condition.

Another important matter decided was the widening of East High street east of Eastern avenue. To do this work it will be necessary to condemn lands belonging to Mrs. Antoinette B. Blackwell. Mrs. Blackwell has already started the erection of a building on East High street, part of which land it is desired to have condemned, and no doubt the project will meet with opposition.

Residents of Warren street petitioned the Council to build a sewer on Warren street. A private sewer is located on part of the street, and the Council will complete the system. Property benefitted will be assessed, this plan to be followed on all future improvements. A request of street lights on Davenport street, in the lottery field section, was referred to the light committee.

MATTERS BEFORE COUNCIL

the unsuccessful bidders were ordered returned.

On motion of Mr. Gloak, Carl Silbert, the West Front street jeweler, was given permission to erect a Howard street clock in front of his store. Councilmen Tolles and Taylor voted against the proposition, having also opposed the erection of other similar clocks and they wanted to appear consistent.

In response to a communication from Charles L. Stanley, of South avenue, who complained about the damage to his property by reason of the overflow of surface water, Mr. Gloak instructed the city clerk to inform Mr. Stanley that the brook in that vicinity was the natural water course and that it would cost about $17,000 to construct a storm sewer to relieve the conditions of which he complained.

A communication was received from H. C. Barker, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., relative to an old sewer contract, in which a man of the name of Morgan defaulted, practically closing the matter. Mr. Morgan is still in the asylum and another interested party has since died.

The petition from the Woman's Exchange asking for permission to erect a sign in front of its place on Park avenue, was returned with instructions to hang the same from the building.

Resolutions offered by Councilman Taylor authorized the purchase of 200 feet of chemical hose and the placing of two fire alarm boxes, one at Hillside and Prospect avenues and the other at Plainfield avenue and West Fourth street.

Councilman C. C. Randolph offered a resolution, which was adopted, authorizing that the unpaid balance of the fine imposed on Patrolman Nicholas Myers be remitted. It amounts to about $48. Another resolution by the same member, authorized an appropriation of $200 with which to construct a padded cell at police headquarters. On motion of Mr. Randolph, Police Chief P. S. Kiely's bill for $75, expenses attendant on a trip to the police convention at Buffalo, was paid, notwithstanding Mayor Moy's objection. There was apparently some misunderstanding about the bill. Councilmen Reville and Endress voted against the motion. The bill as presented showed a total of $125, but Chief Kiely will have to stand the difference between $75 and $125.

Councilman J. E. Dunn offered resolutions authorizing the placing of electric lights as follows: Two lights on East Seventh street, two lights on West Sixth street, between Clinton and Monroe avenues; one light on the northside of the railroad bridge on Richmond street; one light on East Seventh street, between Belvidere and Leland avenues; one light on East Second street, east of Richmond street.

Mr. Endress objected to the light to be placed on East Second street, believing that another light should be moved to remedy the difficulty complained of. Mr. Gloak said that the point referred to was a dark one and the light was necessary. Another light was granted on St. Mary's avenue, the plan being to remove one from Hill street.

Mr. Holt moved that when Council adjourn it be to meet on Monday night, November 25, provided the sewer matter was ready for action. If not, it is understood that there will be no meeting at that time. Mr. Holt's customary resolution continuing the sewer matter until the next meeting was then adopted.

Councilman George S. Clay offered an amended ordinance relating to the issuance of $18,000 worth of street improvement bonds, smiply for the purpose of having the issue date from July 1, 1912, an error having been made originally.

Ordinances to open Wallace place and to establish the side-lines on Putnam avenue were offered by Mr. Gloak, passed on two readings and Monday, December 2, fixed as the time for a public hearing.

LOVE OF BATTLE AND HATRED OF TURKEY INSPIRE MONTENEGRINS

National Characteristics of One of the Most Warlike Nations.

A Wonderful Little Country That Has Suffered For Many Years.

OF all the peoples of the Balkans those of Montenegro—the land of sword and song, of brave men and beautiful women—are perhaps the most interesting. The peculiar conditions out of which has grown the Montenegrin nation, one of the most warlike in the world, have been described by Professor Dwight Elmendorf, lecturer and traveler.

"It is like hearing a medieval romance to listen to the story of Montenegro," said Dr. Elmendorf. "Tucked away between great mountains of solid rock, with little chance for farming or manufacture, this nation has existed almost entirely upon the valor of its men. Every man in Montenegro is a warrior except those who are blind, and the blind become singers of war, so that there is a never ceasing thrill of patriotism running between the stern heights of the country's rocky hills. The only other theme that is woven into song by the blind troubadours is love. So they go, usually accompanied by a brother minstrel who plays on the gusla, a Montenegrin instrument with only one string, drifting from village to village and stirring the emotions of their people with their wild, sad music.

"On my first visit to Montenegro I found the country a tumultuous sea of stone. The mountains were of solid rock and lifted sheer into the sky, so that I found myself wondering that any people could live there at all. It is a tiny country, mostly on end, and the only possible way the people have of raising crops is to sow the little hollows between the hills. These hollows were formerly small lake beds, and in them it is possible to produce scattered crops of grain. The chief business of the country, however, is the manufacture of insect powder. This they make from a flower that is a sort of wild aster, not unlike our American daisy. Another industry is the making of cigarettes—they are superb cigarettes, too—but the Montenegrins raise no tobacco in their own country and must import it from Turkey. Undoubtedly the war will cut off to a great extent this cigarette industry.

"The original Montenegrins were Servian fugitives who fled to the mountains to escape the Turks. They are physically a magnificent race of men, tall, stately and exceedingly dignified in their bearing. They are pure white and usually very handsome. They wear beautiful costumes of red and pale blue and little round red caps on which are embroidered 'N. I.,' the monogram of Nicholas I., their king. From boyhood the men are trained to war. At the age of seventeen every Montenegrin lad receives a sword or a pistol, and he is then considered a soldier, liable for active duty at a moment's notice. The women do almost all the work in Montenegro, so that about half the population can be thrown into the field at any given time without crippling the meager industries of the nation. Universally brave, the men are fired with a lofty patriotism which is as unthinking and passionate as that of the Japanese. Indeed, the country exists chiefly on valor.

"It is no wonder that the blind troubadours sing of love between their wild ballads of the sword. The girls of Montenegro are among the most beautiful in the world, and they are especially charming in their gay costumes with the little flat red caps pinned on the back of their heads. But after they grow to womanhood and begin manual labor they soon lose their good looks. As might be expected from such a nation, the standard of morality is exceedingly high.

"The Montenegrins wear a sort of Indian moccasin which is laced high on the ankle. By means of these shoes, which have soft, tough sides, they can climb to heights where other men could not possibly gain a footing. They are as sure footed as their own mountain goats, and in case they should be driven into the mountains it would be impossible for an invading force to follow.

"The men wear colored sashes, in which are thrust two or three pistols. Every Montenegrin wears his armament in his belt, and if he happens to possess an American revolver his happiness is complete. When I was in Montenegro I was beset on all sides by warriors seeking to buy an American gun. I told my would be customers that I never carried a revolver, and they could hardly believe my words. They thought it the strangest thing in the world that a man should go unarmed. No bandits afflict Montenegro. The men are all gentlemen, courteous and kind to strangers, and a traveler could go from one end of the kingdom to the other without danger.

"The houses, which are all built of stone, with tiled roofs, usually have but one story, though the more pretentious dwellings are two stories. The king's palace, for instance, is two stories. When the king is in Cetinje he holds a weekly reception in front of the palace, which he personally superintends. To these receptions come all manner of people, both high and low, to make their complaints and tell their troubles to the king. In this way he metes out a personal justice that is as effective as it is rough and ready. It is a strange sight indeed to see an entire nation coming to meet its monarch face to face and to lay its individual troubles at his feet. The Montenegrin, however, worships his king and is only too willing to die for him if necessary. King Nicholas is a worthy leader of such a people too. He waged successful war against the Turks in 1861,

BULGARIAN OFFICER MAKING RECORD OF SHELL FIRE FROM OBSERVATION PILLAR.

1862, 1877 and 1878, with the result that he gained recognition for his country and acquired territory giving Montenegro access to the sea. He introduced a new code of laws in 1888 and is the author of 'The Empress of the Balkans.'

"The vendetta still obtains among the Montenegrins. It is a war of revenge, an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth, and is just the sort of poetic justice that you might expect from such a fierce people. Often while traversing those rocky mountain passes the traveler strikes a Homeric state of affairs that makes him think of old troubadour days. Coming upon a little village, he finds a blind singer or story teller reciting the Montenegrin legends and battle songs to a highly excited and wondrously thrilled audience.

"The Montenegrins have a long standing grievance against Turkey, which has hampered them continually for years."

WISE MR. TAFT.

President Taft is reported to have stated that as a former chief magistrate of this Republic he will emulate the virtues of Grover Cleveland. The distinguished Democrat when he retired from his high office spurned offers which would mean the trading on his exalted position for the tempting pecuniary propositions made to him by great corporations and which were simply for the purpose of using his rank as a former President as an asset. This was repulsive to that plain, honest and courageous man and his attitude was in marked contrast to that of others who had preceded him. Instead of allowing himself to be exploited, Cleveland retired to the privacy of his home in Princeton and conducted himself as one should who had been the head of the greatest Republic in the world. Only once or twice was he heard on the political platform thereafter and then solely because of what he considered a patriotic duty. His last years were spent as an instructor of youth in the matter of political economics at a great seat of learning. It was a fitting close to the life of a really great man.

Mr. Taft proposes to govern his conduct much the same as did Cleveland. He has decided to return to Cincinnati, his home town, and to re-engage in the practise of the law, a profession in which he holds a front rank. His purpose is not to figure actively in court proceedings, but to be simply an advisor on matters affecting the Constitution of the United States and of interpretation of intricate Federal laws. The American people will applaud his wise decision.

SANE FOURTH ASSURED.

Plainfield is following other progressive municipalities in adoptnig a safe and sane Fourth of July ordinance. For three years Councilman Frank L. Holt has tried to have some such measure enacted but not until last night did the Common Council give its approval to the plan. Discharging fire crackers and setting off other explosives, bombs, skyrockets and the like is a "Heathen Chinee" way of celebrating the anniversary of American Independence. There is no sense to this method of expressing jubiliation and the sooner the dangerous custom is abolished generally the better, for life, limb and property are constantly threatened wherever the custom is in vogue. The list of maimed and wounded, not to mention the destruction of property, is appalling on each succeeding Fourth, but public opinion is gradually being aroused and it will not be long before the silly and menacing practise is prohibited throughout the length and breadth of the land.

GOOD APPOINTMENTS.

On last Sunday, a local clergyman took occasion to deprecate the spirit of fault-finding of public officials by their constituents and indeed there is often unjust criticism. This is largely due to the hasty manner in which some pass judgment without first carefully examining the facts or learning the real truth. For instance, in some quarters there was a disposition to criticize the authorities for their intention to advance Patrolmen Charles Flynn and Andrew Saffron to the position of roundsmen over the heads of others who had served for a longer period in the department. A careful investigation would show that the decision of the Mayor and Common Council was perfectly proper and that the best interests of the city were served when the governing body confirmed the appointments of Saffron and Flynn for promotion.

Postmaster Bird says that he will continue at the same old stand selling postage stamps at regular rates for some time to come. C. E. B., J. J. K., P. J. R., et al., please note.

We would like to print the picture of some Democrat who is not secretly cherishing an ambition to be appointed postmaster.

HOW POLITICS AFFECTS THE STOCK MARKET

(By Telegraph to The Daily Press.)
New York, Nov. 12.—There was quiet buying of stocks on the sharp break in the afternoon yesterday in the belief that a more favorable interpretation would be placed on the news developments this morning. An international banker said after the close of the market that the rumors that the British ministry would resign appealed to him as the most alarming feature of the political situation both in Europe and in this country. The cable advices received a little later in the afternoon stating that the ministry would not give up were decidedly reassuring, particularly to those best acquainted with the European political situation.

It was pointed out this morning that it would probably make little difference with speculators now whether President-elect Wilson makes an announcement in the near future as to his intention of calling an extra session of Congress to take up tariff revision. This assertion is made on the belief that it is very generally expected that he will assemble Congress in special session next spring for that purpose. Of course if he should announce soon that he had decided not to take such action it is assumed that the effect upon the market would be immediate and stimulating.

THE BLACK BALL.

A Cunning Scheme That Was Spoiled by Quick Thinking.

Two young men in a French village were called on to draw for conscription. One only was wanted to complete the number, and of the two who were to draw one was the son of a rich farmer and the other the child of a poor widow.

The farmer ingratiated himself with the superintendent of the ballot and promised him a present if he could find means to prevent his son from going in the army. In order to accomplish this the official put into the urn two black balls instead of one white and one black ball. When the young men came, he said:

"There are two balls, one black and one white, in the urn. He who draws the black one must serve. Your turn is first," pointing to the widow's son.

The latter, suspecting that all was not fair, approached the urn and drew one of the balls, which he immediately swallowed without looking at it.

"Why," said the superintendent, "have you done that? How are we to know whether you have drawn a black or a white ball?"

"Oh, that's very easy to discover," was the reply. "Let the other now draw. If I have the black, he must necessarily draw the white one."

There was no help for it, and the farmer's son, putting his hand into the urn, drew the remaining ball, which, to the satisfaction of the spectators, was a black one.

Power of the Spectroscope.

The almost uncanny power of the spectroscope, which has made it such a powerful instrument of research, is the following: If any element such as iron, copper, sodium and the like is heated sufficiently to be vaporized and the light of this heated vapor is analyzed by the spectroscope, it does not give a continuous spectrum, but only very narrow portions of the colors, so that in reality the view presented is that of a series of bright lines of the various colors. Each chemical element has its own characteristic set of lines.—Century.

BEAR TARIFF'S BURDEN

Mr. Atterbury's information, however, I shall be glad to identify them. They are the foreign manufacturers and farmers whose products, produced by cheaper labor than we have in this country by one hundred per cent., cannot come in to disturb A, B and C, whom Mr. Atterbury himself identifies as the "American Wage Earner," the "American Farmer" and the "American Manufacturer."

It does not appear so far as I am aware that X, Y and Z do give up their substance to help out A, B and C, but if they did it would be a matter for them themselves to take up, not us.

The A, B, C, X, Y, Z theory looks quite impressive in print, but like most of the Democratic propaganda of which Mr. Wilson is the high priest it is theoretical and the trouble is that in the words of Mr. Wilson's illustrious predecessor, Mr. Cleveland, it is a condition, not a theory that confronts us.

No one with common sense will deny that tariff raises prices. You will pay more [illegible], but you will ge[illegible] and [illegible] the only way in w[illegible] anyone can [illegible]unt for the fact th[illegible]hin eighty years, twenty-three million European laborers came over here to live, and found out where a poor man's best home is. If there is a poor man's Paradise, certainly it is in this tariff afflicted, much protested, but happy country of ours.

Mr. Atterbury is a lawyer and a theorist, and like most of his kind, the practical aspects do not appeal to him. His system as a lawyer, I take it, is to look his client over carefully. If he will stand a fee of only $25 he charges $25. If he will stand $200 he charges $200, and if it were not for the fact that in free trade England the $25 customers are far more numerous than the $200 customers, Mr. Atterbury would probably be practicing law in London instead of New York.

I challenge anyone to name an article made in factories (in the protected industries) that is not cheaper now than twenty years ago. I tried to explain this in my letter of October 31 to the "Daily Press," where I pointed out that the manufacturer is not the robber the free traders made him out. The retailer gets his goods cheap enough, but his method of distribution, which is yet to be explained, seems to add 100 per cent. to 150 per cent. to his cost, in which advertising, undoubtedly, plays a big part.

An extreme reduction in Schedule K, such as that embodied in the Underwood Bill unsuccessfully negotiated at the last session of Congress, would result in an immediate reduction of wages throughout the woolen mills of this country, for the wage is the only element of cost that can possibly be lowered. That today is as low as it can be, and if it is further lowered the operatives will have to seek employment in other fields of industry.

These facts are so clear to those who are out in the marts that it seems almost a waste of time to enumerate them. The trouble is that they are the practical facts and do not square with the theoretical conclusions of the free trader and therefore are not aceptable to him.

Governor Wilson declares a protective tariff unconstitutional, yet he hastens to assure the business people that in reducing the tariff, it must be done so as not to interfere with business.

There is an inter-relation, and inter-dependence of all our industries, which makes the injuries of one, the concern of all. Large corn crops will not produce a job for the factory worker, if the product of his toil is displaced by foreign goods, nor will a bumper crop avail the farmer, if the pruchasing power of the industrial worker is destroyed.

In the letter written just before the close of the campaign, to which I have already alluded, I indicated that the cost of distribution and not a protective tariff is the cause of the high cost of living, and proved it with figures. It is always an interesting aspect of discussions of this kind, however, that those endeavoring to support the theoretical side very handsomely ignore concrete facts and attempt to obscure the issue by injecting A, B, C, X, Y and Z problems.

Very truly yours,
H. M. STOCKTON.

FOURTH TO BE SAFE AND SANE HEREAFTER

Ordinance Forbidding Dangerous Celebrations Launched on Way to Passage.

After three years' effort, Councilman F. L. Holt has at last succeeded in securing the adoption on two readings of his "safe and sane" fireworks ordinance. This was accomplished at the adjourned meeting of the Council last night, and the ordinance with the changes was passed as originally drafted.

During the passage of the ordinance, Mr. Holt explained that Edward A. Laing, a dealer in fireworks, had requested an interview prior to action on the ordinance, but as he did not come to see him, Mr. Holt said that he tried to see Mr. Laing. The meeting failed, but Mr. Laing sent him some lithograph pictures of fireworks, which he examined. Mr. Holt said that it would be a difficult matter to decide between the class of fireworks that are considered dangerous and those which are classed as harmless, and in his opinion the only thing to do was to adopt the ordinance and if any part of it proves a hardship it can be amended.

The ordinance specifies the size of firecrackers and torpedoes that can be discharged; also provides for exhibitions permission for which can be secured from the Mayor but prohibits the general sale of fireworks. A fine of $20 is provided for first violations of the ordinance and $100 upon second violations. The ordinance will be adopted on third reading at the next meeting of the Council.

President-elect Wilson came here in an automobile to attend to some State matters, and this afternoon will be present at the formal opening of Wilson Cottage at the State Home for Girls.

PAID $200 FOR EACH BOMB JOB

McManigal Claims Hockin "Held Out" on Him.

DETAILS DYNAMITE TRIPS.

On One Occasion Blew Up Wrong Place and Didn't Receive Any Pay—Crawled on Stomach to Evade the Night Watchmen.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 12.—At the "dynamite conspiracy" trial Ortie McManigal went deeper into his adventures and told of wrecked bridges, viaducts and buildings he left behind in causing explosions in various cities.

"After I blew up the power house of a car shop in Mount Vernon, Ill., Herbert S. Hockin came to me at Chicago and said I had got the wrong job," testified McManigal. "He said I should have blown up a railroad bridge, and the union's executive board wouldn't allow me pay for the job.

"A few days later Hockin returned with J. B. McNamara. McNamara said he had just come from Salt Lake City, where he had blown up the new Utah hotel building on April 18. He told me J. E. Munsey, the business agent at Salt Lake City, had arranged for the explosion, and Munsey also arranged to prove an alibi when the explosion came off by going to a store and talking to persons there.

"Hockin went to Cincinnati in June and wired me to follow. I told him I would do one of two things, work for a living and quit dynamiting or do nothing but dynamiting. Hockin said he had plenty for me to do. He said I was to go to Indianapolis, get twelve quarts of nitroglycerin and blow up the Donison-Harvard viaduct in Cleveland on June 22.

Held Out $75 on Each Job.

"J. B. McNamara accompanied me from Cincinnati to Indianapolis. On the train I told McNamara that Hockin was to pay me $125 for each job. He was surprised, saying the executive board was allowing $200 and expenses for each job. I said Hockin was holding out on me. McNamara said the big fellow (meaning J. J. McNamara, his brother, who was treasurer of the Ironworkers' union) would see that I was paid in full hereafter.

"At the ironworkers' headquarters in Indianapolis J. B. and J. J. McNamara and I compared accounts and found Hockin had held out $500 on me for all the jobs I had done. J. J. said he always suspected Hockin was a double crosser, and now he knew it. He said he was going to tell President Frank M. Ryan about it, but I was to go right on with the jobs as Hockin planned.

"J. B. and I, with three nitroglycerin bombs of four quarts each packed in suit cases, departed for Cleveland, reaching there June 18, 1910, four days before the explosion. Hockin appeared and said he had seen Peter J. Smith, who said everything was all right. When we were ready to pull off the explosion we were to telephone Smith to keep under cover.

"Hockin also said they were preparing to blow up jobs at Detroit; that the carpenters' union had put up $100 and the sheet metal workers were willing to do their share. The carpenters, he said, wanted to get a manufacturing company.

Eluded Watchmen by Crawling.

"At about 9 o'clock on a rainy night we put the bombs on the Cleveland job after crawling on our stomachs to elude the watchmen, returned to town and took a train for Toledo. At Toledo we read in the newspapers an account of the Cleveland explosion.

"Then we went to Detroit, where we met a man with a black eye. J. B. said he had $100 from the carpenters' union to pay us for work."

"Do you see in court now the man who had the black eye?" McManigal was asked.

The witness pointed out Charles Wachlmeister, formerly an ironworker business agent in Detroit, who is a defendant.

"After J. B. had got from an express office a package of infernal machines that had been shipped from Indianapolis," continued McManigal, "he said there had been too much talking going on in Detroit and we wouldn't blow up any jobs at that time. I went out in a field and buried twelve quarts of nitroglycerin, marking the spot by hanging a tin can on the branch of a nearby tree."

CRISIS AT HAND IN BALKAN WAR

European Diplomats Seek to Prevent Complications.

REPORT TURKISH VICTORY

Dispatch Says They Have Retaken Port of Rodovo—Bulgarian Reverse Also Reported In Maras Zone—Russia Is Preparing.

London, Nov. 12.—Europe is facing a crisis. A war which will involve every country is threatened. It may be that diplomacy will succeed in solving problems that appear insoluble to many.

The Bulgarian army is on the point of entering Constantinople, and this will be resented by Russia. At the same time the Turkish capital is threatened with massacre from within.

On the other side of the Balkan peninsula there is an acute conflict between the aims of Austria-Hungary and Servia, which, if it is not arranged, might start a general European outbreak.

The most hopeful sign at the present moment is the fact that moderating influences are being brought to bear by Germany, the close ally of Austria-Hungary, and by Bulgaria, the comrade in arms of Servia. Both of these nations are now exerting themselves to avert a conflict.

Dr. S. Daneff, speaker of the Bulgarian chamber of deputies and one of the most influential politicians in Bulgaria, after audiences with his sovereign, King Ferdinand; with King Peter of Servia and with the Servian premier, is now in Budapest, where the aged Austrian emperor, Francis Joseph; his foreign minister, his minister of war and his chief of staff are gathered. It is believed that Dr. Daneff is the bearer of important proposals in regard to Servia's claims and that these definite suggestions for which Austria has been waiting are now under consideration.

Austria's Proposal.

The Austro-Hungarian minister at Belgrade, who has just returned to his post, informed the Servian government that a reasonable settlement would be that Austria, in return for corresponding privileges in the Balkan ports and on the railroads leading to them, should give Servia running privileges over the line that is to be built to the port of Durazzo and that the two countries should together use the port as a free port.

Austria takes so seriously the advance of a Servian force toward the port of Durazzo that she has dispatched a vessel there to take off Austrian residents when the Servian troops arrive.

Servia's friend, Russia, also is preparing for eventualities. Besides keeping her time expired men in the army, she is mobilizing her forces. As Sevastopol transports have been prepared to convey Russian troops across the Black sea, and her arsenals and commissariat departments are working night and day.

Russia Not Caught Napping.

Russia has no intention of being caught napping, as she was at the time Austria annexed Bosnia and Herzogovina, when she was compelled by German menaces to accede to the annexation, to which she was opposed.

As to the actual fighting, very little news is coming through. The port of Rodovo, on the Sea of Marmora, which the Turkish fleet bombarded on Sunday, is reported from Vienna to have been recaptured by the Turks. This, however, lacks confirmation.

The situation at Adrianople continues something of a riddle. The Bulgarians claim to have absolutely surrounded the city. A short cable dispatch, however, was received from within the Turkish lines. This had been sent off on Saturday and somehow reached Odessa, in Russia.

It repeated the assertion made by a Turkish official dispatch of a Bulgarian reverse in the Maras zone.

AMBASSADOR BRYAN OUT.

United States Envoy to Japan Resigns Because of Ill Health.

Washington, Nov. 12.—Charles Page Bryan, American ambassador to Japan, forwarded his resignation to President Taft. Ill health and injuries received in a carriage accident in Japan are given as the cause of his retirement. The resignation has been accepted by the president.

Ambassador Bryan is now at his home in Chicago. He is fifty-six years of age and entered the diplomatic service in 1897, when he was appointed minister to China. Later he served as minister to Brazil, Switzerland, Portugal and Belgium. He became ambassador to Japan in August, 1911.

WILSON ASKS VIEWS OF MANY ON TARIFF

Wants Opinions of Those Who Have Studied Question.

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 12.—Governor Wilson indicated his intense interest in the country wide discussion of the tariff problem by requesting that the newspaper men submit to him the lists published in their several papers of those senators, representatives and men of affairs that have stated their opinions as to the advisability of calling an extra session of congress immediately after his inauguration on March 4.

He said that he had carefully read all of these interviews, and Joseph P. Tumulty, his secretary, is setting aside for the governor's consideration all those letters which deal with the problem. He realizes that this is not a question that may be settled offhand, that its ramifications are traught with vast importance to the intricate business system of a nation and that its settlement depends upon the consensus of ideas of a great number of men competent to judge of what is for the best interests of the people at large. Facing such a situation, he is determined that his mind shall be open to every worthy suggestion.

Some of the interviews given have suggested as much as they have stated, and it is the intention of the governor to summon a conference of those men whose opinions must be highly regarded both for the character of the men and the nature of the interests they represent.

The governor said that it was not his intention to make any announcement whatsoever regarding the tariff situation until he has returned from the vacation on which he will start Saturday.

HARVARD TO GET $500,000.

Dr. Cabot's Will Gives It $150,000 Outright, Rest at Wife's Death.

Boston, Nov. 12.—The bulk of the property of the late Dr. Arthur T. Cabot of Brookline, estimated at $500,000, is to go to Harvard university at the death of Mrs. Cabot, according to the provisions of the will filed at Dedham.

Dr. Cabot was one of the fellows of Harvard college and deeply interested in the medical school, which received $100,000 outright. An additional sum of $50,000 and numerous paintings are given to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

LAKE STEAMER ASHORE.

Heavy Sea Running, and Boat Is In Danger of Going to Pieces.

Sault Ste. Marie, Nov. 12.—The steamer Rosedale, with a crew of eighteen men and 8,000 tons of package freight, ran ashore on Lighthouse point, near Detour.

A heavy sea is running, and the steamer is in danger of going to pieces. Two wrecking tugs have been ordered to her assistance. The Rosedale is owned by the Inland lines and was bound up the lakes.

Old Cattle Feud Revived.

Durango, Colo., Nov. 12.—A cattle feud of several years' standing was revived in Cox canyon, twelve miles south of here, on the New Mexico-Colorado state line, when John Graves of Cedar Hill, N. M., shot and probably fatally wounded Samuel Truby of Elco, Colo.

Pantheon and Parthenon.

The Parthenon, or what is left of it, stands upon the Acropolis of Athens. The most famous building on earth was erected under the administration of Pericles about B. C. 442. Its present ruinous condition was caused by the explosion of a bomb during the war between the Venetians and Turks in 1687. The Pantheon at Rome was built by Agrippa in B. C. 27 and, unlike the more beautiful temple at Athens, is still in a fair state of preservation. The Pantheon is, of course, well worth seeing both for its own sake and on account of its historic interest, but it does not hold the fame belonging to the incomparable building on the Acropolis.—New York American.

Philosophical Phelix Says:

JUST TAPS BY "BUNTS"

Now that basketball has obtained a firm foothold, everybody is looking forward to a corking good season. Make it as good as the baseball season was and you will be going some.

At least two of the many local quintets that have been proposed are now well started and a third has shown signs of life.

Both the Hope Chapel and Y. M. C. A. Ajax teams have played and won two games and when they meet at the Y. M. C. A. next week one clean slate is bound to be smeared up.

The Ajax appear to have on edge on their opponents, however, as both of the fives which have gone down to defeat before them have been faster and more aggressive than the Hope Chapel opponents.

But then records do not count for a whole lot and the Chapelites have a speedy team.

Speaking of Hope Chapel, we cannot slide over it without commenting a little on the work of Allen Snyder, the old P. H. S. star. He is the life of the team and reports have it that he is playing as he did in his school days. 'Nuf sed. Watch the "Slim" one.

As an opponent to Snyder and the one who will guard him in the Ajax game, Albert Brynarski, the Ajax captain, deserves some mention. Critics who attended the game at the association Saturday night claim him to be one of the best running guards in the State and he is practically unsurpassable along the shooting line.

Come out and look him over. He's almost humane.

When it comes to arbitrating a game of basketball, we will have to lift our hats to one Herbert Stine the "boy" with the beautiful voice.

He hails from N. P. H. S. and wherever he goes there is sure to be a crowd of something. Well, it proved true at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday night. Yes, girls, this time. Canadian variety, too.

Ever since the Ajax won over last year's and this year's (2 in 1) N. P. H. S. basketball team, playing under the name of Crimson A. C., we have been trying to dig up an excuse for the ocurence. There seems to be no apparent cause, however, and as the weather gets colder over in Canada sooner than it does on this side of the pond, one would think that the Boroughkes would start the indoor pastime sooner.

Y. M. C. A. JUNIORS RUN OFF HIGH JUMP

Letson, of the Bronx Team, Wins First Place With Good Jump.

The weekly athletic event scheduled in the Indian league, of the Y. M. C. A. boys' department was run off yesterday afternoon with eighteen fellows contesting. All of the competitors were under fourteen years of age and as the high jump is an event that requires a certain amount of knack to master, the heighths reached were creditable.

Letson, of the Sioux team, took first honors with a leap of three feet, ten inches; and Sykes, of the Wawayanda team, proved to be the runner up, one inch behind the leader.

Two of the teams, Omaha and Sioux, each had seven men competing and they will probably rank among the leaders in the league standing, because of numbers. Iroquois and Wawayanda each had two.

The following is the summary:

Letson, Sioux, 3.10; Sykes, Wawayanda, 3:9; Brownlee, Omaha, 3.7; Morrell, Sioux, 3.7; Searles, Sioux, 3.7; Snyder, Wawayanda, 3.7; Angerbauer, Iroquois 3.6; Fullerton, Sioux, 3.6; Willett, Omaha, 3.5; Millard, Omaha, 3.4; Block, Omaha, 3.4; Gates Omaha, 3.4; Renni, Sioux, 3.4; Leek, Omaha, 3.4; Hayes, Sioux, 3.3; Henwood Iroquois, 3.2; Condict, Sioux, 3; Ross, Omaha, 2.10.

GOOD BASKETBALL AT HOPE CHAPEL

After a Two Weeks' Layoff the Chapelites Will Play Bound Brook.

After a two weeks' lay off, the Hope chapel basketball team will begin its activities again Saturday night against the strong Y. M. A. team, of South Bound Brook. The Chapelites put up a superior article of the indoor game in their first two contests which both resulted in victories and although they have had no scheduled games, the regular practices have been kept up and the quintet will put forth its best efforts against the Bound Brook five Saturday night.

Hope chapel rooters are looking forward to this game with much interest as the Hope managers have been trying to get a crack at them for the past two seasons, but the Y. M. A. have always seemed to have tried to avoid coming here. Last year the Bound Brookers had the honor of being one of the three teams who took the Y. M. C. A. Ajax measure and this feat alone rates them as a first-class team. Saturday night the Y. M. A. five put it over the Company M cadets to the tune of 37 to 6 and the cadets have always given Hope chapel a close rub.

BRICKLEY GIVEN BALL USED IN PRINCETON GAME

Boston, Nov. 12.—A tribute never before given to a Harvard football player was paid by Captain Wendell, of this year's Harvard team, to Charles E. Brickley, the hero of the drop-kick and field goal. Captain Wendell Saturday gave Brickley the football used in the Princeton game which was won by Harvard.

As is customary, Captain Pendleton, of the defeated Tigers, surrendered the ball to the victorious captain after the game. Following the usual custom, it would have been retained by Captain Wendell until the close of the season and then have been acorded a place in Harvard's trophy room. Captain Wendell, however, in recognition of Brickley's great work, which won the game, gave him the ball.

PLAINFIELD HELLO BILLS TO BOWL AT COUNTY SEAT

Now that the Elks' Bowling League is under way and the official averages show that Plainfield is right in the race, the local pinsters are out to take at least a brace from the Elizabeth tribe at that place tonight. A large delegation from this city is expected to make the trip to the county seat with Captain Blatz's charges and root for the kind that will boost the league average.

Regular practises have been held at the Olympic alleys during the past week and the Plainfield antlers are in tip-top form. The same five men who have bowled the previous contests will do duty at Elizabeth again this evening.

HERRMANN LANDS TINKER TO MANAGE CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, Nov. 12.—August Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati club of the National League, announced last night that Joseph Tinker, of the Chicago Cubs, would be the 1913 manager of the Cincinnati club.

Herrmann said he had communicated with Charles Murphy, owner of the Chicago club, and that the deal whereby Tinker would come to Cincinnati would be completed today. He would not say what trade was being considered, except to say that neither Bescher, Marsans nor Hoblitzell would be traded.

INCREASING INTEREST OVER POULTRY SHOW

Entries from New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and other States are pouring into the New Jersey Association for Poultry Improvement, which will give its first poultry show in Sebring's Auditorium, November 25 to 30. At present the event promises to surpass any similar affair ever held in this vicinity and is likely to stamp Plainfield as one of the great poultry centers of this section.

Among the entries received by Secretary J. H. Kimball, of Westfield, are prize winners from various large poultry dealers in New Jersey and nearby States, as well as private exhibitors who show their product yearly in the shows held in Trenton and at the Allentown Fair. A recent arrival among the long list of prizes, which were announced in these columns some time ago, is a silver cup, valued at $100, which will be known as the "Thomas A. Sperry Cup," after its donor.

FERNS AND HOWELL.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 12 (Special). The Indianapolis Athletic Club has arranged a promised card for its boxing show to be given tomorrow night. The main event will bring together Clarence Ferns of Kansas city, and Tommy Howell of Philadelphia, for a ten-round bout. The two are considered evenly matched and an interesting contest is expected.

DAHLEN TO LEAD SUPERBAS.

New York, Nov. 12.—Charles H. Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn National League Club, has settled the one great question which has been absorbing the attention of Brooklyn fans, when he announced that Bill Dahlen would be the manager of the Dodgers next season.

INJURED FOOTBALL PLAYER ABLE TO BE ABOUT AGAIN

Although he will be out of football for the remainder of this season, James Nash, the Holy Cross halfback, is able to be about on crutches and is rapidly recovering from injuries he received in the game against the battleship Hancock team. Nash sustained a fracture of a toe on the right foot and while the injury has proved exceedingly painful he expects to be about as usual in the course of another week.

The football season will end the thirtieh of this month as far as Holy Cross is concerned and it will be hardly worth while to get back in the game for so short a period.

AJAX WILL HAVE A GAME AS USUAL SATURDAY NIGHT

Notwithstanding reports which have been circulated to the contrary, Manager Hetfield, of the Y. M. C. A. Ajax team, will have a game scheduled to be played at the Y. M. C. A. gym. There was some talk of breaking the schedule up for that night as some of the players expect to go to Princeton to witness the Yale-Princeton football game, but arrangements have been made so that they can return in time for the game.

Owing to the fact that the previous games have proved so close and exciting, and in order to satisfy the large crowd who come to the Y. M. C. A. gym Saturday nights, Manager Hetfield thought it unwise to pass up a single week-end, and he will have another fast quintet this week. The Company M cadets were mentioned as possible opponents, as were also the New Brunswick and Summit High Schools, but nothing definite has been decided on.

RECALL CARLISLE PLAY.

Harvard Men Will Remember Hidden Ball Trick by Indians.

Perhaps the greatest trick play ever worked in football history occurred at Harvard some years ago. The Crimson was playing the Carlisle Indians, well known as trick warriors anyway.

It was growing dark, and the various shifty formations of the redskins were followed with the greatest difficulty. Suddenly the Carlisle backs directed a play at left end, dashing together in a well knit interference. The whole Harvard squad, in a determined effort, smashed up the formation, but the various tacklers didn't know which Indian to down, for the ball wasn't in sight.

A moment later a wild yell directed Harvard's attention to its own goal line. There, sitting on the ball right behind the posts, was a Carlisle player. He had taken the oval from the quarter, concealed it under his ample sweater and during the mixup in midfield quietly stole around the other end and went down without a Harvard tackle to oppose him.

There isn't a Harvard graduate who has forgotten this play.

PERRYMAN FOR MINISTRY.

New York Giants' Young Pitcher Is Studying For the Pulpit.

Among the recruits going to the New York Giants next spring is a pitcher named Perryman, who is a student for the ministry. He was picked up at Richmond, Va., by one of McGraw's scouts and is a right hander.

However, Perryman is not the first theological student to break into the big league, as Max Carey, or Carnarius, of Pittsburgh, one of the three greatest outfielders in the National league, is studying for the pulpit. It is National league opinion that in the mere matter of fielding Carey ranks with Speaker and Milan.

Campbell to Quit Baseball.

Vin Campbell, the Boston National outfielder, again announces his retirement, which shows how difficult it is to break a habit. Campbell intends to be married and go into business at St. Louis.

MONEY MAD PUGS HURTING GAME

Big Purses Demanded by Boxers Have Queered Good Bouts.

WOLGAST'S LUST FOR GOLD.

Lightweight Champion Wanted Fortune to Battle McFarland—Mike Gibbons Latest One to Want Bags of Money to Meet Good Man.

A matter of dollars has queered two of the biggest boxing matches that could have been arranged in this country. It was Wolgast's lust for gold eagles that turned official disapproval upon the champion's proposed conflict with Packey McFarland. The publicity attached to Ad's numerous demands killed his own game.

Mike Gibbons and Eddie McGoorty have been matched and rematched of late, and on sundry occasions the sporting hoi polloi has anticipated with pleasure a joust between the two best middleweights in the world only to hear that each match has fallen through. Gibbons now reports a strained shoulder as an obstacle to the carrying out of the latest agreement to box McGoorty, but that is not the only drawback.

Eddie Reddy, who is Gibbons' manager, wants the fancy figure of $10,000 for ten rounds of jabs, uppercuts and sidesteps by Mike. He will not be given such an amount. Promoters have lost heavily of late, and their losses are understood to have been due to the exorbitant prices demanded by fighters who are cutting off their own noses by their anxiety to attract the increment their way.

Gibbons ought to jump to get $8,000 for ten rounds with McGoorty. That is more by considerable than he has ever earned since he quit his job as Y. M. C. A. boxing instructor at St. Paul. McGoorty is a few pounds heavier. But what of it? Gibbons is clever. He would lose little by a defeat. Possibly he might not cut the big money for a time, but that's the chance he takes. What's he making by refusing the McGoorty battle? If he doesn't take it he will have to go back to the $1,000 and the $1,500 guarantees. Occasionally he will make a trifle more than that. He will have difficulty, though, in keeping busy, for the boobs are playing out.

What's the use of being a tin horn champion when one can just as well be a mighty one? Gibbons, many experts figure, has an even chance of whipping McGoorty. But while he is deciding whether he will fight the authorities again may step in and declare that the contest is too close to a championship affair, the same as in the Wolgast-McFarland case, and bar it out of New York.

McGoorty's recent record has been both stunning and otherwise, but on the whole his fighting indicates championship materials. His knockouts of Jack Harrison and Dave Smith were highly sensational, and his fight, too, against Jack Denning, he making Denning quit in a few rounds, put a few extra streaks of light in the McGoorty halo. He outpointed Barney Williams easily in six rounds and stopped Jimmy Howard suddenly. His bad fights were with Johnny Thompson and Leo Houck. Philadelphia papers gave Houck credit for beating the Oshkosh man recently. At Cincinnati McGoorty went ten rounds to a tame draw with Thompson. This tilt should not count against him, however, as it is hard for any one to make a showing with Thompson.

Sizing up the McGoorty campaign begun two months ago, it cannot be gainsaid that Eddie is a serious contender for the middleweight garland. His weight won't hinder him either. For the Denning fight he scaled 157¾ pounds at ringside. Maybe that's why Gibbons is doing so much reconnoitering. McGoorty can make the middle limit without loss of strength.

The fruits of success are now being plucked by McGoorty, who has a few weeks of vaudeville time in the west at $1,000 per week. He also has had two big offers from Paris and London.

ZBYSCO HOT AFTER GOTCH

Polish Wrestler Coming to America For Crack at Title.

BIG PURSE OFFERED FOR MILL

Salt Lake City Club Will Hang Up $30,000 Purse—Pittsburgh In Line Also—Some Doubt as to Whether Evers Can Fill Chance's Shoes.

By TOMMY CLARK.

Jack Herman, manager of Zbysco, the Polish wrestler, has $5,000 in bills of large denomination which he is mad to get rid of. Not that he desires to cast his roll to the winds. No, sir-ee! Jack is not so foolish in the head. All he wants to do with the dough is to post it as a forfeit—a sort of bait to coax Frank Gotch, world's champion, back into the wrestling game.

It seems that Gotch is telling the folks on the farm in Humboldt that he intends to retire with the wrestling title packed away in the barn. That's what's worrying Herman. The latter is guiding Zbysco through the mazes of the grappling sport and wants to get Gotch to give the Pole another chance at the title.

Herman claims that a Salt Lake club stands ready and willing to hang up a purse of $30,000 for a match between the two stars of the hammerlock division. In behalf of Zbysco, Herman is agreeable to the offer and is perfectly willing to allow Gotch to dictate the terms.

"It can be winner take all, split any other way, or I will sign articles giving Gotch the lion's share of the purse, whether he wins or loses," declares Herman.

"Zbysco will not return to this country until the middle of November, and in the meantime I'm going to use my best efforts to get Gotch to call off his retirement and wrestle the Pole.

"You'll have to admit that Zbysco stands second to Gotch in the list, and it is only fair that he be given a chance at the title. Naturally, if Gotch persists in his statement that he is through with the game, I will claim the crown on behalf of my grappler. That is not much more than an empty honor, which is not pleasing to Zbysco.

"In addition to the Salt Lake offer, the Pittsburgh Athletic club is willing to hang up a liberal purse for the match. As I said before, Gotch can do all the dictating regarding the division of the purse. All Zbysco wants is a chance at the title."

Gotch and Zybsco have met twice. The first time the pair clashed was in Buffalo, and Gotch failed to throw the Pole in an hour. The second meeting was in Chicago, and Gotch pinned the European giant's shoulders to the mat twice in about six minutes. The champion gained the first fall in a few seconds. When the Pole extended his big mitt to shake with Gotch the latter grabbed it and hurled the foreigner to the floor and was on him immediately and pinned the upper parts of his anatomy to the mat.

Zybsco claims at that time he was not familiar with the catch-as-catch-can style of wrestling, but the wrestling experience he has gained by touring the country the last two years has made him acquainted with all the tricks of the game. Now he believes he is good enough to defeat Gotch and no hold barred.

The turning down of Chance by Owner Murphy of the Cubs is generally deplored by National league men, who are somewhat in doubt as to Evers' ability to fill the shoes of the peerless leader. Evers is generally regarded as being too excitable and too highly strung to stand the wear and tear of a team leader. Evers and Joe Tinker, it will be recalled, came to blows in a game in Brooklyn in September at a time when Tinker was acting manager. Baseball men seem to think that Murphy has erred in preferring Evers to Tinker and that if the latter is allowed to go to Cincinnati as Hank O'Day's successor the Cubs will be further weakened.

RUSSIAN IS AFTER GOTCH.

Lurich Coming to America and Sends Challenge to Wrestling Champion.

George Lurich, champion wrestler of Russia and claiming victories over Hackenschmidt, Pedersen and a lot of other foreign mat artists, is preparing to visit the United States within a short time in search of matches. Lurich writes that he is anxious for a chance at Gotch, and he also says that he is willing to take on Zbysco in this country at the catch-as-catch-can style. Photographs of the Russian show him up as a real strong man.

While Gotch claims to have retired, he still is taking on all the men he knows he can beat. The champion will have to pay some attention to challenges from the first raters this season or make good his claim of retirement and let the other fellows fight it out for the title.

RAHWAY MAN FOR COUNTY COLLECTOR

Robert D. Gibbey Appears to Be a Strong Contender.

That Robert D. Gibby, of Rahway, is a candidate for county collector and has excellent backing for the position, is announced. The appointment will be made by the new Board of Freeholders, which takes office in January, and in view of the strong demand outside of Elizabeth that the rest of the county be given substantial recognition in the apportioning of patronage, Mr. Gibby's friends are redoubling their efforts to have him named.

Mr. Gibby is declared to be entitled to consideration through the strong run he made at the primaries for a freeholder nomination, and the manner in which he worked for the ticket after having been defeated. If it had been left to the other nineteen municipalities of the county, Mr. Gibby would have been nominated for a two-year term as freeholder. He was one of the two high men outside of Elizabeth. In this city, however, like a few more Democratic candidates from other parts of the county, Mr. Gibby's vote dropped sufficiently to defeat him, and Joseph F. Greer was consequently selected as Thomas J. Hughes' running mate.

Mr. Gibby was clerk of the Board of Tax Assessors of Rahway for several years, and was legislated out of office by a Republican Common Council in 1910. He was twice a candidate for the Assembly in the eighties, and on both occasions cut down a normally big Republican majority.

It is said that Mr. Gibby has been promised support of some of the freeholders-elect at various times, but this is not positively known. He is an uncle of LeRoy A. Gibby, of Summit, and has been a lifelong resident of Rahway.

There is considerable talk of combining the offices of clerk of the Board and auditor when the Democrats assume control. The former office now pays $1,000 a year, and the latter $800. The salary for the combined position would be $1,500, if the suggestions of sevaral prominent Democrats should be carried out.

This position, it is said, will be offered one of the unsuccessful candidates for county collector. Besides Mr. Gibby, the candidates for the latter are understood to be William J. McCloud and James P. Kelly, of Elizabeth. The latter's friends have not abandoned hopes of his becoming surrogate, however, as the plurality now existing against him may be wiped out by a recount.

Mr. McCloud is eliminated from consideration for clerk and auditor, it is said, because it is proposed that the man appointed to this position will have to devote his entire time to the office.

SCHOOL APPROPRIATION BROUGHT BEFORE COUNCIL

The resolutions providing for an appropriation of $270,000 with which to build an addition to the Plainfield High School, and furnish and equip the same, as passed upon by the Board of School Estimate last week, was presented to the Common Council at its adjourned meeting last night. The previous actions of the board relative to the proposed plans of improvement came before the Council ,and on motion of Councilman George S. Clay, the resolution and other papers were filed. The matter will be taken up at another meeting, when it will be necessary for the Council to adopt an ordinance providing for the method of raising the money through a bond issue.

AT PROCTOR'S.

The old negro instrument, the banjo, as played by Brent Hayes is a living, speaking, breathing marvel. Mr. Hayes ranks as one of the highest in his profession. The instrument which he uses is his own patent, having a unique sounding board which greatly enhances the value of tone. Five selections of classical and popular are in his repertoire. Hap Handy and Co., manipulators of the ellusive soap bubbles, have a unique and interesting act and will please the kiddies as well as the grown ups. Paolo Cremonesi and Co., in the farce comedy sketch "Curing the Tenor," is a bright little act, full of life and surprising situations. Mr. Cremonesi is an Italian actor of prominence and his last engagement was with the great Elenora Duse. The Gardnier Family in "Bits of Musical Comedy," have a delightful act both pleasing and novel. Billie Claire sang. The photo plays were excellent.

WHY HURT CYCLONE'S FEELINGS--SCOOP!?

BATTLE HAS JUST BEGUN, SAYS T. R.

Progressive Party Here to Stay, He Declares.

OFFER TO THE OLD PARTIES

They Will Be Supported if They Attempt to Put Any Progressive Plank Into Legislation—Proud of the Fight Made.

New York, Nov. 12.—In a public statement Colonel Roosevelt congratulated his followers in the Progressive ranks on their accomplishment in bringing about the crushing defeat of the Republican party "since the theft of the Republican organization by the Republican bosses at Chicago last June."

The Progressive leader reiterates what he has already said, that the Progressive party has come to stay and that the battle has just begun. At the same time he assures the old parties of Progressive support any time they desire to carry into effect policies embodied in the Progressive platform.

The colonel pronounces the achievements of the Progressive party as "literally unparalleled in the history of free government."

Here is the statement in full:

I congratulate the Progressives of the country—that is, I congratulate those good men and women who with sincerity of purpose for the common good have had the vision to look into the coming years and see what the future demands from us who work in this present.

What the Progressive party has done since the theft of the Republican organization by the Republican bosses at Chicago last June is literally unparalleled in the history of free government worked under representative institutions. Three months have gone by since some hundreds of earnest men and women gathered to found the new Progressive party.

Against Great Combination.

Without much money, without any organization, against the wealth of the country, against the entire organized political ability of the country, against the bitter hostility of 90 per cent of the press of the country, against the furious opposition of every upholder of special privilege, whether in politics or in business, and with the channels of information to the public largely choked, the Progressive party has polled between four and four and one-half million votes, has hopelessly beaten one of the old parties both in the electoral college and in the popular vote, has carried several of the important states in the Union and has taken second place in the nation and either first or second place in some thirty-seven of the forty-eight states.

No task in any way approaching this has ever before been performed by any party in our country. Such a feat performed by volunteers hastily brought together and without any previous co-operation with each other against the trained veterans of the political arena, those trained veterans including the entire mercenary forces of politics, should be a source of pride not only to those who performed the task, but to all believers in good citizenship and in the capacity of Americans for self government.

Not One Man Party.

During the campaign I said repeatedly that this was in no shape or way a one man movement, but a movement for great principles, a movement which has sprung, as all healthy movements in our democracy must spring, from the heart and conscience of the people themselves. This truth must be kept steadily before the minds of all of us. The Progressive party has come to stay. If either of the old parties will endeavor to put into legislation any one of our planks it can count upon our hearty support in so doing, but we will not rest contented until the entire platform is enacted into law and becomes part of our political system, national and state.

I am proud indeed that the great, good fortune has been mine to fight shoulder to shoulder with the men and women who in the ranks and in various positions of leadership have waged this great battle for social and industrial justice. So far from being over, the battle has just begun. We will not rest content until every feature of the Progressive program has been put into effect, and when this has been done unquestionably there will have opened to us new avenues, along which it will still be a duty to work for the moral and economic betterment of our people.

FOSBREY'S TRIAL DATE SET.

Alleged Murderer Who Escaped From Tombs Faces Bar Nov. 19.

New York, Nov. 12.—Reynolds Fosbrey, who made a sensational escape from the Tombs prison early in September and was later recaptured, will be tried on charges of murder in the first degree and of attempted murder on Nov. 19. The date for his trial was set by Judge Mulqueen, before whom he will be tried. Assistant District Attorney James O'Malley made a motion for a special panel for the trial, and the motion was granted.

Fosbrey is charged with the murder of Maurice Schwartzhopf, a jeweler, of 8 Delancey street, on July 29. On the same day he is alleged to have shot and seriously wounded Max Katz, a clerk in a cigar store at 35 Cooper square.

"BIG TIM" SULLIVAN.

Congressman and National Character Is Reported Near Death.

The condition of "Big Tim" Sullivan's health is admitted to be grave. Many reports have reached the Bowery, from where he is now congressman elect. All were to the effect that he might die any moment, and, in fact, one story passed about was that he had died. This last, however, was denied by his close friends, who added that the big fellow is at Dr. G. F. M. Bond's sanitarium at 960 North Broadway, Yonkers, and has been there about two months.

CONSIGNEE GONE IN MURDER TRUNK CLEW

Woman Apparently Slain In New York City.

New York, Nov. 12.—The police discovered evidence that they believe proves their theory that the woman killed in the Georgetown, Conn., trunk mystery was murdered in New York city. They believe the murder took place in the slain woman's bedroom, which they deduce was somewhere in the vicinity of Fiftieth street and Lexington avenue.

The police learned that the trunk which contained the body which was found bound in sheets in a mill pond at Georgetown Saturday was shipped from the Adams Express company's office at Fiftieth street between 11 a. m. and noon last Thursday. Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty has taken personal charge of the case in this city and has a dozen men working on it.

Two Italians brought the trunk to the express company's office and shipped it to "G. Napoli, Georgetown, Conn." They could speak little English. They prepaid the charges and told the clerk they would meet the trunk on arrival.

The location of the office from which the trunk was shipped was readily learned through tracing receipts after it was discovered in Georgetown that the body had been in a trunk received by the express office there on Friday.

"G. Napoli," to whom the trunk was consigned, lived in Branchville, a mile from Georgetown, and disappeared last week. He worked in the wire mill of the Gilbert & Bennett Manufacturing company and quit work last week.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

For years a familiar saying has been: "The camera don't tell untruths." It remained for the moving picture man to trick the eye into deception. The feats of legerdemain aren't nearly as inexplicable as many of the mystifying things shown on a moving picture screen. Take for instance the episode in one film, where a man is decapitated, or in another where an arrow pierces his heart. There is trickery to this, but how is it done? A man has been wronged while he was away from home fighting in a ten year war. Cowards who remained behind attempted to despoil his estates, going so far as to force his wife into another marriage. There were a dozen suitors, they claimed the husband was dead, and as the story happened nearly 3,000 years ago, methods of communications were not as simple as they are today. The wife finally being convinced that she was a widow and to rid herself of suitors set before them an impossible task as the price of her consent to marriage. She am edthe condition that whoever could bend the bow of her warrior-husband she would marry. Bow and arrows in those days were the principal implements of warfare. The suitors tried in vain and as the last was making his futile attempt, the husband suddenly reappears, grasps the bow and sends an arrow spinning through his rival's heart. It's all so clear, the picture is sharp, you even see the blood trickling down from the death wound. Of course it's only a trick, but so cleverly conceived and executed as to defy explanation. The scene mentioned is merely an incident in the latest and most expensive film production in the world. "Homer's Odyssey?" story of the ten year Trojan War. The film was made in Greece by the Milano Co., of Italy, makers of Dante's "Inferno." It's a big entertainment. Coming here to the Plainfield theatre on Friday, November 15, matinee and night.

A. G. Delmater's production of Gene Stratton-Porter's "Freckles" was given a thorough try-out last spring in several of the principal cities of the East. They play won the unqualified endorsement of all the critics and the managers of every theatre in all the cities where it was seen. This season "Freckles," will be produced in New York and all of the leading cities of the East by one company to be known as the Eastern Company, a Western Company is also being engaged to play an extended engagement in Chicago and the other large cities of the middle and far West. Anatol Friedland, the celebrated Vienese composer of "The Wife Hunters" and other operatic sucesses, has given the play an exceptionally sweet musical setting. Crosbie Gill, the noted scenic artist of Wallack's Broadway theatre, New York, was the artist engaged to paint the scenic productions and was given instructions to make the scenic investiture as beautiful and elaborate as possible, regardless of expense. This play will be seen at the Plainfield theatre Saturday, November 23.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES.

Manager Goldsmith and Faculty Coach Mr. Howe have selected the following for the positions of end men in the boys' minstrel show which will probably be given December 11: Fred Krom, Andrew Crozier, Felix Janke and Val Goldsmith.

Crozier is a "find" and it stands to reason that he must be an especially comical actor, since he had to beat out Gerald Linke for the position. It was Linke who made the big hit as end man in last year's show. As Mr. Howe can find none suitable for the position as interlocutor, he will serve in that capacity himself. Since there as a rule that a member of the football squad cannot be in the minstrels, a quantity of material made up of athletes has been unable to compete for the show.

The football team will travel to East Orange tomorrow to lineup against the strong eleven representing the East Orange H. S.

The KITCHEN CUPBOARD

HOW TO USE BARBERRIES.

BARBERRIES are nice and may be made into many delicious things for the fall and winter table. Barberries grow wild in many places, and where they are available they should be utilized. Barberry jelly is delicious.

The fruit is so tart as to be admirably adapted for this purpose. Malic and citric acids are chief constituents, and these make the fruit an excellent antiscorbutic.

The sirup provides a cooling drink for fever patients. Taken in large quantities, the fruit is cathartic. In small quantities it is laxative.

How to Keep Them.

Barberries may be dried for winter like ordinary berries.

Make the jelly like any other jelly.

Preserved Fresh Barberries. — The bunches of barberries may be preserved without cooking if they are placed in air tight jars, covered with molasses and then sealed.

Jam and Marmalade.

Barberry Jam.—For each quart of the stemmed and cleaned barberries allow a quarter pound of sugar. The berries should be mashed, placed in a double boiler, mixed with the sugar and allowed to boil. When the scum rises it should be removed, the berries being allowed to cook for at least an hour. Then the jam may be put into jars and sealed.

Barberry Marmalade.—Allow a pound of sugar to every pound of the barberries. The fruit before it is weighed should be washed, stemmed and passed through a sieve. After adding the sugar it should be allowed to cook slowly for a half or three-quarters of an hour. It must be stirred often to prevent its burning. Place in air tight jars for winter use.

Wholesome and Delicious.

Preserved Barberries.—Stem the barberries and wash them. Then place in a double boiler until heated through. Weigh and add sugar of equal weight. Replace on the fire and let them cook for twenty minutes longer. No water should be used. When the juice begins to jell it is done and may be taken from the fire, put into jars and sealed for future use.

Barberry Sirup.—Make a sirup of a pint of water boiled with a pint of sugar. First cook the barberries until they are clear and soft, then cook them with the sirup. Mash the berries when they are tender enough, strain and return to the fire to cook again. Then put up in sealed bottles. This sirup may be used in flavoring puddings or custards or in making ices. Raisin, apple or pear tarts are nice flavored with this sirup.

Prince Olav of Norway, Who May Some Time Be a King.

The handsome young gentleman whose portrait is printed above is the crown prince of Norway. Unless we were told that he possessed so high sounding a title most of us would say, "Why, that is only the picture of a little boy!" And that is all he is so far, but some day he may be king of Norway. In our democratic country every boy is born a crown prince—that is, he is a potential president. When he grows to be a man his fellow citizens may choose him to govern this great nation. Not so in Norway and all other monarchies. The future king is born to the position, no matter whether he possess ability or lack it. Of course our way is the best, for worth, not birth, is the test we apply to our presidents. Little Olav is nine years old. He is the son of King Haakon VII., second son of the late king of Denmark. His mother, Queen Maud, is a daughter of the late King Edward VII. of England.

Concerning Metals.

England has been always famous for her mines of tin, called "anna" formerly. Some think the name Britannia is derived from it, meaning tin island. Forty years B. C. Diodorus writes about the way in which the Cornish mines were worked. Tin is easily melted and is very soft. It has great affinity for mercury and is used, when so combined, for the back of mirrors. Tin and lead make the plumber's solder; tin enters largely into bell metal and pewter, and it is used by dyers for giving a permanence and brightness to their red colors. Zinc has not been long known. So little indeed was it valued that the Welsh people long used its ore for mending their roads. It is used now in making brass, pinchbeck and bronze. Brass is made of three parts copper and one of carbonate of zinc or calamine. And, though zinc readily rusts, yet it keeps the copper in the brass from being tarnished.

Sudden Departure.

This game will be enjoyed by younger children. They must stand in a ring with hands clasped, all except one, who approaches from outside the circle and pleads:

"It snows and it blows, and it cuts off my nose,
So pray, little girl, let me in.
I'll light my pipe and warm my toes,
And then I'll be gone again."

He is admitted to the circle and proceeds to go through with the actions mentioned. After "lighting his pipe and warming his toes" he suddenly attempts to leave the ring by dashing against the hands that have been tightly clasped in expectation of his onset. The one whose grips weakens and lets him through must take his place and become the wanderer.

Black Licorice.

Most of the black licorice comes from Spain, where it is made from the juice of the plant and mixed with starch to prevent it from melting in hot weather. The licorice plant is a shrub about three feet high and grows wild where its roots can reach the water. It grows largely on the banks of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers. As the valley of the Euphrates contained one of the earliest civilizations in the world, it is probable that licorice is about the oldest confection in the world and that the taste which our little boys and girls like so well today was enjoyed by the little brown boys and girls of Babylon and Nineveh 3,000 years ago.

The Pantry Ghosts.

Last night I had a horrid dream—
I cannot tell you why—
Huge pies and cakes of chocolate cream
And doughnuts passing by!

They looked at me with wicked joy.
I thought I heard them say:
"By night we haunt the foolish boy
That haunts our shelf by day.

"Behind us comes a nightmare grim—
You'd better hide your head!—
And then some things, all pale and dim,
So crawl down in your bed.

"We never mind a little slice—
A bite or two—but when
You eat too much it isn't nice,
And we shall come again!"

WON'T GIVE UP $1,000 SUNBURST

Woman Refuses to Surrender Gems to Mrs. Vanderbeek.

HELD ON LARCENY CHARGE

Friends of Both Women Listened to Arguments With Intense Interest In Jersey City Pending Identification and Reward on Diamond Sunburst.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 12.—Scores of women socially prominent here thronged the First criminal court room in this city to hear the evidence when Mrs. Margaret Picket of 89 Clinton avenue was arraigned on a charge of grand larceny because she refused to surrender a $1,000 diamond sunburst which she found and which was claimed by Mrs. Stuart Vanderbeek.

Mrs. Picket, notwithstanding the pleadings of counsel, was held for the grand jury on the larceny charge, but was paroled by Judge Butler in the custody of her attorney, Charles Ostrom.

Mrs. Vanderbeek's husband is a member of the firm of Vanderbeek & Sons, lumber merchants, and they live at 36 Fairview avenue.

Mrs. Vanderbeek lost the diamond sunburst about a month ago. Mrs. Picket, who found it, called Mrs. Vanderbeek by telephone and told her of her find, and Mrs. Vanderbeek said there were fourteen diamonds in the one she had lost. There were seventeen diamonds in the one Mrs. Picket found, but Mrs. Vanderbeek said she was not sure as to the number of diamonds and, it is said, offered $150 reward for its return.

Mrs. Picket went to the home of Mrs. Vanderbeek and found a detective there. According to Mrs. Picket, an attempt was made to induce her to surrender the sunburst, but the reward was not paid. She refused, and her arrest followed.

In court her attorney asserted that the sunburst was not properly identified, that payment of the reward was refused and that Mrs. Picket was warranted in refusing to surrender the sunburst until these preliminaries were settled.

GEORGE WITSON SENTENCED.

Gentleman Crook to Serve Sentence For Two Robberies.

Mays Landing, N. J., Nov. 12.—George Witson, or Wilson, the gentleman crook who escaped last spring from the Tombs prison in New York city while awaiting trial and who made an unsuccessful attempt to break jail at city hall, Philadelphia, pleaded guilty to two robberies committed in Atlantic City during the summer before the county criminal court and was sentenced on each charge to serve an indeterminate term from three and a half to seven years at hard labor at Trenton prison. New York authorities have lodged a detainer with state officials, and when Witson has completed his term in this state he will be taken to New York to answer charges of jail breaking and burglary.

Witson was captured in Philadelphia after a spectacular escape from Atlantic City following the robbing of two residences.

SEIZE SHREWSBURY OYSTERS

Government Agents Say They Come From Polluted Waters.

Red Bank, N. J., Nov. 12.—Three barrels of Shrewsbury oysters landed at pier 32, East river, New York, by the steamship Seabird were seized by Marshal Henkel. The seizure was made pending final authority from the United States district court to destroy the oysters, which were brought from this city.

In making his application for the writ of seizure and condemnation Assistant United States Attorney Roosa acted on instructions received from Secretary Wilson of the department of agriculture to the effect that the waters of the Shrewsbury are polluted and the oysters found therein unfit to eat.

According to the report of George W. Stiles, chemist of the department of agriculture, and Inspectors McIntyre and Callahan, the condition of these oysters, taken with the dirty appearance of their shells, indicates growth in sewage waters.

GLOUCESTER COURT ADJOURNS

Must Wait Until Today For Clerk to Get Commission.

Woodbury, N. J., Nov. 12.—Because James Lafferty, the newly elected clerk of Gloucester county, had not received his commission from the secretary of state, Judge Swackhammer, at the request of James Summerill, public prosecutor, adjourned court here until today.

The Gloucester county board of canvassers has certified to the election of Lafferty, a Democrat, over Edward L. Sturgess, Republican, by a majority of ninety-four, and the former left today for Trenton to secure his commission. He expects to have his $25,000 bond approved in time for the court to go on with the cases scheduled.

Mr Lafferty announced that he would retain the present force in the clerk's office for a period of three months, so there would be no confusion in the business of the county.

Counsel For Four Gunmen on Trial For Murder of Rosenthal.

WITH JURY COMPLETE, GUNMEN'S TRIAL IS ON Expect Jack Rose to Be State's Star Witness.

New York, Nov. 12.—The jury that is to decide the fate of "Gyp the Blood" (Harry Horowitz), "Lefty Louie (Louis Rosenberg), "Dago Frank" (Frank Cirofici) and "Whitey Lewis (Frank Muller), the four young gangsters indicted for the actual killing of Herman Rosenthal, was secured after a session of the court that lasted from 10:30 yesterday morning until 7:15 last night.

The people's case against the four gunmen began this morning before Justice Goff and the jury. Jack Rose, the state's star witness, is then expected to take the stand to tell in a general way the same story he told at the Becker trial.

In addition to the five jurors chosen on Friday afternoon, it was necessary to swear in eight more. The extra talesman had to be examined and accepted because juror No. 4, Frederick J. Shaley, a man over sixty years old, who was chosen on Friday, was so ill during the session that it was necessary to excuse him for good. After the twelfth juror had been chosen after dark a final talesman was chosen to take the fourth chair still vacant.

"Dago Frank," on the end nearest the jury box, and "Gyp the Blood," who sits farthest from the jurors, looked long and steadily at the twelve men during the silence that followed the selection of the last man.

When Justice Goff had dismissed the jury "Dago Frank" looked searchingly into each man's face as they filed out of the jury box and turned squarely about in his chair to follow them with his eyes until the last man had left the room. When the four gunmen arose then to be led back to their cells, their faces were more thoughtful than at any time before and all showed a shade less of color.

ETHEL SMITH HAS RELAPSE.

Girl For Whom Crippled Newsboy Gave His Life Has Pneumonia.

Gary, Ind., Nov. 12.—Ethel Smith, the Gary girl for whom William Rugh, the crippled newsboy, gave his life so that new skin might be grafted on her body to heal the serious burns that threatened to kill her, is in a serious condition.

She had made rapid strides toward recovery, but pneumonia set in and she was taken to the Gary Central hospital. The girl's mother believes the shock of the newsboy's death is the cause of her daughter's relapse. Miss Smith was not told of her benefactor's fate until several days after his death. From that time she lost strength. Before Billy Rugh died Miss Smith had announced her intention of marrying him should both recover from the operation.

HELD IN T. R. LIBEL SUIT.

Bail was given at once. The proceeding had been arranged in advance and was a mere formality. Roosevelt was not represented in court. The trial was set for the December term.
